Last Club Field Trip of the Year

Nine of us got together on October 24th at the north rest area of the Sunshine Skyway Bridge. This was a joint trip with the Suncoast Conchologists. The weather was pleasant and the wind was almost non-existent which made for some almost flat water conditions. The tide was about even at 8:43AM.

There were a lot of dead medium-size moon snails Neverita duplicata (Say, 1822) in good condition. Also found were the flat tree oyster Isognomon alatus (Gmelin, 1791), our club shell Melongena corona (Gmelin, 1791), banded tulip Cinctura hunteria (Perry, 1811), broad-ribbed cardita Cardites floridanus (Conrad, 1838), and many other species.

Great conditions for a collecting trip. Shallow, flat water.

A MESSAGE FROM THE DESK OF YOUR PRESIDENT

The future is an unknown quantity, and for the last year and a half we have seen vivid proof of that. I wish I could say for certain when we will have physical club meetings again. It appears that most club members are not yet ready for such meetings, and so we wait and hope for a brighter future. Vaccinations and mask wearing will certainly help to get us there.

On a lighter tone, shell shows are gearing up for the season starting in January. See page 3 for a listing.

I have been guilty of forgetting to renew a couple of my memberships due to the craziness of the last year and a half. I hope you will, if not already done, send in your renewal to the club. As always, our renewal form is attached to the Tidelines and is available on the club's website, as well. Club membership is for the calendar year.

Here's wishing you all a wonderful and safe holiday season, and looking forward to a fantastic new year.

John

THE SHELL COLLECTOR'S CODE OF ETHICS

I realize that molluscs are part of our precious national wildlife resources, therefore:
 I WILL make every effort to protect and preserve them not only for my own future enjoyment, but for the benefit of generations to come.
 I WILL always leave every shelling spot as undisturbed as possible.
 I WILL take only those specimens needed for my collection and for exchange at the time... Shells in a box cannot reproduce while I am waiting for a place to send them.
 I WILL leave behind the damaged and the young specimens so that they may live and multiply.
 I WILL NOT collect live egg cases unless they are to be used for study, and then, only in small quantities.
 I WILL NEVER “clean out a colony” of shells.
 I WILL practice and promote these conservation rules in every way possible.

FOSSIL HIGHLIGHT

John Jacobs, story and pics

At the recent Florida Fossil Hunters Fossil Fair held in Sanford, Florida, I came across a pair of fossil strombs that intrigued me. The data tag said they came from Assa, Morocco. The age on the tag had them at 35 million years in the Eocene. Research online, via the Conchologists of America facebook page, revealed their identity, but also some confusion on the age. While within the Stromboidea, they are not in Family Strombidae, as would be expected. The family is Pugnellidae, and the species is Perustrombus africanus Kiel & Bandel, 1999. According to the original description, these shells are actually from the late Cretaceous (72-66 million years ago). The shell material has been replaced by carnelian agate, and are slightly translucent.

Molluscs on Stamps

by John Jacobs

On September 24th, the US Postal Service issued a new set of stamps called "Message Monsters". There are four monster-like characters depicted including one octopus-like monster. This is a fun issue which children (of all ages) can have fun with. The border of the stamp pane has little stickers which can be applied to the particular monster stamp being used. The stamps are all self-adhesive (the norm for US stamps), and are one ounce first-class rate stamps. So, have some scary good fun by sending some monster letters. Boo!

The St. Petersburg Shell Show

As we move closer to our shell show taking place, we need you all to think about how you can help make this event a success. The club had to bypass 2021 due to the pandemic; not an easy decision to make. But 2022 looks to be much safer as more people get vaccinated.

We'll need volunteers at the Admissions Table, the Raffle Table, the Club Sales Table, and possibly to help with the kitchen area. Set up on Thursday will need help with tables. This includes setting up the tables, cleaning them, and covering them with the club's covers.

Please volunteer for this important event. Contact John Jacobs at johncheryl@earthlink.net or stpetclub@gmail.com.

Thank you all for your consideration.

Bring that special shell to the meeting and talk for a few minutes about it. What was it that appealed to you about that specimen? Was it the color, the family, the location it came from?

Do you have a question on the identification of a shell? Whatever the reason, blow your horn, show it off.
