BULLYING PREVENTION & AWARENESS EVERYDAY

Dear Prospective Sponsor,

In order to provide like-minded leaders with an opportunity for mentorship and support against violent youth behavior, the BPA365 will host the second annual Bullying Prevention Conference Chicago. The event will help students' lives to be changed for the better by streamlining the process of addressing bullying issues and creating preventive measures for the future. The Chicagoland area will be the launching basis for a program that will help to eventually lead our students to have productive and fulfilling lives.

The event is set to take place on November 2, 2018, at Chicago State University. Money raised for the Bully Prevention Conference will finance the following opportunities:

- Courses for Instructors to Identify and Mediate Bullying Concerns
- Workshops and Seminars
- Community Campaigning
- Parent and Student Resources

I am working with a team of professionals, individuals and a group who initiated this citywide event to benefit children, adolescents, and adults who don't know how to address various bullying situations in their lives. This will be a platform for leaders to develop progressive initiatives to solve community concerns.

Funds will allow participants to become educated on the latest research, developments and methods in bullying prevention. Donations in the form of stationary, paper goods, catered services or funds would be greatly appreciated. We are also offering volunteer opportunities and co-sponsorships.

It would be a pleasure to speak with you to provide more information about our organization and our mission, and I look forward to a very fruitful and successful partnership with you. Thank you for joining us in empowering our children and our leaders to take charge of their future.

Sincerely,
