

TAKE MY YOKE

Matthew 11:29-30

Christ's yoke is easy and restful, bringing a change in character. The bad unequal yoke is adding to life's burdens and brings not the desired rest. The ugly yoke of bondage is deadly, causing one to fall from grace. Christ invites us saying, "take my yoke."

Dennis & Joan Dawes

I am trusting the Lord to be with me as the Director of this ministry. I can be strong and courageous because He is with me and will never forsake me.

The Paraklete

Introducing The Paraklete, our bi-monthly newsletter designed to uplift and inspire! Penned by the dedicated Trustees of Barnabas Ministries, each edition is filled with insightful articles on Biblical topics that offer both instruction and encouragement. In addition to enriching content, you'll find vital information about upcoming meetings and opportunities for personal growth. Best of all, The Paraklete is completely free! You can choose to receive it through USPS or opt for a convenient digital copy via email. If you're not yet a subscriber, sign up today and discover the blessings that await you!

Preacher's Recruitment and Encouragement Seminar (PRES)

Barnabas invites your church to host a transformative PRES Seminar at your church—an opportunity to uplift and encourage not only preachers but also their families. This enriching event includes five engaging sessions, with dedicated time for women's discussions, all led by experienced teachers provided by Barnabas, who will also take care of all expenses, including lunch and snacks during breaks. We recognize the hurdles that come with preaching in a located church, and we're here to help you navigate through them. Join us in fostering a supportive community; contact Barnabas today to bring this rejuvenating experience to your congregation!

Winter
Worship
Workshop

Our annual gathering in beautiful Pigeon Forge, TN, each February, hosted at the welcoming Music Road Inn Conference Center. This special event, offers a unique blend of preaching, teaching, singing, and fellowship that promises to uplift and inspire. Throughout the gathering, you'll have the opportunity to participate in engaging sessions during the mornings and evenings, while enjoying free afternoons to explore the breathtaking Great Smoky Mountains. What truly sets this gathering apart is the positive atmosphere we cultivate—it's a space where encouragement flourishes, and negative attitudes are left at the door.
