Limited Warranty

North Cabinetry warrants to the original purchaser that all cabinets manufactured will be free from defects in materials and workmanship under normal use for 5 years from the date of the original purchase or as long as the original purchasing customer owns the home where the cabinets were installed, whichever the less. This warranty is not transferable.

This warranty is limited to the replacement or to the repair of the defective product, at the sole discretion of North Cabinetry, and does not include service, labor, or transportation charges related to the removal of the defective product or the installation of the replacement product. This warranty does not cover in any way modified, improperly installed, or damaged prior to or during the installation, natural disaster, and normal incidental deterioration of the product from normal or negligent use. Furthermore, this warranty does not cover defects resulting from exposure to moisture, humidity, and extreme temperature content in the area where the product has been installed.

This warranty applies only to defects and does not apply to the natural aging, behavior and mellowing of wood finishes. Cabinets colors may darken or lighten over time. These variations are considered to be the nature of the material in relation of their environmental exposure.

To make a claim under this warranty, the customer must first notify North Cabinetry of the defect by contacting our Warranty Department at warranty@northcabinetry.com, including with the request, a proof of purchase (complete with order number) and pictures of the defective component. North Cabinetry will repair or replace any defective part and ship directly to the dealer. Shipment cost shall be at customer's expense. North Cabinetry may require the customer to return the defective part before the replacement at North Cabinetry's option. North Cabinetry may also require payment of the freight cost before shipping. North Cabinetry cannot guarantee that the finish of any replacement items will exactly match the finish and appearance of the defective items due to natural aging of the wood and finishes.

This warranty shall not apply to:

Any defects caused as a result of misuse, abusive operation negligence, accident, improper use or installation or insufficient care.

Improper handling, modifications or repairs made at and following the moment of delivery.

Any defects to the surface caused by normal wear and tear or any color change caused by time.

Any loss of use of the product and any installation and transportation costs necessary for application of this warranty or any other consequential damage or inconvenience.

This warranty constitutes the entire warranty given by North Cabinetry and no authorized retailer, agent or employee is authorized to extend or enlarge this warranty on behalf of North Cabinetry.

North Cabinetry continually seeks to improve and revise the product line. In doing so, we reserve the right to make changes in materials and specifications for North Cabinetry products without prior notification. Materials and specification changes are not valid reasons for product refusal or replacement under warranty claims.

The warranty contained herein is not transferable to subsequent owners and cannot be enforceable by any party other than the original purchaser. This warranty gives you specific legal rights, and you may also have other rights, which vary from state to state. It is possible that one or more of the limitations and exclusions in this warranty may not apply to you.

STAIN DISCLAIMER

When you order WOOD cabinets, it is important that you realize the following:

The beauty of transparent stain or white stained, or glazed cabinetry really comes from the true natural quality of wood itself. The factory utilizes only the better grade hardwoods and hardwood veneers. However, natural wood varies greatly in color. In addition to color variations, there may be mineral streaks, flecks, and/or pitch pockets that are characteristic to various species either in minimal amounts or in abundance. The grain may also be inconsistent, with some portions straight grained, and other portions curly or wild grained. The variations are broad, but they are part of the beauty of natural wood. Many of these characteristics are hidden by darker stains but are more visible when using natural finish or white stains. When using wood, the stain does not apply evenly, and the finish is mottled.

Glazed finishes are hand applied and create the unique “non-uniform” appearance. Therefore, any additional materials that are finished at a different time will not have the exact same appearance.

There is always a joint where the rails and stiles join on both the cabinets and the cabinet door. This joint is visible and more noticeable when a light stain is used, or the wood grain is vivid. It is also noticeable on natural finish because of the color variances of natural wood. On mitered joints (45°) the joint is obvious; and with the expansion of wood, could cause a slight separation.

Wood veneers take stain differently than solid wood and may result in variation in finishes, particularly on recessed panel doors and back panels.

We mention these conditions because neither it's manufacturing nor North Cabinetry can be held responsible for the type of, or degree of, variation you may experience in your kitchen.
