The class is an introduction to mushroom hunting in Arizona, including a brief introduction to basic mushroom biology and morphology, mushroom toxins, and information on several of our easier-to-identify "known edible" species. It turns out that Arizona has excellent mushroom hunting, at least in wet years, with many of the classic "gourmet" edibles being represented, including porcini and other boletes, chanterelles, oyster and lobster mushrooms, shaggy manes, cauliflower and coral mushrooms, and dozens of others. The talk will provide a beginning mushroom forager with the basics of the how, when, where and a peak into the what to look for in useful macrofungi for our state.

S.A.L.T. MEMBERS OUT AND ABOUT

SAN TAN HISTORICAL SOCIETY MUSEUM by Peter Huegel

A few weeks ago, I did a lecture for the San Tan chapter of the Arizona Archaeological Society (A.A.S.) at the San Tan Historical Society Museum in Queen Creek, Arizona. One of the members who is a fellow member of S.A.L.T. and a friend, forwarded to me a copy of The Petroglyph, the A.A.S. newsletter.

I made the paper!

"Summer is over and the San Tan Chapter had a little fun this summer. On Saturday, July 20th, the Chapter offered an Effigy Workshop which included an opportunity to make your own. We had ten attendees and some of us attempted to make a piece of art. Prior to getting our hands on the Air-Dry Clay, we were given a great presentation by Peter Huegel from S.A.L.T. (Study of Ancient Lifeways and Technologies).

He talked about various animals of the Sonoran Desert and the facts, myths, and legends surrounding them as well as the various types of effigies made of them by the ancients. One of the animals was believed to be able to receive secret wisdom from the spirit world. Another is believed to have become the North Star. Another one turns you into a monster if you eat its flesh.

And yet another is believed to be the physical manifestation of lightning. Another is believed to be a symbol of fertility. And there were more stories relayed. He also brought some effigies to display, some of which were estimated to be over 1,000 years old.

Out of this 45-minute presentation emerged, a Bear and one Hummingbird (they can fly backwards, their wings more than 50 times per second, and even faster when startled); Jim Britton made a replica Elk like the one in his yard back in Payson; one Rabbit, and a bird/parrot effigy vessel. We learned to watch out for the Vulture flying overhead as it discharges a liquid to cool itself while in flight and know why the Rabbit has no tail ruff (the story of how the Rabbit lost its tail looking to catch his meal during an attempt of ice fishing). It was a fun learning hands-on event while staying cool."

See, it is not ALL political news these days.

WIRE WRAPPING CLASSES with Bob Sizemore

As many of you know, I have been crafting wire wrapped jewelry. Now I know that it is not exactly ancient, but it's not new either. The Egyptians were making wire jewelry and decorations as early as the second dynasty (2890- 2686 BCE) And by the medieval period in England tools of wire were in use. Such as wool cards, chain and chain mail etc. One of our goals as salt is to learn how to use our hands again and wire wrapping fits that goal. After numerous requests to teach wire wrapping with the help of SALT member Lanly Le I have been holding classes at the Giving Tree Cafe. I highly recommend the cafe. It has a unique menu and the food is great. If anyone is interested in wire wrapping 101 contact me at 520-705-9780 to be on the waiting list.

WINTER COUNT

MARK YOUR CALENDARS FOR

FEBRUARY 16-22, 2025

REGISTRATION OPENS NOVEMBER 1, 2024

Winter Count, (started 1995), is part of a family of gatherings that strive to reconnect people with old ways of making fire, tanning hides, forming metal, weaving baskets, hunting, gathering and much more. We teach ancestral skills that were essential to the survival and well-being of all cultures, no matter what continent your ancestors came from. Through the understanding and mastery of these skills, people find that they can connect not only to a simpler way of living life but also to the roots of their heritage and to a pathway to interact more deeply with the natural world.

We provide a camp with some of the best instructors in their fields, teaching what they have learned through experience, experimentation and through source materials. Some of the instructors have spent many years perfecting their crafts. Some have managed archeological sites while others have lived deeply among the wild places, hunting, raising their own food and making their own clothing and tools from the most basic elements. We are a diverse group of people from many experiences, opinions, and family backgrounds, who come together to share what it is that makes us excited about life.

Winter Count is a drug, alcohol, and firearm free event.
