FAREWELL EMILIANO, TIL WE MEET AGAIN...

Emiliano Jollé of Laveen, Arizona passed away peacefully, at home with loved ones at his bedside on Wednesday, November 16, 2022. He celebrated his 88th birthday this year on August 8th. Born in Decatur, Illinois under the birthname of Charles Wayne Colburn.

He was raised in Roby, Illinois with his mother and grandparents in a small rural community. He traveled to Tucson, Arizona in his mid-teens where he attended Tucson High School. He married his first wife, Patricia and started a family of 3 children. After joining the Marine Corps in 1956, he then went on to serve his country during the Korean War. During the 1960's, he became a free spirit traveling through the Southwest exploring the areas of Texas, Mexico, and California. Developing his artistic and carpentry skills during this era prompted him to create his new identity. Soon after while visiting Arizona he met his current wife, Linda. They married 2 months later and built their family with 2 more children; thriving in the ever-growing city of Phoenix, Arizona.

Emiliano's primary occupation was a Master Carpenter for the state of Arizona, but his passion was being an artist of many mediums. Native American culture, history and art was a favorite of his. He excelled in woodworking of both large- and small-scale creations. Emiliano built his own woodshop in the backyard of his home to design and create a multitude of artworks including wooden staffs and canes, wooden toy automobiles, bread boxes, chairs, and tables to name a few. When relaxing you could find him drawing, studying history, listening to music, or reading one of his many books. He prided himself on his library that he had compiled over the years and was also a member of the local S.A.L.T. (Study of Ancient Lifeways and Technologies) community and programs.

He is survived by his loving wife of 52 years, Linda Jollé; children T.C. Colburn (Laurie), Mara Gariepy, Tracy Williams (Erik), and Velaine Jollé (Derrick); grandchildren Jesse Colburn (Julie), Clayton Colburn, Sofia Guerrero (Laura), William Guerrero II (Tony), and Mara Balfe; as well as 10 beautiful great grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Lawrence & Winifred; his brother, Jerry; his sisters Norma Jean, Shirley, and Linda; and his son, Matthew. He adored interacting with children and animals. A favorite quote of his was "Let Gratitude Flow Naturally", a motto he lived by and practiced daily. Emiliano was an all-around kind, generous soul and will be missed dearly by his family and friends.

it's all arts and crafts." Steve Watts

PUEBLO GRANDE MUSEUM

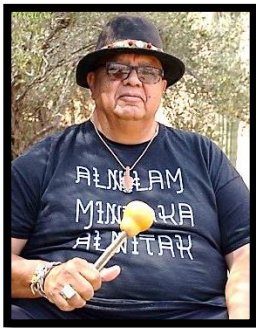

Pueblo Grande Museum is an archaeological site once inhabited by the Hohokam culture, just east of downtown Phoenix, next to Sky Harbor International Airport. It's a National Historic Landmark and Phoenix Point of Pride accessible by the Sky Train and the Light Rail. Part of the City of Phoenix Parks and Recreation Department since 1929, it's the largest preserved archaeological site in Phoenix.

Winter Count, (started 1995), is part of a family of gatherings that strive to reconnect people with old ways of making fire, tanning hides, forming metal, weaving baskets, hunting, gathering and much more. We teach ancestral skills that were essential to the survival and well-being of all cultures, no matter what continent your ancestors came from. Through the understanding and mastery of these skills, people find that they can connect not only to a simpler way of living life but also to the roots of their heritage and to a pathway to interact more deeply with the natural world.

We provide a camp with some of the best instructors in their fields, teaching what they have learned through experience, experimentation and through source materials. Some of the instructors have spent many years perfecting their crafts. Some have managed archeological sites while others have lived deeply among the wild places, hunting, raising their own food and making their own clothing and tools from the most basic elements. We are a diverse group of people from many experiences, opinions, and family backgrounds, who come together to share what it is that makes us excited about life.

Winter Count is a drug, alcohol, and firearm free event.

S.A.L.T. SKILL # 3 FRICTION FIRE with Tom Wax

Today we had our monthly meeting at Pueblo Grande Museum. We meet there the 3rd Saturday of every month. Everyone is welcome to attend our meetings and learn a different ancient skill every month.

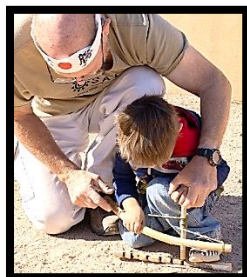

Today the skill was taught by Tom Wax our resident expert on making fire using ancient techniques that did not require matches or lighters.

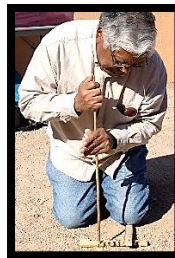

It is almost like Tom Wax has ancestors guiding him during his teaching of such skills.

We also serve a great buffet style lunch to everyone who attends.

S.A.L.T. MEMBERS OUT AND ABOUT

BOYCE THOMPSON ARBORETUM S.A.L.T. FIELDTRIP with Sylvia Lee

Our Guide, S.A.L.T. Member Sylvia Lee

If you plan on going someplace you have never been to take a tour it helps if your guide is the person who wrote the book on that place. Saturday our SALT group went to Boyce Thompson Arboretum (BTA). Our guide was fellow SALT member Sylvia Houston Lee who literally wrote the book on the history of the place. The book is titled An Abundant Arboretum. It is filled with 386 pages of the history of Boyce Thompson Arboretum.

Sylvia, Bob, Tamara, Jax, Carol, Charlie, Donovan, and Peter

Bob, Sue, Carol, Donovan, Don, Sylvia, Peter, and Tamara
Sited on 343 acres of scenic Sonoran Desert just outside of Superior, Arizona there are nearly five miles of trails on which you can see 19,000 plants within the 135 acres of gardens. The plant collections include plants from the United States, Mexico, Australia, Madagascar, India, China, Japan, Israel, South America, the Middle East, Africa, the Mediterranean, and the Arabian Peninsula.

There are also a few structures including a 7,000 square foot house on a high embankment.

BTA was founded in 1924 by William Boyce Thompson, a mining magnate who understood the importance of plants as the ultimate source of our survival and well-being. The large house was one of his "Winter homes".

The scenery is spectacular, the plants are unbelievable. No potted plants here. Everything is pretty much as it would be if it were growing in the wilds of its home country. Sylvia's shared knowledge of the detailed history added the kind of "frosting to the cake" you just cannot get without a knowledgeable tour guide.

Without Sylvia we would have admired a tree that was taking on its brilliant Fall colors, but we would not have known the history of that tree. It was planted as a small sapling many years ago so its Fall colors would attract attention to the Arboretum from passersby on the nearby old road. The area around the sapling had heavy underbrush and some Apache Indian landscapers were hired to clear the area around the tree. They did such a good job that they also cut down the sapling. WOOPS! The idea of the tree to attract attention was thus given up on. But Mother Nature decided differently. Within a couple years, TWO saplings had sprouted from the original roots. Both now stand side by side changing their colors every Fall.

Don, Sue, Donovan, Laura, Carl, Sylvia, and Charlie

I got to see my first Boojum tree. They are named after a mythical thing found in the poem "The Hunting of the Snark" by Lewis Carroll who also wrote "Alice in Wonderland." In the poem he talks of several different kinds of snarks." The Boojum is a particular variety of snark and Carroll ends the poem with "For the snark was a Boojum, you see." You would have to read the poem and hear the whole story from a good tour guide like we had to understand how the tree got the name Boojum.

Donovan and Bob

Lots of Rattlesnake signs! (We didn't see any!)

After the tour we headed to a Pizzeria in the mining town of Superior, Arizona where our view was some cliffs known since an incident in the 1870's as "Apache Leap."

Legend has it that the soldiers at Camp Pinal in Superior chose to attack a nearby band of 75 Apache warriors. As the soldiers gained on the Apache, they retreated to the west, until they found themselves with the soldiers behind them and an 800-foot-tall cliff in front of them. They had two options, be captured, and killed or jump. They all chose to jump. Since then, the cliffs came to be known as Apache Leap.

BESH-BA-GOWAH Prehistoric Salado Pueblo in Globe, AZ

Lunch over, we decide to go a little farther from home and headed for Globe, Arizona to visit an ancient ruin known as "Besh Ba Gowah". The term was originally given by the Apache to the early settlement of nearby Globe. Roughly translated, the term means "place of metal."

It is one of the largest - about 400 rooms - and most complex of the ancient Salado communities.

There is a fantastic museum with artifacts of the Salado Indians who inhabited the area from A.D. 1225 to A.D.1400 and the partially restored 800-year-old stone ruins.

Beneath the stone ruins archaeologist found another civilization. They found Hohokam pit houses that date back to 550 AD.

During the archaeological digs in 1935 over 350 burial sites were found and about 150 elaborate burials were discovered under the main plaza. The project director suffered an untimely death and the full context of the excavations have never been published. History, ya gotta love it.

Between the Rivers Gathering
May 29th - June 3rd, 2023
 Ancestral Skills for Self-Sufficiency

Between the Rivers Gathering is a week-long educational workshop for learning skills that originate in the stone-age all the way up to modern homesteading. We are an annual event located in Washington State about an hour north of Spokane. We will have a multitude of instructors offering a broad-range of classes all week long. Included will be wilderness survival skills of all kind, basic and homespun living, preparedness and skills of a practical and archeological nature.

We offer hands-on classes in ancestral living and survival, and we also focus on the skills of self-sufficiency and sustainable living to minimize our impact on this planet we all share. Come join our community and experience for yourself what an ancestral skills gathering is all about!

PRESCOTT PRIMITIVE LIVING SKILLS Prescott, Arizona

Check out Kiowa Sage on Facebook!

Hello friends! It's Kiowa Sage! I started a local meetup group to teach courses on primitive living skills, nature awareness and outdoor survival skills - all of which I've been training in for many years. All classes ranging from two hour workshops, day long classes and multiple day immersion courses. Skills and knowledge bases such as making fire with sticks, edible and medicinal plants, animal trapping and tracking, fiber arts and weaving, basic outdoor survival skills and how to do more with less in the outdoors. Right now I only have a couple classes listed until I acquire more traffic. Check out some of the listings that are available!
