Dispensaries

Cultivation Facilities

Retail Spaces

Whether it's a medical marijuana dispensary, production facility, extraction laboratory, cultivation or recreational retail store, ProREZ can design and specify the right seamless floor coating solution for each and every space.

The ProREZTM Advantage... Innovation beneath your feet.

New medical marijuana dispensaries, production facilities, growing and recreational retail facilities are becoming more prevalent across the country with changing legislation. Like other highly regulated pharmacological and food processing industries, the seamless floor coating systems installed in these uniquely diverse settings need to be highly durable, sanitary, reliably safe, and compliant to pass rigorous health and safety inspections. Whether in existing or new structures, concrete floors are ubiquitous throughout the majority of indoor cannabis growing and production facilities. With the right floor coating treatment, these high traffic and diversely exposed surfaces can greatly contribute toward worker productivity, growing yields, safety & health compliance, as well as other operational goals.

DIVERSE & DEPENDABLE SPACES

In order to make the cannabis facility more appealing to its personnel and visitors, it is important that the seamless floor coating is highly durable, provides a reliably safe surface, and is aesthetically pleasing and complementary to the overall design, décor, and atmosphere of the unique spaces found in these types of settings. No one system does it all. ProREZ engineers, specifies, and customizes its seamless, non-porous floor coating, resurfacing, and integral cove base systems for a wide array of cannabis spaces that are built tough, chemical, stain, impact, thermal cycling & shock resistant, as well as simple to maintain — reducing maintenance, repairs, and overall life-cycle costs.

RECOMMENDED FLOORING SOLUTIONS

Hygienic and Safe

Cannabis facilities must be clean and pathogen-free, without areas where dirt, bacteria, or other microbial growth may become problematic. ProREZ seamless, non-porous, waterproof, protective flooring finishes balance slip-resistance with ease-of-cleaning and sanitizing, ensuring safety under foot for visitors and personnel, while meeting or exceeding local, state, and federal requirements.

Low Odor, Fast Setting Materials

Busy cannabis companies cannot afford expensive downtime or hazardous odors. Maintaining indoor air quality with low-odor materials, and offering quicker installations and turn-around times for repairs, refurbishments, or new installations without extended disruptions to operation schedules are real ProREZ benefits.

Long-Term Value in Protection and Performance

The value of the floor coating is ultimately derived from the relationship of its overall cost and maintenance to its long-term performance and durability. ProREZ engineers carefully assess each space considering its unique environmental, functional, aesthetic, and budgetary requirements.

Customizable Finishes

These aesthetically pleasing, industrial strength flooring systems offer high visibility and versatile design potential, with a wide selection of standard and custom colors, blends, patterns, and textures to stylistically complement any new or existing space. Custom design accents including special borders, insignias, and other unique floor markings can be integrated to enhance your facility with a truly distinct, long-lasting finish.
