

Is your son a good fit for Kangaroo Academy?

Kangaroo Academy was created from all the positive aspects of the European “Club” model. One of our biggest inspiration is Ratiopharm Ulm. We share their same philosophy, “Sport is invaluable for children!”. Combine that with our American ways of school and sports, Kangaroo Academy is one of a kind and is of this future.

- Is he mature enough and disciplined to think Basketball is a possibility for his future and wants to dedicate himself in order to give him the best possible chance to reach his potential?
- Would your son enjoy being around teammates and coaches more than large bodies of all kinds of students and teachers?
- Would he like to get more individual and team help with school and basketball?
- Does your son express interest in playing basketball in college and/or professionally?
- Can your son commit to helping build a team and reputation more than only caring about one ‘s self?
- Is your son willing to participate in lessons off the court provided by our official church partner for personal development?
- As a parent are you comfortable with basketball being as high of priority as education is?
- Do you believe your child will be happy in an environment with less students, distractions and other potential influences?
- Do you believe your son can be a part of a family outside of his family comfortable with working to build great teams and not just individual talent?

Not only does the child must be a good fit but so must their parents and family. Kangaroo Academy wants student athletes with parents that are involved with our school, respect our process but most important be a part of our continuous development of improving as a school, a team and coaches. The Kangaroo Family is not just for the players and coaches but for their families and the community.
