

What's Your Learning Style? A Fun Test for Kids!

Instructions: Read each question and pick the answer that sounds most like you. Circle the letter of your choice. At the end, count how many times you picked each letter to find out your learning style.

1. When learning something new, I like to:

- A) Try it out myself and use my hands (Sensing Learner)
- B) Think about it and ask lots of 'what if' questions (Intuitive Learner)
- C) Look at pictures, charts, or videos to understand (Visual Learner)
- D) Listen to someone explain it or talk about it (Verbal Learner)

2. When solving a puzzle or game, I usually:

- A) Touch the pieces and move them around to figure it out (Sensing Learner)
- B) Think about different ways to solve it before trying (Intuitive Learner)
- C) Look at the instructions or a picture first (Visual Learner)
- D) Ask someone to explain how it works (Verbal Learner)

3. I have the most fun learning when:

- A) I get to build, create, or move around (Active Learner)
- B) I get quiet time to think first (Reflective Learner)
- C) I have step-by-step directions to follow (Sequential Learner)
- D) I see how everything fits together before starting (Global Learner)

4. When doing homework, I like to:

- A) Use things like blocks, Legos, or hands-on activities (Sensing Learner)
- B) Make up my own way to solve problems (Intuitive Learner)
- C) Draw pictures, charts, or mind maps (Visual Learner)
- D) Read the directions out loud or have someone explain them (Verbal Learner)

5. When working with friends, I usually:

- A) Want to do activities that let me move around (Active Learner)
- B) Like to watch and think before jumping in (Reflective Learner)
- C) Want to have clear steps to follow (Sequential Learner)
- D) Like to talk about different ideas first (Global Learner)

What's Your Learning Style? A Fun Test for Kids! (Cont.)

6. If I had to teach someone something new, I would:

- A) Show them how to do it by using my hands (Sensing Learner)
- B) Explain the big idea behind it first (Intuitive Learner)
- C) Draw a picture or a diagram to help them understand (Visual Learner)
- D) Talk about it or tell a story to explain it (Verbal Learner)

7. When I don't understand something, I like to:

- A) Try doing it in a different way (Active Learner)
- B) Think about it quietly first (Reflective Learner)
- C) Go step by step to figure it out (Sequential Learner)
- D) Look at the big picture first and see how it connects (Global Learner)

8. I remember things best when:

- A) I get to do it myself (Sensing Learner)
- B) I think about the 'why' behind it (Intuitive Learner)
- C) I see it in a picture, map, or chart (Visual Learner)
- D) I hear someone talk about it (Verbal Learner)

9. If I got a new board game, I would:

- A) Start playing and figure it out as I go (Active Learner)
- B) Read the instructions carefully before starting (Reflective Learner)
- C) Look at the pictures and examples first (Sequential Learner)
- D) Watch someone else play and see how it works (Global Learner)

10. My favorite way to learn is by:

- A) Doing experiments, crafts, or activities (Sensing Learner)
- B) Exploring new ideas and asking lots of questions (Intuitive Learner)
- C) Watching videos, drawing, or using pictures (Visual Learner)
- D) Talking, listening, and telling stories (Verbal Learner)

Count your answers.

Letter	How many times you chose it
A
B
C
D

What Do My Answers Mean?

- The letter you picked the most tells you how you like to learn!
- Go to the next page to see what your learning style means.
- Use this to find fun ways to learn better in school and at home!

Learning Styles Explained

If you chose Sensing Learner the most:

- Learns through hands-on experiences.
- Try this: Use real-world activities like cooking, gardening.

If you chose Intuitive Learner the most:

- Enjoys patterns, theories, abstract thinking.
- Try this: Encourage problem-solving, exploration.

If you chose Visual Learner the most:

- Remembers better with images and charts.
- Try this: Use flashcards, videos, and drawing.

If you chose Verbal Learner the most:

- Learns best by listening and discussing.
- Try this: Use audiobooks, storytelling, discussions.

If you chose Active Learner the most:

- Understands by doing and engaging.
- Try this: Use hands-on projects, role-playing, activities.

If you chose Reflective Learner the most:

- Prefers thinking before acting.
- Try this: Allow journaling, quiet study time.

If you chose Sequential Learner the most:

- Learns in small, structured steps.
- Try this: Use lists, checklists, structured lessons.

If you chose Global Learner the most:

Learning Styles Explained (Cont.)

Remember: Everyone learns differently, and that's okay!

- Tell your parents or your teacher about your learning style.
- Find fun ways to learn that match how you learn best.
- Try different learning styles-you might like more than one!

Never let anyone tell you—or your child—that learning isn't possible. Every mind learns differently. When you match your natural learning style with everyday tasks and stay consistent, progress will come. - Joy Phelon of STEM and Stories