

How do I pay?

We accept cash, Venmo or a check.

When I do purchase a beef, what do I receive?

Beef (quarters, halves or whole) will be sold on the rail, on a per pound basis. The price per pound will be dependent upon feed costs, and could vary from year to year. You will know the price per pound when you reserve your beef. Please see the link on the website, "How much beef will I get?" to give you an estimate of how many pounds you can expect.

What are the animals fed?

Our feeders eat a traditional, completely balanced, finishing diet consisting of forages high in fiber and rich in protein. We grow the alfalfa in the diet, and all of the other forages are sourced locally. The balance of the ration comes from Nebraska-grown grains.

Where is the locker?

We currently partner with the Ord Locker in Ord, Nebraska to process the beef. Ace VanDeWalle is the owner of the locker. We have known Ace for years. He is extremely knowledgeable and will walk you through your custom cuts of beef no matter how many questions you may have. His number is (308) 728-5816. Once the beef is taken to the locker, you will receive a call from Ace to get your cutting instructions. We pick up the frozen product once packaged. We can arrange a way to get it in your hands. You can find the Ord Locker on Facebook: facebook.com/OrdLocker.

What kinds of cuts do I get?

Your quarter, half or whole beef will be a variety of all the great steaks, roasts and hamburger you can get in a restaurant or grocery store. Essentially, you get to make that decision - the choice is yours! You get to decide how large your roasts are, how many steaks per package, if you want bone-in or boneless cuts, or if you want value-added items like smoked brisket; it is all up to you.

I'm ready to reserve my beef - what next?
