Stetson University

My name is Amandine Louis-Charles, I am a rising sophomore at Stetson University double majoring in International Business and International Studies with a minor in Spanish. My long-term career goal is to establish need-based businesses and organizations in developing countries, to fuel their economy, and be a catalyst for development and change. During my time at Stetson University,

I have served as a Student Ambassador with the Office of Admissions, a FOCUS Orientation Leader, the Event Coordinator for the Caribbean Student Association, a member of the Rotaract Club, and a Student Employee at the Carlton Student Union Building. Next year I will be part of the Stetson Business Ethics Competition Case Team and serve as a Writing Tutor at the Writing Center. In addition, I have also been a part of the Healthy Teens Coalition of Manatee county for over a year; this past semester, I worked as a Young Adult Leader during which I mentor incoming teens, coordinate different projects, and supervise other teens. This summer I will continue my work as a Young Adult Leader and promote peer-to-peer education in the community.
