Watching Nepal closely: India

SHUBHAJIT ROY
New Delhi, September 9

AS UNPRECEDENTED SCENES of top leaders being beaten on the streets and government buildings being burnt by protesters unfolded in Kathmandu, a worried Delhi on Tuesday said that it was observing the developments in Nepal and expressed hope that restraint would be exercised and all issues addressed “through peaceful means and dialogue”.

India also later issued a travel advisory asking its “citizens presently in Nepal” to “shelter in their current places of residence” and “avoid going out onto the streets”.

“We are closely monitoring the developments in Nepal since Monday and are deeply saddened by the loss of many young lives. Our thoughts and prayers are with the families of the deceased. We also wish speedy recovery for those who were injured,” the MEA said in a statement.

This was the first statement from the government on the latest situation in the neighbouring country, issued hours before India PM K P Sharma Oli resigned amid the first largescale protests there in the past two decades that has led to at least 19 protesters being killed allegedly in police firing.

On Tuesday, the Nepalese army was deployed in Kathmandu as the protesters, under the banner of “Gen Z”, attacked senior leaders on the streets in the protests that primarily targeted “rampant corruption”.

“As a close friend and neighbour, we hope that all concerned will exercise restraint and address any issues through peaceful means and dialogue,” the MEA said.

“We have also taken note that authorities have imposed curfew in Kathmandu and several other cities of Nepal. Indian nationals in Nepal are advised to exercise caution and adhere to the steps and guidelines issued by the Nepali authorities,” it said.

In a separate travel advisory issued later, the MEA said, “In view of the developing situation in Nepal, Indian citizens are advised to defer travel there until the situation has stabilised. Indian citizens presently in Nepal are advised to shelter in their current places of residence, avoid going out onto the streets and exercise all due caution. They are also advised to follow local safety advisories from Nepal authorities as well as the Embassy of India in Kathmandu.” In case of any assistance required, the advisory said the Indian Embassy can be reached on “the following helpline numbers: +977-9808602881 and +977-9810326134 (WhatsApp call also)”.

Before the protests broke out, New Delhi was preparing for a visit this month, possibly on September 16, by Nepal PM Oli — his first since returning to power in July 2024. Foreign secretary Vikram Misri had visited Nepal in mid-August to prepare the groundwork for the visit.

But, with the situation changing rapidly within weeks, sources in the establishment said the protests and anger showed Nepal's political leaders had “lost touch with the youth”, and that the largescale unemployment and a sense of political entitlement had created “a lot of anger”.

The social media ban by the Nepal government “reeked of arrogance” and the “ultimate self-goal” was the police firing on protesters, killing young people aged between 15 and 30, the sources said. “That was the last nail on the coffin and people came out on the streets and went after the politicians,” the sources said.

SKY aura takes centre stage

SANDIP G
Dubai, September 9

BURIED IN PEELS of laughter, Suryakumar Yadav posed a counter-question: Kisne bola? Maine toh nahin suna! “Who told you? I didn't hear!”

The floor rolled in chuckles too. The question, in effect, was this: “Are India the outright favourites to win the tournament?”

Gathering his poise, even though flashing an impish smile, he offered the most routine answer: “If the preparations are good, we would have a good tournament. The preparations have been good. We came here early, had good nets and looked in good shape.”

Then he summoned the well-worn cliché: “T20 is a fast game. No one is a favourite.”

The supremacy of India has been the predominant theme in the prelude to the series. While the Indian captain, having tasted only four defeats in 22 games, did not boast about the bleeding obvious of his group's utter domination in the last two years, he acted like one, with the relaxed authority of a leader who knows his well-drilled troop is primed for the battle and storms in the desert, who could on most days laugh their ways to victory.

Most members of his side are returning from a welcome break, even the Test regulars such as Jasprit Bumrah and Shubman Gill had sufficient succour to refresh themselves after the gruelling tour to England. The rest, Sanju Samson aside, who was busy breaking roofs of the Greenfield Stadium in the Kerala Cricket League, had but featured in scant games after the IPL.

There are no injury woes or fitness and form concerns; this is the closest to India's first-choice eleven, even though a parallel eleven of discards could form an equally compelling eleven on paper. Suryakumar could, thus, afford to find the funnier side in every question posed to him. Life as captain is as sunny as the Dubai sun.

At the start of the interaction, he was asked about the heat in Dubai, he pretended to shiver and ran his palms over his hands, and playfully replied: “I think it's pleasant. I am not feeling the heat.” He provided more spontaneous comedy than any of the recent Bollywood movies. Compliments on his hair-cut were frivolously brushed aside. As were suggestions of change in the team: “Why should we, when everything is working?”

A smile always played on his lips. Like when he was asked about the part-time bowlers in his side, including himself, he turned to Sri Lanka captain Charith Asalanka, on the neighbouring chair and told him: “I don't think Charith will be too happy to be reminded of that game when I bowled.” He was recalling the game against them in Pallekele, where his innocuous off-breaks in the last over contained Sri Lanka and stretched the match to the Super Over, where India won.

A dollop of wit from Surya. The question: “Will Sanju be in the eleven?” Putting on a straight face, he answered: “Sir, I will message you the playing eleven tomorrow.”

He offered assurance: “We will take good care of him. Don't worry, we will make the correct decision tomorrow.” Laughter shook the hall.

Those were perhaps his verbal fireworks before the real one began.

FMCG majors keeping track of current affairs

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, September 9

INDIAN FMCG COMPANIES, which have substantial investments and presence in Nepal, are closely watching the political development in the Himalayan country.

Leading Indian FMCG companies, including Dabur, Britannia, Marico, Patanjali, ITC, and Reliance Consumer have a significant presence in Nepal. Most of them operate through their local distributors or partnerships.

Some of the FMCG companies as Dabur, ITC (through Surya Nepal), Britannia, etc, have their manufacturing operations in Nepal. Companies such as Reliance Consumer have a partnership with Chaudhary Group for local manufacturing and distribution.

Chaudhary Group (CG), Nepal's largest multinational conglomerate, has recently also entered into a formal joint venture agreement with the Indian food company Bikaji Foods also.

An industry executive,

Firms such as Dabur, Britannia, Marico, Patanjali, ITC, and Reliance Consumer have a significant presence in Nepal without disclosing his identity, said the Indian FMCG companies are closely watching the developments in Nepal.

They have advised their employees to remain cautious and safe amid the political turmoil there.

Earlier on Tuesday, Nepal Prime Minister K P Sharma Oli stepped down shortly after hundreds of agitators entered his office shouting slogans, demanding his resignation for the death of at least 19 people in police action during protests on Monday, officials said.

The protesters set fire to Parliament, Singha Durbar premises, Supreme Court, political party offices, and homes of senior leaders.

Indian FMCG companies have faced a similar situation almost a year back in Bangladesh, when student unrest led to the ouster of the Sheikh Hasina government and companies as Emami, reported an impact on business.

Nuvama Institutional Equities executive director (Research) Abneesh Roy said its “slightly similar situation had happened in Bangladesh but we did not see any major long-term impact on Marico but Emami, etc, did see an impact,” he said.
