

Dave Rebbitt

Raise the bar for your next event

Dave has over 30 years of experience in health and safety from the frontline to the boardroom. He runs a successful consulting business and is Canada's most published writer in Health and Safety.

He has spoken at conferences across Canada and to groups both large and small. His keynotes are timely, well researched, and, most importantly - thought-provoking.

Dave often uses his annual blog "Trends in Health and Safety" to identify topics. He can bring them to life in engaging sessions. Dave often says that "every good story is about People, and so are companies."

Sessions have a broad appeal from senior management to all employees. Sessions can be adapted for conference themes.

Dave has clients in many industries and experience in even more. He has worked in government, oil and gas, construction, aviation, trucking, and even the military.

Dave specializes in speaking on health and safety topics like risk management, organizational culture, group communications, managing change, organizational accidents, leadership, safety committees, bullying and harassment, and more.

Popular Sessions

Influencing Culture

Small acts of GREATNESS. People working in workplace safety often never realize how they affect culture. They never see the way they affect the lives of others. Take a journey through the moments we never see. They make all the difference and touch so many lives

Hypercompliance

Over the last decades, we have seen the emergence of “absolute” or “life-saving” rules. How did we get here - and do they make the workplace safer?

Behaviour Based Safety

BBS, does it have a future in modern safety? A polarizing topic that looks at the origins of BBS and its marketing over the years. The science and the assumptions behind BBS are examined along with its claims of effectiveness and sustainable change.

Pyramid Power

There is no more widespread tool/icon/truth than the safety pyramid. Take a journey to explore the origins of pyramids and the use of ratios in the world of safety. We will find the forgotten secrets within the pyramid(s)

Creeping to Failure

“It could happen to anyone.” Explore how sophisticated organizations lost focus leading to catastrophic failures. The journey of British Petroleum to Deepwater Horizon or NASA’s mission failures.
