MARKETING TIMELINE

SUSTAINABILITY

Through our designing and styling stages we have ensured that no waste has been unnecessarily created through paper wastage or travel transmissions as planning and contact collaborations when possible have been created digitally and online. Black corinthian panels have been hired to create the walls of the space to save the use of paint and time to paint and re-paint the event space walls.

SOCIAL MEDIA

We aim for our instagram account to reach 64,000-170,000 new accounts through our paid promotion and story reposting. Reaching new accounts will grow our audience for future projects. Our promotion will range over 30 days, targeting male and females, aged 17-35.

FINANCIAL

We financially hope to come under $30,000 budget, as well as making saled from our collateral items.

RISK ASSESSMENT

BIOGRAPHY

My name is Melanie Dunshea I am 19 years old and I am currently completing a Bachelor of Design specialising in Creative Direction and Styling, whilst working as a Casual Sales Assistance at Priceline. Through recent discovery of my brand identity I have established that I always seek my inspiration through architectural structures and natural landscapes. When deconstructing my discovery further I identified that I closely signify with the use of line and direction, specifically focussing on the way line connects, guides and defines; both colour and shape. In the future I hope to be a creative director or fashion director as I am a highly conceptual, motivated and passionate individual who thrives in a team environment surrounded by other creative minds. My design signifiers of direction, both conceptual and aesthetic align with the roles of a creative or fashion director as these roles require an immense wealth of direction, determination and proactivity. I recently volunteered as a backstage assistant manager at Afterpay Australian Fashion Week in Sydney last month, the fast paced environment was a new experience for me however, I excelled and performed to my highest ability. At the end of the week after 60 hours of my commitment, direction and communication I was approached by industry professionals and invited to collaborate and be mentored by them based on my level of professionalism and enthusiasm.
