Dear Parish Family,

"It is not fair to take the children's food and throw it to the housedogs."

Was Jesus being a bit of a snob in today's Gospel? Just in case you don't know what a snob is, a snob is someone who looks down on others, believing they are better than other people because of their social class, wealth, education - and, in this case, perhaps their religion. Remember where we left off in the Gospel last weekend. The disciples had crossed the lake and travelled to the region of Tyre and Sidon - an area that today is part of modern-day Lebanon. By going there, Jesus was probably taking a break as there were very few Jewish people among these Gentiles. It is there that Jesus has this encounter. She comes to Jesus asking for help. But initially, she seems to be an interruption, a nuisance. Jesus is abrupt with her. And there is a history behind this encounter. The Canaanites were the ancient enemies of the Jewish people. There was a deep hostility. So, when Jesus uses the language of calling her a "dog", we can hear just how strong those divisions were. So, let's say there was certainly some Jewish snobbery going on! But it wasn't always the case.

We see that in our first reading from the prophet Isaiah. The people of Israel had returned from many years of exile in Babylon. During that time, they had encountered people who were not Jewish, yet who had shown them kindness. Some had even come to believe in the God of Israel. And so, Isaiah makes something very clear: belonging is not simply about where you come from. It is about observing the Sabbath and clinging to the Covenant. The house of God is to be "a house of prayer for all peoples."

And then we meet this Canaanite woman. She is not welcomed - but she is persistent. "Lord, help me." I love the dialogue that follows between this woman and Jesus. She recognises who Jesus is when, at times, his own people fail to recognise him. Jesus says that he has come first to "the lost sheep of the house of Israel." These are the children who have been called to the Master's table - the people to whom God made his promise long ago. But this woman will not give up. She responds with those remarkable words: "It is not fair to take the children's food and throw it to the dogs." And Jesus is taken by her response. Her persistence, her faith and her trust break through the boundaries that seem to separate them. This Canaanite woman - a foreigner, someone who was considered an outsider - claims her rightful place!

It is a powerful dialogue, and I think it is one of the turning points in Matthew's Gospel. The Kingdom of God is not going to be contained within one people, one race, one culture or one religious group. The Kingdom belongs for all who seek God with a sincere heart. And perhaps that is the challenge for us today. The Church is called to be a home where all people can encounter God's mercy and love. Yet sometimes we can become like the disciples. We can think that some people are more deserving of God's love than others. We can create our own boundaries and decide who belongs and who doesn't.

The readings today are clear: the Kingdom of God is for all. It is not limited to a chosen few. And this Canaanite woman teaches us something else as well: Don't give up. There are times when we pray and God seems silent. There are times when we ask for help and nothing seems to happen. So perhaps the Canaanite woman gives us the faith to keep knocking, keep praying and keep trusting. "Lord, help me." And perhaps that is a prayer all of us can make. There is no one who is beyond the reach of God's love and there is always room at God's table.

Stay well and warm everyone

Twentieth Sunday in Ordinary Time
Year A
Sunday 16 Aug 2026

First Reading (Isaiah 56:1-7)

A reading from the prophet Isaiah

Thus says the Lord: Have a care for justice, act with integrity, for soon my salvation will come and my integrity be manifest.

Foreigners who have attached themselves to the Lord to serve him and to love his name and be his servants – all who observe the sabbath, not profaning it, and cling to my covenant – these I will bring to my holy mountain. I will make them joyful in my house of prayer. Their holocausts and their sacrifices will be accepted on my altar, for my house will be called a house of prayer for all the peoples.

Responsorial Psalm (Ps 66:2-3 5-6. 8. R. v.4)

(R.) O God, let all the nations praise you!

1. O God, be gracious and bless us and let your face shed its light upon us.
So will your ways be known upon earth
and all nations learn your saving help. (R.)
2. Let the nations be glad and exult for you rule the world with justice.
With fairness you rule the peoples,
you guide the nations on earth. (R.)
3. Let the peoples praise you, O God;
let all the peoples praise you.
May God still give us his blessing
till the ends of the earth revere him. (R.)

Second Reading (Romans 11:13-15. 29-32)

A reading from the letter of St Paul to the Romans

Let me tell you pagans this: I have been sent to the pagans as their apostle, and I am proud of being sent, but the purpose of it is to make my own people envious of you, and in this way save some of them. Since their rejection meant the reconciliation of the world, do you know what their admission will mean? Nothing less than a resurrection from the dead! God never takes back his gifts or revokes his choice. Just as you changed from being disobedient to God, and now enjoy mercy because of their disobedience, so those who are disobedient now – and only because of the mercy shown to you – will also enjoy mercy eventually. God has imprisoned all men in their own disobedience only to show mercy to all mankind.

Gospel Acclamation (Matthew 4:23)

Alleluia, alleluia!

Jesus preached the Good News of the kingdom and healed all who were sick.

Alleluia!

Gospel (Matthew 15:21-28)

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Matthew

Jesus left Gennesaret and withdrew to the region of Tyre and Sidon. Then out came a Canaanite woman from that district and started shouting, 'Sir, Son of David, take pity on me. My daughter is tormented by a devil.' But he answered her not a word. And his disciples went and pleaded with him. 'Give her what she wants,' they said 'because she is shouting after us.' He said in reply, 'I was sent only to the lost sheep of the House of Israel.' But the woman had come up and was kneeling at his feet. 'Lord,' she said 'help me.' He replied, 'It is not fair to take the children's food and throw it to the house-dogs.' She retorted, 'Ah yes, sir; but even house-dogs can eat the scraps that fall from their master's table.' Then Jesus answered her, 'Woman, you have great faith. Let your wish be granted.' And from that moment her daughter was well again.
