

You're thinking that you want to buy a ThinHaus ... or that you might want to buy a ThinHaus ... or you're gonna want one before too long ... or that you'd want one if only we made a couple of changes ... or you'd want one if only they were completely different from what they are. How do you do that? Where do you start?

Well, that's actually a lot easier than you might think. You start by getting in line for a ThinHaus. We call it ... "The Queue" and it's the line of folks who want to buy a ThinHaus. When you get in The Queue, you reserve your place in the production line at ThinHaus. The person at the head of The Queue gets the next completed ThinHaus if they want it. (it's not the right model or maybe the financing isn't ready), they simply defer to the next person in line and keep their place at the head of the rules below.

ALLSteel® ThinHaus®
The Queue

Where All the Action Happens at ThinHaus
(Well, a lot of it, anyway)

You can stay in The Queue for as long as you like at no cost or you can step out and get your deposit money back ... any time, with a reason or not and, again at no cost.

The Queue is the ThinHaus way of fairly allocating our production. If you want one or might want one, hop into The Queue. We ask you to give us $100 for a spot in The Queue ... but this is completely refundable without time limit. As long as you are in The Queue, ThinHaus will hold your deposit. When you leave The Queue, you get your deposit back ... without delay and no questions asked (without interest).

The Queue is for folks who want or might want a production model ThinHaus. If you want a Custom ThinHaus or a New ThinHaus, you would leave The Queue (if you are in it) and go into a separate agreement with a separate payment structure to cover that work. Deposits & payments for Custom ThinHaus and New ThinHaus models are not eligible for refunds because of the specific work we are doing just for you.

When you get to the head of The Queue, you get three chances to buy the next ThinHaus. If you don't buy one of those, for whatever reason, we will place you at the end of The Queue.

Since we are making new ThinHaus' all the time and folks in The Queue are constantly shuffling around, you won't have to wait long for your next chance at a new ThinHaus ... if you are in The Queue.
