Nebraska Waterfowl Hunts
Hunt the Legendary "Kohler Pit"

The Caribou Gun Club has acquired the "Kohler Pit" waterfowl property in Tekamah, Nebraska. The property was previously owned by renowned Nebraska waterfowl legend, Ralph Kohler.

A new state of the art waterfowl pit was constructed on the property in the spring of 2022. The Kohler Pit sits next to a 12 acre pond that attracts all types of waterfowl, from ducks to geese.

Don't miss out on the opportunity to hunt one of the most legendary Central Flyway hunting locations along the Missouri River.

Nebraska waterfowl hunting starts with an early teal season in September and runs through the spring snow goose season in April.

In addition to the Nebraska hunts, Minnesota early goose and regular season waterfowl hunts are also available, guided and booked through Reaction Waterfowl.
