

January 12, 2010
The Feast of Saint Sava of Serbia

To the Faithful and Friends of Our Beloved Church:

This letter serves as a recommendation for the films of Ninoslav Randjelovic. His films accurately and passionately portray the suffering of the Orthodox Church and the Orthodox Christians in Kosovo and Metohija. I had the great privilege of watching these films and was moved by their deep humility and compassion. This particular situation can stir great emotions and passions but can also be very polemical. I found these films to be accurate and direct, documenting the reality of the situation rather than the politics. Yet in all of this tragedy, the films still demonstrate that hope is not lost through faith in God.

I fully recommend these films for distribution and viewing. They have the recommendations of other Orthodox leaders as well as internationally recognized human rights leaders. May God bless this work and may He show mercy on the suffering Orthodox in Kosovo. I remain,

Yours in Christ:

JONAH

Archbishop of Washington
Metropolitan of All-America and Canada