Solemnity of Christ The King

Christ the King

Anointed as a Servant Leader / a Merciful Prophet / a Sacred Healer

Within the rite of Christian Baptism, the one to be baptized, is informed that he or she is about to be anointed in the same manner in which Jesus had been anointed with three fundamental Charisms: to be a king, a prophet and a priest. This is important, because if Jesus was anointed by the Spirit of God to be all this, and we in turn have been immersed in that same Spirit of God through our Baptism, then we are likewise to both become and live out these same Charisms. To the degree that we allow ourselves to be directed and driven by the Spirit of God, we are invited to discern what it means to be anointed by God's Spirit and in turn, how we will live out these Charisms in our daily life.

To be anointed in God's Spirit is not of our doing but is pure unmerited gift. It begins in the formation of our being, before we were born. It is what knits us together, propels us upward, inward and outward, to seek and to respond to God's presence everywhere. It is clarity and lightness of being. It is all this, and so much more. It sustains us even when we do not desire it to do so. When however we allow ourselves to be immersed in God (to be baptized in God) and mindfully work with the eternal unfolding of this Spirit within us, then the Charisms are opened out and allowed to live and breath within us, to grow and flourish in the world. We are invited to accept the Charisms, to use them, so to become them.

To be a Servant Leader, as Jesus would become, requires us to accept that no one and no thing is beneath us nor beyond us for we are all of the same substance. We embody humility, and with every breath we impart it. We are not put off by violence or smallness of thinking, but are always willing to understand and to embrace the other. We do this by being at their service, offering hope, joy and kindness.

To be a Merciful Prophet, as Jesus would become, there must be an inner stillness and silence that is sensitive to the vibrations of God's Will moving within us. For this to happen, all that does not serve God's unifying oneness, hears the bidding to be surrendered. We are then filled with and unimaginable compulsion to speak and to act in unison with God's Spirit. What comes forth is such compassion, love and mercy for others, illuminating and laying bear the inequalities and disparities that exist in our relationships, personally and globally. We speak and act not to judge, humiliate or to punish, but to awaken the other to the freedom that lies within them.

To be a Sacred Healer, as Jesus would become, is to acknowledge that everything in creation has its place, and that it is incumbent upon us all to do everything in our power to become instruments of life and healing. Our words and our touch are to bring others together; to encourage internal healing of mind, body, heart and soul; to viscerally feel the interconnectedness of all life realizing that we are an integral part of this whole. That it is the Divine Life of God that has created and continues to create and sustain all life. And as we are one in God, we allow this healing life to re-address the ignorance, fear and isolation that is within and without, by accepting what has been given and so to live a sacred life.

The Beatitudes -
The Path of the Disciple,
The Revelation of God’s Will Part III

“Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted” Matthew 5.4

In order to become something other than who we are now, it is important to have an image of what this may look like, (Poor In Spirit), but this is not enough. What is essential is to have both the will and the discipline to see it through, so that this image becomes the reality. The second Beatitude speaks to this.; becoming is to mourn passing.

Becoming a disciple is just that, it is an ongoing process of intentionally allowing and working with God’s Spirit of interior transformation. The result is that one must first become aware of any concepts, thought processes, or ideas that impose a limitation upon the self so as not to grow. The individual is able to acknowledge this whenever he or she is confronted with something that is unsettling. The disciple must stop and sit with it, for however long, and discern fully what is taking place. The temptation is to rationalize it away, or to dismiss it or even worse, to bury it. This would in time lead to death of the spirit.

What is required is that the disciple sees with clarity what gives life and what takes it away. What they are also able to perceive is the interconnectedness of who they are with everyone and everything around them. So, whatever diminishes life, must be released. Then we mourn this letting go, and so we must. This mourning however, is also a healing that begins the process of allowing one’s openness to receive that which is truly life giving and enriching to all. But without that clarity to see what limits us in living and being in the world, we can never move beyond who we are. What is required is meekness to see. pah
