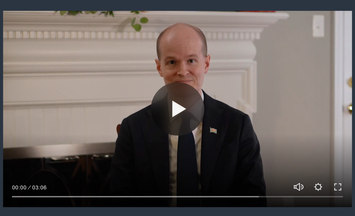
Early voting begins Sept 2–13 | Democratic Primary on September 15

The issues. The vision.



The "why" behind the platform

It's Rob's experience in Delaware's largest emergency rooms that really pushed him to run and formed the basis of his platform.

If he wins the race, Dr. Rob would be the only physician in elected office in Delaware. It's never been more important to have this kind of expertise in Dover, considering the federal Medicaid cuts and skyrocketing healthcare costs.

Healthy communities

A healthy community requires a strong economy, access to healthcare, and good education because they are the ingredients that bring people together. They free us to share ideas and values, form bonds with each other, and instill us with the integrity to fight for what is important.

- Regulate artificial intelligence (AI) +
- Ensure responsible land use and development +
- Guarantee affordable housing +
- Create more transparency and accountability in government +
- End ICE operations in Delaware +
- Protect and affirm LGBTQ+ lives +

Healthcare

Providing quality and equitable healthcare to our community is morally good and practically necessary. Studies show that we get more money back for every dollar invested in the health of our community.

Our current system is collapsing, with people waiting months to find a good doctor, overcrowded hospitals, and skyrocketing costs. Let's invest in a more modern and resilient system, because a healthy population can help Delaware grow.

- Reform Delaware's mental healthcare system +
- Defend reproductive freedom +
- Protect the integrity of evidence-based public health policy +
- Increase access while reducing costs +

Economic Independence

About one-third of Delaware's annual budget relies on fees charged to companies that incorporate here and operate elsewhere. With the rushed adoption of SB21 in 2025, we all saw firsthand that big corporations can hold our state hostage. Dr. Rob wants to focus on diversifying our economy and making our state more self-sufficient, so we can lift all of Delaware's working families.

- Diversify Delaware's economy +
- Rebrand Delaware as the nation's capital for sustainable innovation +
- Prevent economic exploitation of working families +

Education

Strong schools teach us to think critically, compete globally, and live more satisfied lives. Despite spending $2.4 billion annually on public education, Delaware's schools rank 37th in the nation. Delaware can attract new business by providing high-performing public schools for the children of their employees. We should invest heavily in education because our children deserve it, and our economy demands it.

- Treat our educators like we treat our doctors +
- Attract students back to our public schools +
- Ensure educational equity in Delaware +
- Invest in early childhood education +

Destination: Delaware

A state of thriving communities, healthy citizens, deep culture, clean cities, green spaces, and a robust, independent economy, marked by small businesses and innovative, sustainable ventures.
