SOUTHERN OREGON'S BIOREGIONAL HUB
OF THE CASCADIA MOUNTAIN RANGE

A group of about ten people are gathered in a forest clearing. In the foreground, a large geodesic dome structure made of wood and translucent panels is partially visible. The people are standing or sitting on the ground, which is covered with dirt and some logs. In the background, a dense forest of evergreen trees stretches towards a range of mountains with snow-capped peaks under a clear blue sky. The text is overlaid in the center of the image.

A large, multi-faceted wooden geodesic dome structure is nestled within a dense forest of tall evergreen trees. The dome is constructed from light-colored wood and features numerous triangular panels, some of which are glass or transparent, allowing light to filter through. Two sets of wooden stairs lead up to the base of the dome, one on the left and one on the right. The overall scene is dimly lit, with the forest floor covered in green moss and ferns.
