

ABOUT US

Backroads Reclamation is passionate about saving as much lumber as possible for meaningful reuse.

- We work with makers from around the region to bring you the products you want, made locally with locally reclaimed material.
- We showcase the material we recover and the transformations it goes through.
- We want the end users to know where their material comes from and what it goes through to get to them.
- We love to feature where it was for so many years; to help people understand the role that it played in the development of our nation.
- We love what we do and we look forward to continuing to provide high quality products and excellent customer service for years to come.

OUR SOURCES

INFILL WOOD

Harvesting old growth Douglas Fir prior to demolition. It's not just lumber. We are salvaging Canadian history and using yesterday's carbon footprint to reduce tomorrow's.

TRANSPORTATION TIMBERS

Because Edmonton is a hub for the oil and gas industry where heavy timbers are required to move heavy goods that come from around the globe, there is an excellent opportunity to re-purpose species of wood that is otherwise imported.

OBSOLETE AG STRUCTURES

Reclaimed wood often carries unique character and history. Nail holes, knots, saw marks, and weathering add charm and character to finished products for a one-of-a-kind look that can't be replicated with new wood.
