Earl Cobb and Jim Grigsby recently announced the release of their new book titled, "The Official Leadership Checklist and Diary for Project Management Professionals."

The book is a collaboration, which unites two well-published authors who have an expertise and passion for publishing insightful, entertaining and practical self-improvement literature.

According to Grigsby, "We have spent a considerable amount of time developing what we believe is a vibrant and breakthrough self-improvement guide. We believe that our succinct, yet powerful, messages and project-specific wisdom combined with an exclusive self-development platform will become a treasured companion and tool for the over 16 million Project Management Professionals around the world."

Cobb, a retired engineering and technology executive, is the author of two bestselling books on leadership development, "Focused Leadership: What You Can Do Today to Become a More Effective Leader" and "The Leadership Advantage Do More. Lead More. Earn More."

Grigsby, a senior healthcare financial management consultant, is the author of several self-improvement books, including his bestselling books "Don't Tick off the Gators! Managing Problems Before Problems Manage You" and "Are You Surrounded By Jerks? How to Deal with the Most Annoying People."

"The Official Leadership Checklist and Diary for Project Management Professionals" is scheduled for release by RICHER Press on May 1, 2017.

The Authors are available for Guest Interviews and have copies of the book available for "pre-release" book reviews.

You can contact Connie Hawkins at connie@richerlifellc.com or call (602) 708-4268 to inquire about scheduling an interview or to acquire a "pre-release" copy of the new book.
