

A world we once knew

Changed in the blink of an eye

But adaptation is a natural part of our human experience

Mitigating Risk By Better Identifying & Managing Human Impacts

Our Experience – As a strategic operations management firm, over the last 17 years, RBCGI Solutions has supported clients whose revenue are between the just getting started level, to over $3 billion in revenue, in addressing their internal and external human impact challenges. Our clients are both in the public and private sectors. We have performed activities like:

- Multi and single site operational assessments, secondary area impacts and support competency assessments, evaluation of tools and resource qualities and quantities, healthy and safety standards assessments, functional realignments, numerous employee engagement initiatives, trained leadership in problem-resolution approaches, merger and acquisition assimilation performance measurements, and relationship building skillset strengthening in both sectors.
- Served in the capacity of lead consultant in client management/development, business development, and market expansion efforts for firms in engineering, technology, and various emerging business segments.

What is Human Impact?

Every organization has people that they rely on within and outside of it to support its functional realities. How those individuals are treated, coupled with their degree of trust, confidence, commitment, and respect for the organization defines the healthiness levels within them. Hence – Human Impact!

We Focus on You!

There's the you that you project and the real you. We work to get to know and understand the real you. Real change only happens when one gets to know the real you. Focused meetings, shadowing efforts, stakeholder engagements and practice reviews are just some of the tools that we use to get to know our clients in the community, government, and business sectors that aid us in supporting them in attaining their betterment goals.

We Understand

Image and stability are critically important to any business. We know how to help bring out the best in both elements. We are seeking strategic partnerships where our services can be used to enhance your client service offerings, without competing with or diluting your services. We encourage you to visit our website at rbcgisolutions.com to learn more about us, and/or call Kimberly Rooks, CEO and Chief Strategist on 678.732.8316. We are looking forward to engaging with you soon. Wishing you a successful 2024!

RBCGISolutions

Engaging and Effective Human Impact Consulting

