Process:

From the time we receive your package or take possession of your items, we are committed to get your items listed on eBay between 7-10 days. The easier it is to unpack and process, the faster the turnaround time. In general, we like to end auctions Sunday—Thursday night.

For higher valued or niche items, we may discuss other options for selling the items, including 3rd party grading, or selling on a platform other than eBay.

For raw cards, our grading team will review and grade/process the cards we feel meet our submission requirements. Cards deemed to NOT meet our requirements will be set aside as rejected cards and they will be returned to you and the shipping will be deducted from your account. Cards that get graded will get processed and listed on eBay.

Any cards that go unsold or unpaid will be returned to you with shipping fees deducted from your account.

Grading is subjective, and you agree to accept our grade/assessment as part of the submission agreement.
