

SANIDERM AFTERCARE INSTRUCTIONS

ABOUT SANIDERM:

Saniderm is a medical-grade, breathable, waterproof tattoo bandage. Saniderm is engineered to be permeable to gasses, like oxygen. Saniderm bandages alleviate many of the pitfalls that come with other tattoo healing methods. Saniderm drastically reduces the risk of contaminants entering the wound site of a fresh tattoo. Wearing Saniderm protects the area from unwanted shear/friction and allows the body to keep itself moisturized. Plus, it conveniently eliminates sessions of washing and applying aftercare to a new tattoo. The result is a tattoo healing experience that is safer, smoother, and more efficient.

- Keep the first applied bandage on for anywhere from 3-24 hours, depending on how much the tattoo is weeping. Replace within 24 hours.
- It is normal if there is some plasma/blood/lymph fluid buildup under the bandage during this period, but don't leave it longer than 24 hours.

SANIDERM REMOVAL:

- Remove Saniderm when in the shower, running warm water over the Saniderm bandage will help loosen the adhesive and relax the skin, making the removal much more comfortable. Dry removal of Saniderm may cause discomfort and trauma to the skin.
1. Wash your hands, then find an edge of the Saniderm bandage. Gently pull back the edge of the bandage and roll it over itself in the direction of hair growth.
 2. Discard the used bandage and wash the tattoo with a fragrance-free soap, (Dial Liquid Gold or Dove Sensitive Skin Preferred)
 3. Allow the tattoo to air dry or pat dry with a clean paper towel.
 4. Apply a thin layer of tattoo aftercare product or fragrance free moisturizer to your tattoo (Hustle Butter, or Lubriderm Fragrance Free Lotion Preferred)
