Effort Estimation

This is an important skill all managers – functional, technical, or delivery managers must have. Estimations are required to be made before and during the project execution. It is also important that managers understand how to analyze and understand their estimations on timelines, cost, timelines, productivity, utilization, and managing change. Estimation skill is essential to present an accurate assessment of any major activity within a project. This program provides 'LEARN TO' and 'HOW TO' knowledge, skills, and experience in a classroom.

PARTICIPANT PROFILE

Team Leads, Managers involved in managing teams, work-streams or architecting proposals and solution.
