MARKETING & COMMUNICATIONS CONSULTANT

Aleesa Sorrentino Marketing (2007-2012)

Throughout my career, I have honed skills as a consultant, leveraging my expertise to navigate diverse business landscapes and drive growth. My fully functional home-office setup ensures that I am equipped to handle any challenge that comes my way, providing a solid foundation for innovation and strategic decision-making.

I prefer a remote working relationship with in-house as necessary.

MARKETING DIRECTORSHIPS

- High Island Health (2006-2007)
- Forest Siding Supply (1996-1999)

With a background as a Marketing Director and a passion for entrepreneurship, I am eager to leverage my skills and expertise to drive innovative strategies and foster collaborative partnerships in today's ever-evolving business landscape.

While I have been out of the workforce for a brief period, as an entrepreneur, my enthusiasm for harnessing emerging trends, creating innovative solutions, and making a lasting impact remains steadfast. Advising a startup or established companies on growth strategies, I am committed to celebrating success and driving results. Because of my years in the trenches, I was forced to think outside the box. The result were hard-won leadership skills, enabling me to navigate complex challenges and deliver to the bottom line.
