

Jackass

Are you one?

Some of the stuff that they've been selling us in these last two years, is ass dumb. Believing that stuff has done a few things.

First, it has encouraged you to voluntarily surrender your freedom. Ass dumb. No one's interested in give it back to you.

Second, you voluntarily gave up the things you love. Ass dumb. My mother-in-law is 90. They convinced her to give up what could possibly the last two years of her life.

Third, without doing your homework, you believed those who've been lying to you your entire life. Ass dumb. Suddenly you/we trust the government and the press? Really?

Fourth, for the first time in history, governments all over the world violated what medicine has known since ever there was medicine. Healthy people were quarantined because they might possibly get sick from other people whom are not sick. People whom are not sick, making other people sick, and people whom are not sick being made to be afraid that they could get sick from other people whom aren't sick. Ass dumb, and you bought it.

Fifth, you were convinced to take an experimental product which IS still in clinical trial well into 2023. It changes your DNA structure and makes you perpetually sick while damaging your immune system. Ass dumb.

Sixth, regarding your immune system... it's like a muscle. It gets stronger as it's exposed to the biome, and gets weaker when deprived of exposure. So you put a mask on your face, limited your exposure to the biome, restricting your oxygen intake, weakening your innate immune system and doing nothing to stop any transmission of any disease. Ass dumb. Trying to stop a virus with a mask through which you can breathe, even if the breathing is restricted, is like trying to stop a mosquito with a chain-link fence.

I could go on, and on, and on.

Have you had enough of having been made an ass?

Join us. Spread Truth for a change. Be brave.

Demonstrate that the truth that we've been snookered... large. Be brave: brave enough to stand for what's true, rather than being afraid to disagree with the snookered.

Stand. Liars have been making an ass of you. They come in politicians' suits, doctors' lab coats, nurse's scrubs and even in uniform as armed enforcers... of injustice and lies.

They all need to be told the truth. Can we count on you to do so, or will you continue to be a jackass? Share this with others. You can even contact us for a supply of the stickers that you saw, and which brought you here.

Then you too can distribute them freely, helping to spread the word against all this jackassery!

Be brave.

Defy tyrants.

Stand with us.

God bless you.
