

SWED 202 A
Second-Year Swedish
Course type: Face-to-Face

Evaluation Delivery: Online
Evaluation Form: A
Responses: 8/11 (73% very high)

Taught by: Kim Kraft

Instructor Evaluated: Kim Kraft-Lecturer

Overall Summative Rating represents the combined responses of students to the four global summative items and is presented to provide an overall index of the class's quality:

Combined Median	Adjusted Combined Median
4.7	4.3
(0=lowest; 5=highest)

Challenge and Engagement Index (CEI) combines student responses to several IASystem items relating to how academically challenging students found the course to be and how engaged they were:

CEI: 5.0
(1=lowest; 7=highest)

STANDARD OPEN-ENDED QUESTIONS

Was this class intellectually stimulating? Did it stretch your thinking? Why or why not?

2. Ja, det är alltid stimulerande att lära sig ett nytt språk eller mer av ett språk
3. Yes!
4. This language course uses multiple methods for teaching/understanding Swedish. We listen, write, speak, watch media relevant to current events in Sweden, work in groups, and have the opportunity to do Nordic-related community events in Seattle. This dynamic combination of events, opportunities, written, oral and group work ensures that all students have at least one channel through which to deeply absorb the material. It is highly interactive.
5. yes, this course challenged my language skill and the culture side of it.
6. yes my Swedish has made massive improvements and i've learned more about language as a whole from the linguists in our class

What aspects of this class contributed most to your learning?

1. The greatest asset to the class, in my opinion, was the instructor herself. She is very welcoming and actively helpful, and she makes it fun.
2. Lektioner, filmen, osv
3. Kim's enthusiasm and understanding of the diversity of skills sets between students was exceptional .
4. Interactive discussions- group work- meeting with experts outside the classroom such as visiting other Swedish courses, meeting Swedish visitors and interacting with other students in Swedish. Also doing dynamic reading- reading Swedish stories with advanced vocabulary and grammar lessons embedded and discussing them in class really advanced my understanding of Swedish.
5. the content and the discussion in small groups
6. class time where we practice together

What aspects of this class detracted from your learning?

2. det fanns lite för mycket hemläxor några dagar men jag förstår att språkklasser skulle ha hemläxa varje dag för att öva
4. None.
5. n/a
6. tbh i can't really think of anything.. we have a really good community in our class

What suggestions do you have for improving the class?

2. Det va inte så dåligt
4. Just keep doing more of the same! This great mix of activities, reading, online exercises, rote practice in class and out, plus the unexpected and the challenging- means that there is no opportunity for boredom or being lax about learning. It's a highly dynamic classroom and the whole course is designed to deeply engage the students.
5. the instructor is awesome and i love the atmosphere of it
6. since we have to be online maybe we could do a more reversed classroom approach where we work on the övningsbok and then clarify the new grammar in "class" on days that we're doing grammar. last year brad had us do these videos responding to a prompt on a website to practice our speaking skills

IASystem Course Summary Reports summarize student ratings of a particular course or combination of courses. They provide a rich perspective on student views by reporting responses in three ways: as frequency distributions, average ratings, and either comparative or adjusted ratings. Remember in interpreting results that it is important to keep in mind the number of students who evaluated the course relative to the total course enrollment as shown on the upper right-hand corner of the report.

Frequency distributions. The percentage of students who selected each response choice is displayed for each item. Percentages are based on the number of students who answered the respective item rather than the number of students who evaluated the course because individual item response is optional.

Median ratings. IASystem reports average ratings in the form of item medians. Although means are a more familiar type of average than medians, they are less accurate in summarizing student ratings. This is because ratings distributions tend to be strongly skewed. That is, most of the ratings are at the high end of the scale and trail off to the low end.

The median indicates the point on the rating scale at which half of the students selected higher ratings, and half selected lower. Medians are computed to one decimal place by interpolation.¹ In general, higher medians reflect more favorable ratings. To interpret median ratings, compare the value of each median to the respective response scale: Very Poor, Poor, Fair, Good, Very Good, Excellent (0-5); Never/None/Much Lower, About Half/Average, Always/Great/Much Higher (1-7); Slight, Moderate, Considerable, Extensive (1-4).

Comparative ratings. IASystem provides a normative comparison for each item by reporting the decile rank of the item median. Decile ranks compare the median rating of a particular item to ratings of the same item over the previous two academic years in all classes at the institution and within the college, school, or division. Decile ranks are shown only for items with sufficient normative data.

Decile ranks range from 0 (lowest) to 9 (highest). For all items, higher medians yield higher decile ranks. The 0 decile rank indicates an item median in the lowest 10% of all scores. A decile rank of 1 indicates a median above the bottom 10% and below the top 80%. A decile rank of 9 indicates a median in the top 10% of all scores. Because average ratings tend to be high, a rating of "good" or "average" may have a low decile rank.

Adjusted ratings. Research has shown that student ratings may be somewhat influenced by factors such as class size, expected grade, and reason for enrollment. To correct for this, IASystem reports adjusted medians for summative items (items #1-4 and their combined global rating) based on regression analyses of ratings over the previous two academic years in all classes at the respective institution. If large classes at the institution tend to be rated lower than small classes, for example, the adjusted medians for large classes will be slightly higher than their unadjusted medians.

When adjusted ratings are displayed for summative items, relative rank is displayed for the more specific (formative) items. Rankings serve as a guide in directing instructional improvement efforts. The top ranked items (1, 2, 3, etc.) represent areas that are going well from a student perspective; whereas the bottom ranked items (18, 17, 16, etc.) represent areas in which the instructor may want to make changes. Relative ranks are computed by first standardizing each item (subtracting the overall institutional average from the item rating for the particular course, then dividing by the standard deviation of the ratings across all courses) and then ranking those standardized scores.

Challenge and Engagement Index (CEI). Several IASystem items ask students how academically challenging they found the course to be. IASystem calculates the average of these items and reports them as a single index. The Challenge and Engagement Index (CEI) correlates only modestly with the global rating (median of items 1-4).

Optional Items. Student responses to instructor-supplied items are summarized at the end of the evaluation report. Median responses should be interpreted in light of the specific item text and response scale used (response values 1-6 on paper evaluation forms).
