HUMA ABEDIN, Hillary Clinton's 'Muslim' vice chairwoman of her campaign says Hillary is ready to welcome ALL the Muslim refugees from Syria and beyond

Huma Abedeen has direct family links to the Muslim Brotherhood. What could possibly go wrong?

Muslim Brotherhood Plan for America “The process of settlement is a ‘Civilization-Jihadist Process’ with all the word means. The Ikhwan [Muslim Brotherhood] must understand that their work in America is a kind of grand jihad in eliminating and destroying the Western civilization from within and “sabotaging” its miserable house by their hands and the hands of the believers so that it is eliminated and God’s religion is made victorious over all other religions.”

HUMA ABEDIN, Hillary Clinton's closest confidante, must be a racist
Huma Abedin, Hillary Clinton's long time aide and advisor, has taken to Twitter for the first time, solely to malign a black American presidential candidate, Dr. Ben Carson, for daring to expose the ugly truth about Islam being incompatible with the U.S. Constitution – unleashing a torrent of responses – pro and con.

“Couldn’t agree more.... Welcome to Twitter,” Hillary Clinton tweeted back.

NY Post Rival Carly Fiorina said Carson was “wrong” to say a Muslim shouldn’t be president. A Ben Carson super PAC reports that its fund-raising has spiked since his anti-Muslim comments. A mainstay at Clinton’s side, Abedin is often seen in the background but rarely heard. She has been widely condemned in Congress for her deep, familial ties to the notoriously radical Muslim Brotherhood.

Her first jab at a GOP presidential candidate drew a feverish response — topping more than 2,700 retweets by Tuesday evening and 3,300 favorites.

No, Huma Abedin`s reputation was tarnished when her close family ties and personal affiliations with the Muslim Brotherhood were first revealed.

The Hill The lawyer for a top aide to Hillary Clinton is accusing Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa) of making “unfounded allegations” about her employment situation while at the Department of State. The letter from Huma Abedin`s lawyer, Miguel Rodriguez, which was obtained by The New York Times, hits back at Grassley`s suggestions that Abedin was illegally overpaid during vacations and while on maternity leave during her time aiding the then-secretary of State.

The letter also refutes Grassley's allegations that Abedin may have shown a conflict of interest by using her department clout to help a private consultant for whom she worked part-time. "We are deeply concerned that Chairman Grassley's letter has unfairly tarnished Ms. Abedin's reputation by making unsubstantiated allegations that appear to flow from misinformation that Chairman Grassley has been provided by an unnamed — and apparently unreliable — source," Rodriguez wrote, according to the Times. "No staffer — indeed, nobody at all — should be subject to such unfounded attacks based on ill-informed leaks, much less someone who has made countless personal sacrifices in distinguished service to the country she loves," he added.

INTRODUCTION

Media figures and politicians alike have demanded “proof” regarding Congresswoman Michele Bachmann’s allegations that Huma Abedin has connections and family ties with the Muslim Brotherhood. It is understandable that many want to get to the bottom of this story regarding Huma herself. Many even demanded that Bachmann offer a public apology to Huma Abedin. Others watch the media and listen to politicians that provide short, nondescript arguments. An apology by Bachmann in this case is unnecessary since we have established what is probably the most extensive research done to date on the matter; the readers can decide for themselves by examining the overwhelming evidence to see that in reality that it is Bachmann who is owed an apology and has a valid point to demand the vetting of Huma Abedin, the aid to Secretary of State Hillary Clinton. Bachmann’s focus was hardly on Huma Abedin, but the infiltration of extremist Muslims into government. An issue that was completely ignored is the level of importance that should be given to vetting government employees.

We are sure that many will point to ‘specs’ of errors in our findings in an attempt to lead many to ignore the ‘mountain’ of evidence we present. The fact is that politicians are responsible for causing the controversy to escalate. John McCain – along with other politicians – denounced Bachmann and demanded “proof” regarding such ties. Said McCain:

“The letter alleges that three members of Huma’s family are ‘connected to Muslim Brotherhood operatives and/or organizations...these sinister accusations rest solely on a few unspecified and unsubstantiated associations of members of Huma’s family’”.

Rep. Keith Ellison told Anderson Cooper on CNN on July 17th that:

“U.S. Rep. Michele Bachmann’s allegations of a Muslim Brotherhood “deep penetration” of the federal government is “untrue” and a “phantom.”

We will prove beyond doubt that McCain, Ellison and the others are wrong. The evidence will show that Bachmann’s claim is not based on a “phantom,” “sinister accusation,” or “unspecified and unsubstantiated associations of members of Huma’s family.”

DONALD TRUMP attacks Hillary Clinton's Muslim Brotherhood-linked right-hand woman, Huma Abedin

Unfortunately, he hasn't yet attacked her for Islamic terrorism-connections, but we know he will. Below are several links that explain in detail why having Huma Abedin anywhere near the White House would be like inviting in the terrorism-linked Muslim Brotherhood, which has been banned in Egypt and the UAE.

BNI Readers, please forward the damning information about Abedin from the links below to the Trump campaign.

Huma Abedin, the Pakistani-American chief of staff to Clinton, was wed in 2010 to then-Congressman Anthony Weiner, the Democrat whose star fell to earth amid lewd sexting scandals.

MSA (Muslim Student Association) is a front group for the Muslim Brotherhood. It resulted from Saudi-backed efforts to establish Islamic organizations internationally in the 1960s, for the purpose of spreading its Wahhabist ideology across the globe.

Republicans in Washington are furious with Clinton for destroying tens of thousands of emails dating from her time in office, and for including classified information in an unknown number of others.

Trump told DailyMail.com during a wide-ranging interview in his New York City Office that 'the person seeing her emails more than anybody else is Huma. And who's Huma married to? The worst deviant in the United States of America, right? Weiner!'

Abedin holds a security clearance as a former State Department deputy chief of staff, of the kind that would typically come with detailed guidance on what kind of information must be kept secret from family members, including spouses.

US Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton and Huma Abedin's mother, Saleha Abedin, who is the actual leader of a Muslim Brotherhood sisterhood branch. The Muslim Brotherhood is an extremist organization.

The McClatchy news service reported Thursday that so far, information in the classified emails identified as having resided on Clinton's private server has been traced back to five different U.S. intelligence agencies.

There is no evidence that Weiner himself has been made privy to sensitive or classified information, but such a lapse in data security would create a new headache for Clinton, who is gamely keeping her presidential candidacy afloat while investigations swirl around her.

Looks like Anthony Weiner's Muslim wife, Huma Abedin, has wrangled him some Al-Jazeera blood money

The New York Post is reporting that Anthony Weiner has accepted campaign cash from a lobbyist for Al Jazeera, Al-Qaeda's favorite international media outlet, based in Qatar, a major Gulf State Arab oil producer.

NY Post "Al Jazeera and its lobbyists are no friends to New York City or our Jewish community, and Anthony shouldn't accept their support," "They have spread hate and lies against Jews, not only here in New York but across the world. The right thing to do is to give this money back. Anthony should do exactly that." said City Councilman Lew Fidler (D-Brooklyn), who has endorsed former city Comptroller Bill Thompson's mayoral bid.

Although Weiner is the only Jew in the crowded Democratic field for mayor, and often touts his (questionable) support of Israel, Thompson is aggressively courting the Orthodox Jewish community. Assemblyman Alan Maisel, a Brooklyn Democrat who has endorsed Thompson, also chastised Weiner for taking the contribution from Merrigan, who has done extensive work with the network accused of being anti-Semitic, anti-Israel and anti-United States.

Bin Laden often leaked his propaganda tapes to the Qatar-based network, which aired several of his taped messages just months after 9/11. “Anthony Weiner should know better than to accept contributions from friends [at] Al Jazeera, which has been a voice for terrorists and spewed hatred against Jews and the state of Israel,” Maisel said. “They have echoed and attempted to legitimize hate speech about wiping Israel off the map. It’s disgraceful.

“While I respect Anthony, he has done wrong by accepting this terror-tainted money. Now he should do the right thing: return it.” Shea Rubenstein, president of the Jewish Community Council of Marine Park, echoed the call. “Our community has always promoted tolerance, and I have known Anthony Weiner as a congressman who has upheld that value. “That’s why I am deeply saddened and concerned that he would accept money from a lobbyist for Al Jazeera,” said Rubenstein, who has not made an endorsement in the race.

“I hope that Anthony will do the right thing by returning this money and maintain sensitivity to Jewish people and families across the city.” Weiner declined to comment.

Looks like Huma Abedin's sister, Heba, ALSO has ties to the Muslim Brotherhood

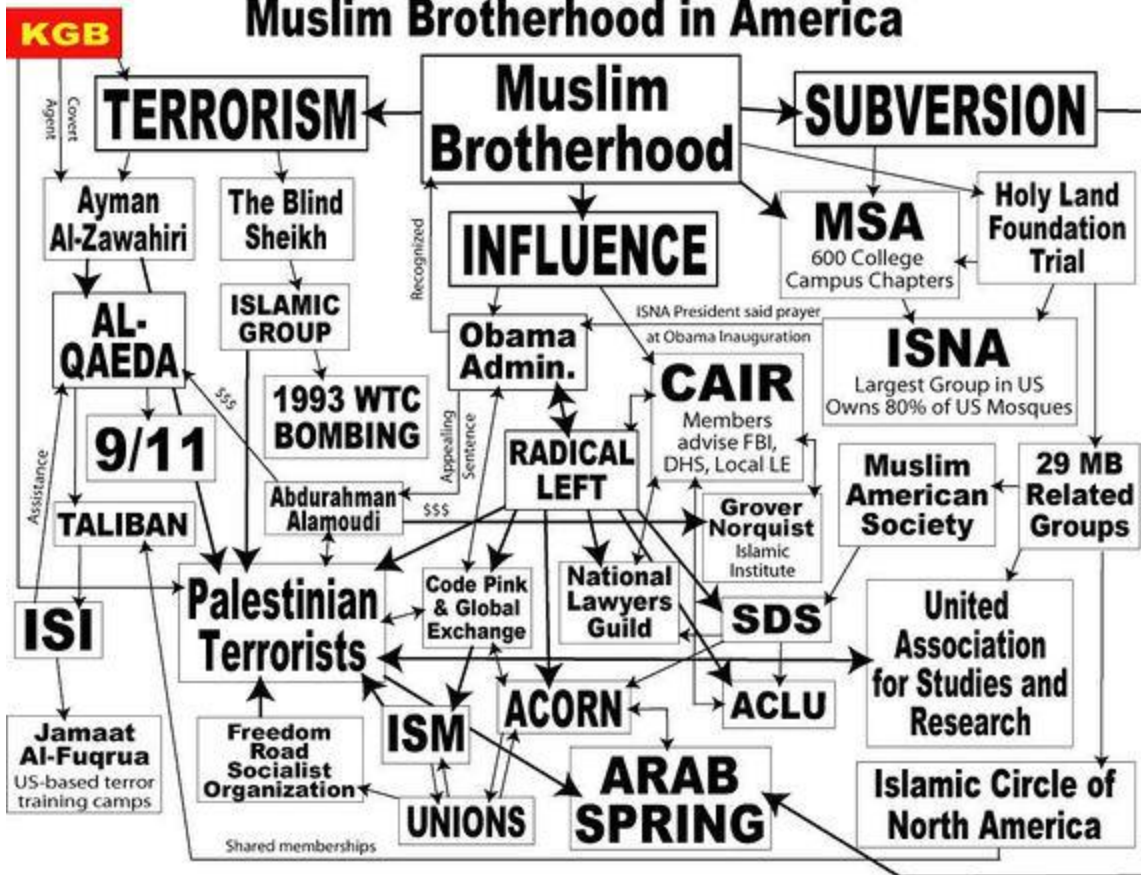

Walid Shoebat Exclusive: It has been learned that the sister of Huma Abedin, Heba, like Huma, has served on the Editorial Board of the Institute of Muslim Minority Affairs (IMMA) as an Assistant Editor.

SHOEBAT We have already demonstrated that both of Huma Abedin's parents (Syed Z. Abedin and Saleha Abedin) were / are very closely connected with the Muslim Brotherhood (her father is deceased and her mother is a leader with the Muslim Sisterhood) and that her brother (Hassan Abedin) has served as a fellow at the Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies (OCIS) with the Brotherhood's spiritual leader, Yusuf al-Qaradawi and Chairman of the Board, Abdullah Omar Naseef, who founded IMMA. All of these Abedins have served or continue to serve in various capacities at IMMA.

Heba continues to serve in that capacity after Huma left in late 2008 to work for Hillary Clinton at the State Department. Please note that in 2002, Heba was referred to on the IMMA website as “Heba A. Khaled” and not by her familial last name.

Now it's the Huma AND Heba Abedin show

HUMA ABEDIN

It appears that Huma Abedin has a new defender...her sister. Heba Abedin, known on twitter as @hebs23 is pushing her followers to sign a petition demanding that Michele Bachmann apologize for raising very legitimate questions about Huma Abedin connections to Muslim Brotherhood groups and individuals.

SHOEBAT One can certainly understand why anyone would come to the defense of a sibling. However, in this case, the evidence of Huma's connections is so strong that her family members should be demanding that she disprove them.

HEBA ABEDIN

Does Heba know that her mother is a member of the Muslim Sisterhood? Does Heba know that her sister served on the Board of the Institute of Muslim Minority Affairs (IMMA) for at least six years? Does Heba know that her brother is connected to both Abdullah Omar Naseef and Yusuf al-Qaradawi through the Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies? What does Heba know about the IMMA that her parents jointly headed for many years and her mother leads now? Does Heba know about her mother's involvement with the IICWC, an organization that condones marital rape and Female Genital Mutilation?

Nonetheless, Heba is siding with the likes of John McCain and Ed Rollins and lining up against Michele Bachmann. Perhaps this is nothing more than family loyalty but at some point, people choose sides after all of the facts are out there. When it comes to Huma there are a LOT of very disturbing facts available.

Here is a screen shot of some of Heba's tweets on this matter:

Heba also re-tweeted what a tweet from a jubilant Anderson Cooper, who appeared to love McCain's deplorable attack on Bachmann:

Huma Brotherhood Connections 072412

POLITICO has an interview with Newt Gingrich posted, during which the former Speaker came squarely down on the side of Michele Bachmann's efforts to investigate Muslim Brotherhood infiltration inside the U.S. Government.

Louie Gohmert on John McCain: ‘Numbnuts’

Here is what Gohmert had to say on the Dennis Miller Show about McCain via the Huffington Post:

Signatories on Bachmann's letter included these 4 Representatives: Clockwise from upper left: Louie Gohmert, Trent Franks, Thomas Rooney and Lynn Westmoreland

“Well, it’s obvious that John McCain didn’t even read the letter because of what he said in accusing Michele and us of making these ‘horrible’ allegations. There were five letters and there were many things that are stated that are facts in each letter. And I wish some of these numbnuts would go out and read the letter before they make these horrible allegations about the ‘horrible’ accusations we’re making. But we also know that John McCain himself had said back in the early stages of stuff going on in Egypt that he was, in his words, ‘unalterably opposed to helping the Muslim Brotherhood.’ Well, obviously the unalterable person has been altered, so he’s okay with it now.”

Hamas-linked CAIR and one of their dhimmi pals vilify Michele Bachman for her call for an investigation of Huma Abedin's Muslim Brotherhood familial connections

CAIR says Bachmann is starting up another 'House on Un-American Activities.' Gee, I certainly hope so. We need one now, more than ever, for all the Muslim enemies and their leftie/commie cohorts currently waging a war against patriotic Americans.

Looks like Huma Abedin's familial ties to terrorism extend beyond the Muslim Brotherhood.....

.....all the way to al-Qaeda and the most radical form of Islam: Wahabism.

Walid Shoebat Exclusive: More Proof of Huma's Ties to the Muslim Brotherhood:

The Brotherhood was founded in 1928 by an Egyptian admirer of Adolf Hitler. It called for the creation of a new Islamic empire and spawned al-Qaeda and Hamas and other jihadist terror organizations.

Shoebat There is a reason that Rep. Keith Ellison (D-MN) chose to smear Michele Bachmann after the Congresswoman from Minnesota responded to Ellison's hollow, 3-page screed by sending him a 16-page letter with 59 separate footnotes he refuses to acknowledge.

That reason is that Michele Bachmann is telling the undisputed truth about why Americans should be very concerned about Muslim Brotherhood infiltration.

We have produced a 37-page report that unequivocally proves Hillary Clinton's Deputy Chief of Staff and closest advisor – Huma Abedin – does in fact have ties to the Muslim Brotherhood.

Republicans who defend her (John McCain, Scott Brown, Marco Rubio, and John Boehner) are on the wrong side of history and are putting their country at great risk by choosing the wrong side on an issue with very grave possibilities.

Here is the report:

Bachmann-Final_072312

According to Aaron Klein, American-born journalist based in Tel Aviv, what could be the most troubling Islamist connection of Huma Abedin's mother is the one with al-Qaeda.

Huma Abedin's Mother, Saleha, sits to the left of Hillary Clinton as she gives her autograph to students Dar al-Hekma college for women in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia.

KleinOnline Charges made in a 16-page letter by Rep. Michele Bachmann, R-Minn. against longtime Clinton aide Huma Abedin miss what may be one of the most troubling radical connections – Abedin's family is directly tied to the Muslim World League.

The League is a Muslim charity known to have spawned terror groups, including one declared by the U.S. government to be an official al-Qaida front. KleinOnline first revealed an even more direct connection to the terror-stained charity – Huma's mother, Saleha Abedin, was the official representative of the Muslim World League in the 1990's.

The MWL, meanwhile, was founded in Mecca in 1962 and bills itself one of the largest Islamic non-governmental organizations. But according to U.S. government documents and testimony from the charity's own officials, it is heavily financed by the Saudi government.

The MWL has been accused of terror ties, as have its various offshoots, including the International Islamic Relief Organization, or IIRO, and Al Haramain, which was declared by the U.S. and U.N. a terror financing front.

Indeed, the Treasury Department, in a September 2004 press release, alleged Al Haramain had "direct links" with Osama bin Laden. The group is now banned worldwide by United Nations Security Council Committee 1267.

There long have been reports citing accusations the IIRO and MWL also repeatedly funded al-Qaida. In 1993, bin Laden reportedly told an associate that the MWL was one of his three most important charity fronts.

An Anti-Defamation League profile of the MWL accuses the group of promulgating a “fundamentalist interpretation of Islam around the world through a large network of charities and affiliated organizations.”

“Its ideological backbone is based on an extremist interpretation of Islam,” the profile states, “and several of its affiliated groups and individuals have been linked to terror-related activity.” In 2003, U.S. News and World Report documented that accompanying the MWL’s donations, invariably, are “a blizzard of Saudi Wahhabist literature.” READ THE REST

but active support of the then General Secretary of the Muslim World League, Dr. Umar Abdallah Nasif.⁸

As the Pew Forum notes, the Muslim World League has a longtime history of being closely aligned and partnering with the Muslim Brotherhood.⁹

That Ms. Abedin is a close confidante of Secretary of State Hillary Clinton and that her position provides her with access to the Secretary and puts her in a position to influence policy-making is not controversial.¹⁰

The concerns about the foreign influence of immediate family members is such a concern to the U.S. Government that it includes these factors as potentially disqualifying conditions for obtaining a security clearance, which undoubtedly Ms. Abedin has had to obtain to function in her position.¹¹

For us to raise issues about a highly-based U.S. Government official with known immediate family connections to foreign extremist organizations is not a question of singling out Ms. Abedin. In fact, these questions are raised by the U.S. Government of anyone seeking a security clearance.

Given the reasonable assumption that Ms. Abedin has a high-level security clearance, as a member of the House Select Committee on Intelligence I am particularly interested in exactly how, given what we know from the international media about Ms. Abedin's documented family connections with the extremist Muslim Brotherhood, she was able to avoid being disqualified for a security clearance. If these known and documented family ties to the Muslim Brotherhood would not disqualify someone for a security clearance, what specifically is the standard to be disqualified on foreign influence grounds?

Walid Shoebat tells us why Huma Abedin, daughter of a Muslim Brotherhood member, would marry Anthony Weiner, a Jew

Saleha Abedin, Huma's mother, a leader of the Muslim Sisterhood (Secret Muslim Brotherhood affiliate), did not have a problem with the marriage due to a tactic that Huma is employing. It's called Muruna and it permits the lifting of all prohibitions in Islam if the objective is to further the cause of Islam itself.

Huma Mahmood Abedin Weiner is a practicing Muslim who grew up in Saudi Arabia, and that her mother is a Pakistani living in Jeddah. Huma's mother, Saleha Abedin, is a leader in the Brotherhood's secret women's division — known as the Muslim Sisterhood or International Women's Organization

Shoebat Saleha also has endorsed the mission of the International Islamic Committee for Woman and Child (IICWC), which includes the acceptance of marital rape. This became apparent when her name appeared on the list of participants of the Islamic Conference for The Islamic Uprising. Here is a screen shot from the Rabita Trust website that has since been scrubbed. It highlights Saleha's membership with IICWC:

How is Huma Abedin connected to the new president of Egypt, Muslim Brotherhood's Mohamed Morsi?

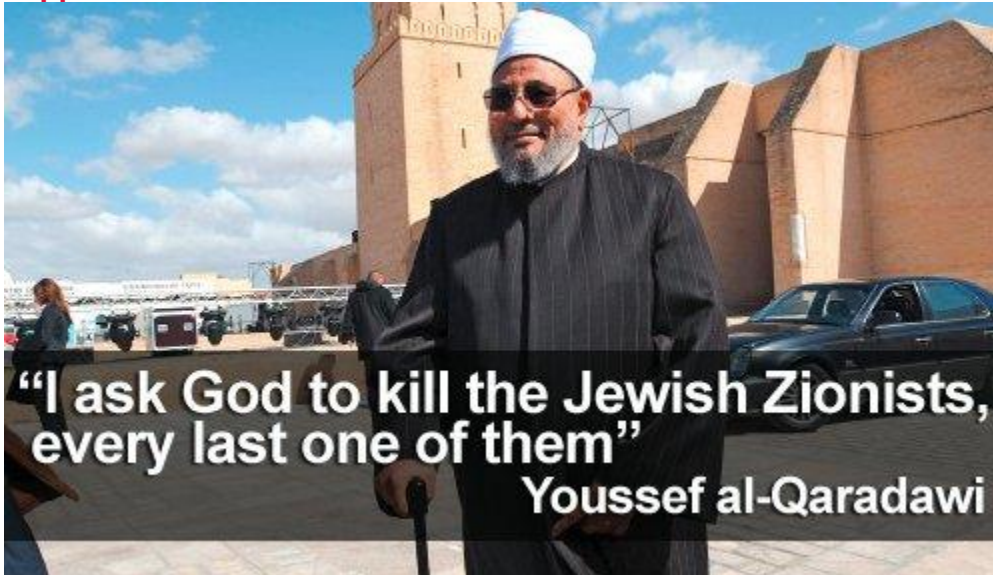

Shoebat It was encouraging to see five sitting US Congressmen – led by Rep. Michele Bachmann – send a letter to the Office of the Inspector General at the State Department recently; it made reference to the familial relationships Huma Abedin – Hillary Clinton’s Deputy Chief of Staff and closest advisor – has to the Muslim Brotherhood. Abedin has much fewer than six degrees of separation (1 or 2 depending on your interpretation) from Egypt’s newly elected Muslim Brotherhood president – Mohammed Mursi. One year ago, when Walid discovered the names of 63 leaders who make up the Muslim Sisterhood – which is essentially nothing more than the female version of the Brotherhood – we learned that Huma’s mother, Saleha, was one of those leaders. Little attention has been paid to the other 62 leaders, however. One of them is Najla Ali Mahmoud, the wife of Mursi. Both are members of the Guidance Bureau, which proves fallacious, the claim that Najla is just an innocent and naïve spouse. This would make Huma’s mother a close, personal colleague of the wife of a virulently anti-Semitic racist who has officially been declared the first president-elect of post-Mubarak Egypt. Mursi also sat behind a Muslim cleric at a presidential campaign rally before the first round of elections, nodding in approval as the cleric enthusiastically informed the crowd that under Mursi, Jerusalem would become the new capital of the next Caliphate. Abedin has the ability to leak highly sensitive state secrets; she is closely associated with her Muslim Brotherhood family; she even joined Clinton at an event with Saleha at Dar El-Hekma College in Saudi Arabia and another leader who appeared on the list of 63 as an associate of Saleha Abedin—Suheir Qureshi. Huma’s brother—Hassan Abedin—has also collaborated with an al-Qaeda godfather Omar Naseef and Sheikh Yusuf al-Qaradawi, two of the most influential terror supporters in the world.

All signs point to Huma using a technique championed by Qaradawi himself. It's called Muruna and it allows Muslims to go to extreme lengths to deceive and convince non-Muslims they pose no threat. One such act permitted by Muruna would be for a Muslim woman to marry a non-Muslim man if it furthered the cause of Islam.

Consider, Huma Abedin is also the wife of former US Congressman Anthony Weiner (D-NY), who happens to be Jewish. Why hasn't Huma denounced her mother or the views espoused by the Sisterhood? In fact, as the twitter sex scandal involving Weiner was playing out last year, the New York Post reported that the former Congressman allegedly claimed that there were three women he needed to reconcile with – Huma, Hillary, and Saleha. Perhaps the biggest red flag of all is why Huma – a practicing Muslim – wasn't disowned by her family for marrying a Jew in the first place.

When it was learned that Saleha was a member of this extremely nefarious group, Walid was able to uncover mountains of evidence from news sources – in Arabic – that implicated Huma's mother as being part of a plot reminiscent of Hitler's Nazi Germany. Today, much of these connections have vanished. Short of identifying Saleha as the Dean of Dar el Hekma, her tracks have been all but covered.

Secretary of State Clinton's Deputy Chief of Staff's familial ties to the Muslim Brotherhood is evidenced in the close relationship between Huma's mother and Egypt's new first lady

If she and Huma aren't stealth collaborators, why is this so?

[UPDATED] Why did CNN give this Paki Muslim sharia-promoting garbage, Khizr Khan, more airtime to bash Donald Trump?

And why didn't CNN ask Khizr Khan to name all the US soldiers and Marines who were killed in cold blood by Muslims in America? Most likely his son was in the military so he could learn how to kill more Americans. Don't like Donald Trump, Kahn? Go back to Crapistan where you belong. Let's not forget your son was killed by one of your kind – a Muslim.

Khan said Trump has a "black soul?" Muslims don't even have a soul. There have been many American servicemen and women who have been gunned down by Muslims in the US at Fort Hood as well as at Army recruiting stations in both Tennessee and Arkansas. And many more have been intentionally killed overseas by Muslims pretending to be US soldiers. When Trump becomes president, let hope he deports this Paki piece of crap and his ugly bagheaded wife.

UPDATE!

DING DING DING! What the media isn't telling you about Khizr Khan! He Is A Muslim Brotherhood Agent Who Wants To Advance Sharia Law And Bring Muslims Into The United States.

KHIZR MUAZZAN KHAN – THE REAL STORY

Khan's fascination with Islamic Sharia stems from his life in Saudi Arabia. During the eighties Khan wrote a paper titled Juristic Classification of Islamic [Sharia] Law. In it he elucidated on the system of Sharia law expressing his reverence for "The Sunnah [the works of Muhammad] — authentic tradition of the Prophet Muhammad.

Khan currently runs a law firm in New York City called KM Khan Law Office. According to the website, the law firm specializes in "immigration services." Most likely Khan was working to bring Muslims into the country.

It is likely that Khan is a Muslim plant working with the Hillary Clinton campaign, probably for the interest of Muslim oil companies as well as Muslim immigration into the U.S.

Intelius reveals Khizr M. Khan used to work for Hogan & Hartson and Lovells, which has ties to the Clinton Foundation:

Saudi interests with using Khan to advance Muslim immigration and advance Muslim Sharia is a lengthy subject. And it has ties to Hillary Clinton's aid Huma Abedin as well. It will take hours of reading just to cover this topic on how it was The House of Saud's "Muslim Minority Affairs" and the Abedins (Huma Abedin and family) that played a central role in using Muslim immigration to infiltrate the west with Wahhbi agenda.

There are two resolutions before the House condemning anti-Muslim backlash, also known incorrectly as "Islamophobia." Not surprisingly, neither bill has snowball's chance in hell of passing.

Yet the bill — which merely declares the resolve of the United States House of Representatives, and does not have the effect of law — will likely never pass.

Five months since its introduction, the resolution has the support of 133 Democratic co-sponsors, but not the support of a single Republican in the GOP-controlled House. The bill has only a 9 percent chance of getting past committee, and an 8 percent chance of being agreed to, according to govtrack.us. Multiple congressional aides confirmed to HuffPost: this resolution is a no-go in this House of Representatives.

114TH CONGRESS

Another similar resolution introduced in September by Rep. Eddie Johnson (D-Texas) — HR 413, which honors “the victims of hate crimes and Islamophobia” since the Sept. 11 attacks — faces the same bleak odds, according to govtrack.us.

Congress, it seems, has arrived at the unhappy moment when it's politically untenable to condemn acts of discrimination and violence against some "7 million" (DING DING DING! Not 7, more like 3 million) of the Muslims it purportedly represents.

"[HR 569] has become party line and it should not be party line," said Robert McCaw, the national government affairs director at the designated terrorist group CAIR (Council on American-Islamic Relations). "The fear among Republicans is that if they stand up to Islamophobia they are going to be challenged by the 70 percent of the GOP that wants to ban Muslims entering the U.S." McCaw said.

The failure to pass the resolution also highlights the blatant “Islamophobia” of some members of the House of Representatives itself. In order for the resolution to even get to a vote, it would first need to get out of a House subcommittee whose members have often spouted vile anti-Muslim rhetoric and conspiracy theories.

Man? Woman? Terrorist?

It's ultimately up to Trent Franks (R- Arizona) whether the resolution will get a vote on the House floor. In 2008, Franks endorsed an anti-Islam film called "The Third Jihad: Radical Islam's Vision for America." In 2009, he alleged that the Council on American-Islamic Relations was trying to plant "spies" in Congress. In 2013, he spoke at a conference about the "enemy of freedom: Islam." And here he is last month refusing to condemn a proposal by Republican presidential candidate Sen. Ted Cruz (Texas) to "patrol and secure Muslim neighborhoods."

SERIES

Louie Gohmert (R-Texas), also named as part of the Islamophobia Network, once made the wildly unsubstantiated claim that Muslims were sending pregnant women to the United States to give birth to “future terrorists” who would “help destroy our way of life.”

He has accused Hillary Clinton and her aide Huma Abedin, among others, of wanting to replace the U.S. Constitution with Islamic Sharia law. Gohmert also once flat-out said: “Islam is evil. We must shout this out so loud that even President Obama and all the other cowards in politics all over the West will hear it.”

Steve King (R-Iowa) has said the U.S. government should spy on mosques, and has called for Muslims to renounce Sharia law before entering the country.

He also once said that an imam in Jerusalem (below) told migrants to “go into Western Europe, build your enclaves there, breed their women, and do not associate or assimilate into the boarder society.”

Which 2016 Presidential candidates are the biggest appeasers of Muslim supremacists in America?

Needless to say, ALL of the Democrat candidates are, and continue to pander to the people who pose the greatest threat to America...Muslims in America. But a few Republican candidates also have revealed their own disturbing Muslim sympathizing sides.

Last Friday, former Maryland Governor Martin O'Malley (below) denounced the socially-corrosive evils of “Islamophobia and xenophobia” at a conference held by the Arab American Institute at the University of Michigan-Dearborn. During his remarks, O'Malley decried that Muslim “houses of worship...have been denied permits, worshippers exiting the mosque in Phoenix (Arizona)...greeted with protesters carrying assault rifles.”

He also said the U.S. should take in a lot more Syrian Muslim refugees...at least 65,000.

O'Malley also spoke out against the U.S. Islamophobia network, describing it as a “shadowy network of hateful” groups that are “scapegoating and marginalizing Arab and Muslim Americans.”

Former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton's top advisor is a Muslim, Huma Abedin, whose own family is actively involved in the Muslim Brotherhood. Clinton also had high praise for now deposited Muslim Brotherhood leader of Egypt, Mohamed Morsi, while serving as Secretary of State.

In response to Ahmed, the fake, phony clockboy's detention, Hillary Clinton Tweeted, "Assumptions and fear don't keep us safe—they hold us back. Ahmed, stay curious and keep building."

It is well-known that her Clinton Foundation has garnered tens of millions of dollars in donations from terrorism-supporting Arab Muslim leaders. Clinton has also agreed with the OIC (Organization of Islamic Cooperation) that criticism of Islam must be curtailed and penalties should be imposed on those who insult Islam.

Islamic World Tells Clinton: Defamation of Islam Must be Prevented– in America

As Secretary of State Hillary Clinton welcomes Secretary General of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) Ekmeleddin Ihsanoglu to Washington this week, it is critical that Americans pay attention to what these two leaders intend to do. From 12 to 14 December 2011, working teams from the Department of State (DoS) and the OIC are going to discuss implementation mechanisms that could impose limits on freedom of speech and expression.

The OIC's purpose, as stated explicitly in its April 2011 4th Annual Report on Islamophobia, is to criminalize "incitement to hatred and violence on religious grounds." Incitement is to be defined by applying the "test of consequences" to speech. Under this twisted perversion of falsely "yelling 'fire' in a crowded theater," it doesn't matter what someone actually says — or even whether it is true or not; if someone else commits violence and says it's because of something that person said, the speaker will be held criminally liable.

Clinton and the OIC's Ihsanoglu

While Clinton has not directly condemned the rising tide of anti-Muslim bigotry, she recently released a campaign video showing her wearing a blue head scarf out of respect for local customs while on a diplomatic mission in Pakistan as Secretary of State.

OPEN TO ORGANIZE & CRIMINALIZE CRITICISM OF ISLAM

@iranaware iranaware.com

Unfortunately, a handful of Republican presidential candidates have come out and forcefully denounced “Islamophobia” (It is not a phobia to fear people who want to kill you)

New Jersey Governor Chris Christie remains the GOP’s standard-bearer in speaking out against anti-Muslim bigotry within the Republican Party and conservative circles.

Christie dismissed Trump’s handling of the question about the Muslim threat to America by stating: “I’ll just tell you what I would do, and I wouldn’t have permitted that. If someone brought that up at a town hall meeting of mine, I would’ve said, ‘No, listen. Before we answer, let’s clear some things up for the rest of the audience. And I think you have an obligation as a leader to do that.’”

More significantly, Christie has been widely praised by designated terrorist group group CAIR for appointing a Muslim terrorist lawyer as a Superior Court Judge. When anti-Muslim activists attacked him with allegations that he was promoting sharia (Islamic principles) for nominating a Muslim judge to the New Jersey Superior Court, he went on the offensive by saying that, “This Sharia law business is just crap. It’s just crazy, and I’m tired of dealing with the crazies.”

South Carolina Senator Lindsey Graham has also become one of the strongest Republican voices against Islamophobia in the GOP primary by Tweeting that Carson “is not ready to be Commander-in-Chief” in response to Carson’s opposition to an American Muslim president. Graham went so far as to say Carson should also “apologize to American Muslims.” In July, Graham also shot down an audience member at an Iowa campaign stop who proposed outlawing Islam in America, stating: “You know what, I’m not your candidate. I don’t want you to vote for me. I couldn’t disagree with you more.” He later added that, “I’m not buying into that construct. That’s not the America that I want to lead.”

Carly Fiorina, not only praised the Ottoman Empire as the “greatest civilization in history,” she also got around sanctions on Iran by setting up a shadow corporation in Dubai to sell $100 million in products to Iran while she was CEO of HP.

Fiorina also said Ben Carson was “wrong” to say he didn’t believe a Muslim should be president. She added: “You know, it says in our Constitution that religion cannot be a test for office. It is also true that this country was founded on the principle that we judge each individual and that anyone, of any faith, is welcome here.”

UPDATE on Republican presidential candidates positions on Islam and the Islamic threat to America

FORMER FLORIDA GOV. JEB BUSH – “Islam has been ‘hijacked’ by people who have an ideology that wants to destroy Western civilization, and they’re barbarians.”

View of Islamism

- Views the conflict as ideological in nature. Said: “[Islam has] been hijacked by people who have an ideology that wants to destroy Western civilization, and they’re barbarians. And so that part, which is the part that we need to confront head-on, is clearly not a religious of peace.”
- Believes the strategy towards radical Islam needs to be focused more on security and less on promoting Western values and nation-building. Said: “Am I the same as my brother? Of course not. I’m not. I think, for example, our foreign policy ought to be grounded in not just the export of our own values or nation-building. These are good sentiments, but first and foremost in security and peace.”

- Thinks it's a mistake to equate elections with democracy-promotion, pointing to how Hamas and Hezbollah were voted into power.

Domestic Islamists

- The U.S. Council of Muslim Organizations, a coalition of Islamist groups, demand that Bush drop American Center for Law and Justice executive director Jordan Sekulow as a top adviser to his “Right to Rise” PAC. They claim that Sekulow is “anti-Muslim” for publishing a pamphlet titled, “‘Shari’a Law: Radical Islam’s Threat to the U.S. Constitution.” The coalition took particular issue with a sentence that claims “devout Muslims cannot truthfully swear the oath to become citizens of the United States of America.”

Domestic Islamists

- The U.S. Council of Muslim Organizations, a coalition of Islamist groups, demand that Bush drop American Center for Law and Justice executive director Jordan Sekulow as a top adviser to his “Right to Rise” PAC. They claim that Sekulow is “anti-Muslim” for publishing a pamphlet titled, “‘Shari’a Law: Radical Islam’s Threat to the U.S. Constitution.” The coalition took particular issue with a sentence that claims “devout Muslims cannot truthfully swear the oath to become citizens of the United States of America.”

Iran

- Opposes the current nuclear deal with Iran, describing it as “horrific.”
- Does not know if he’d support regime change in Iran, saying in April , “I’ll have to give that some thought. That’s a good question.”
- Says the U.S. should strongly align itself with Iranians opposing the regime: “I think we need to be much more aggressive in supporting civil opposition to the regime in Iran. I was saddened to see how the Obama administration handled the post-election revolution on the streets, that was not necessarily related to the election, but it was related to this desire for freedom. It seemed like we were very tepid, at a time when we should forcefully support freedom. It’s part of who we are as a people, it’s part of who we are as a nation, and I don’t think we should be ashamed of it, I think we should embrace this noble notion: If not for the United States, who? Who will be there to help?”
- U.S. government needs to address the “scary” nuclear Electro-Magnetic Pulse \(EMP\) threat. “We have to fortify the grid. It has to be a priority.”

Iraq, Syria & ISIS

- Displayed a poor knowledge of the Islamic State (ISIS) in a foreign policy speech in February: He said that the U.S. government estimates that ISIS has 200,000 fighters when the estimate was about 20,000 to 30,000, Mispronounced the name of Boko Haram even though the group dominated headlines by kidnapping girls (the group is now the ISIS branch in Nigeria); referred to Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi as “the guy that’s the supreme leader or whatever his new title is—head of the caliphate.”
- Would not have invaded Iraq in hindsight. Says the U.S. made a mistake after the fall of Saddam Hussein because “the Iraqis, in this incredibly insecure environment, turned on the United States military because there was no security for themselves and their families.”

DR. BEN CARSON – Carson sees the war with Islamic extremism as ideological in nature. He opposes the nuclear framework with Iran.

View of Islamism

- Sees the war with Islamic extremism as ideological in nature.
- Sunni and Shiite Islamists believe “that we are evil and they want us destroyed.”

Iran

- Opposes the nuclear framework with Iran, specifically pointing out that the Fordow nuclear site will remain in operation and expressing concern about the various expiration dates on different parts of the agreement.
- U.S. policy should threaten nuclear destruction of Iran if the regime uses nuclear weapons.
 - "We should make it very clear that if any nuclear weapons are launched from Iran, Iran will be nonexistent."

Iraq, Syria and ISIS

- Opposed the U.S.-led invasion of Iraq but would have used covert action to remove Saddam Hussein from power.
- U.S. should not ally with Iran and its Shiite militias in Iraq against ISIS.
 - "Right now, they're fighting each other in Iraq, admittedly. But in the long run, I think they would gladly unite against us in their attempt to destroy the United States, our way of life, and Israel."

Afghanistan

- Opposed U.S. invasion of Afghanistan after the 9/11 attacks because tribal divisions and the country's history make peace unlikely.
- He says he wrote a letter to President George W. Bush recommending a strategy for petroleum independence within 10 years instead of invasion.

Hamas and Palestinian Terrorism

- Suggested that a Palestinian state should be created out of Egyptian territory instead of requiring Israel to hand over more land.

NEW JERSEY GOV. CHRIS CHRISTIE – As governor of New Jersey, Christie has had warm relationships with known Islamists, including an imam with ties to Hamas.

Domestic Islamists

- Prosecuted Islamist radicals as U.S. Attorney for New Jersey, including six suspected terrorists who sought to attack Fort Dix and Mazen Mokhtar, a founder and board member of the U.S. Council of Muslim Organizations, a coalition of Islamist groups with links to the Muslim Brotherhood.
 - Mokhtar is also the Executive Director of the Muslim American Society, which federal prosecutors said in 2008 was "founded as the overt arm of the Muslim Brotherhood in America."
 - Mokhtar was under investigation for suspected ties to terrorism since at least 2004 and was arrested in 2007 for alleged tax fraud.
 - Christie dismissed the indictment in 2008 because "further prosecution is not in the interests of the United States at this time." No further information is available.
- In July 2006, the Department of Homeland Security began deportation proceedings against Imam Mohammad Qatanani for lying on his green card about being convicted by Israel as a member of the Hamas terrorist group.
 - A 2008 DHS court filing states, "It is certainly suspicious when a person who has been convicted of being a member of, and providing services, to Hamas, who has personal ties to a Hamas militant leader, and a Hamas fundraiser also sends undisclosed cash to the West Bank."
 - Despite the trial, Christie praised him in September 2008 as Christie prepared to run for governor as a "man of great goodwill."
 - Christie's Assistant U.S. Attorney Charles McKenna was also a character witness for Qatanani during the trial. Christie later appointed McKenna as the director of the N.J. Office of Homeland Security.
 - The immigration judge granted Qatanani permanent residency, but the Board of Immigration Appeals overturned the ruling. The trial remains in limbo.

- In 2011, Christie appointed Sohail Mohammed, Qatanani's attorney, to the N.J. Superior Court of Passaic County. Mohammed had a history of defending Islamist terror suspects like Sami Al-Arian and the Holy Land Foundation and also was the general counsel of the American Muslim Union, a group with very close ties to Qatanani and his Hamas-linked mosque.
- Christie responded to criticism of the appointment with, "This Sharia Law business is crap. It's just crazy. And I'm tired of dealing with the crazies. I mean, you know, it's just unnecessary to be accusing this guy of things just because of his religious background."
- On July 24, 2012, Qatanani attended an Iftar dinner at the Governor's Mansion. Video footage showed that Christie pointed out Qatanani in the audience, saying "I'm glad to have you here." He called him a "friend" that "has attempted to be a force for good in his community."
- Christie said his relationship with his state's Muslim community is being criticized because of a "gaze of intolerance that's going around our country that is disturbing."
 - "These are the kind of red herrings that people put up who are bigots, who want to judge people based upon their religious beliefs, want to judge people with a broad brush," he said.
- In July 2014, Christie said he stands by his words of praise of Qatanani "as they apply to the immediate aftermath of 9/11," saying that the Hamas-tied imam was helpful in reaching out to the Muslim community.
- In 2012, the Clarion Project broke the story that four known Islamists were on Christie's Attorney General Jeffrey Chiesa's Muslim Outreach Committee, including Qatanani. Christie appointed Chiesa as interim Senator before Senator Booker was elected.
 - In September 2013, the Clarion Project discovered that the four Islamists included an additional fifth problematic figure who remained on the Muslim Outreach Committee approximately one year after the initial expose of their troubling backgrounds.
 - Documents from the Attorney General's office showed that the Muslim Outreach Committee were briefed by top law enforcement officials on "Homeland Security Grants for Non-Profit Organizations" and State Police outreach training.
- In September 2013, the Council on American-Islamic Relations (CAIR), a U.S. Muslim Brotherhood entity linked to Hamas and a designated terrorist group by the United Arab Emirates, honored Christie for his "outstanding contributions to pushing back against Islamophobic trends."

Iran

- Opposes the nuclear deal with Iran but won't pledge to scrap it if he becomes President. He said he would need to consider the situation and the positions of international partners at that time.
 - "I'm not one of those guys who's going to say to you, 'on Day One I will abrogate the agreement...On Day One, I will look into it and try to decide, depending upon where we are at that moment.'"
 - "If I'm saddled with the deal as president, then on the first day I'll be saying to my national security advisor, to my Secretary of State and to my head of national intelligence: give me all the information I need to let me know all the options I have to try to put this genie back in the bottle, and then we'll make a decision."
- Says a nuclear-armed Iran would be "an existential threat to Israel, to America and to world civilization itself."

Islamic State, Iraq and Syria

- U.S. should openly consider sending combat troops to fight the Islamic State.
- U.S.-led invasion of Iraq to topple Saddam Hussein was a mistake in hindsight.

Record on Islamic Extremism

– Sharia Law is an “enormous problem” in the U.S.

Iran

- A nuclear-armed Iran is “the single greatest national security threat” today.
- Current nuclear talks with Iran are the “worst negotiation in the history of mankind.”
- The U.S. should have “vigorously” supported the Green Revolution in 2009.
- The U.S. should not partner with Iran or its proxies in fighting the Islamic State (ISIS).
- Sanctions on Iran and North Korea will “ideally overthrow their current regimes.”

Iraq and ISIS

-The U.S. invasion of Iraq to topple Saddam Hussein was a mistake. Cruz says he does not know if he would have voted for it in 2002 because he was not a Senator and therefore did not have access to the intelligence.

- The U.S. should not deploy ground troops to Iraq to fight the Islamic State if they must rely on the Iraqi government or Iran-linked militias for security.
- The U.S. should first increase support for the Kurdish Peshmerga troops instead of sending additional ground troops to Iraq.
- The citizenships of Americans that have joined terrorist groups like the Islamic State overseas should be revoked so they cannot reenter the country or receive constitutional protections.

Muslim Brotherhood & Egypt

- The U.S. should have successfully pressured Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak to oversee a democratic transition but should not have supported his removal because he was an ally.
- Criticism of Mubarak’s human rights abuses was acceptable but “[President Obama] went further than that to topple him and replace him with the Muslim Brotherhood, whose interest and animus was rabidly anti-American.”
- The U.S. should have demanded concessions from the Muslim Brotherhood-led government of Egypt in return for pledges of additional foreign aid.
- The U.S. “failed to support those calling for more inclusive and tolerant leadership” during the reign of the elected Muslim Brotherhood government. He said, “One of the saddest things to see was posters among the people that said: ‘Obama supports the Muslim Brotherhood,’ ‘America supports terrorists.’”
- He said the U.S. should have severed aid to Egypt once the protests against the Muslim Brotherhood began. The lack of support for the opposition made the U.S. —“in both perception and reality — entrenched as the partner of a repressive, Islamist regime and the enemy of the secular, pro-democracy opposition,” he wrote.
- The Egyptian military’s popularly supported overthrow of the Muslim Brotherhood is a “coup” and all U.S. aid to Egypt should have been suspended. Sen. Cruz’s position was even more hostile to the new Egyptian military’s overthrow of the Brotherhood than that of the Obama Administration.
- The Egyptian military’s crackdown on the Muslim Brotherhood is responsible for provoking the Islamist group into violence and attacking Coptic Christians.
- The U.S. should only provide aid to Egypt if it advances the creation of a secular and inclusive government that honors the peace treaty with Israel.
- He praised Egyptian President El-Sisi for calling on the Muslim world to stand against terrorists who act in the name of Islam.

Syria

- The U.S. should have swiftly called for the removal of Syrian President Bashar Assad in 2011 “when there was a unified, peaceful and secular opposition to him.” However, on March 24, 2015, Cruz appeared to disavow a policy supporting Assad’s removal by saying he’s a “monster” but does not “pose a clear and present danger to America.”
- The U.S. must not arm Syrian rebels because of the inability to determine which rebels are a threat to the West and the likelihood that U.S. supplies will fall into the hands of terrorists.
- The U.S. must take the lead in developing a plan to “go in” and eliminate Syrian stockpiles of weapons of mass destruction to prevent them from falling into the hands of terrorists. This was stated in June 2013.
- In September 2013, he opposed the Obama Administration’s proposal for airstrikes on Syrian WMD capabilities and other regime targets after it ignored U.S. warnings against using chemical weapons in the civil war.

CARLY FIORINA – Says that Islamic terrorists are “fanatics who have nothing to do with the Muslim religion.” In a speech right after 9/11, Fiorina said “the Islamic Ottoman civilization was the greatest in the world”.

View of Islamism

- Supports calls for a reformation in Islam but seems to believe that Islamist terrorists are manipulatively using Islam, rather than acting in accordance with certain Islamic interpretations.
- “...these fanatics who have nothing to do with the Muslim religion.”

Egypt & Muslim Brotherhood

- Praised Egyptian El-Sisi’s speech about the need for Islamic scholars to confront interpretations that promote extremism and terrorism.
 - “The President of Egypt, El-Sisi, gave a very interesting and courageous speech today in which he spoke with scholars of his religion, and said that we need a reformation.”

Iraq, Syria and ISIS

Criticized the Obama Administration for not providing enough support to Arab and Kurdish allies fighting ISIS. She said that the U.S. denied requests for arms by Jordan and the Kurds and refused to share intelligence with Egypt.

Iran

- A subsidiary of Hewlett-Packard in the Netherlands used a distributor in Dubai named Redington Gulf to sell “hundreds of millions of dollars worth of printers and other products” to Iran while she was CEO of the company. The distributor did business with Iran from 1997, including $120 million in 2008.
- In 2009, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission inquired about HP’s business in Iran, Syria and Sudan, four years after she left as CEO.
- HP said the sales did not violate the U.S. embargo because the business was done independently and not as part of HP operations. The company ended its relationship with Redington Gulf after the U.S. government’s letter was received.
- However, in 1999, HP’s Middle East director told a newspaper in the United Arab Emirates that Iran was “a big market for Hewlett-Packard printers” and that business had grown there by 50%.
- Also in 1999, Redington Gulf boasted it sold over $100 million in HP products to Iran. It said, “The seeds of the Redington-Hewlett-Packard relationship were sowed six years ago for one market — Iran.
- Fiorina says she did not know about the subsidiary’s business with Iran and that HP did not violate the law under her leadership.

FORMER VIRGINIA GOV. JIM GILMORE-Gilmore endorsed an award given to Jamal Barzinji, an Islamist radical investigated for links to Hamas and the Palestinian Islamic Jihad.

View of Islamism

- “These radical Islamic groups seek to assert their medieval world view upon helpless people under their control ...When America, as the hope of the civilization, intervenes, ISIS and others condemn the U.S. as conducting a new ‘Crusade’ against Islam, to win over those of the Muslim faith who do not subscribe to this cult of brutality,” he said in February.
- “[T]his is a guerilla war to try to defeat us by a thousand cuts, that they’re going to undermine us piece by piece, little by little, until finally we can’t do anything anymore,” he said.

Domestic Islamists

- In 2007, the Global Muslim Brotherhood Daily Report reported that Gilmore attended a dinner honoring Jamal Barzinji, a well-known Islamist radical who serves as a founder and Vice President of the International Institute of Islamic Thought (IIIT), a U.S. Muslim Brotherhood entity that was the subject of a counter-terrorism investigation because of its links to Hamas and the Palestinian Islamic Jihad terrorist groups.
- IIIT said Gilmore spoke at the dinner and endorsed the award for Barzinji. The Muslim Link reported that he spoke for 5 minutes and congratulated Barzinji. A 1988 FBI file documenting intelligence provided by an informant inside the Muslim Brotherhood network notes Barzinji’s role in the Brotherhood’s American network and says he is “characterized as” a secret leader of the organization.

SOUTH CAROLINA SEN. LINDSEY GRAHAM-Graham said U.S. must stand against the Egyptian military’s popularly supported overthrow of the Muslim Brotherhood regime.

View of Islamism

- Views the conflict as based in ideology. “You’ll never have peace with radical Islam. They will never accommodate our way of life because me and you have one thing in common they hate: We reject their way of worshipping God...They want a master religion for the world like the Nazis wanted a master race.”
- Disagrees with supporting secular dictators as an alternative to Islamist rule. He said the “Saddam Hussein model” is “unsustainable” and “on the wrong side of history.”

Domestic Islamists

- Defended Huma Abedin, Secretary of State Clinton’s Deputy Chief of Staff, when five members of Congress questioned her security clearance due to her family’s ties to the Muslim Brotherhood and Islamist groups. Graham did not comment on the congressperson’s overall concerns about the U.S. Muslim Brotherhood.
- Huma Abedin, a top aide to Clinton since 1996 and Deputy Chief of Staff when she was Secretary of State, was assistant-editor of an Islamist journal from 1996 to 2008 and three of her immediate family members are closely linked to the Muslim Brotherhood. Her husband’s mayoral campaign also received donations from a lobbyist for Al-Jazeera.

Egypt & the Muslim Brotherhood

- Opinion of the Muslim Brotherhood became more positive after meeting its leaders once it came to power in Egypt.

- “I was very apprehensive when I heard the [Egyptian] election results. But after visiting and talking with the Muslim Brotherhood, I am hopeful that...we can have a relationship with Egypt where the Muslim Brotherhood is a strong political voice.”
- Opposed cutting aid to Egypt after the Muslim Brotherhood was voted into power.
- U.S. must stand against the Egyptian military’s popularly-supported overthrow of the Muslim Brotherhood regime, even though the Brotherhood “corrupted their mandate.”
- Demanded that the Egyptian government release imprisoned Muslim Brotherhood members and have dialogue with the Islamist extremist group. Graham said that the Brotherhood should renounce violence.
- The Egyptian government condemned Senator Graham’s statement as “unacceptable interference in internal politics.” Secular-democratic Egyptians were likewise outraged.
- Pressured Egypt to lift the ban on the Muslim Brotherhood as a terrorist group and to allow them to participate in new elections, predicting that the Brotherhood would lose. He said that the crackdown on the Brotherhood was “making these people martyrs.”
- Advocated for suspending State Department assistance to Egypt in response to the overthrow of the Muslim Brotherhood and to pressure Egypt into allowing it into the political process. Graham said that “limited” military assistance through the Defense Department could continue.
- Graham said that U.S. aid to Egypt should be directed towards civil society, democracy promotion and non-governmental organizations.

Iran

- U.S. policy towards Iran should be to support internal regime change.
- In 2013, Graham returned donations from supporters of the Mujahideen-e-Khalq \(MEK\), an Iranian opposition group formerly designated as a Foreign Terrorist Organization by the U.S. government. The group says it seeks a secular-democratic republic in Iran and opposes Sharia governance. Critics claim it is a cult with little support inside Iran and some argue that it should remain banned as a terrorist group.
- U.S. should use military force to stop Iran from obtaining nuclear weapons if necessary. Graham said military action should go beyond targeting nuclear sites and “have in mind the goal of changing the regime. Not by invading, but by launching a military strike by air and sea.”

Iraq, Syria & the Islamic State

- U.S. should increase troop levels in Iraq from 3,000 to 10,000 to fight the Islamic State by advising Iraqi forces. Graham hopes that the U.S. forces would supplement a regional force.
- U.S. should arm and train Syrian rebels fighting the Islamic State, Al-Qaeda and the Assad regime. He suggested using the Arab League as a conduit for arming the rebels.
- U.S. should seek the removal of Syrian dictator Bashar Assad and his replacement with forces “who are not radical Islamists and that’s most Syrians.”
- Supports the establishment of a no-fly zone over Syria to stop the Assad regime’s air force.
- Supported potential U.S. airstrikes on the Syrian regime in September 2013 in retaliation for its use of chemical weapons in spite of America’s declared “red line.”

Libya

- Supported U.S. military intervention in Libya to overthrow dictator Muammar Gaddafi and criticized the Obama Administration for not targeting the leadership quickly enough.

Turkey

- U.S. should “coordinate” with Turkey to get Iraqi Sunnis involved in fighting ISIS.
- Defended the Islamist government of Turkey when it was criticized for not intervening against the Islamic State during the battle in Kobani, Syria. The statement said Graham “disagreed with some of Turkey’s policies and actions” and believe it needs to take a “greater role” against the Islamic State, but that the criticism did not “reflect the reality on the ground.”
- In 2011, Graham praised Turkey as a “great democracy” under elected Islamist rule. He said his meeting with then-Prime Minister Erdogan was “the best meeting I had with a head of state” and praised his leadership in the region.
- In 2012, Graham criticized Erdogan for calling Israel a “terrorist state” and said it would embolden Hamas’ terrorism.

FORMER ARKANSAS GOV. MIKE HUCKABEE – “The Bush administration has never adequately explained the theology and ideology behind Islamic terrorism or convinced us of its ruthless fanaticism. The first rule of war is ‘know your enemy,’ and most Americans do not know theirs.”

Views of Islamism

- Views the conflict as ideological. He defines the enemy as “Islamofascism” that has “sworn to annihilate each of us who believe in a free society, all in the name of a perversion of religion and an impersonal god.”
- Faults President Bush for not identifying and explaining the ideological threat.
- Believes that poverty, lack of education, unemployment, poor healthcare and lack of freedom are “underlying conditions” that cause terrorism.
- The greatest difficulty in fighting Islamist terrorism is the “lack of a viable moderate alternative to radicalism.”
- U.S. should have a strategy between ensuring the status quo and promoting democracy. The strategy must assist moderate forces in the Muslim world that may not be democratic but offer a third way between dictatorship and Islamist theocracy. He said these alternatives may include a “benevolent oligarchy” or tribes like those in Iraq that helped the U.S. fight Al-Qaeda.

Domestic Islamists

- In 2008, Huckabee was accused of promoting “Islamophobia” by the Council on American-Islamic Relations \(CAIR\), a U.S. Muslim Brotherhood entity and designated terrorist entity by the United Arab Emirates. CAIR was upset that he called for defeating “Islamofascism,” which CAIR said was “falsely linking Islam to the odious philosophy of fascism.”

Egypt & the Muslim Brotherhood

- The Islamic interpretations of the Muslim Brotherhood and prominent Brotherhood preacher Sayyid Qutb are the theological foundation for Al-Qaeda and other Islamist terrorists.
- The Muslim Brotherhood is the “original tumor” that metastasized into ISIS, Al-Qaeda, Hamas and Hezbollah.
- U.S. should have publicly supported Egyptian President Mubarak when protests demanded his resignation.
 - o “This would not have required us to approve everything he did, or deny the rights of the people of Egypt to demand a change of government, But I think it would have been an important symbol to send to the rest of the world, that we don’t just walk away from long-standing allies.”
- Endorsed the popularly-supported overthrow of Egyptian President Morsi’s Muslim Brotherhood regime. He cited a report by Cairo University about 51 fatwas released by the Brotherhood when Morsi was in power that included sexism and hatred of Jews and Christians. Several recommended using women as human shields.

Iran

- Supported the establishment of diplomatic ties with the Iranian regime in order to possibly improve the relationship and to get a better understanding of the country.
- Would use military force to stop Iran from getting a nuclear weapon if necessary.
- Blamed President Bush’s “Axis of Evil” speech for undermining cooperation with the Iranian regime on Al-Qaeda and Afghanistan.
- Sees the Iranian regime as more rational and containable than Al-Qaeda.

o “Whereas there can be no rational dealings with al Qaeda, Iran is a nation-state seeking regional clout and playing the game of power politics we understand and can skillfully pursue. We cannot live with al Qaeda, but we might be able to live with a contained Iran.”

· U.S. should have given the Iranian Green Revolution more public support.

Iraq, Syria & ISIS

· Supports the U.S.-led invasion of Iraq to topple the Saddam Hussein dictatorship, but is highly critical of how the war was conducted.

o U.S. erred in planning on having a “light footprint” militarily in Iraq after Saddam Hussein’s overthrow. He criticized the Bush Administration for disregarding the advice of former Army chief of staff General Eric Shinseki that hundreds of thousands of troops would be necessary.

· Western democracy shouldn’t be the objective in Iraq.

Afghanistan & Pakistan

· The U.S.-led invasion of Afghanistan was right but not enough troops were sent.

· Criticized the U.S. for being too soft on Pakistani President Musharraf and not attacking Al-Qaeda targets in order to keep his rule stable. He wrote that the U.S. should pressure him into fully cooperating on terrorism and to end his suppression of “moderate secular” political forces.

· U.S. should invest in humanitarian aid and schools in Pakistan to reduce demand for the religious schools that promote Islamic extremism.

Libya

· Supported the war in Libya to remove the Muammar Gaddafi dictatorship because of his human rights abuses and past involvement in anti-American terrorist attacks.

Turkey

· Provide the Islamist government of Turkey with intelligence to help it fight the Kurdish PKK terrorist group, but pressure the Turkish government to improve the treatment of its Kurdish minority.

Hamas & Palestinian Terrorism

· More handovers of territory by Israel would only lead to more terrorism and threaten Israel’s security.

· Peace is impossible “as long as textbooks of the children of Palestinians celebrate the death of Jews.”

· Foreign aid to the Palestinian Authority should cease as long as it is unified with Hamas.

· Accuses the Palestinian Authority of contributing to terrorism and war through incitement. He pointed out that it condemned Hamas’ kidnapping of three Israeli teenagers but its website had a cartoon of “three Israeli rats being caught, and made fun of it, celebrated it.”

LOUISIANA GOV. BOBBY JINDAL – Views the conflict as ideological and defines the enemy as “all forms of radical Islam and sharia law.”

View of Islamism

• Views the conflict as ideological and defines the enemy as “all forms of radical Islam” and sharia law.

• The West must promote assimilation and stop non-violent Islamists who use democratic freedoms to advance radical Islam and the implementation of sharia law.

• “In the West, non-assimilationist Muslims establish enclaves and carry out as much of sharia law as they can without regard for the laws of the democratic countries which provide them a new home. It is startling to think that any country will allow, even unofficially, for a so-called ‘no-go zone.’”

- “Sharia law is not just a cultural difference, it is oppression and it is wrong. It subjugates women, treats them as property and is antithetical to value all human life equally. It is the very definition of oppression.”
- U.S. should ban the immigration of Islamist radicals like the Muslim Brotherhood and the Islamic State (ISIS). “So in other words we shouldn’t tolerate those who want to come and try to impose some variant of, some version of sharia law.”
- “We’ve said you can’t come here in years past if you were here to promote communism. If you’re coming here to undermine America’s foreign policy; if you’re supporting a group that’s an enemy of the United States.”
- Jindal clarified he would ban leaders of the Brotherhood but not necessarily members of Brotherhood affiliates.

Domestic Islamists

- The Council on American-Islamic Relations \(CAIR\), a U.S. Muslim Brotherhood entity and designated terrorist entity by the United Arab Emirates, condemned Jindal’s January 2015 speech about the dangers of sharia law and non-violent Islamists in the West.
- CAIR said, “Governor Jindal’s anti-Muslim diatribes are a desperate attempt to pander to society’s margins as he hopes to regain the GOP spotlight and crawl away from being nearly dead last in the U.S. presidential polls.”
- CAIR spokesman Corey Saylor said the U.S. government should only look at “criminal activity, not thought,” and that Jindal was “pick[ing] on minorities.”

Iran

- Opposes the nuclear deal and would not honor it as President.

Egypt & the Muslim Brotherhood

- U.S. should ban the immigration of Islamist radicals like members of the Muslim Brotherhood and the Islamic State (ISIS). Jindal clarified he would ban leaders of the Brotherhood but not necessarily members of Brotherhood affiliates.

ISIS, Iraq and Syria

- U.S. should have supported moderate elements of the Syrian rebels and helped them fight terrorists and overthrow the Bashar Assad dictatorship.
- Supported the bill to arm and train vetted Syrian rebels.
- U.S. should work with Turkey to establish a buffer zone in Syria.
- Our long-term strategy should include removing Assad from power.
- Won’t say whether the U.S. invasion of Iraq to topple Saddam Hussein was a mistake in hindsight.

OHIO GOV. JOHN KASICH – Says U.S. should send ground forces to fight the Islamic State (ISIS) terrorist group with an international coalition.

Iran

- Opposes the nuclear deal with Iran.

Iraq, Syria & ISIS

- U.S. should send ground forces to fight the Islamic State (ISIS) terrorist group with an international coalition.
- Moderate Syrian rebels should have been armed to overthrow the Syrian dictatorship.
- U.S. invasion of Iraq to topple Saddam Hussein’s dictatorship was a mistake in hindsight.
 - Disbanding the Iraqi army after the overthrow of Saddam Hussein was a major error and the war in Iraq was “bungled from the beginning.”

FORMER NEW YORK GOV. GEORGE PATAKI – Opposes the nuclear deal with Iran, saying the regime is “as trustworthy as a snake in a basket.”

View of Islamism

- Sees the threat as ideologically-based, George Pataki rather than based on political or policy grievances against the west.

Domestic Islamists

- The U.S. government should prosecute those who promote or recruit for terrorist groups or incites violence against Americans and strip the tax-exempt status of any organization or house of worship involved in such extremism.

Told the Clarion Project's Ryan Mauro that the Council on American-Islamic Relations \(CAIR\), a U.S. Muslim Brotherhood entity and designated terrorist group by the United Arab Emirates, is “just one of the organizations” whose tax-exempt statuses he'd revoke.

- Banned Islamist prison chaplain Warith Deen Umar from the New York state prison system but did not cleanse it of other Islamist clerics and material.

Muslim Brotherhood & Egypt

- Praises the overthrow of the Muslim Brotherhood in Egypt and criticizes the Obama Administration for being favorable to the group.
- U.S. should stand with Egyptian President El-Sisi.

Iran

- Opposes the nuclear deal with Iran, saying the regime is “as trustworthy as a snake in a basket.”
- Would not have signed the letter by Republican Senators to the Iranian regime informing it that a nuclear deal may not be honored by the next administration.

ISIS, Iraq & Syria

- Supported the U.S. invasion of Iraq to overthrow the Saddam Hussein dictatorship but now feels it was a mistake.
- Opposed the U.S. withdrawal of forces from Iraq in 2011.

Libya

- U.S. caused a “catastrophe” in Libya by allowing it to become a haven for Islamist terrorism after dictator Muammar Gaddafi was removed.

KENTUCKY GOV. RAND PAUL – “We must understand that a hatred of our values exists, and acknowledge that interventions in foreign countries may well exacerbate this hatred.”

Paul believes that Islamic extremism is a product of both anger over U.S. foreign policy and radical ideology.

Record on Islamic Extremism

- There is a “worldwide war on Christianity” by a “fanatical element of Islam.”
- “Radical Islam will only end when Islam begins to police Islam” and an Islamic enlightenment happens.
- Islamic extremism is a product of both anger over U.S. foreign policy and radical ideology.

- “We must understand that a hatred of our values exists, and acknowledge that interventions in foreign countries may well exacerbate this hatred,” he says.
- “Some anger is blowback, but some anger originates in an aberrant and intolerant distortion of religion that wages war against all infidels. We can’t be sentimental about neutralizing that threat, but we also can’t be blind to the fact that drone strikes that inadvertently kill civilians may create more jihadists than we eliminate.”

Iran

- Stated in a 2007 interview on the conspiracy theorist Alex Jones Show that, “it’s ridiculous to think they [the Iranian regime] are a threat to our national security” or to Israel’s. He urged activism to stop military action against Iran.
- Blocked bipartisan legislation to sanction Iran in 2012 because he wanted an amendment that spelled out that it shall not be interpreted as authority for using military force. He later voted for sanctions on Iran.
- Voted against a Senate resolution ruling out a policy of containment towards a nuclear-armed Iran. However, he said the U.S. should have a plan to contain a nuclear Iran, but it should remain private:
“I think it’s not a good idea to announce that in advance. Should I announce to Iran, well, we don’t want you to, but we’ll live with it? No that’s a dumb idea to say that you’re going to live with it. However, the opposite’s a dumb idea, too.”

He later clarified that he opposes a containment policy, but that the option should not be ruled out.

- Opposes implementing new sanctions on Iran during nuclear negotiations. He said he’d support new sanctions if a deal is not reached.
- It is “imperative” that the U.S. and Iran engage diplomatically to reach a deal for “limiting” its uranium enrichment.
- Favors cultural engagement with Iran as an alternative to military action.

Iraq and ISIS

- Opposed the U.S. invasion of Iraq and toppling of Saddam Hussein’s regime, which he blames for the rise of the Islamic State terrorist group (ISIS).
- In 2008, accused the U.S. government of dishonestly invading Iraq in order to enrich the multinational corporation Halliburton. He said that “9/11 became an excuse for a war they already wanted in Iraq.” The depiction of the U.S. government as waging war for money is a common Islamist theme.
- Supports U.S.-led military campaign against the Islamic State in Iraq and Syria. He supports a limited role for U.S. ground troops in Iraq for securing diplomatic facilities, advising, intelligence-gathering and operations against high-value targets. However, says direct combat with the Islamic State should be done by Arabs and not American soldiers.
- U.S. should involve Turkey and the Syrian and Iranian regimes in fighting the Islamic State.
- U.S. should create an independent Kurdistan to encourage them to “fight like hell” against the Islamic State. Paul explicitly said, “I would go one step further: I would draw new lines for Kurdistan [in Iraq], and I would promise them a country.”

Muslim Brotherhood & Egypt

- Opposed U.S. military aid to the Muslim Brotherhood regime in Egypt and tried to stop the sale of F-16s.
- Advocated the complete severing of U.S. aid to Egypt in response to the popularly-supported overthrow of the Muslim Brotherhood. He criticized the Obama Administration for not calling it a “coup,” which would require the stopping of aid. Paul described the new Egyptian government as a “military junta.”

Afghanistan

- In a 2011 op-ed, he criticized President Obama for not withdrawing from Afghanistan quickly enough. He said that combat troops should be removed by 2013, not 2014.

Syria

- Opposed U.S. support for Syrian rebels and favors neutrality in the Syrian civil war because “there is no clear U.S. national interest in Syria.”
- U.S. policy should be to pursue a negotiated settlement that involves the removal of Syrian President Bashar Assad but retaining parts of the regime so Islamist rebels cannot threaten the Christian minority.
- Opposed potential U.S. airstrikes on the Syrian regime in retaliation for using chemical weapons.

Libya

- Opposed the U.S.-led military intervention in Libya that led to the overthrow of dictator Muammar Gaddafi, saying that it created a safe haven for Islamist terrorists.

FORMER TEXAS GOV. RICK PERRY – Perry defines the enemy as radical Islam and views it as an ideological conflict, describing the Islamic State (ISIS) as a “religious movement.”

During his time as Texas Governor, Perry did a lot of pandering to Islam and Muslims, including forcing public schools to include a curriculum about Islam.

View of Islamism

- Defines the enemy as radical Islam and views it as an ideological conflict, describing the Islamic State (ISIS) as a “religious movement.”
- Warns of Islamist infiltration in the West, specifically those in the United Kingdom who are promoting anti-Semitism and want “the ways of the sharia code to replace British law and British liberty.”
- Said, “But to every extremist, it has to be made clear: we will not allow you to exploit our tolerance, so that you can import your intolerance. We will not let you destroy our peace with your violent ideas. If you expect to live among us, and yet plan against us, to receive the protections and comforts of a free society, while showing none of its virtues or graces, then you can have our answer now: No, not on our watch!”

Domestic Islamists

- Upset the Council on American-Islamic Relations \(CAIR\), a U.S. Muslim Brotherhood entity that was designated as a terrorist group by the United Arab Emirates, by embracing the Ismaili Muslim community and not CAIR. CAIR-Texas official Mustafa Carroll criticized Perry and said, “I think he hasn’t branched out because it’s seen as a risk for some politicians to align with the majority of Muslims, they may feel safer with minority groups with less connectivity.”

Iran

- Opposes the nuclear deal and would scrap it.
- Supports a policy of regime change in Iran that would use “diplomatic, and economic, and overt, covert, or even civic opportunities.”
- Advocates a modern Monroe Doctrine to prevent Iranian influence in Latin America.

Islamic State, Iraq and Syria

- U.S. funding of moderate Syrian rebels during the beginning of the civil war would have helped stop ISIS and topple Syrian President Bashar Assad.
- U.S. military should establish a no-fly zone in Syria to undermine the Assad dictatorship and Iran.
- Opposed the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Iraq in 2011 and advocated sending them back in 2012.
- Would not invade Iraq to topple Saddam Hussein in hindsight.

Afghanistan/Pakistan

- Opposes a timeline for withdrawal of U.S. forces from Afghanistan.
- Would sever all financial aid to Pakistan until it stops supporting terrorism and contributing to the deaths of U.S. troops in Afghanistan.

Turkey

- Described the Islamist government of Turkey as “terrorists” in a debate during the 2012 Republican presidential nomination campaign. He said that the U.S. should reconsider Turkey’s membership in NATO and eliminating foreign aid.
- Perry later described Turkey as an “ally” that the U.S. can work with to fight the Islamic State and “this radical Islam movement that is tearing apart the entirety of the Middle East.”

FLORIDA SEN. MARCO RUBIO – “There is no greater risk to this country than the risk posed by radical Islamic terrorists ... We need to make it unmistakably clear that we will take whatever it takes for however long it takes to defeat radical Islamic terrorism.”

- Sees the conflict as ideological in nature and not a response to aggressive U.S. policy.
 - “There is no greater risk to this country than the risk posed by radical Islamic terrorists. These terrorists aren’t trying to kill us because we offended them. They attacked us because they want to impose their view of the world on as many people as they can and America is standing in their way. We need to make it unmistakably clear that we will take whatever it takes for however long it takes to defeat radical Islamic terrorism.”
 - “For radical Islam, our entire culture is offensive. They’re not just offended about a YouTube video. They’re offended that women serve in the U.S. Senate. They’re offended that women drive. They’re offended that little girls get to go to school. In some of these countries, converting to Christianity is punishable by death. Our whole culture is offensive to them, not just a YouTube video.”
- The “spread and success of political and economic freedom in the Middle East is in our vital interest.”
- “Absolutely” supports a permanent presence of U.S. troops in the Middle East.

Domestic Islamists

- In 2011, the Florida chapter of the Council on American-Islamic Relations \(CAIR\), a U.S. Muslim Brotherhood entity, appeared to take credit by praising Rubio for declining an invitation to speak at a Tea Party event that included controversial anti-Islam activist Pamela Geller and Dr. Bill Warner, who CAIR branded as “Islamophobes.”
 - “We thank Senator Rubio and Governor Scott for avoiding the false perception that they would in any way legitimize anti-Muslim hatred by appearing at an event featuring hard-core Islamophobes,” said CAIR-FL Executive Director Hassan Shibly.
 - Shibly has a history of Islamist extremism.
- Criticized the five members of Congress who wrote letters to U.S. government agencies asking for inquiries into their involvement with Muslim Brotherhood affiliates and possible Islamist sympathizers.
 - Rubio said he “[does not] share the feelings that are in that letter,” but he may only have been referring to the concern voiced about Huma Abedin, Secretary Clinton’s Deputy Chief of Staff and close friend.

Egypt & Muslim Brotherhood

- Supported the U.S. call for Egyptian dictator Hosni Mubarak to resign. Muslim Brotherhood in Egypt is part of the problem of radical Islam and is inciting anti-Americanism.
 - “We should expect for them to say the same things in Arabic as they are saying in English. Don’t express condolences and outrage in English on the attack against America, but in Arabic completely ignore it and only talk about the YouTube video. We should expect more from them.”
 - Did not support calls for severing aid to Egypt when the Muslim Brotherhood took over, but did want aid to be conditional, based on the Brotherhood’s commitment to human rights and democracy.
 - Opposed cutting off foreign aid after the Egyptian military’s popularly-supported overthrow of the Muslim Brotherhood. He instead proposed the aid be conditioned on the new Egyptian government’s commitment to human rights and democracy, including a transition to a civilian government.

Iran

- Shiite Islamists including the Iranian regime seek an “apocalyptic showdown” to trigger the appearance of the Hidden Imam, or the “Mahdi.”

- Would scrap the current nuclear deal with Iran and implement tougher sanctions.
- U.S. “should be open to negotiations with Iran, but always remember that they should not be deemed a success when they only lead to further negotiations.”
- A potential deal must require Iran to recognize Israel’s right to exist.
- U.S. should have openly and forcefully supported the Green Revolution in 2009.

Iraq, Syria & ISIS

- He originally implied support for the invasion of Iraq by saying that the toppling of the Saddam Hussein dictatorship made the world a better place but was unclear about whether the decision was correct in hindsight.
 - Rubio said “it’s very difficult to predict” whether the situation would be worse today if Saddam was in power.
 - In May 2015, he directly stated that the invasion of Iraq was a mistake.
- Supported arming moderate rebels in Syria to fight the Islamic State and Al-Qaeda and remove dictator Bashar Assad from power.
 - “The best-organized, the best-armed and the best-equipped elements in Syria are the most radical ones, the most anti-democratic ones, the most anti-American ones,” he explained.
- U.S. should have a policy of working with Islamist-led Turkey and the Arab League to topple Assad and “replace him with a stable secular government.”
- Opposed the Obama Administration’s plan for airstrikes on the Syrian dictatorship after it repeatedly used chemical weapons. He said U.S. military force should not be used in the conflict at all.
- In September 2013, Rubio said he does not support U.S. military action in the Syrian civil war.
- In December 2014, he wrote that the U.S. must enforce a No-Fly Zone in parts of Syria, which would require military enforcement. He argued that the it was necessary in order to assist Syrian rebels who can fight the Islamic State.

Israeli-Palestinian Conflict

- Endorsed Israeli military operations against Hamas in the Gaza Strip.

Afghanistan

- Opposes timeline for withdrawal of U.S. forces from Afghanistan.

Libya

- Supported military intervention to overthrow Libyan dictator Muammar Gaddafi.
- Says U.S. did not provide enough support to the Libyan government after Gaddafi’s fall, permitting Islamist extremists to flourish.
- Says U.S. should continue foreign aid to Libya’s government because it is working with us. This was in response to Senator Rand Paul, another GOP candidate, who argued that aid should be cut off to Libya, Egypt and Pakistan.

Turkey

- U.S. should work with the Islamist government of Turkey to help Syrian rebels remove Bashar Assad from power.
- In 2014, wrote a letter to Turkish Prime Minister Erdogan (the current President) confronting his government’s anti-Israel incitement and reports that groups in Turkey were organizing to violate the blockade on the Hamas-controlled Gaza Strip.

FORMER PENNSYLVANIA SEN. RICK SANTORUM – “Terrorism is a tactic that is not an ideology. [You have to] identify the ideology ... and realize that’s their motivation.”

View of Islamism

- Sees the threat as ideological in nature and not a response to political grievances against the West.
- Faults President Bush for not identifying the Rick Santorum enemy as Islamist after the 9/11 attacks and instead describing the conflict as a “War on Terror.”

- “[C]alling these people, Al Qaeda, terrorists, is like giving a speech calling the Nazis in the 1930s and 40s ‘Blitzkriegers.’ Terrorism is a tactic that is not an ideology. When you identify the ideology, and until you recognize the ideology, and realize that’s their motivation.”
- “The enemy is a retrograde version of Islam that “wants to bring back a version of Islam that was popular in the 7th century.”
- Islamism must be properly defined in order to compel the Muslim world to address it.
- “By not correctly identifying these Islamists for who they are, they’ve given all Muslims a pass for identifying a cancer within their own body. We don’t help them treat that illness when we refuse to identify that their body is sick.
- Sharia Law and the doctrine of jihad are the fundamental problems. “Jihadism is evil and we need to say what it is.... Sharia law is not just a religious code. It is also a governmental code. It happens to be both religious in nature and origin, but it is a civil code. And it is incompatible with the civil code of the United States.”
- U.S. must ally with Muslims who oppose Islamic fascism, specifically praising those who provide intelligence to thwart terrorist attacks, Iranian democratic activist Akbar Ganji and Iraqi politician Muthal Al-Alusi.
- U.S. must support democracy and “modern Islam.”
- “I believe this war against Islamic fascism will only be successful with the triumph of modern Islam... One of the ways to do that is to create a foundation for modern Islam to flourish. I believe democracy is one such place to allow that to occur. There are others; I mean, certainly you have a situation in Morocco where they have a king who allows modern Islam.”

Domestic Islamists

- Council on American-Islamic Relations \(CAIR\), a U.S. Muslim Brotherhood entity and designated terrorist entity by the United Arab Emirates, condemned Santorum’s “Islamophobic fear-mongering” and “participation in anti-Muslim sentiment.” CAIR especially incensed at his use of the term “Islamofascism.”

Muslim Brotherhood & Egypt

- Describes the Muslim Brotherhood, specifically its founder Hassan al-Banna and prominent preacher Sayyid Qutb, as the “ideological forefathers” of Al-Qaeda. Santorum says the Brotherhood deceptively uses a “cloak of non-violence” and is a threat to the U.S.
- Criticized President Obama for expressing support of the Egyptians protesting the regime of President Mubarak; accuses Obama of “throwing Mubarak under the bus.”-
- U.S. erred in pushing for elections after Mubarak’s overthrow instead of “laying the foundation for democracy,” turning Egypt into a “center of leadership for Islamists.”

Iran

- Does not believe that “Mutually Assured Destruction” will work with the Iranian regime and views its ideology as messianic in nature. He views the regime as the Shiite equivalent of Al-Qaeda and accuses it of committing “acts of war” against the U.S.
- Regime change in Iran is the most important objective in fighting Islamist fascism.
- “The largest piece of this mosaic, the keystone of the Islamic fascist structure, is Iran.”
- Supporting the democratic opposition in Iran to achieve regime change increase American diplomatic leverage in negotiations.
- Favors funding the democratic opposition and bringing international attention to the regime’s human rights abuses and suppression of minority religious groups.
- Authored the Iran Freedom and Support Act in 2004 to provide $100 million to democratic forces opposing the Iranian regime.
- Blames the Bush Administration, specifically Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice, for undermining his efforts to fund the Iranian democratic opposition. Rice was concerned that it would complicate negotiations with allies.
- Faults both the Bush and Obama Administrations for the failure of the Green Revolution in 2009.
- Would tell Iran that “we will close the nuclear facilities for you” with military action if the sites are not shut down.
- The U.S. should assist Israel in military strikes on Iran’s nuclear program if it decides action is necessary.
- Increase funding for research into the Electro-Magnetic Pulse (EMP) nuclear threat.
- Treat any Iranian nuclear scientist as an “enemy combatant” that can be targeted.

ISIS, Iraq & Syria

- U.S. should send 10,000 troops to Iraq to fight ISIS and increase aid to the Kurds, Jordan and Egypt.
- Opposes having an ambassador to the Syrian regime.
- Authored the Syria Accountability Act in 2003 to implement tough sanctions on Syria for its sponsorship of terrorism, WMD programs and alliance with Iran. U.S. should have supported democratic Syrian rebels at the start of the Syrian civil war to help remove the Assad regime and fight Islamist terrorists.
- Opposed potential U.S. airstrikes on the Syrian regime in 2013 after it used chemical weapons in its civil war.
- Supported the U.S. invasion to topple Saddam Hussein's dictatorship in Iraq. Opposed the U.S. withdrawal from Iraq; would have kept 20-30,000 troops there to assist Iraqi security forces.

Afghanistan / Pakistan

- Opposes a timeline for withdrawal from Afghanistan; would not have U.S. forces leave until the Taliban is "neutered."
- In a Republican presidential debate, he criticized Texas Governor Rick Perry for being too confrontational towards Pakistan. He said allies "work through their problems."

Libya

- Supported U.S. military intervention to overthrow Libyan dictator Muammar Gaddafi, but says the U.S. should have acted quickly to support moderate rebels and implement a No-Fly Zone.
- Accused the Obama Administration's policies in Libya of assisting the Muslim Brotherhood and other Islamist radicals.

Palestinian Terrorism

- Supports Israeli military operations against Hamas.

Saudi Arabia & the Gulf

- Saudi Arabia does not promote Islamic fascism.

DONALD TRUMP – "I say that you can defeat ISIS by taking their wealth. Take back the oil. Once you go over and take back that oil, they have nothing. "

Egypt & the Muslim Brotherhood

- Opposed the Obama Administration's pressure on Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak to give up power.

Iran

- Opposes the nuclear deal with Iran, calling it "terrible," but "loves the concept" of a good deal.
- Thanked by the wife of an American pastor imprisoned in Iran for bringing attention to his captivity.
- Endorsed airstrikes on Iran's nuclear program in 2007.

ISIS, Iraq & Syria

- "I say that you can defeat ISIS by taking their wealth. Take back the oil. Once you go over and take back that oil, they have nothing. You bomb the hell out of them, and then you encircle it, and then you go in. And you let Mobil go in, and you let our great oil companies go in. Once you take that oil, they have nothing left."
- "I would hit [ISIS] so hard. I would find you a proper general, I would find the Patton or MacArthur. I would hit them so hard your head would spin."
- U.S. should not get involved in Syria by supporting the rebels or launching airstrikes in retaliation for the Assad regime's use of chemical weapons.
- Opposed the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Iraq.
- Opposed the invasion of Iraq and any policy aimed at removing Saddam Hussein from power.
- U.S. should take Iraq's oil and reimburse the countries who were involved in the 2003 invasion and give \$1 million to the family of every U.S. soldier who died in Iraq.

Libya

- Would only support military action in Libya against the Muammar Gaddafi leadership if the U.S. gets to take the country's oil.

Gulf States

- Would force Saudi Arabia and other countries to pay for the U.S. military presence that protects them.

WISCONSIN GOV. SCOTT WALKER – “U.S. strategy against Islamism must target the radical Islamic ideology and not just the Islamic State and Al-Qaeda terrorist groups.”

View of Islamism

- U.S. strategy must target the radical Islamic ideology and not just the Islamic State (ISIS) and Al-Qaeda terrorist groups.
 - “When you have, not only with ISIS and al-Qaeda, but you have an Iran, you have other places around the world groups that that want to not only annihilate Israel, but annihilate us in America, it’s like a virus. You’ve got to eradicate it. You can’t take out just part of it or it will come back,” he said.

Iran

- Iran is part of the same radical Islamic “virus” as Al-Qaeda and the Islamic State.
- Will scrap a nuclear deal with Iran.

ISIS, Iraq and Syria

- Invasion of Iraq to topple Saddam Hussein was a mistake in hindsight

Outgoing Congresswoman Michele Bachmann (R-MN) says, “Barack Hussein Obama has embraced the agenda of Islamic jihad at every turn”

"Obama's friends are America's enemies. Americans need to look no further than the words from the Muslim Brotherhood to understand that they are not a friend to America or Israel."

"I have been very surprised to see the president of the United States, at every turn, cut the legs off of our ally Israel, and in fact embrace and lift up the agenda of Islamic jihad," she said in an interview (below) released Wednesday with "Washington Watch," a radio show.

Obama Inc. Reports “Successful” Meeting with Muslim Brotherhood Leader Accused of Murder

Obama Inc. is not giving up on its plan to get the Muslim Brotherhood back into power. Imagine a US diplomat meeting with an imprisoned Nazi leader in 1945 to discuss getting the Nazi Party back into power.

The Hill Bachmann criticized the president for writing to Iran’s supreme leader, Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, to encourage a deal on Tehran’s nuclear program. “This really is a spiritual battle that we’re dealing with,” she added. “And while the president continues to say that this is not about the religion of Islam, I beg to differ.”

Bachmann said she spoke to Obama at this year’s White House Christmas party and encouraged him to take action against Iran. But she said the president mocked her concerns. “He laughed at me condescendingly, and he said, ‘Well, Michele, it isn’t that easy. But that’s OK.’ Like patting me on the head, like I didn’t know what I was talking about,” she said.

It’s not the first time Bachmann has made controversial comments about Islam. In 2012, she said that Hillary Clinton aide Huma Abedin had ties to the extremist Muslim Brotherhood. Her decision to retire leaves House Republicans without one of their more outspoken conservative voices.

JUST AS EGYPT DID, Rep. Michele Bachmann introduces legislation to label the Muslim Brotherhood a ‘terrorist organization’

Rep. Michele Bachmann (R-MN), known for calling out Muslim Brotherhood infiltration in the past and being rebuked by members of her own Party for doing so, will be introducing a bill to identify the group as a terrorist organization.

SHOEBAT

The image shows a YouTube video player interface. At the top, the video title is "Bachmann's Money: Nothing" with icons for Like, Share, and More info. The video content features a large text overlay that reads: "REP. BACHMANN RADIO INTERVIEW" followed by "It appears that there has been deep penetration in the halls of our United States government by the Muslim Brotherhood. The Muslim Brotherhood has". To the right of the text is a small portrait of Rep. Michele Bachmann with a caption: "Rep. Michele Bachmann (R) Minnesota". The video player controls at the bottom show a play button, a volume icon, a progress bar at 0:28 / 2:25, a Creative Commons license icon, a settings gear, a clock icon, and the YouTube logo.

Said Bachmann:

I'm working on legislation to do exactly that. I'll be introducing the bill very shortly. The Muslim Brotherhood is a violent terrorist organization. Egypt wisely designated them an FTO (Foreign Terrorist Organization), and the United States needs to do the same. The US needs to defund, sanction, do everything we can to delegitimize the Muslim Brotherhood.

Even if such a Bill were to pass in the House, it would never be brought to the floor of the Senate with Harry Reid as the majority leader. At that, there is no way Barack Obama would sign a bill that targets his allies.

Muslim Brotherhood Infiltrates Obama Administration

"Six American Islamist activists who work with the Obama administration are Muslim Brotherhood operatives who enjoy strong influence over U.S. policy."

Nonetheless, for the U.S. to ultimately confront its Islamic enemies, the passage of such a bill is certainly one of the necessary steps that will have to be taken one day. This fact demonstrates how far the U.S. is from actually confronting those enemies. Moreover, for Bachmann's bill to be an accurate predecessor of the bill that will actually have to pass one day, it must also include language that identifies all Muslim Brotherhood front groups in the U.S. as well (CAIR, ISNA, MPAC, MAS, MSA, etc. etc. etc.).

As Americans and their politicians are being dragged – kicking and screaming – to a reality they simply want to deny, if Bachmann's bill is introduced, Congressmen will have the opportunity to be on the right (or wrong) side of history.

Any such should also call on all Muslim Brotherhood front groups to be stripped of their tax exempt status and banned. Shoebat.com explored this matter in depth recently. Just two years ago, Bachmann was one of five signatories to five letters sent to five separate Inspectors General. Each letter focused on the issue of Muslim Brotherhood infiltration. One figure named became the face of the controversial letters – Huma Abedin. Only one elected member of Bachmann’s Party – Rep. Steve King (R-IA) – expressed support for the Bachmann five. The following Republicans sided with Abedin and rebuked Bachmann:

- Senator John McCain (R-AZ)
- Senator Scott Brown (R-MA)
- Senator Marco Rubio (R-FL)
- Speaker John Boehner (R-OH)
- Rep. James Sensenbrenner (R-WI)
- Rep. Mike Simpson (R-ID)

Former Bachmann campaign chief Ed Rollins was despicable in his criticism. At the time, he wrote the following about Bachmann:

As a member of Congress, with a seat on the House Intelligence Committee, Mrs. Bachmann you know better. Shame on you, Michele! You should stand on the floor of the House and apologize to Huma Abedin and to Secretary Clinton and to the millions of hard working, loyal, Muslim Americans for your wild and unsubstantiated charges. As a devoted Christian, you need to ask forgiveness for this grievous lack of judgment and reckless behavior.

The Ikhwan [Muslim Brotherhood] must understand that their work in America is a kind of grand Jihad in eliminating and destroying the Western civilization from within and "sabotaging" its miserable house by their hands and the hands of the believers so that it is eliminated and God's religion is made victorious over all religions.

Since Rollins penned those irresponsible words, Bachmann's five letters have aged like a fine wine of accuracy and foresight. Muslim Brotherhood infiltration has become far more obvious. Yet, people like Rollins, McCain, Rogers, Boehner, et. al. remain silent on the matter. Shame on THEM!

REPUBLICAN SENATOR Roy Blunt (R-MO) urges State Dept. to demand release of Meriam Ibrahim, who has been arrested again in Sudan

The ongoing saga of Sudanese Christian Meriam who was re-arrested by Sudanese authorities when she and her U.S. citizen husband and children were at the airport awaiting a flight out of Sudan to the U.S. has the attention of the U.S. Senate.

Sen Blunt also is asking for release of Pastor Saeed Abedini from Iran.

Former Congressman Lt. Colonel Allen B. West is sick!

Allen West is sick of being called an “Islamophobe” for telling the truth about Islam. On the heels of a surge in Muslim barbarianism and violence in Syria, Iraq, Nigeria, Kenya, and around the world, Allen West has something to say to his critics:

It's come to a certain point where I don't blame these savages anymore. I blame us. They sense weakness and only respect strength, power, and might.

You know what I'm sick of? I am sick of the apologists, weaklings, and coexist bumper sticker crowd who sit back and allow this to happen.

I am sick of people telling us to not offend Muslims and that these are just the actions of those who are perverting Islam.

I'm sick of Barack Hussein Obama supporting Islamists.

I'm sick of us allowing this theocratic-political totalitarian ideology to infiltrate Western Civilization and turn our laws against us as they masquerade as a religion.

I'm sick of tolerance becoming a one-way street leading to our cultural suicide.

I'm sick of being labeled as an “Islamophobe” for speaking the truth.

I am sick of hearing we are not at war with Islam, yet their actions tell me that it has been and continues to be at war with us — Dar al Islam and Dar al Harb.

I am sick of an American pastor, Saeed Abedini being held in Iran for being a Christian.

I am sick of a Sudanese Christian woman, Meriam Ibrahim, who is married to a naturalized American citizen and mother of two American children being held in a Sudanese prison because of her faith — sentenced to 100 lashes and death.

I'm sick of hashtag diplomacy and empty rhetoric as a response to Islamic terrorists kidnapping Christian Nigerian girls and burning boys to death.

I'm sick of reading about Christians, Assyrians, Chaldeans, Copts, being slaughtered by the so called "religion of peace" — what utter bovine excrement.

I'm sick of the Muslim Brotherhood and its affiliated groups operating freely in America and U.S. political officials allowing if not encouraging it.

I'm sick of CAIR being able to wield political influence in our country and censor women like Ayaan Hirsi Ali or Brigitte Gabriel who have suffered under the intolerant hands of Islamism — and hearing nothing from liberal progressives who tout a "War on Women."

Allen West @AllenWest

2m

CAIR obviously fears those who confront them w/ the truth. I'm on their top ten "worst" list. Appreciate the honor. bit.ly/1fdIElw

Expand

I'm sick of people worrying about jihadists taken off the battlefield and held at a freakin' five-star facility like GITMO with top notch medical treatment and cable TV while Americans captured by the enemy are brutally tortured, and ritually beheaded.

I'm sick of cowards who release the enemy's leadership and try to convince the American people they are not a threat.

I'm sick of these bastards believing they can taunt and threaten our nation while we sit back and fools like John Kerry talk about climate change being a global threat — and want to ask Iran for assistance in Iraq. Iran is the number one state sponsor of terrorism and has the blood of American troops on its hands.

Yep, I've had it and will be relentless in defeating Islamic totalitarianism. Sir Winston Churchill tried to warn England of the threat of Naziism — of course the country initially sided with Chamberlain. And so history is repeating itself. Warning to liberal progressive socialists: stand clear lest you find yourself declared an ally with these barbarians.

I am looking for brave Americans to enjoin this battle. This is not about killing them all, just killing the ones who need killing — since that is all they understand.

EGYPT: Not only was Obama named as a co-conspirator with the Muslim Brotherhood, now Hillary Clinton has been named as a collaborator in Muslim Brotherhood domestic insurrections

The Plot Thickens With Hillary

Specifically, a new criminal complaint has been filed with Egypt's attorney general, Hisham Barakat, alleging then-U.S. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton collaborated with Naglaa Mahmoud, the wife of ousted Egyptian President Mohamed Morsi, in seeking to incite domestic insurrections to topple Abdel Fattah el-Sisi, the Egyptian general who has been commander in chief of the Egyptian armed forces, as well as minister of defense, since Aug. 12, 2012.

Naglaa Mahmoud wife of Mohamed Morsi

WND (h/t Jim D) Researcher Walid Shoebat, a native Arabic-speaker and a former Palestinian Liberation Organization operative, has reported on his blog that credible news sources in Egypt have reported in Arabic that criminal charges have been brought against Hillary Clinton and Morsi's wife. Shoebat translated the following from an Egyptian Mehwar TV channel news video in which television reporter Nasr Qaffas explains on camera details of an interview Turkey's Anatolia news agency conducted with Naglaa Mahmoud.

The excerpts from the transcript of the Mehwar TV news video include comments by Naglaa Mahmoud implicating Huma Abedin, wife of former Democratic Congressman Anthony Weiner and the former Hillary Clinton chief of staff whom WND has identified as having close ties to the Muslim Brotherhood

US Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton and Huma Abedin's mother, Saleha Abedin, who is the actual leader of a Muslim Brotherhood sisterhood branch. The Muslim Brotherhood is an extremist organization.

Qaffas: According to Anatolia Press, Mahmoud said, "I have between my fingers, a treasure trove of secrets from the White House and Mrs. Clinton fears my wrath." She said, "I will not speak about Huma Abedin." When asked if she had a close relationship with Hillary Clinton, Mahmoud said, "When my husband returns from his kidnapping, the one who led the coup will pay a hefty price." Of Mrs. Clinton, she said, "We have a long friendship of many years. We lived in the U.S. and my children learned there. This friendship increased further when my husband became the legitimate president of the country."

Clinton lovefest with Mohamed Morsi

Mahmoud went on to say that they were recruited by the Clintons from the U.S. and began their friendship in the 1980s. This appears to be a conspiracy that is being hidden. When asked if they still have friendships with each other, Mahmoud said communications never ceased and that the conversations are all recorded. The wife of Morsi divulged that Mrs. Clinton seeks the assistance – both official and unofficial – of several members of the Muslim Sisterhood organization to help with problems in the Middle East. “We also have routine business dealings with the Clintons.”

Continuing with the excerpts from the transcript of the Mehwar TV news video, Naglaa Mahmoud claimed Hillary Clinton is looking for the support of Morsi and the Muslim Brotherhood in her anticipated 2016 run for the U.S. presidency.

Mahmoud further stated that “Hillary depends on us tremendously to help her succeed in the coming presidential elections, just as we helped Barack Obama win twice.” She is quite the looney bin to believe she helped Obama win.

When asked about her relationship with Michelle Obama, Mahmoud said it is very good but it never developed to the point of close friendship, like with Hillary.

On the ability of women to take the lead in the revolution, Mahmoud said that could indeed happen with the Sisterhood. "I have many wives of Brotherhood leaders with me. Many of their husbands were kidnapped and jailed too. I tell them to be patient, for you will have a great reward in the future. I tell them that if their husbands are martyred, we will see to it that they are married off to other men as soon as their menstrual period is over," she said.

According to Mahmoud, the police will not touch the women, which is why the women are so effective. Finally, the Mehwar TV news video excerpts suggest Naglaa Mahmoud was aware the current criminal charges her husband and other Muslim Brotherhood leaders face in Egypt could be a liability for Hillary Clinton in her anticipated presidential race.

Ikhwan means Muslim Brotherhood

On her concerns that the Muslim Brotherhood could be identified as a terrorist organization, the wife of the former president said she was not and declared that she and her colleagues are in the process of organizing a “coup against the coup.”

“We are under the condition of war and Jihad,” she said, “and we have a good command of the necessities of war, the ancient and the modern. I will keep the tactics of war secret because in Islam, war is trickery.” She said her conscience will not be eased until all of the traitors are hanged in the gallows.

“A key revelation in these reports is Mahmoud’s claim that the Clintons befriended her family in the 1980s while living in the U.S. As one of 63 leaders in the Muslim Sisterhood, Mahmoud is a colleague of Saleha Abedin, another one of those 63 leaders,” Shoebat wrote. “Saleha is the mother of Huma Abedin, who is a close adviser to Hillary Clinton and wife of former Democratic Congressman, Anthony Weiner.”

As for Mahmoud, leading protests in a post-Mursi Egypt is not new. Just days after Senators John McCain (RINO-AZ) and Lindsey Graham (RINO-SC) failed in their attempt to have Muslim Brotherhood leaders freed during their trip to Egypt this past August, Mahmoud led protests. If the complaint filed by Qandil is valid, it can be surmised that the purpose of said protests likely mirrored the ones being promoted today.

The claims that Mursi and Mahmoud worked with the Clintons, the Obama administration, and the CIA seem to further bolster a report that came out last month that was posted by Egyoffline. The report, translated by Eman Nabih, alleged that documents had been obtained that showed the Obama administration's complicity in exciting domestic insurrections in Egypt in order to overthrow the current government in Egypt, a goal shared by Mahmoud.

Not only did Mullah Obama fail to secure the release of American pastor jailed in Iran for being a Christian...

He didn't even put it on the table during recent negotiations in which he enabled the terrorist state of Iran to become a nuclear power.

FOX News The wife of imprisoned American pastor Saeed Abedini says she and her family are devastated after learning that the Obama administration did not try to secure the release of her husband as part of the newly signed deal on Iran's nuclear program. Saeed Abedini, an American citizen, has been imprisoned in Iran for more than a year for practicing Christianity.

The talks over Iran's nuclear program were seen by his family and those representing them as one of the most promising avenues yet for securing his release. But the White House confirmed over the weekend that Abedini's status was not on the table during those talks.

WAA...WAA...WAA...Now, Muslims are whining that Obama is responsible for increased 'Islamophobia'

In addition to the usual boohooing about anti-Islam bloggers and negative media reports, this Muslim says Barack Hussein Obama is partly to blame for increased fear and suspicion of Muslims because the FBI focuses on the Muslim community in America as a pool of potential terrorists. (Ya think?)

MSNBC (Faiza Patel) Reza Aslan is a scholar and author of bestselling books on religion; Huma Abedin is a longtime top aide to former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton. Both are Muslims, and their recent treatment in the media reminds us that Islamophobia is alive and well across the American political spectrum.

When Aslan went on Fox News to promote his new book on the life of Jesus, host Lauren Green was interested only in questioning his motives. The implication was clear: no Muslim could have a neutral perspective on Christianity.

Similarly, New York Times columnist Maureen Dowd explained Abedin's support of her sex-scandal-ridden husband Anthony Weiner's bid to become New York City's mayor as a product of her Muslim faith and upbringing. Abedin is doing it because she "was raised in Saudi Arabia, where women are treated worse by men than anywhere else on the planet."

The Alleged Connection between Huma Abedin, Muslim Brotherhood, and other things that are bad

Serena Dai/The Atlantic Wire

(according to Walid Shoebat, a controversial former Jihadist quoted widely by conservative media)

Shocking? Not really. Prominent Muslim figures have been under attack in the U.S. for years. Last year, Rep. Michelle Bachmann asked for an investigation into whether Abedin was a Muslim Brotherhood mole in the State Department. (She is, but nobody in government seems to care) When New Jersey Gov. Chris Christie appointed Muslim terrorist defense attorney, Sohail Mohammed, to the bench, anti-Muslim columnists and bloggers went on the attack. They claimed that the judge had links to terrorism and predicted he would apply Muslim religious principles in his courtroom. (He does, and he will)

Christie's Sharia Crap

by Robert Spencer

The New Jersey governor who appointed a jihad terrorist operative's attorney as a Superior Court judge has no business being President.

Folks like Abedin and Mohammed are the lucky ones—they have friends in high places to come to their defense. Ordinary American Muslims don't have such connections and suffer from systemic discrimination and attacks that are tolerated by society. (A natural reaction to Muslim supremacy where Muslims demand and get special religious accommodations that no other religion gets, at the same time constantly playing the victim of discrimination)

Religious freedom is a cornerstone of American democracy, but mosques around the country are under attack. (With good reason. Mosques decrease the value of homes in the neighborhood, excessive noise from loudspeakers infuriates neighbors, excessive traffic with cars parked all over the streets are why more and more communities are fighting construction of new mosques) Most people are familiar with the demonstrations against the so-called World Trade Center mosque—a plan to establish an Islamic cultural center near where the Towers once stood. Similar protests, if on a smaller scale, have attended the building of mosques from New Jersey to Tennessee, and some cities and towns have even changed their laws to prevent the construction of mosques. Even the Department of Justice has noted an alarming rise in local efforts to block mosques. (See above)

And then there's the "anti-Sharia" movement, which seeks to convince Americans of the absurd proposition that there is a genuine risk that courts need to be stopped from applying Islamic traditions to deprive us of our constitutional rights. (Sharia law has already been used in 50 cases in America. See: Sharia in American Courts)

"Islam isn't in America to be equal to any other faith, but to become dominant. The Qur'an should be the highest authority in America, and Islam the only accepted religion on earth."

Omar Ahmed, Chairman of the Board of CAIR (Council on America-Islamic Relations)

While Oklahoma's anti-Sharia law was conclusively struck down (But successfully passed the second time. See yes-yes-yes-oklahoma-governor-signs-anti-sharia-bill) for targeting Muslims, state lawmakers continue to pass laws seeking to portray Islam as a threat. These bills now take the shape of bans on the use of foreign law, but their intent is clear. The Brennan Center's research shows that 34 states have considered these bills, and six have already passed. Just last week, North Carolina's legislature overwhelmingly approved this type of ban.

PRESERVE AND PROTECT THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

5 Another effort to insinuate foreign law into this country comes from Islamists who seek to bring here the brutally repressive, anti-constitutional doctrine called "shariah." To this end, they use violent jihad where possible and more stealthy techniques where – at least for the moment – it is not. One of the most insidious groups promoting this agenda with the express aim of "destroying Western civilization from within" is the Muslim Brotherhood. Even though the Brotherhood's goal is, therefore, exactly the same as al Qaeda's, the Obama administration believes we must "engage" the Brotherhood. This is not simply a strategic error of the first order. It is reckless and must be repudiated.

Anti-Islamic hate crimes (Simply calling a Muslim a raghead is now considered a hate crime in America) are on the rise. Some stories make the papers: last Christmas, a Hindu shopkeeper was shoved in front of a New York subway car and killed because he was thought to be a Muslim; in 2010 a cab driver was stabbed by a passenger when he identified himself as a Muslim. These are not just isolated events. The FBI reports that between 2001 and 2010 there were more than 1,700 incidents of hate crimes based on "anti-Islamic" bias. These types of incidents jumped 50% in 2010 compared to 2009 and remained at elevated levels in 2011. (Yet the number of so-called 'hate crimes' against Muslims are still only 20% of the hate crimes against Jews and we never hear about them)

FBI Hate Crime Reports Summary 1996-2010: Hate Crimes Reported with Victims of Anti-Jewish or Anti-Islamic Bias Motivation

Anti-Muslim bias in the workplace has jumped too. Muslims are less than 2% of the population, yet in recent years complaints about anti-Muslim bias have comprised 25% of the docket of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

This surge in anti-Muslim sentiment is partly the handiwork of a small band of activists—the likes of Pamela Geller, Robert Spencer, and David Yerushalmi—who specialize in whipping up fear of Muslims.

CAIR says that "Islamophobia" is the biggest problem in American-Islamic relations.

We're thinking maybe it's dead Americans.

But President Obama bears a share of the responsibility too. Under his watch, the FBI continues to treat American Muslim communities as pools of potential terrorists who must be constantly watched. Is it any surprise that the rest of America feels free to treat them that way as well? Obama has declared that he wants to end the “war on terror.” Part of that effort must include reining in the FBI and reforming policies that allow profiling on the basis of religion. And the president and his allies must loudly defend the rights of all American Muslims—not just the Abedins and Aslans of the world, but also the cab drivers, halal food vendors, and shop owners who make up this diverse community.

Yet the FBI was recently forced to take down this counter-terrorim bus ad: fbi-yanks-faces-of-global-terrorism-bus-ads-because-of-muslim-outrage

ANTHONY WEINER, who wants to be Mayor of New York, and his dangerous Islamist connections

What does this have to do with Islam? Everything. The family (late father, mother, brother, sister) of Weiner's wife, Huma Abedin, all are affiliated with the Muslim Brotherhood, founder of al-Qaeda. Imagine the security intel she could provide to her Muslim Brotherhood contacts about the city of New York, still the main target of Islamic terrorists and al-Qaeda.

Activist Lesbian & Democrat Mayoral Candidate Christine Quinn vows to close NYC public schools for two Muslim holidays if she become Mayor

I wonder if she knows Muslims will call for her execution for being a homosexual as Islam requires?

NY Times Christine C. Quinn, the City Council speaker and one of the leading Democratic candidates for mayor, walked into a clubhouse in Dyker Heights, Brooklyn, just as people had started to eat and was escorted straight to the buffet. "I'd like to say I planned it," Ms. Quinn joked. She grabbed a plate, sat down, set aside her fork and started stuffing one of the stuffed halal vine leaves (down her fat mouth).

The event at Dyker Beach Golf Course was an iftar, a meal to break the daylong fast during Ramadan, hosted by local Muslim Americans. For Ms. Quinn and several other candidates who attended, it was just another stop on a busy campaign trail. But for the Muslim community, it represented an opportunity to make its voice heard and build bridges with key government figures.

Among those DEMOCRATS ONLY present was John C. Liu, the New York City comptroller who is also a Democratic mayoral candidate; he arrived shortly after Ms. Quinn and settled on the other side of the room. Sal F. Albanese, another Democratic candidate, had come and gone. State Senator Eric Adams, a Democrat who is running for Brooklyn borough president, sat in a corner of the room. And a group of Brooklyn police officers occupied a table next to Ms. Quinn's.

“I don’t remember, ever before, the Muslim community having this kind of a presence in a citywide election” Ms. Quinn said. Naji Almontaser, an American citizen born in Yemen, sat across the table from Ms. Quinn and said that reports about police surveillance of mosques and other Muslim institutions had agitated the community and driven more people to speak out over the last two years.

The community was already aggrieved, he said, when Mayor Michael R. Bloomberg vetoed a Council recommendation to add two Muslim holidays to the school calendar. In an appeal for support, Ms. Quinn said she would close schools for those holidays. “So if you get elected, we can count on that?” Mr. Almontaser asked. “Oh, absolutely. Absolutely.” she responded.

In May, the Arab American Association of New York and the Islamic Center at New York University held a forum where Mr. Liu and another Democratic candidate, the Rev. Erick J. Salgado, said that they believed surveillance of Muslim institutions by the Police Department was unconstitutional.

Earlier this month, another Democratic candidate, Jewish Democrat Anthony (Twitter pervert) Weiner, spoke at a Muslims for Peace event in Queens and noted that his wife, Huma Abedin, was Muslim (and a front woman for the Muslim Brotherhood).

On Thursday night in Brooklyn, Ms. Quinn was still finishing her rice and okra when she was called to the lectern. “The Muslim community is on the political map in New York,” she said. “The days of ignoring the interests and the significance of this community, those days are over.” For the first time in the evening, the room filled with energy and erupted in applause.

Mr. Liu, who has repeatedly visited Muslim groups, followed. “Assalamu Alaikum,” he said, offering the customary Arabic greeting. “With a lot of hard work, inshallah, we will win this election and we will change this city.”

Muslim Brotherhood proxy CAIR cheering Rep. Michele Bachmann’s decision not to run for re-election

Good news: Anti-Muslim Rep. Bachmann won’t seek re-election next year

Rep. Michele Bachmann’s letter to the Inspector General expressed her deep concern about the Muslim Brotherhood’s penetration of the U.S. government. The letter includes a discussion of Hillary Clinton's top aide Huma Abedin and her troubling ties to the Muslim Brotherhood. Five congressmen signed the letter.

Washington Post Rep. Michele Bachmann (R-Minn.)

announced early Wednesday that she would not seek a fifth term in Congress in 2014 but would keep fighting for the conservative principles that made her a favorite of the tea party movement and, she said, are vital to protecting the United States from moral and economic decline. Her exposure of the Muslim Brotherhood's ties to the Obama Administration paid particular attention to the Hamas-funders from CAIR (Council on Anti-American Islamic Relations)

Powerline Bachmann's letter to the Deputy Inspector General of the Department of State. That letter begins by stating a concern about Department of State policies and activities that "appear to be a result of influence operations conducted by individuals and organizations associated with the Muslim Brotherhood." It then points out that the State Department's Deputy Chief of Staff, Huma Abedin, "has three family members – her late father, her mother, and her brother – connected to Muslim Brotherhood operations and/or organizations." Presumably, as the letter states, Abedin's position gives her "routine access to the Secretary of State Clinton and to policy-making."

Next, the letter lists five policy decisions by the State Department that are favorable to the Muslim Brotherhood. They include Hillary Clinton's personal intervention to permit a prominent Brotherhood leader, Tariq Ramadan, to enter the U.S.; various meetings and interactions by the State Department with the Brotherhood and/or its affiliates; Clinton's waiver of restrictions on aid to Egypt; and her waiver of restrictions on aid to the Palestinian authority.

Muslim Brotherhood Infiltrates Obama Administration

Finally, the letter asks that the Deputy Inspector General investigate "the extent to which Muslim Brotherhood-tied individuals and entities have helped achieve the adoption of these State Department actions and policies, or are involved in their execution." It also requests "corrective action. . . to ensure that no Muslim Brotherhood-associated entity or individual is placed into a position of honor or trust unless he or she has publicly condemned and disclaimed the. . . goals of the Muslim Brotherhood."

The letter to the Department of Defense charges the U.S. Army with failing to "characterize accurately the jihadist motivations" of Major Nidal Hassan, the alleged Fort Hood shooter.

The letter to the Department of Homeland Security says the department has developed a lexicon, or official vocabulary, that obscures America's jihadist threat.

"Its approved words effectively equate those perpetrating this threat with ones said to arise from 'Christian patriots,' 'constitutionalists' and 'militia extremists,' " the letter said.

A Muslim weiner endorses a Jewish Weiner for Mayor of New York City

Sworn into office on a quran, virulently anti-Israel Muslim congressman Keith 'never-met-a-Hamas-terrorist-he-didn't-like' Ellison (D-MN), supports Anthony Weiner, a lewd Jew who is married to a Muslim but did not convert to Islam, for Mayor.

Shoebat Why would Rep. Keith Ellison (D-MN), a Muslim congressman from Minnesota, endorse a disgraced former U.S. Congressman (who also happens to be Jewish) for Mayor of New York? Could it have anything to with the familial ties of Weiner's wife to the Muslim Brotherhood?

After all, Ellison has ties to the Muslim Brotherhood front groups while the mother of Weiner's spouse – Huma Abedin – is a leader with the Muslim Sisterhood.

Via POLITICO:

Rep. Keith Ellison (D-Minn.) on Thursday endorsed Anthony Weiner for mayor of New York City.

“Anthony’s a good guy in my opinion. Now, he should’ve came clean once he got busted, you know, and I’m sorry he didn’t do that – but he’s sorry he didn’t do that and his [wife Huma Abedin’s] sorry he didn’t do that,” Ellison said on Current TV to host Bill Press.

“Look man, nobody here is perfect. Anthony was a great congressman in my opinion, and he’s dealt with his issues and everybody has issues. So I’d love to see Anthony Weiner be mayor of New York. I hereby endorse him.”

Oh, the irony. Muslim Congressman Keith Ellison goes on Current TV Al-Jazeera Muslim Brotherhood television network to endorse a Jewish male for mayor who married a Muslim woman and didn't convert to Islam.

Again, the spiritual leader of the Muslim Brotherhood – Yusuf al-Qaradawi – has his own show on Al-Jazeera. That same Muslim Brotherhood pushes Muruna, which is an Islamic tactic that would theoretically allow Huma Abedin to marry a Jew.

Using U.S. taxpayer dollars, Keith Ellison meets with Islamic Relief organization in Gaza, which is listed by the US Treasury Department as a supporter of terrorist organization Hamas

Would New Yorkers ever accept a Muslim Brotherhood/al-Qaeda linked Muslim woman as first lady of NYC?

If disgraced former Congressman, Anthony Wiener, runs and wins (God forbid) the race for next Mayor of New York City, his Muslimah wife, Huma Abedin, would become the first lady of the city attacked on 9/11 by Muslims. Not a stretch when you consider that a majority of New York City voters twice put a Muslim in the White House.

Walid Shoebat After reading the 16-page New York Times magazine piece on former U.S. Congressman Anthony Weiner and his Muslim wife, Huma Abedin, one thing is clear. Weiner is giving serious thought (and money) to exploring the possibility of running for mayor of the city that was hit by Al-Qaeda on 9/11/01.

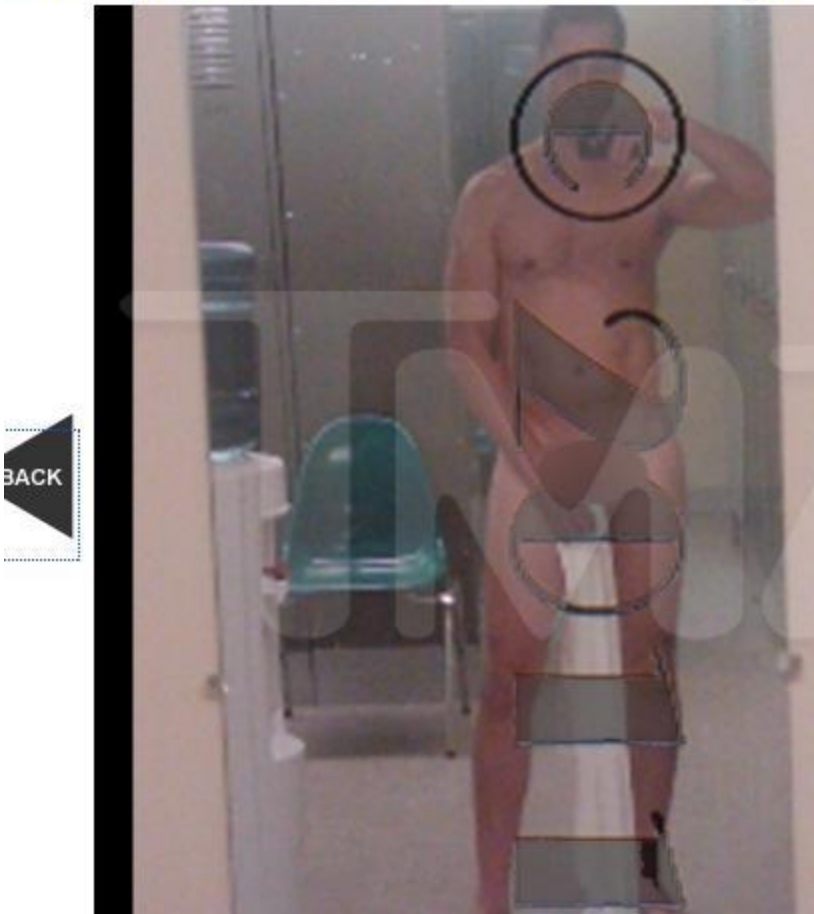

Based on what is known about Huma, something else becomes clear. A woman with significant familial ties to the group that spawned Al-Qaeda would become first lady of the city that was hit by Al-Qaeda on 9/11/01. Make no mistake, whether Abedin has Brotherhood sympathies or not, her mother – Saleha Abedin – is a leader within the Muslim Sisterhood and would undoubtedly view such a reality as a symbolic victory on par with the construction of the Ground Zero mosque. It seems that both Huma and Weiner are itching to get back into public life as well.

Via NYT:

“We have been in a defensive crouch for so long,” Weiner said. “We are ready to clear the decks on this thing.” Their lives have become too small, too circumscribed, too claustrophobic for a couple accustomed to public life. They haven’t been to a major event together — no White House Correspondents Dinner, no red-carpet events — in nearly two years.

(Gee, I wonder why not? Could it have anything to do with his fondness for sexting naked photos of his dick to many different women?)

Anthony Weiner at the House Members' Gym

Get Walid Shoebat's new book, The Case FOR ISLAMOPHOBIA. It includes an entire chapter on the MUSLIM SISTERHOOD as well as an entire appendix that explains why Huma Abedin's affiliations are so dangerous.

Though there isn't anything earth-shattering in the Times piece, there are a few nuggets of information that help to fill in the mosaic. For example, Huma didn't take much interest in Weiner until the latter demonstrated that he was firmly ensconced inside team Hillary during the 2008 Presidential campaign:

The relationship turned romantic in 2008, during Clinton's presidential campaign. "By the time Iowa came around," Abedin says, "we were more than just friends." At a stop in Puerto Rico, an A.P. reporter asked Weiner why he was spending so much time campaigning for Hillary. "It's largely because I'm dating Huma," he said, and the news was out.

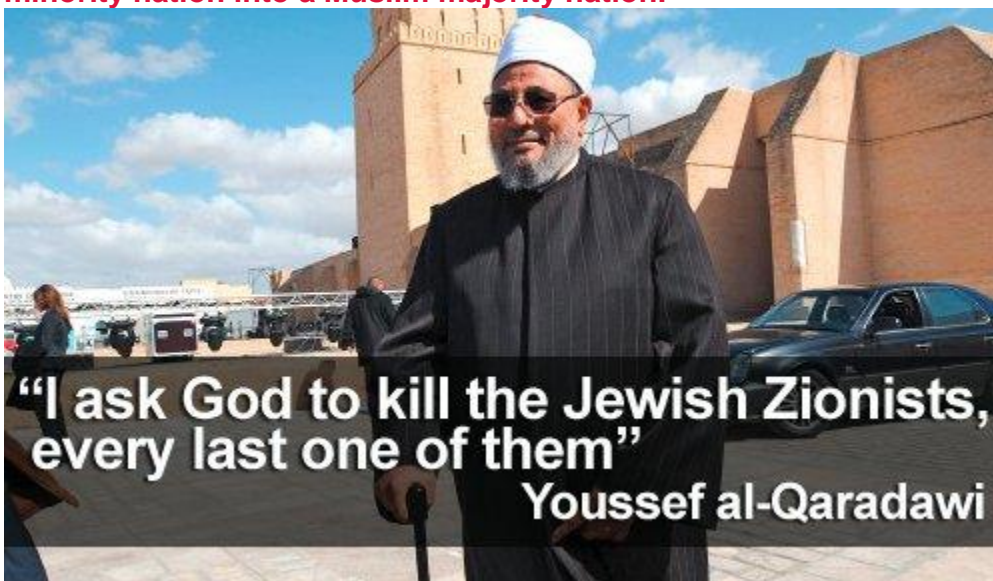

Had Hillary defeated Obama in 2008, Huma certainly would have had a role similar to that of Valerie Jarrett in Obama's administration. Weiner was a U.S. Congressman and demonstrated he would work hard to get Hillary elected. In essence, he would help Huma too. Perhaps he would work even harder for them both if he was married to Huma.

Another interesting revelation appears in the Times piece. In the days after the sexting scandal broke, Huma joined Hillary on a trip to Africa. A visit to the United Arab Emirates included a meeting with Huma's mother Saleha and brother (Hassan Abedin):

When they arrived at the Emirates Palace hotel in Abu Dhabi, Cheryl Mills, Clinton's chief of staff, told Abedin to go directly to her room. Mills had helped arrange to fly in Abedin's mother and older brother, who live in Jeddah, and they were waiting upstairs. "One of the things that I remember about that night is that there was a lot of very, very painful silence.

This meeting involved the Deputy Chief of Staff for the U.S. Secretary of State, a leader within the Muslim Sisterhood, and a man who served on the board of the Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies (OCIS) alongside the likes of Muslim Brotherhood leader Yusuf Al-Qaradawi. It just so happens that all three belonged to the same family. Something else each shared in common were spots on the Institute of Muslim Minority Affairs (IMMA), the goal of which is to transform every Muslim minority nation into a Muslim majority nation.

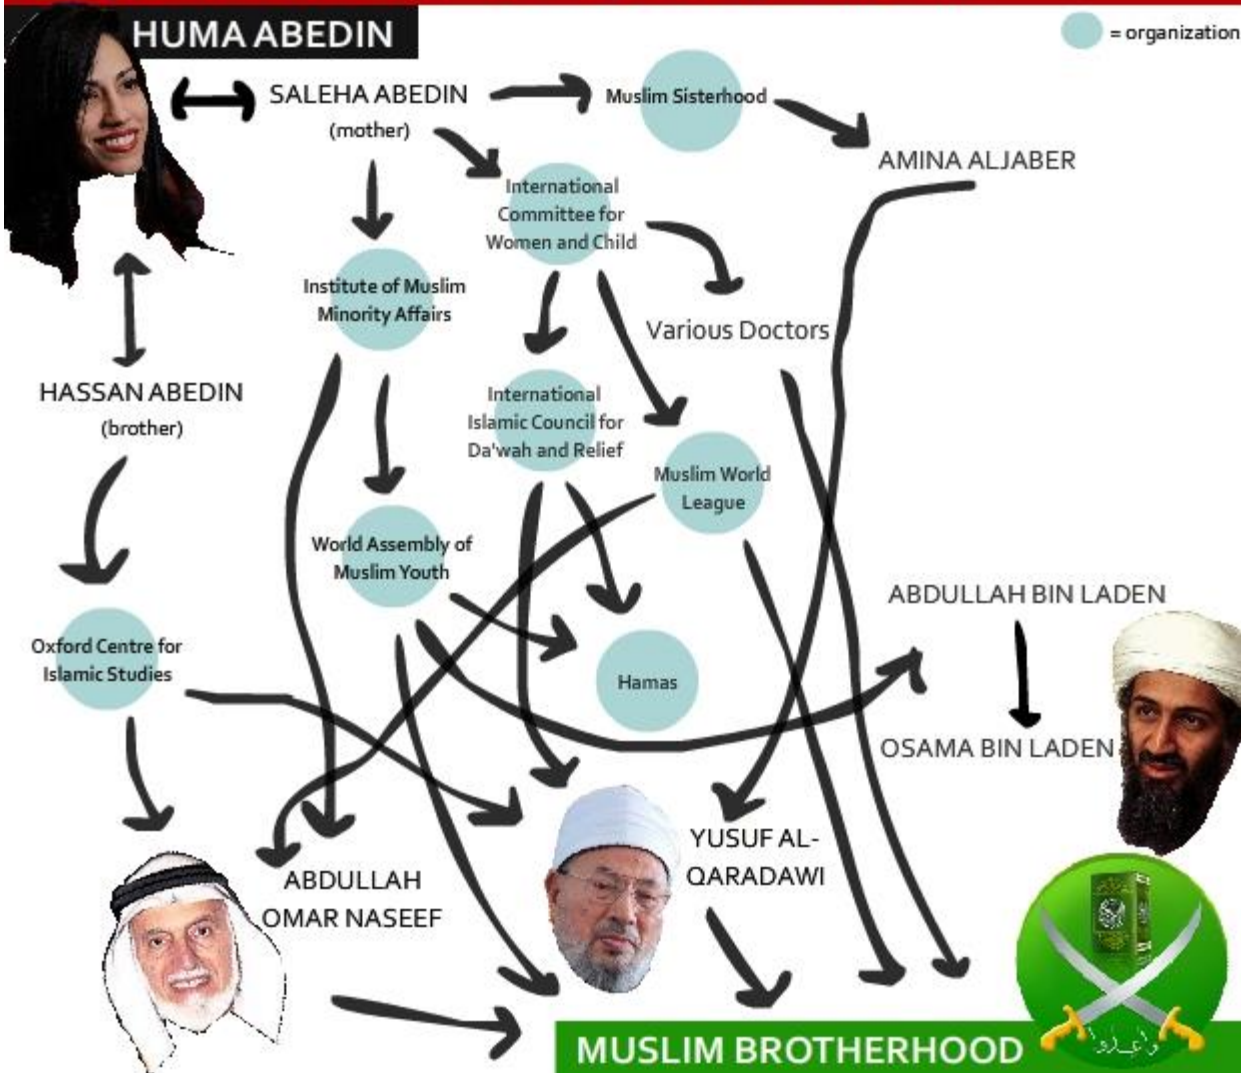

Unless one understands Muruna, it doesn't make sense for a Muslim Sisterhood leader like Saleha to continue to carry on a relationship with her daughter, a Muslim woman who married a non-Muslim, Jewish, man. However, there doesn't seem to be any rifts between the two women:

The Alleged Connection between Huma Abedin, Muslim Brotherhood, and other things that are bad

Serena Dai/The Atlantic Wire

(according to Walid Shoebat, a controversial former Jihadist quoted widely by conservative media)

During a previous trip that Clinton and Abedin made to Saudi Arabia, Abedin's mother, Saleha Mahmood Abedin, vice president of Dar Al-Hekma University, said to Clinton: "Hillary, you have spent more time with my daughter than I have in the past 15 years. I'm jealous of you!"

It's also interesting to note that Weiner admits in the Times piece that the decision to resign from Congress was his and that Huma did not want him to. If Anthony Weiner is elected mayor of New York City, the first lady of the city will be the daughter of a leader within the group that serves as the umbrella group for the one that brought down the World Trade Center. And Huma has neither denounced that group or her mother's role in it.

No doubt, the Muslim Brotherhood would see such a victory for Weiner as a symbolic victory for themselves.

Again, we get back to why Form 86 is so important.

The Brotherhood was founded in 1928 by an Egyptian admirer of Adolf Hitler. It called for the creation of a new Islamic empire and spawned al-Qaeda and Hamas and other jihadist terror organizations.

Obama Regime secretly recruiting new foreign service officers at Muslim Brotherhood jihadist event

The Muslim Brotherhood has infiltrated the State Dept. at the highest level!!!

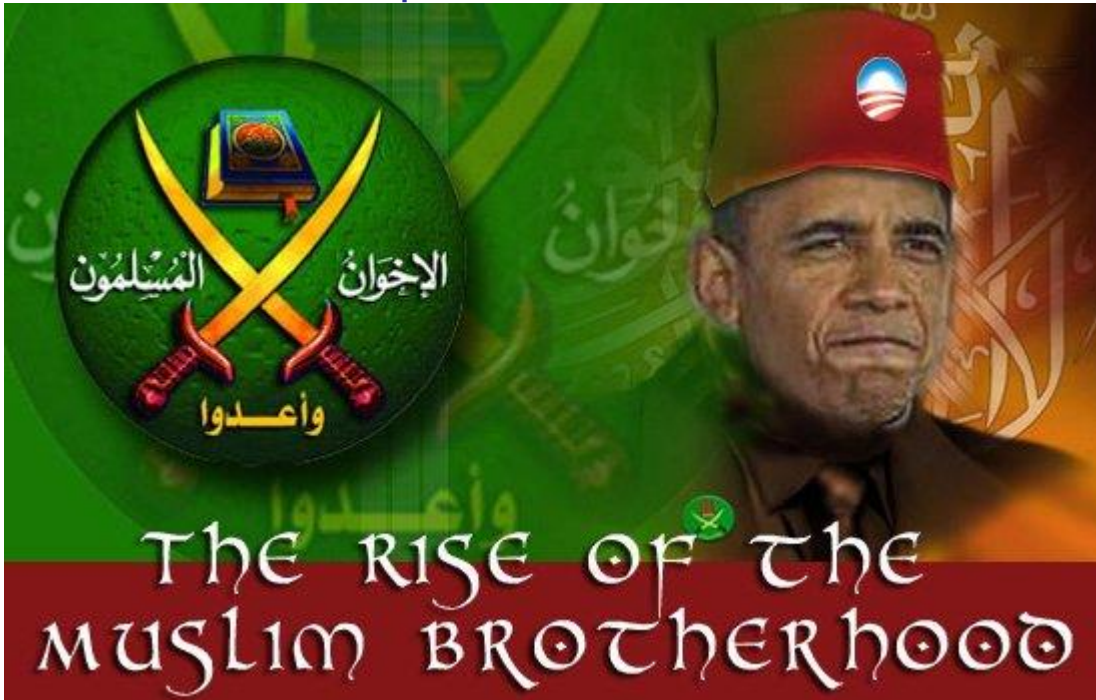

Contact your Representative and Senator and ask them how was Huma Abidin given top-level security clearance, despite her family ties to the Muslim Brotherhood.

Because only one Muslim Brotherhood sweetheart, Hillary Clinton's Huma Abedin, just isn't enough. The Obama administration is covertly recruiting Muslims to work at the State Department as Foreign Service officers representing the United States in one of 265 American embassies, consulates and diplomatic missions worldwide. It appears to be part of the administration's Muslim outreach effort, which includes a variety of controversial moves.

Frontpage Magazine (h/t Linda R) A covert State Department campaign, discovered in the course of a Judicial Watch investigation, is working to add Muslims to its roster. Presumably, the new recruits will be deployed around the globe to help the agency fulfill its mission of promoting the country's international relations. The campaign is headed by Mark Ward, the Deputy Special Coordinator in the State Department's Office of Middle East Transition.

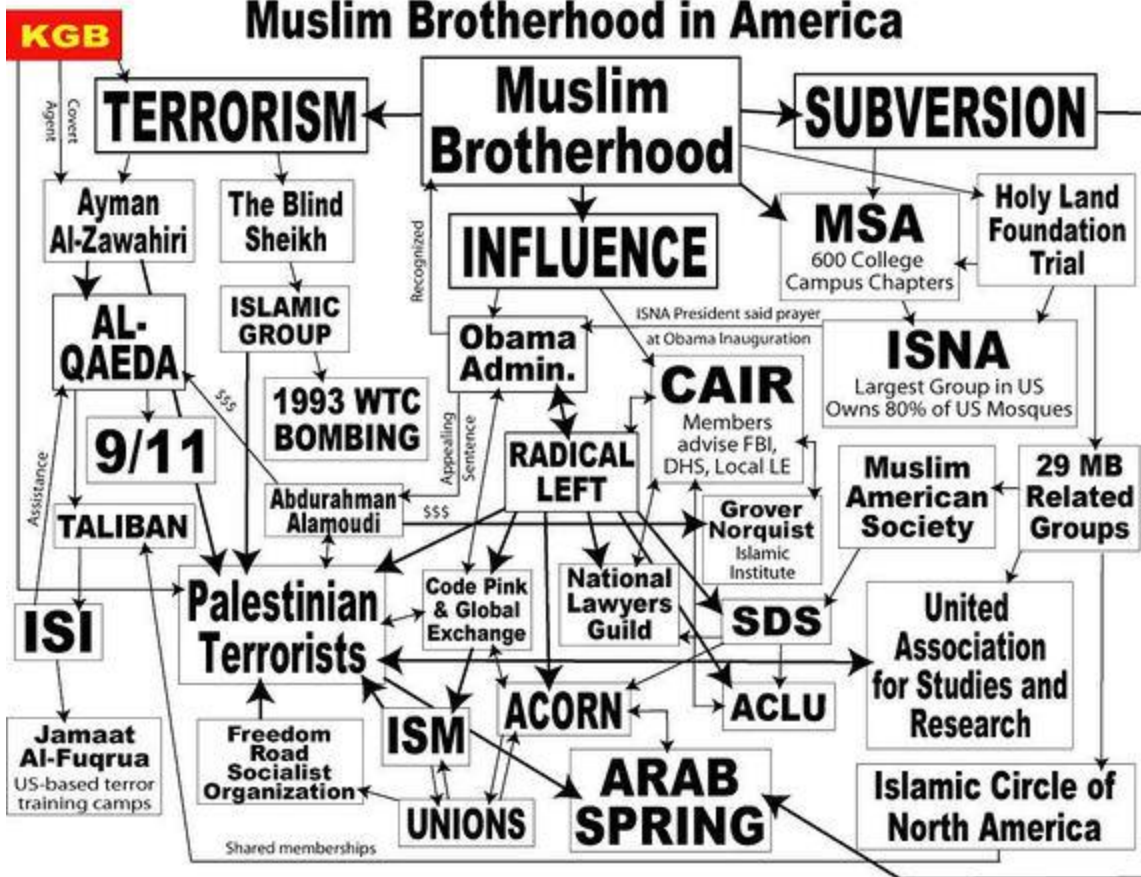

Ward held a 90-minute seminar at a recent convention sponsored by two Muslim Brotherhood proxy groups—Muslim American Society (MAS) and the Islamic Circle of North America (ICNA)—with known ties to radical Islam. Both nonprofits are associated with the Muslim Brotherhood, which is known as the parent organization of CAIR, Hamas and al Qaeda. In fact, the Investigative Project on Terrorism reports that MAS was founded as the U.S. chapter of the Muslim Brotherhood which strives to indoctrinate the world with Sharia law.

Muslim Brotherhood Islamist Network in the USA

Along with the Left, America's worst domestic enemies

Yet there was a U.S. State Department official, side by side at a radical Islamic powwow in Chicago with a number of speakers who advocate violent jihad. Among them was Kifah Mustapha, a fundraiser at terrorist organization (Holy Land Foundation) convicted of funneling millions to Hamas and Jamal Badawi, a MAS founder who praised the jihad of Gaza terrorists during a speech titled "Understanding Jihad and Martyrdom."

The conference that Ward conducted focused on career opportunities for Muslim youth. Here is how the event was billed: “Besides being a citizenship duty, there are benefits that Muslims can add to the American Muslim community and the global Muslim world by joining the US Foreign Services. This session will shed light on the different career opportunities for Muslim youth in the US Foreign Services Department. It will also clear any concerns that many people have feared about pursuing in this career.”

What about the concerns of Americans who may be concerned that Obama Inc. has decided to recruit members of Islamist Supremacist groups and supporters of Islamic terrorism into the diplomatic corps of the United States?

New York City Muslim accuses Mayor Michael 'dhimmi' Bloomberg of being an 'Islamophobe'

See, no matter how much Muslim ass you kiss, you are considered an 'Islamophobe,' especially if you belong to the tribe of 'pigs and apes' as you do Bloomberg.

Bloomberg at a NYC mosque

Post by HUSSEIN RASHID, a native New Yorker, says he's a Proud Muslim who is deeply committed to interfaith work and is passionate about teaching. He believes we need to start talking more intelligently about Islam specifically.

Religion Dispatches My colleague, Haroon Moghul, wrote a masterful piece here called "What's Islamophobia, and Do I Have It?" In it, he expounds on the myths that serve as the bases for Islamophobia. His voice is one of a growing chorus that shows that Islamophobia exists and has a persistent logic of its own, often grounded in antisemitism.

One of the many Muslim antisemites arrested by the NYPD

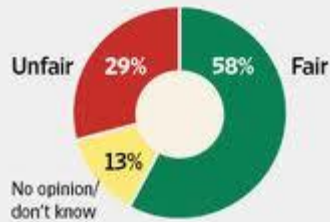

In fact, one of the amazing elements of Islamophobia is the denial of its own existence—as Nathan Lean explains. In his article, Lean also offers several examples of the impact Islamophobia has had on the lives of Americans; Wajahat Ali has written about the fear and death that an Islamophobic environment sanctions; Erik Love gives us sociological background on the impact of Islamophobia. I want to offer a reflection of what a New York Muslim sees and hears as Islamophobia becomes so normalized that it becomes an institution.

Any Muslim who meets another Muslim is tarred by six degrees of separation as being a potential terrorist, deserving of NYPD surveillance. The situation of the NYPD is one of the great travesties of Muslim life in the city. We at RD

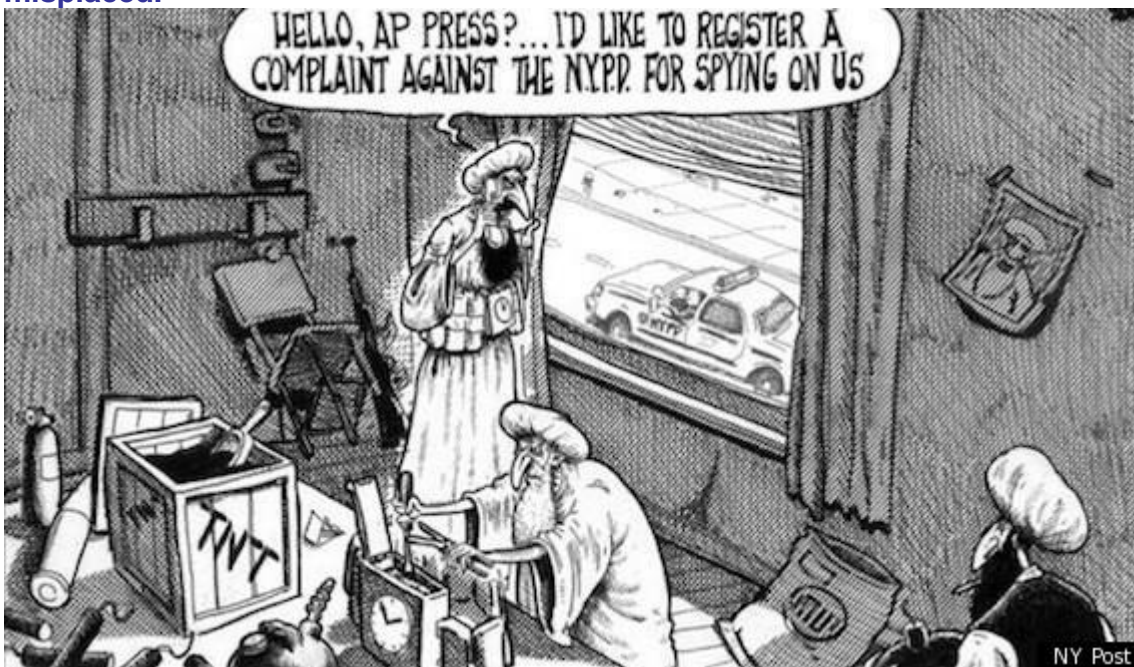

Police Support

Q: Do you think the NYPD has unfairly targeted Muslims to combat terrorism or has acted appropriately?

have covered the betrayal of trust that Mayor Bloomberg's policies represent. This betrayal is further compounded by the fact that members of the NYPD call it the "most corrupt police department," and try to harass people for exercising their freedom of expression. Yet, by giving them unsupervised, unchallenged power, Mayor Bloomberg makes it easy for them start with the assumption that Muslims are guilty until proven innocent. And again, much like the Islamophobia Industry denying Islamophobia in the presence of a preponderance of evidence, no NYPD policy changes, despite the fact that the surveillance is misplaced.

This type of Islamophobia is becoming so ingrained into the mayor's administration, that when Sunando Sen was slaughtered on the altar of Islamophobia, the mayor urged us to remember that while it was sad, it was okay because the real story was how cool the NYPD was. This statement was a day after he talked about the unappreciated deaths of the 34 people killed everyday by gun violence. Clearly, some causes of violence and some victims of violence are to be appreciated more than others.

NYC Muslim cab drivers stop to pray wherever and whenever they feel like it. Every Friday, they block streets and sidewalks on the Upper West Side near a mosque

If the words of Fox News can lead to an arson attack against a mosque, and general Islamophobia results in knifings in pizzerias, then the words and actions of the Mayor of New York have a much more profound impact.

Muslims block Madison Avenue to pray in the street

Muslims in the city are bombarded by media coverage that paints us as suspect. The city's police department paints us as suspect. Advertising in the veins of the city paints us as suspect. The mayor made a rousing speech during the Ground Zero Victory Mosque controversy, but he has not internalized or exemplified those words.

We are a community besieged by Islamophobia. Instead of building strong, resilient communities, we are left with "Be safe," as our most potent protection. We cannot trust the police, we cannot trust people on the subway, and the mayor fiddles.

Islamophobia is real. People die because of it. Communities are weakened, and the only people profiting from it are the police state and the Islamophobia Industry. As a New York Muslim, I hope Mayor Bloomberg leaves us a better legacy than bike lanes and broken communities.

"I am told I will hang for my faith in Jesus," says American pastor who faces death sentence in Iran

Until now, the Obama Regime has been totally ignoring the plight of an American pastor being beaten and tortured in an Iranian prison, who now is scheduled to go before a “hanging” judge in Iran on Monday, Jan. 21st.

Telegraph An American Christian pastor faces a possible death sentence in Iran after prosecutors accused him of harming national security on charges he and his supporters claim amount to religious persecution.

Saeed Abedini, 32, who is Iranian born, is expected to go on trial next week before a revolutionary tribunal in Tehran in a hearing presided over by a judge blacklisted by the European Union for handing down harsh verdicts. His wife, Najmeh, says he has suffered beatings during interrogation and has expressed fears for his life in letters to her. “This is the process in my life today: one day I am told I will be freed and allowed to see my kids on Christmas (which was a lie) and the next day I am told I will hang for my faith in Jesus,” Mr Abedini, a father-of-two, wrote in one letter. “One day there are intense pains after beatings in interrogations, the next day they are nice to you and offer you candy.”

The origins of the charges against Mr Abdini are not clear. But the American Centre for Law and Justice, a Christian advocacy group founded by the evangelist preacher, Pat Robertson, said it was connected with starting a home church movement.

Harming national security is a capital crime under Iran’s legal statute. Critics say it is vaguely defined and used to suppress opponents of the country’s Islamic regime. Mr Abdini, who converted to Christianity at the age of 20, was building an orphanage near the city of Rasht on the Caspian Sea, fuelled by a belief that the Bible teaches helping widows and orphans, according to his wife.

Mr Abidini had travelled to Iran nine times since his detention before being arrested again. “He had no worries that he would be arrested, believing that he kept his end of the promise and that the government would keep their end,” she told AFP.

He has not had access to a lawyer since being re-arrested, she added. Mr Abdini is expected to be tried by Abbas Pir-Abassi, a judge subject to EU sanctions for human rights violations after sentencing several activists to death.

Though Allen West, sadly, was gerrymandered out of his House seat, 5 shining stars in the Republican Party continue to wage the war against Islam

The Left insists on calling them the Top 5 Islam-Bashing Republicans to Watch in 2013. But an overwhelming majority of Republican voters regard the West and Islam as being embroiled in “a fundamental conflict which only one side can win.” And left up to the Democrat dhimmis, God forbid, we know which side that would be.

1. Michele Bachmann

Last summer, Bachmann garnered national attention when she and other Republicans alleged that the Muslim Brotherhood, an Egyptian-based political movement that spread throughout the Middle East, had “penetrated” the U.S. government.

EGYPTIAN MAGAZINE AFFIRMS MUSLIM BROTHERHOOD INFILTRATION OF THE WHITE HOUSE The article names Arif Alikhan, assistant secretary of Homeland Security for policy development; Mohammed Elibiary, a member of the Homeland Security Advisory Council; Rashad Hussain, the U.S. special envoy to the Organization of the Islamic Conference; Salam al-Marayati, co-founder of the Muslim Public Affairs Council, or MPAC); Imam Mohamed Magid, president of the Islamic Society of North America, or ISNA; and Eboo Patel, a member of President Obama’s Advisory Council on Faith-Based Neighborhood Partnerships.

Bachmann singled out a prominent Muslim-American aide to Secretary of State Hillary Clinton named Huma Abedin as being part of the conspiracy. The Minnesota congresswoman made the allegations in letters sent to U.S. government officials. The letter questioned whether there was “direct influence” on the intelligence community from “[Muslim] Brotherhood operatives.” And the letter also mentioned that Abedin has “family members” connected to the Muslim Brotherhood. Her letter to U.S. government officials made clear that Bachmann got her ideas from Frank Gaffney, a former Reagan aide and prominent anti-Islam expert. Gaffney is a leading anti-Muslim activist in the U.S., and has produced a 10-part online series about the Muslim Brotherhood's influence in the U.S. But the idea that the Muslim Brotherhood is plotting from within is a McCarthyite theory that casts aspersions on Muslim-Americans within the U.S. government. There is also no evidence to support the theory. (Except that there is. See article posted above) In 2011, Bachmann stoked fear about sharia law—Islamic law—taking over U.S. courts.

2. Peter King

He may have lost his chairmanship of the Homeland Security committee due to party-imposed term-limits, but you can count on King stoking the flames of fear towards Islam next year. King, a Republican hailing from Long Island, used his post as chair of the House Homeland Security Committee to specifically target the problem of terrorism within the Muslim community. After serving for seven years, King is no longer the head of the committee, though he will remain a member.

King held a total of five separate hearings on Islam and terrorism in the United States, to focus on the threat of “homegrown” terrorism from Muslims.

His first hearing sparked the most controversy. Titled “The Extent of Radicalization in the American Muslim Community and that Community’s Response,” it was based on King’s assumption that the Muslim community in the U.S. is prone to breeding extremists. In 2004, King claimed that “80%, 85% of the mosques in this country are controlled by Islamic fundamentalists.” King courted even more controversy based on one of his star witnesses at the first hearing: Zuhdi Jasser, an activist who has become the right’s spokesMuslim. Jasser is the head of a group called the American Islamic Forum for Democracy, which is funded by anti-Muslim figures like the right-wing Christian Foster Friess. Many Muslim organizations say that Jasser has little following among American Muslims (What a surprise, he tells the truth about them). Jasser narrated an Islamorealist film titled “The Third Jihad,” that was shown to New York Police Department officers as training and claims that Muslim extremists are plotting from within to take over the U.S. (Now banned from police training thanks to whining by the Islamofascists at CAIR)

Other statements in King’s past show that his motivation to root out Muslim extremism in the U.S. is based on his claim about mosques in the U.S. being run by radical extremists (many are) and has also claimed that “the Muslim community does not cooperate anywhere near to the extent that it should” on terrorism-related cases. (The poster below was distributed to the Muslim community by CAIR)

Know Your Rights and Defend Our Communities from Grand Juries

3. Mike McCaul

For the House Homeland Security Committee, McCaul, a Republican hailing from Texas, has dutifully served alongside King on the committee. And now, he's getting his chance to run it on his own. Since King was forced out of the top spot due to party-imposed parameters, McCaul has been tapped to lead the Homeland Security Committee. McCaul's history of exposing Muslim terrorism in the US shows why he will likely lead the committee similar to how King did.

In fact, McCaul strongly supported the King-led hearings focusing on Muslim-Americans. McCaul praised King's hearings as a way to "end the era of political correctness." During the hearing itself, McCaul said: "I am mystified by the controversy that has followed from this." After King's fifth set of hearings, McCaul said that the "U.S. should not overlook the correlation between Islam and national security."

McCaul appeared on Frank Gaffney's radio show last year—the same radio show where Gaffney has spread his well-documented theories about sharia law and the Muslim Brotherhood in the U.S. And McCaul didn't bat an eye, or mutter any response, when Gaffney carried on about the "Muslim Brotherhood's operations in the United States." (See article above) When he got a chance to speak, McCaul indulged in speculation about the "threat" of Hezbollah, the Lebanese armed group, in the Western Hemisphere

4. Louie Gohmert

This Texas Republican has been a leader in speaking out about the dangers of Islam before. Gohmert made headlines with remarks about Islam and President Barack Obama. He suggested that Obama's allegiances were with Islamic states instead of the U.S. "I know the president made the mistake one day of saying he had visited all 57 states, and I'm well aware that there are not 57 states in this country, although there are 57 members of OIC, the Islamic states in the world," Gohmert said on the House floor. "Perhaps there was some confusion whether he'd been to all 57 Islamic states as opposed to all 50 U.S. states. But nonetheless, we have an obligation to the 50 American states, not the 57 Muslim, Islamic states...This administration [has been] complicit in helping people who wants [sic] to destroy our country."

Gohmert's speech played into the right-wing conspiracy theory that Obama was a secret Muslim in league with anti-American Islamists. In line with that theory, Gohmert has also suggested that Obama listens to advisers from the Muslim Brotherhood.

5. Trent Franks

In recent years, Arizona Republican Trent Franks has taken to demonizing Muslim-Americans. In 2009, Franks was one of four Republicans to call for an investigation of the Muslim Brotherhood proxy Council on American Islamic Relations (CAIR), proven to have links to terrorist group Hamas. The GOP members claimed an investigation was needed into whether CAIR was "spying" on Congressional offices in order to influence policy.

BEWARE of CAIR

Dear Colleague:

Members should think twice before meeting with representatives of CAIR (Council on American-Islamic Relations). The FBI has cut ties with them. There are indications that this group has connections to HAMAS.

We encourage you and your staff to read the article below regarding this matter.

Sincerely,

Sue Myrick

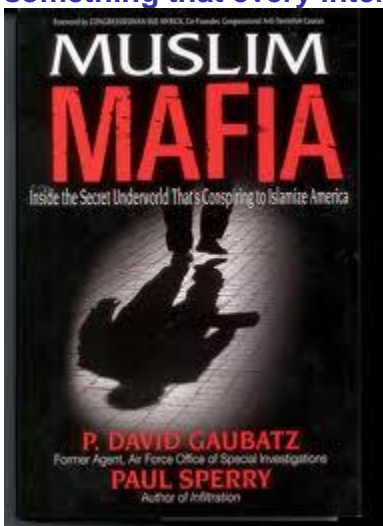

Pete Hockstra

John Shadegg

Paul Broun

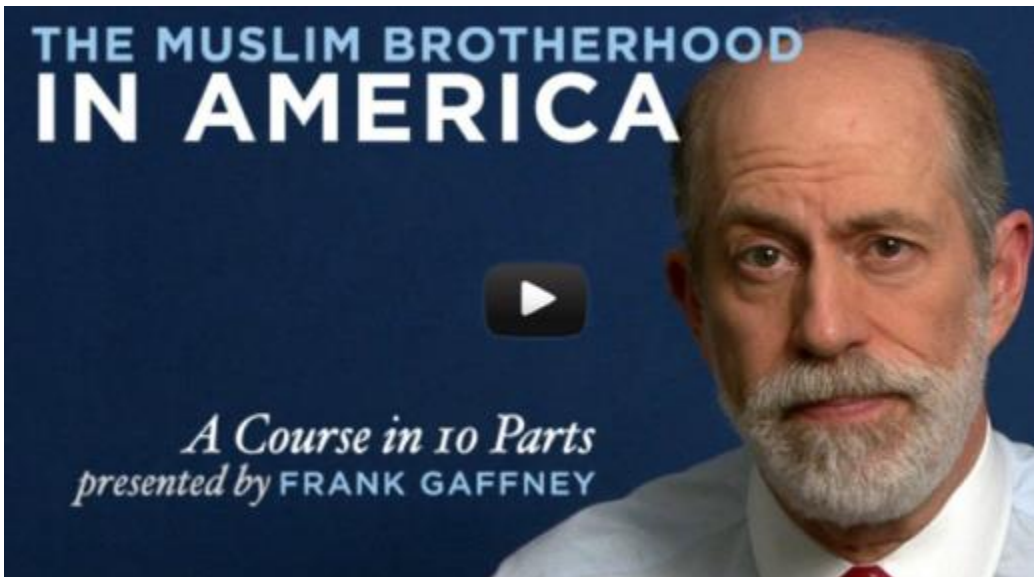

Trent Franks

The evidence for that charge was a 2007 CAIR memo that called for placing Muslim interns in key Congressional offices in order to influence policy on issues important to Muslim-Americans—something that every interest group does in Washington.

Muslim Mafia, true story of Intern Chris Gaubatz who courageously gained the trust of CAIR's inner sanctum, while working undercover as a devoted convert to Islam, blows the whistle on the entire factory fueling the wave of homegrown terrorism now plaguing America. His six-month penetration of the Washington-based Council on American-Islamic Relations resulted in a collection of thousands of pages of smoking-gun documents from this terror-supporting front group for the dangerous, mob-like Muslim Brotherhood.*

Franks' anti-Muslim fear-mongering didn't stop in 2009, though. The next year, he showed support for Frank Gaffney's theory that sharia law was on the march in the U.S., led by Muslim-American organizations with links to the Muslim Brotherhood who were plotting from within.

Predictably, the latest iteration of Franks' 'Islamophobia' was his signature on Bachmann's McCarthyite letter about Muslim Brotherhood influence in the U.S. government and Clinton aide Huma Abedin.

JAN 4 2013

FINALLY! Somebody in the media bestows a title on Barack Hussein Obama that he actually deserves
“THE FIRST MUSLIM PRESIDENT”

WND (h/t Ellen H) Since Barack Hussein Obama has been president, he's been showered with many such accolades – most recently when Newsweek crowned him “The First Gay President” for his election-year abandonment of his opposition to same-sex marriage. But the elite media, to commemorate other Obama affinities and policy positions, have also dubbed him “The First Hispanic President,” “The First Asian-American President,” “The First Jewish President” – and even “The First Female President.”

But there's one “first” label conspicuously absent from all the media homage paid to the 44th president – perhaps, ironically, because there's more truth to it than the press is comfortable admitting – and that's the title Whistleblower confers on Barack Hussein Obama in its blockbuster January 2013 issue: “THE FIRST MUSLIM PRESIDENT.”

Barack Hussein Obama's relationship with Islam has long been one of the most radioactive questions surrounding his presidency. Before the 2008 election, it was considered impolite in the extreme even to mention publicly Obama's middle name, “Hussein,” a name given only to Muslim babies. And despite repeated polls showing a significant percentage of voters – one in three conservative Republicans and almost one in five of all voters – believe the president is currently a Muslim, those who dare bring up the issue are mercilessly scorned as ignoramuses and bigots.

Yet, there's a side to Obama's life, from his Muslim childhood, schooling, Quran studies, mosque attendance and prayer in Indonesia, to his bewilderingly pro-Muslim policies today as president, that has been carefully concealed from the public by the "mainstream media."

"The future must not belong to those who slander the prophet of Islam."
Barack Hussein Obama, 25 September 2012

If you've wondered why the current U.S. president seems so supportive of the Muslim Brotherhood – both in the Arab-Muslim Middle East and, in the form of its various front organizations, within America itself "THE FIRST MUSLIM PRESIDENT" will open your eyes. Highlights of include:

- "The first Muslim president" by David Kupelian, on why an adoring press crowns Obama with every title – except this one
- "Muslim-American author embraces Obama as 'My Muslim President'" – and reveals most Muslims she knows regard Obama as a "Muslim brother"
- "U.S. policy defending Shariah – not American citizens" by Clare Lopez, in which the 25-year CIA veteran blows the whistle on Obama's brazenly pro-jihad policies
- "Rep. Allen West: Benghazi a result of 'appeasement' of the Islamic world" – the courageous Florida congressman speaks his mind on the president's pro-Islamist foreign policy
- "Israel policy makes Obama honorary 'first Muslim president'" by Joseph Farah, who asks: "Who has done more to foment and support the Middle East Islamist revolution over the last 2 years than Barack Obama?"

- “Obama’s Muslim childhood” by Daniel Pipes, in which the renowned Islam expert presents overwhelming evidence that the president of the United States – who claimed before his election in 2008 that he was never a Muslim – was indeed “born and raised a Muslim”
- “Obama family busted in Shariah scheme” by Jerome R. Corsi, a shocking exposé of how Obama’s extended family is working to drive Christianity out of Kenya and replace it with Shariah Islam
- “Obama Mideast policy includes arming jihadists” by Aaron Klein, who presents stunning evidence that the White House was supporting al-Qaida operatives who ended up killing the U.S. ambassador to Libya
- “Why Obama turned on Gadhafi – the surprising reason” by Jerome R. Corsi – on the Obama administration’s infatuation with the Muslim Brotherhood
- “Under-publicized threat deep in the White House” – in which veteran FBI agents disclose that penetration of the U.S. government by radical Islamist agents is much worse than previously thought
- “Rogues gallery of terror-tied ‘Muslim civil rights’ leaders” – a pictorial exposé of the “moderate Muslim civil rights group” in the nation’s capital that one FBI agent described as “a turnstile for terrorists and their supporters”
- “Manifesto puts Hillary’s top aide in Saudi plot” by Art Moore, on how Secretary of State Hillary Clinton’s trusted adviser Huma Abedin previously worked for her parents’ institute focused on establishing an Islamic America
- “What Muslim-Americans really believe” by Joseph Farah, on a new scientific poll revealing that most American Muslims oppose the most basic principles of the U.S. Constitution
- “Handing Muslim extremists the house keys” by Diana West, on why the power-elites don’t want to answer the questions of the “Bachmann 5.”

Muslim Brotherhood proxy CAIR tries to gain Republican support by smearing Republicans

Council on American-Islamic Relations The Council on Anti-American Islamic Relations (CAIR) held a press conference yesterday in which they demeaned and maligned the entire Republican party as well as Republican leaders by name. CAIR's executive director, Nihad Awad, has been an outspoken supporter of terror-groups Hamas and Hezbollah, while condemning American law enforcement's counter-terrorism activities and training.

CAIR Executive Director Nihad Awad delivers a speech under a Hezbollah flag during an ANSWER rally on April 20, 2002 in Washington DC. To his right stands Imam Abdul Alim Musa, the anti-Semitic head of Masjid Al Islam mosque.

CAIR today announced the publication of a full-page advertisement in the conservative Washington Times newspaper (See ad below) outlining recent examples of intolerant speech and actions by Republicans and offering recommendations to help improve GOP relations with the Muslim community. What CAIR calls “intolerant” speech is the truth about stealth jihadist groups like CAIR and its Muslim Brotherhood affiliates in the U.S. whose goal is to spread sharia law and turn the US into an Islamic state.

Original Story: action-alert-terror-linked-cair-plans-to-infiltrate-the-gop-now

And no surprise, CAIR is condemning critics of their favorite Muslim Brotherhood brother, President Mohamed Morsi of Egypt: CAIR TARGETS MORSI CRITICS

Here you go, the stupid full page ad that the CAIR thugs placed in the Washington Times today. All I can say is, Keep it up, Republicans, you have only begun to fight the jihadists from CAIR.

GOP Asked to Reassess Its Relationship with American Muslims

(BNI did a little editing)

We are writing to offer an open invitation to reassess your party's current relationship with American Muslims. As with other demographics, American Muslim support for Republicans has dropped precipitously in recent years. This shift away from the GOP is not set in stone, but its future direction is dependent on choices your party makes.

It is well known that the majority of the American Muslim vote went to Texas Governor George W. Bush in the 2000 election. However, by 2006 only 17 percent of American Muslim registered voters self-identified as Republican. In 2008, that number had dropped to 8 percent. In an October 2012 poll conducted by the Council on American-Islamic Relations, it was 9 percent.

That recent poll also found that only 12 percent of respondents perceive Republicans as being committed to upholding the Constitution.

This perception has a basis in Republican Party members' actions.

In 2011 and 2012, 78 bills or amendments (ONLY 78?) aimed at interfering with Islamic religious practices were considered in 31 states and the U.S. Congress. Seventy-three of these bills were introduced solely by Republicans. These were not just fringe legislators; in too many cases they included state-level GOP leadership.

In supporting such efforts to introduce government-sanctioned discrimination protection against radical Muslims, members of your party have made despicable

Islamophobic factual remarks. South Dakota anti-Islam bill sponsor Phil Jensen (R-District 33) told an audience, “It is alarming how many of our sisters and daughters who attend American universities are now marrying Muslim men.” (God help them) Alaska state Rep. Carl Gatto (R-Palmer) said his anti-Islam legislation was necessary because of the religious beliefs of recent immigrants. “As a kid, we had Italian neighborhoods, Irish neighborhoods. . .but they didn't impose their own laws," Gatto said. "When these neighborhoods are occupied by people from the Middle East, they do establish their own laws." Such anti-immigrant fear mongering needs to be clearly rejected. (It isn't fear mongering when they are trying to replace our system of laws with barbaric sharia law)

In at least 11 states, mainstream Republican leaders introduced or supported anti-Muslim legislation. (That means we still have 39 more to go)

Oklahoma Governor Mary Fallin ignored the Constitution's proscription against government censure of religion when she threw her influence behind House Bill 1552, a version of Islamophobic brilliant Islamorealist lawyer David Yerushalmi's model anti-Islam legislation, saying, "I personally believe that a law should be made on American law, on our constitution. The people of Oklahoma spoke pretty clearly when there was a vote...on Sharia law."¹ (They voted overwhelmingly NO and a leftist Muslim sympathizing judge overturned the will of the people)

Rep. Gatto, who supported an anti-Islam bill, is chairman of the Alaska State Legislature's House Judiciary Committee. The originator of Michigan's anti-Islam bill was Rep. Dave Agema, the majority caucus chair. Missouri Speaker of the House Stephen Tilley supported such a bill. In South Dakota, original sponsor Charles Hoffman was the majority whip. (Remember those names when you vote in these states)

We repeatedly hear—primarily from Republicans—that our faith is a threat to the United States. (It IS!) Such things have been said about Catholics, Jews, Mormons, and other religions as well. (But it's only true about Islam)

In each of those cases, history has proven the voices of unreason and fear to be wrong. (But not wrong about Islam)

In contrast to fear-laden true assertions that Muslims harbor traitorous intentions regarding our Constitution, CAIR's lawsuit against an anti-Islam constitutional amendment in Oklahoma argued that the law violates both the First Amendment and the Supremacy Clause. So far, four traitorous federal judges have ruled in our favor. Muslims are defending the Constitution, while elements of your party seek to strip its fundamental protections from a minority faith. (Muslims are goddamn filthy liars who intend to replace the Constitution with sharia as they try to do in every country – See Egypt now)

Additionally, mainstream Republican candidates have questioned our loyalty (Your so-called religion commands you to be loyal ONLY to Islam) and even threatened to undermine the Constitution in efforts to exclude us from the political process, all without any pushback from party leaders. (They were right)

During the recent election cycle, Herman Cain said that Muslims who wanted to serve in his administration would have to take loyalty oaths. (Bad idea because Muslims always lie to unbelievers) He explained to Glenn Beck that he would not require similar oaths from Mormons or Catholics "because there is a greater dangerous part of the Muslim faith than there is in these other religions." Article VI of the U.S. Constitution says there is no "religious test" for public office. (Islam is not a real religion, it is a tyrannical political ideology) Despite this, the only response to Cain's assertion was applause from the debate audience. (Hear it? BNI readers are clapping loudly right now)

Rep. Paul Broun (R-GA) expressed his exasperation when "a guy in Arabian dress" did not receive secondary screening in an airport.² A Republican state representative from Tennessee, Rick Womick, said, "Personally, I don't trust one Muslim in our military." He openly agreed that all Muslims should be removed from the military.³ (We totally agree)

Rather than speak aggressively against extreme voices in the party, there has been a problematic decision by party leadership to give it tacit approval rather than confront it. (The GOP voices against Islam are NOT extreme, they are informed) A classic example occurred in 2005. When Hispanic and Muslim groups criticized former Rep. Tom Tancredo for threatening to nuke the Islamic holy city of Mecca, then party-chairman Ken Melman brushed aside concerns about such extremism saying, "The fact is, we're a big-tent party. I'm proud that we have debate in our party." (NUKING MECCA should be US policy if there is another Muslim terror attack here)

We believe that November 6 presented an opportunity to distance your party from anti-Muslim bias and place the voices of bias on the fringe where they belong—still free to speak, but shunned for their intolerance. (The anti-Islam movement grows stronger every day)

We have witnessed some signs recently that this rejection of anti-Islam bias can easily take place if the party commits to confronting intolerance.

Following Islamophobic Islamorealist criticism of his nomination of Muslim terrorist attorney Sohail Mohammed as a New Jersey Superior Court judge, Governor Chris Christie bluntly stated, "This Sharia law business is just crap. It's just crazy, and I'm tired of dealing with the crazies." (Which is why Muslim asskisser Christie will never attain higher office) Of the nominee, Christie stated, "He is an extraordinary American who is an outstanding lawyer and played an integral role in the post-September 11th period in building bridges between the Muslim American community in this state and law enforcement."⁴ (CRAP)

More recently, when Rep. Michele Bachmann led an effort to cast suspicion on Muslims engaged in honorable public service, Sen. John McCain and Rep. John Boehner made welcome comments calling Bachmann's actions into question. (Bachmann is a GOP hero for exposing Huma Abedin as a Muslim Brotherhood operative who should be investigated)

In the spirit of promoting a more inclusive Republican party, we respectfully offer the following thoughts on improving relations between American Muslims and Republicans. (Don't dream, we don't want to improve relations with our enemies – you)

The party establishment should speak out strongly against biased speech within its ranks. Free speech must always be preserved, but biased speech should be relegated to the fringes. Many of the statements quoted above are reflective of an ugly, bygone era in our nation's history. Bias has no place in serious discussions about our nation's policies and future. (Telling the truth is not bias or hate speech)

The party should make a concerted effort to engage Muslim voters. During this past election cycle, there was a notable unwillingness on the part of Republican candidates to attend non-partisan candidate forums hosted by Muslim groups. Use of anti-Muslim themes—examples such as Rep. Renee Ellmers vile "victory mosque" ad or former-Rep. Allen West's assertions that Islam is not a religion—are too often a Republican electoral tool. (You will see a lot more of this)

The party establishment should oppose efforts to pass discriminatory legislation. A simple Internet search of "American Laws for American Courts" demonstrates that its author holds biased views of many minorities. While the bill itself makes no direct mention of Islam, it is clearly aimed at stigmatizing Islam. While proof of this is abundant we will offer one example here: "This [bill] doesn't say 'Sharia law,'" Republican State Senator Chris Steineger said in a speech that condemned the legislation for discriminating against Muslims, "but that's how it was marketed back in January and all session long—and I have all the e-mails to prove it."⁵ Steineger was an early supporter of the bill, but turned on it once he recognized the bias it represented. He is an example for other party members. (Anti-sharia legislation is NOT discriminatory)

The party establishment should reject any member's effort to use official public forums to smear a minority. Rep. Peter King's five anti-Muslim hearings generated no appreciable response from Republican leadership. When King asserted that Muslims are not loyal Americans,⁶ Republicans did nothing to put him in check. (Telling the truth about vile Muslim behavior/beliefs is not smearing)

During his hearings, not a single witness attempted to factually validate King's longtime allegation that the American Muslim community is run by extremists. Five of the six law enforcement representatives who testified did not support King's assertion that Muslims do not cooperate with law enforcement. That he could not prove his own allegations in a hearing room where he controlled the deck should have come to the notice of leadership and been addressed as the intolerance it was. (Total bullshit. King had excellent witnesses, some of them Muslims)

Party officials should end the persistent witch-hunt targeting legally operating Muslim institutions. Almost every national Muslim community organization has come under sustained attack from members of your party. These are not the philosophical disagreements expected in a robust political process; rather they are allegations of subversion and ill-intent more characteristic of the "othering" of a minority. (CAIR should be the first to be outlawed and its leaders jailed for being a front for the Muslim Brotherhood/Hamas/al-Qaeda)

Let us all work together to maintain America's leadership in support of emerging democracies and the rule of law worldwide by promoting the humanitarian principles enshrined in our Constitution's Bill of Rights. May God Almighty bless the United States of America.

Your demands will go right to the garbage CAIR. You haven't seen anything yet. We are going to double down on all the above.

FOR YOUR ENJOYMENT: Salon.com's 'Ten most Islamorealistic* moments in the 2012 election cycle'

As you would expect, the left wing dhimmis at Salon called them 'Islamophobic' moments. Please thank Salon for compiling a list of whom should be at the top of our lists of favorite politicians, and a few whom should be delegated to the trash.

SALON When we're all proven wrong and living in a bacon-less hellscape of Shariah law ruled by the iron fist of Mullah Obama, we can't say we weren't warned. According to the right-wing fringe, racism is dead — but long live Islamophobia Islamorealism, for there is jihad in every mosque and we must be vigilant.

But Islamophobia Islamorealism— even from elected officials — is still dramatically undercovered by the media. So you might easily have missed some of these 10 most disgraceful magnificent examples of bigotry, ignorance and hate wisdom, education and justified anger — from obscure county parties to the halls of Congress — during an election cycle with plenty to go around.

10. Florida Rep. Allen West is known for making inflammatory statements about pretty much everyone, but he has particularly targeted Muslims. This cycle alone, he's commemorated 9/11 by screening an anti-Islamic film, said that Democratic Rep. Keith Ellison “really does represent the antithesis of the principles upon which this country was established,” and another time theorized that “George Bush got snookered into going into some mosque, taking his shoes off, and then saying that Islam was a religion of peace.”

9. When David Ramadan, a longtime Republican Party activist and protege of Grover Norquist, ran for a seat in the Virginia House of Delegates in 2011, the Islamorealism network sprang into action. Norquist, of course, is a secret Muslim Brotherhood agent according to these people, so his actual Muslim bud must be worse. Pam Geller called him an “Islamic supremacist,” David Horowitz warned Virginia Republicans not to “lie down in the camel’s bed,” and Frank Gaffney accused him of having ties to Hezbollah. There were nasty ads and exchanges at town halls, but unfortunately, Ramadan won the GOP primary and eventually a seat in the House of Delegates.

8. Florida Republicans called him a “terrorist” in the case of executive director of Hamas-linked CAIR, Nezar Hamze, a (phony) Republican from Florida who tried to join the Broward County Republican Executive Committee but got turned down by a vote of 158 to 11. He met all the requirements, but people in his own party distributed pamphlets labeling him a “terrorist.” The basis? Hamze is head of the local chapter of CAIR.

7. California Republican congressional candidate Sam Aanestad wins the award for his remarkable forthrightness: “I was asked, do I think [Obama]’s a Muslim, and the answer is yes, that is his background. That is his beginning. Is he a Christian today? There's no way that you or I can tell that. But his background, his upbringing, his tradition, his holiday observances all come from a Muslim background."

6. Adam Hasner, the former Florida House majority leader, now running for Allen West's redistricted House seat. The Republican is a close personal friend of anti-Islam bloggers Pamela Geller and Robert Spencer, has invited notoriously anti-Muslim Dutch Parliamentarian Geert Wilders to speak in Florida, and once skipped the Florida Legislature's opening prayers because they were being delivered by an imam. When Salon highlighted his Islamophobic record in August, Geller said it was only a matter of time before we were "getting measured for a suicide vest."

5. Republican opponent, Chris Fields, accused Democratic Minnesota Rep. Keith Ellison, the first Muslim elected to Congress, of being "militantly anti-America." That's nothing compared to how Fields' GOP primary opponent came right out and called him a "radical Islamist" in the statement announcing her candidacy for his seat. In fact, Ellison's religion was her primary motivation for running.

4. Another Muslim, Democratic Rep. Andre Carson of Indiana was the second Muslim elected to Congress, but when he was praising the innovative ways parochial schools remain relevant, including Muslim schools, it caused a grade-A right-wing freakout, complete with hyperventilating from Glenn Beck, Sean Hannity and Rush Limbaugh about how Carson wanted to force students to learn the Quran.

3. Rep. Diane Black managed to beat out Lou Ann Zelenik in the Republican primary in Tennessee that basically came down to an Islamoreality face-off. The debate mostly centered around the planned mosque in Murfreesboro, which has become a lightning rod for anti-Muslim sentiment in the area and across the country. In fighting the mosque, Black charged that communities need to protect themselves from the "jihadist viewpoint." But Zelenik, the executive director of the Tennessee Freedom Coalition, thought Black's stance didn't go far enough, firing back: "I will work to stop the Islamization of our society, and do everything possible to prevent Shariah law from circumventing our laws and our Constitution."

2. Rep. Joe Walsh, the Tea Party darling, warned in August that "a radical strain of Islam in this country ... trying to kill Americans every week." "It's here. It's in Elk Grove. It's in Addison. It's in Elgin. It's here," he added.

1. Minnesota Republican Rep. Michele Bachmann is facing a tighter-than-expected race against Democratic multi-millionaire hotel magnate Jim Graves, and she has possibly even outdone herself this cycle with allegations that Huma Abedin, a senior aide to Hillary Clinton, is tied to Egypt's Muslim Brotherhood and potentially part of a conspiracy to influence U.S. policy through her position. Bachmann also used a speech at the Values Voters conference to warn about President Obama's policy in the Middle East: "The fact is this administration is virtually outlawed understanding who the enemy is and at every turn the enemy the president is persistent on apologizing for who we are as Americans," she said.

The Holy Koran...

Koran 3:56: "I will make the disbelievers suffer severely in this world and the next."

5:59-60: "People of the book...those Allah distanced from himself, was angry with, and condemned as apes and pigs."

5:63-4: "How evil their deeds are! The Jews have said 'Allah is tight-fisted', but it is they who are tight fisted, and they are rejected for what they have said."

5:82: "You are sure to find that the most hostile to the believers are the Jews..."

8:12: "I shall put terror into the hearts of the disbelievers. Strike off their heads and cut off each of their fingers and toes."

8:60: "The disbelievers should not think they have won – they cannot escape. Prepare whatever forces you can muster, including warhorses, to frighten off Allah's enemies and yours, and to warn others unknown to you but known to Allah."

9:5: "...kill them, seize them, besiege them, ambush them."

9:29: "Fight Jews and Christians who do not believe in Allah..."

9:123: "You who believe, fight the disbelievers near you and let them find hardness in you."

47:35: "So do not lose heart and cry out for peace."

48:29: "Muhammad is the messenger of Allah. Those who follow him are harsh towards the disbelievers and compassionate towards each other."

Congressman Louie Gohmert (R-TX): Obama Regime is getting advice from people in the Muslim Brotherhood

Fresh after his speech insisting that President Obama is reestablishing the Ottoman Empire, Texas congressman Louie Gohmert told anti-Muslim conspiracy theorist Frank Gaffney that the Obama administration is “getting advice on how to deal with the Muslim Brotherhood from people who are in the Muslim Brotherhood.” He claimed that the Obama administration is sending money to “radical jihadists” in order to “buy [them] off,” not understanding that they can only use “raw power” against those who worship “a radical, mean-spirited, hateful Allah...MORE

David Horowitz, author and editor of Frontpage Magazine, says Muslim Brotherhood collaborator, Huma Abedin, is worse than Alger Hiss and Grover Norquist is a practicing Muslim subverting the GOP

David Horowitz has been promoting his new book Radicals: Portraits of a Destructive Passion on conservative talk radio by attacking Hillary Clinton’s aide Huma Abedin as a Muslim Brotherhood agent and arguing that President Obama was only elected because he is black because “part of the racism of our society is [that] if you’re black you can get away with murder.” Horowitz’s interview with Janet Mefferd was no different, as he charged that Abedin “is a Muslim Brotherhood operative and she has been all her life” and that she has been pushing foreign... Congresswoman Michele Bachmann (R-MN) says Obama may be aiding the rise of global sharia law (May be? No, definitely)

The congresswoman told the Janet Mefferd Show that Obama is not only refusing to defend the freedom of speech but may be even actively backing the curtailment of speech rights in favor of Sharia law. Islamic countries may be using “riots and terrorism” to ensure that “Sharia law will dominated over our United States Constitution.” “Our president either doesn’t know what’s happening or he’s playing along with what their goal is,” Bachmann said. “Either option is very dangerous for the free speech rights and the protection and safety of the American people.”...MORE

Retired General Jerry Boykin: “We must identify the enemy as the theology of Islam or we will never be victorious”

Family Research Council Vice President Jerry Boykin appeared on Janet Parshall’s radio show In the Market yesterday to do—what else?—whip up anti-Muslim animosity and spew bizarre conspiracy theories. He told Parshall that “Islam is not a religion” but a “totalitarian way of life” since, apparently, only “16 percent of Islam is a religion.” Boykin said that people need to act just like the Founding Fathers did in speaking up against the Muslim faith, citing Parshall, End Times fanatic Joel Rosenberg and others as courageous people who are... Her report provided crucial context on the extremists who are appearing at the conference – something that has been sorely lacking in most media coverage so far. Maddow paid particular attention to three anti-Muslim activists that we regularly cover – Jerry Boykin, Kamal Saleem and Frank Gaffney. Mitt Romney meets with top anti-Islam activists and backers of Michele Bachmann’s ‘witch hunt’ against Huma Abedin

(FYI: Mitt Romney’s Senior Middle East advisor, Walid Phares, is very anti-Islam himself) Mitt Romney declined to condemn Rep. Michele Bachmann’s witch hunt against Muslim Americans in the federal government, breaking with GOP leaders like Senator John McCain and Speaker John Boehner. He said that “those are not things that are part of my campaign.” If that’s the case, then why did Romney hold a closed-door meeting the evening before with high-profile supporters of Bachmann’s effort, including Jerry Boykin, a leading figure in the anti-Muslim movement? ... Like a good Muslim, Obama uses the annual White House Iftar Ramadan dinner to spew lies about America

Every year at this dinner, Obama highlights the Thomas Jefferson quran, as if it were a cherished book of his, rather than a manual of war so Jefferson could study the mindset of the Muslim Barbary Pirates who were attacking our cargo ships at sea – the Muslim enemy that our Marine Corps fought so hard and defeated at Tripoli. Jefferson probably hated Muslims more than we do.

Obama states that the Jefferson quran is a reminder, along with the generations of patriotic Muslims in America, that Islam, like so many faiths, is part of our national story. Even worse, he honors Hillary Clinton's Muslim accomplice, Huma Abedin, as some kind of American hero, when she is nothing more than a Muslim Brotherhood shill, as are her mother, brother, sister, and late father. Obama had the gall to say, "The American people owe her a debt of gratitude, because Huma is an American patriot, and an example of what we need in this country — more public servants with her sense of decency, her grace and her generosity of spirit."

“One of the most disgraceful moments of this presidency,” says David Horowitz, author & editor of Frontpage Magazine, in explosive FOX News interview

“ Instead of condemning the amateurish anti-Muslim film, the White House should be defending the filmmaker’s right to free expression. The riots aren’t over the film, but about Egypt’s demand for release of the Blind Sheik and the rise of Islamic Nazism in Egypt and the Middle East.”

An exasperated Horowitz wonders why the Obama Regime insists on focusing on the filmmaker after an American ambassador has been raped and murdered. He accuses Hillary Clinton’s Deputy Chief of Staff, Huma Abedin, of being a ‘Muslim Brotherhood operative’ but Megyn Kelly quickly cuts him off on that subject. To say that Huma Abedin is not relevant when it comes to the matter of U.S. Embassies in the Middle East is ridiculous. She has irrefutable connections to the Muslim Brotherhood and as a State Department official, she represents the Department whose embassies were attacked.

Failed Muslim lawyer turned third-rate comedian says the “GOP has a Muslim problem”

While the Democratic National Convention will open with a two-hour Islamic supremacist prayer fest featuring radical imams, the Republicans wisely decided not put any Muslims on the podium.

(To be honest, I used to think this guy was moderately funny, with a self-deprecating brand of humor about Muslims. But as usual, when you dig any Muslim deep enough, you find a typical apologist, who thinks Islam has been hijacked by a few extremists and Americans who fear Muslims are just ignorant, racist, redneck Islamophobes)

Dean Obeidallah, a former attorney, is a political comedian and frequent commentator on various TV networks including CNN. He is the editor of the politics blog The Dean's Report and co-director of the upcoming documentary, "The Muslims Are Coming!"

CNN By Dean Obeidallah

A Catholic priest, a rabbi, an evangelical minister, a Sikh, a Greek Orthodox archbishop and two Mormon leaders walk into the Republican National Convention. It sounds like the beginning of a joke. But the Republican Party's decision to invite representatives from all of these faiths to speak at this week's convention, but to exclude a Muslim-American imam, is anything but funny. The Republican Party has a problem with Muslims. Of course, American Muslims can take some solace in the fact that we are not the only minority group that the Republican Party hardly welcomes.

To be clear, I don't believe that most rank-and-file members of the Republican Party hate Muslims. The problem is that certain Republican leaders have stoked the flames of hate toward American Muslims, and other minorities, as a political tool to motivate people to support their cause. For example, recently Rep. Michele Bachmann — along with four other Republican House members — asserted that the Muslim Brotherhood had infiltrated the U.S. government. Bachmann, who is in a tough re-election battle in her redrawn congressional district, even "named names" by claiming that Secretary Hillary Clinton's top aide, Huma Abedin, and Rep. Keith Ellison were connected to the Muslim Brotherhood.

Although Republican Sen. John McCain publicly denounced Bachmann's baseless allegations, just a few weeks later, Republican Rep. Joe Walsh escalated the fear-mongering. Walsh, who is in a tight race with Democratic opponent Tammy Duckworth, told constituents at a town hall meeting in the Chicago suburbs that there are radical Muslims living among them who are plotting to kill them: "One thing I'm sure of is that there are people in this country — there is a radical strain of Islam in this country — it's not just over there — trying to kill Americans every week." Walsh even claimed that this Muslim radical was in his district: "It's in Elk Grove. It's in Addison. It's in Elgin. It's here."

And let's not forget that during this year's Republican presidential primaries, Newt Gingrich and Herman Cain told voters that American Muslims want to impose Islamic law in America. It's a truly astounding task when you consider that this would require the 2.6 million Muslims in the U.S. to overpower the other 300 million Americans and implement an Islamic legal system. Obviously, this assertion is not based on facts, but to politicians desperate for votes, facts don't matter.

This type of rhetoric has yielded two distinct consequences. First, it can be seen in the attitudes of Republicans who have been poisoned by the anti-Muslim voices in their party. A recent poll found that 62% of Obama voters view American Muslims favorably, but only 34% of Romney voters shared that positive outlook.

Even more alarming is that fear-mongering by politicians (and bloggers?) can create an environment that inspires violence against the people being demonized. It sends a message that these people are "others" and not truly Americans like the rest of us. (It isn't a message, it's the truth. Muslims don't want to be Americans like the rest of us because Islam tells them they shouldn't be)

For example, within a few weeks of Bachmann's comments, a suspicious fire destroyed a mosque in Missouri. And days after Walsh's warnings that Muslim terrorists were living in the Chicago suburbs, a homemade acid bomb was thrown at an Islamic school, air pellet gunshots were fired at a mosque, and Muslim headstones at a cemetery were defaced with anti-Muslim graffiti, all in the Chicago area. It's impossible to know whether these hateful acts were related to the remarks, but the climate created by fear-mongering does not encourage tolerance. (And yet, the police are never able to identify any suspects in these incidents because many of them are self-imposed by Muslims themselves looking for sympathy)

Getting back to this week's Republican Convention: The Republican Party should be applauded for including so many faiths, especially the Sikhs, who number about 200,000 Americans and whose community was targeted by a hate-filled gunman who killed six people in a place of worship. But excluding Muslims sends a message that American Muslims are not part of the fabric of this country. That is wrong. (No, that's the idea)

Republican National Committee Chairman Reince Priebus still has time to correct this mistake. He could invite a Muslim-American imam to be a part of this week's convention. That would send a clear message that the Republican Party is truly welcoming of all major religions practiced in the U.S. (Even the ones that hate our guts? Sorry, all the imams and CAIR thugs are in bed with the Democrats)

It also would send a message that there is no place for hate in the GOP against any American minority group. It's now up to Preibus to show whether the Republican Party stands for inclusiveness or division. (I guess we know the answer to that now. Muslims not wanted Interestingly, Dean Obeidallah is not real popular among other Muslims either. Click dean-obeidallah-the-father-of-all-house-arabs

Thankfully, Grover Norquist, GOP Islamofascist-sympathizer, didn't get to push his favorite radical Muslim, Suhail Khan, on the convention. as he does every year at CPAC.

The conservative movement appears to be at a crossroads in its approach to the threat of Islamic supremacism—not only abroad but at home. Does the emergence of the Muslim Brotherhood as the dominant force of the “Arab Spring” bode ill for America? Or is the Brotherhood merely another “political actor” as the Obama administration would have us believe? Is Huma Abedin, Hillary Clinton’s Deputy Chief of Staff, a potential security risk worth investigating, as Representative Michele Bachmann and four conservative congressmen have suggested? Or is the mere raising of this question a witch-hunt, as Senator John McCain and Speaker John Boehner and numerous Democrats maintain?

Hamas-linked CAIR’s nasty, taqiyya-filled letter to Rep. Michele Bachmann compares her to Sen. Joe McCarthy \(a compliment, actually\)

The Council on ANTI-American Islamic Relations (CAIR) has sent a letter to Congresswoman Michele Bachmann (R-MN), in response to her recent allegations of Muslim Brotherhood influence within the U.S. government, stating that the organization is “eternally grateful that, like Sen. Joseph McCarthy before you, your power is limited, enumerated and constrained by our nation’s constitution.”

According to a CAIR press release:

WASHINGTON, July 19, 2012 /PRNewswire-USNewswire/ – The Council on American-Islamic Relations (CAIR) today sent a letter to Congresswoman Michele Bachmann (R-MN) in response to her recent calls for investigations of American Muslims who are participating in the democratic process. In the letter, CAIR National Executive Director Nihad Awad wrote in part: ‘We remain eternally grateful that, like Sen. Joseph McCarthy before you, your power is limited, enumerated and constrained by our nation’s constitution.’ Awad also wrote: ‘Your letters challenging the loyalty of patriotic American Muslims based on discredited anti-Muslim conspiracy theories can only be described as devoid of a sense of decency.

These are American citizens asking what they can do for their nation. ‘Among those you accuse, Mrs. Huma Abedin helps the Secretary of State represent the best interests of our nation overseas. (Huma Abedin stories HERE)

Bachmann's letter to DHS's inspector general states that Department of Homeland Security official, Mohamed Elbiary, has "extensive ties to the Muslim Brotherhood" and "sympathy for Islamist causes," and accuses him of "gain(ing) access to classified documents."

Elbiary approached "a left-leaning media outlet" with reports marked For Official Use Only that he said demonstrated rampant "Islamophobia" in the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS). The media outlet declined to do a story, but what was Elbiary doing shopping the Official Use Only documents in the first place?

Steve McCraw, director of the Texas DPS, "confirmed that Elbiary has access to the Homeland Security State and Local Intelligence Community of Interest (HS SLIC) database, which contains hundreds of thousands of intelligence reports and products that are intended for intelligence sharing between law enforcement agencies." Said McCraw of Elbiary: "We know that he has accessed DPS documents and downloaded them."

Elbiary was one of the speakers at a December 2004 conference in Dallas titled "A Tribute to the Great Islamic Visionary." The visionary in question was none other than the founding father of the Islamic Republic of Iran, the Ayatollah Khomeini. Yet despite all this, Elbiary still got his appointment to the DHS Advisory Council.

Mohamed Elbiary, a Muslim on the Homeland Security Advisory Council, appointed by Butch Napolitano is reported to be behind proposed TSA Exemptions for Muslim women wearing traditional burqas and face veils on planes.

* Dalia Mogahed

Hired by Obama as the first White House Muslim advisor, Dalia Mogahed is herself an Islamic ideologue who supports Islamic Sharia and denies any connection between radical Islam and terrorism. Along with her role on the White House Advisory Council on Faith-Based and Neighborhood Partnerships, Mogahed is a member of the advisory council of the Department of Homeland Security.

Mogahed, who was born in Egypt, has also been a firm defender of the Council on American-Islamic Relations (CAIR) and the Islamic Society of North America (ISNA). Both of these US groups are tied to the Muslim Brotherhood.

She denies the existence of any problem with Islamic ideology and she acts in total harmony with the ideology of the Muslim Brotherhood, i.e., “any violent actions by Muslims have nothing to do with Islam.”

Mogahed was also a member of U.S.-Muslim Engagement Project, which called for engagement with Muslim Brotherhood.

Mogahed who has ties to the Muslim Brotherhood has succeeded in canceling a meeting between President Obama and the leader of the persecuted Maronite church in Lebanon, according to the Beirut news agency el Nashra. The report said the move heeded a request by top leadership of the Muslim Brotherhood in Egypt who want the U.S. to back the Islamist Sunni movement opposing Iranian Shiite influence in the region.

Imam Mohamed Magid

Magid with Jew-hater Walid

Imam Mohamed Magid is the Obama administration’s go-to guy for Muslim outreach and advise on international affairs and counterterrorism. He is a regular visitor to the White House (even when the administration wants to conceal it), attends important administration speeches on the US Middle East policy at the State Department, he counsels the Department of Justice to criminalize defamation of Islam, he entertains the deputy national security adviser at his DC-area mosque, and he serves on the Department of Homeland Security’s Countering Violent Extremism Working Group. He also advises the FBI and many other federal agencies.

Imam Magid also serves as the president of the Muslim Brotherhood sponsored Islamic Society of North America (ISNA). In that capacity last weekend he presided over ISNA’s “Diversity Forum” held in Dearborn (where Muslim residents were recently video recorded stoning Christian protestors).

One of the speakers at the ISNA Diversity Forum was CAIR-Michigan executive director Dawud Walid. Imam Magid even gave a “diversity award” to Walid, who took two taxpayer financed trips overseas on behalf of the State Department.

Dawud Walid gave a sermon at the Islamic Organization of America (IONA) mosque in Warren, Michigan, in which he asked, “Who are those who incurred the wrath of Allah?” Answering his own question in Arabic, he replied, “They are the Jews, they are the Jews.”

Walid continued, “One of the greatest social ills facing American today is Islamophobia, and anti-Muslim bigotry. And if you trace the organizations and the main advocates and activists in Islamophobia in America, you will see that all those organizations are pro-Israeli occupation organizations and activists.”

Imam Magid's endorsement of Walid's outspoken Jew-hatred raises some serious questions about who Obama is getting his advice from, but it does answer some questions about the inspiration for the Obama administration's ongoing "Islamophobia" witchhunt.

Hamas-linked CAIR Seeks Nominations for National Muslim Community Service Award

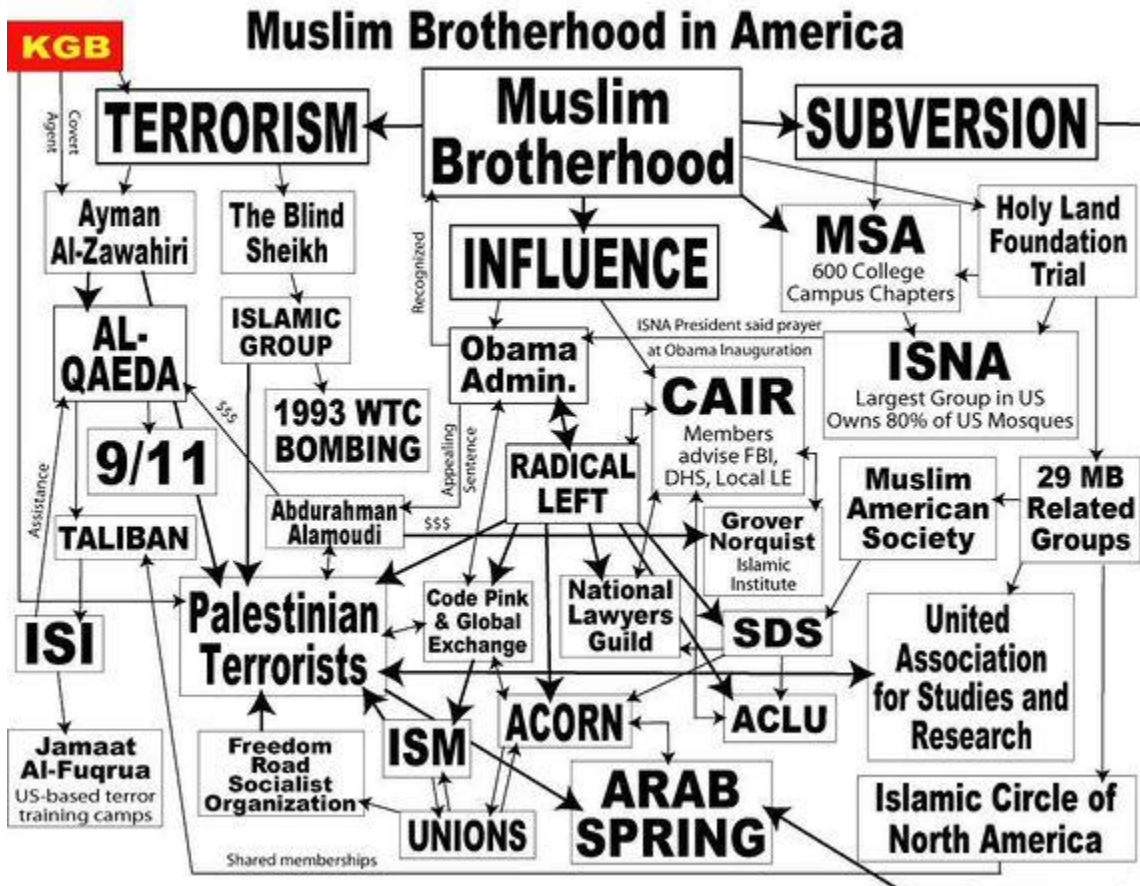

There are many Americans which I would like to nominate for this award based on their public support for the enemies of America – The Muslim Brotherhood – and for their attempts to silence the people who have called for an investigation into the Muslim Brotherhood familial ties of the Secretary of State's Deputy Chief of Staff, Huma Abedin.

Council on American-Islamic Relations But that's not all. Please feel free to add to this list. There are many politicians who refuse to support anti-Sharia legislation and should be nominated for this award. Good candidates are DEMOCRAT Islamopanderers in the political arena, the media, and the public eye.

Sen. Lindsay Graham (R-SC)

CAIR The Council on Anti-American Islamic Relations (CAIR) is seeking nominations for a national award honoring the community service initiatives of Muslim leaders, activists and institutions in the United States.

The recipient of the “2012 National Muslim Community Service Award” will be announced at CAIR’s 18th annual banquet on Saturday, September 29 in Arlington, Va. [NOTE: A day-long leadership skills training conference is scheduled to precede the banquet.]

“We wish to recognize and honor those individuals and institutions serving both the Muslim community and our nation,” said CAIR National Executive Director Nihad Awad.

The nominated individuals and institutions will be judged based on the quality and positive impact of their educational initiatives, interfaith outreach, social service campaigns, or other proactive efforts serving the local community.

A representative of the institution or the individual awardee will be flown to Washington, D.C., to receive the award and CAIR will produce a short video highlighting the recipient’s achievements.

The nomination deadline for the award is September 1, 2012. To nominate a specific individual, mosque, Muslim nonprofit group or institution for the 2012 National Muslim Community Service Award, go to: nominations

Senator John McCain (R-AZ) defends the Islamic enemies of America with his despicable attack on Rep. Michele Bachmann (R-MN)

by barenakedislam

Sell-out John McCain takes to floor of the Senate to denigrate Rep. Michele Bachmann and 4 other Representatives for demanding an investigation of Hillary Clinton's Muslim Deputy Chief of Staff's familial ties to the Muslim Brotherhood.

{ – excerpts – }

"I have every confidence in Huma's loyalty to our country, and everyone else should as well. All Americans owe Huma a debt of gratitude for her many years of superior public service. I hope these ugly and unfortunate attacks on her can be immediately brought to an end and put behind us before any further damage is done to a woman, an American, of genuine patriotism and love of country.” (Go to Hell, Senator, it’s time for you to take your final dirt nap)

Here is the story as it first appeared in the Arizona Capital Times

Tea party leader says all Muslims a ‘threat’ to U.S.; seeks recall of McCain

A prominent Phoenix tea party leader who believes Muslims cannot be trusted to be loyal to the United States and should not be working for the federal government is incensed with U.S. Sen. John McCain’s defense of a top State Department official and is eying a recall drive against Arizona’s senior senator.

Wes Harris, the founder and chairman of the Original North Phoenix Tea Party, said he plans to take out a recall petition against McCain. While Harris has many problems with McCain, a mass email he sent out focused solely on the senator’s recent defense of Huma Abedin, a top aide to U.S. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton. Harris accused Abedin of having ties to an Islamic extremist group, and he objected to the fact that a Muslim was working for the State Department in the first place.

Harris said he believes Muslims’ loyalty to the U.S. is questionable because their ultimate loyalty is to the Quran and Islam, which he described as “more a fascist type of organization.”

“Have you ever read the Quran? I suggest you do so, because anyone that is a Muslim is a threat to this country, and that’s a fact,” Harris told the Arizona Capitol Times. “There is no such thing as a moderate Muslim. If they are Muslim they have to follow the Quran. That’s their religion and that’s their doctrine.”

Harris said he plans to circulate recall petitions against McCain. In his email, he said, “We must find a way to get rid of this embarrassment.”

The email Harris sent includes a forwarded item from the blog Bare Naked Islam that castigates McCain for defending “Islamic enemies of America” and attacking U.S. Rep. Michele Bachmann, a Minnesota Republican and tea party favorite. The blog piece ends by saying, “Go to hell, Senator, it’s time for you to take your final dirt nap.”

Bachmann was one of five members of Congress – a list that includes Arizona’s Trent Franks – who signed a letter to the State Department’s inspector general alleging that the Islamic group Muslim Brotherhood was influencing the department. The letter also alleged that members of Abedin’s family had ties to the Muslim Brotherhood.

Harris said McCain’s impassioned defense of Abedin on the Senate floor was far from the only reason he’s seeking the senator’s ouster, but it was a major factor.

“He just took Michele Bachmann over the coals on the floor of the Senate for her warning about the infiltration of the Muslim Brotherhood into our government,” Harris said. “It’s just one of many things. It culminates in this latest debacle.”

Harris is also a precinct committeeman in the Legislative District 6 Republican Committee.

Recalls against federal officials are not legally binding, and McCain would not be required to leave office if Arizona voters rejected him in a recall election. But state law allows federal elected officials to file statements with the Arizona Secretary of State’s Office pledging to resign if they lose a recall election, and McCain has filed such a statement.

No federal elected official in Arizona has ever faced a recall election. McCain critics on both sides of the aisle have pursued several unsuccessful recalls against him in recent years.

Harris said he believes Abedin has ties to the Muslim Brotherhood. But ultimately, he said it doesn't matter whether she's linked to the group or not because he doesn't believe Muslims should work for the federal government.

On Wednesday, McCain rose to Abedin's defense in response to a June 13 letter that Bachmann, Franks and three other congressmen sent to Harold Geisel, a deputy inspector general at the State Department asking Abedin and other agency employees be investigated for alleged ties to the Muslim Brotherhood. He said the allegations involving three of Abedin's relatives were unsubstantiated, and criticized the members of Congress who sent the letter for launching "specious and degrading attacks."

"These allegations about Huma and the report from which they are drawn are nothing less than an unwarranted and unfounded attack on an honorable woman, a dedicated American and a loyal public servant," McCain said. "These attacks on Huma have no logic, no basis, and no merit. And they need to stop now."

Harris disagreed with McCain's assessment of Abedin, saying she shouldn't be working for the State Department, regardless of whether she has Muslim Brotherhood ties.

"Is she a Muslim? Is she an active Muslim?" Harris said. "I rest my case. That's all she needs to be."

Zuhdi Jasser, the founder and president of the Phoenix-based American Islamic Forum for Democracy, an organization dedicated to opposing Islamic extremism, said Harris' views are misguided, ignorant and dangerous.

Jasser said there is no inherent conflict between Islam and American values, and that Harris is confusing the religion of Islam with the political ideology of Islamism.

Though Jasser disagreed with the five congressmen's decision to name Abedin in their letter, he said he shared many of the other concerns they shared about the Muslim Brotherhood and the threat of Islamic extremism to the United States. Islamism is a genuine threat to America, he said. A McCain spokesman declined to comment on Harris' comments or his recall threat.

CALM, JUDICIOUS TEA PARTIER SEEKS TOTAL RECALL OF TRAITOR MUSLIM-LOVER JOHN MCCAIN

Too bad they didn't take a look at what John McCain said about the Muslim Brotherhood last year:

Der Spiegel pointed out the obvious: “A certain role of the Muslim Brotherhood in the transition process [to ‘democracy’] in Egypt seems acceptable to the Obama White House.” It was early February 2011, the moment when the uprising that would oust Hosni Mubarak was bubbling over in Tahrir Square. The prominent German newsmagazine figured, who better to ask about the Muslim Brotherhood than the American political establishment’s resident foreign-policy genius, John McCain?

So, the reporter asked him, does Obama’s tolerance of the Muslim Brotherhood “concern you”? Senator Maverick shot back without hesitation: “It concerns me so much that I am unalterably opposed to it. I think it would be a mistake of historic proportions.”

Senator McCain elaborated that he was “deeply, deeply concerned that this whole movement [toward democracy] could be hijacked by radical Islamic extremists.” And what, he was specifically asked, “is your assessment of the Muslim Brotherhood”? McCain pulled no punches:

“I think they are a radical group that, first of all, supports sharia law; that in itself is anti-democratic — at least as far as women are concerned. They have been involved with other terrorist organizations and I believe that they should be specifically excluded from any transition government.”

In fact, so apprehensive was he over the Brotherhood and its sharia agenda that McCain was quick to brand Mohamed ElBaradei, the Nobel laureate, as a Brotherhood tool. Many of us watching developments at the time noted the apparent collusion between ElBaradei and the Brothers. McCain went farther: “Oh yeah, I think it’s very clear that the scenario is very likely he could be their front man.”

WALID SHOEBAT EXCLUSIVE: Former Muslim, Walid Shoebat, explains, with facts, why John McCain and his GOP cronies are dead wrong about Hillary Clinton's deputy chief of staff's Muslim Brotherhood ties

It disgusts me to see FOX News and several dhimmi Republicans joining forces with the goons at terror-linked CAIR to condemn Michele Bachmann's valid questions about the Muslim Brotherhood infiltration in the highest levels of our government. Listen to a man who knows the Muslim Brotherhood personally.

Background WALID SHOEBAT

Shoebat While there are many chickens standing in line to peck at Rep. Michele Bachmann's head while calling her shameful and demanding that she "fess up or shut up" perhaps its time to ask such 'truth-phobic' critics why they've chosen to indignantly point to "character assassination" when they, themselves are the actual practitioners of it. Senator John McCain, stated on the Senate floor:

“The letter (from Bachmann and four other Congressmen) alleges that three members of Huma’s family are ‘connected to Muslim Brotherhood operatives and/or organizations...’ These sinister accusations rest solely on a few unspecified and unsubstantiated associations of members of Huma’s family”.

McCain’s statements above are demonstrably false. The Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies / Islamic Trust Annual Reports of the Board of Trustees from the official government of Great Britain has Hassan Abedin – Huma’s brother – partnering with notorious Sheikh Yusuf Al-Qaradawi, the spiritual head and the international liaison of the Muslim Brotherhood, a known enemy of the United States and closely works with the notorious Al-Qaeda Godfather Omar Naseef whose signature is on the document that includes Huma’s brother Hassan Abedin on his board in 2004-2005 (see page 7), 2005-2006 (see page 7), and 2007-2008 (see page 12).

Dr Hassan Abedin, BA (Clark University, Massachusetts), MA (Birmingham), Ph.D (University of London). King Abdullah bin Abdul Aziz Fellow, Development Officer.

How can this organization (OCIS) be ‘Pro-West’ while Naseef and Qaradawi are both actively partnering with Huma Abedin’s brother?

The following statement made by McCain on the Senate floor not only defies logic but is completely irrelevant:

Ah, the sympathy card... There’s a small problem for McCain here; emotion is devoid of logic. Using his formula, Osama Bin Laden’s children should be given a pass to work in the US Government in 2031 without being vetted.

Saleha Abedin (Huma’s mother) is a leader in the Muslim Sisterhood and a member of the terror-supporting Muslim Brotherhood, which gave birth to al-Qaeda. Again, using McCain’s logic, shouldn’t we wait until 20 years after Huma’s mother croaks before Huma should be eligible to hold such a lofty position?

No one on earth can refute that Huma Abedin’s mother supports marital rape, under-age marriage, polygamy and her membership of the Muslim Brotherhood is circulated in the Arab media. These are facts that should be presented to the American people to see if they think this is all guilt by association but... facts are facts.

Siham al-Qaradawi, the daughter of Yusuf Qaradawi was awarded a scholarship in the Fulbright Academic Program in 2010-2011 in the US. If we use John McCain’s logic, we cannot reject her to work in the government as “guilt by association” just because her father, Sheikh Yousuf Qaradawi is a member of the Muslim Brotherhood. After all, it was 18 years ago that he proclaimed: “We will conquer Europe, we will conquer America, not by the sword but by our Dawa [proselytizing].”

In two years, those words will be two decades old. Can we ignore them then?

Applying McCain’s logic regarding Huma Abedin to Siham al-Qaradawi is the equivalent of a national suicide wish. McCain stated:

“...there is not one instance of an action, a decision, or a public position that Huma [Abedin] has taken while at the State Department that would lend credence to the charge that she is promoting anti-American activities within our government.”

The same applies to Siham Qaradawi. Would McCain find it acceptable for her to work in our government? Of course not. So who has lost their mind here? John McCain, the liberal media, or Bachmann? Was Bachman insane to state that:

“Most recently, the State Department shockingly decided to give Hani Nour Eldin, a member of an Egyptian designed terrorist group, a visa to not only enter the country in violation of the federal laws ...”?

Bachmann’s former campaign chief – Ed Rollins – wrote that as a “Christian”, Bachmann should “seek forgiveness” for what she has done to Huma Abedin.

Politicians who behave as deer in fight and lions in peace have never made history. Churchill made it, Chamberlin did not. With respect to this issue, the Senator from Arizona has positioned himself to become John McChamberlain and The congresswoman from Minnesota just got a wink from Sir Winston.

Then we have some Rabbi by the name of Saperstein, who stated:

“The Reform Movement, and I personally, have worked with Ms. Abedin, Imam Magid and ISNA for many years. All have worked on behalf of U.S. interests at home and abroad, built relationships across religious lines and affirmed U.S. constitutional values.”

Where is Saperstein’s similar outrage at Islamic Society of North America (ISNA) President Imam Magid? Why hasn’t he called on Magid to condemn ISNA’s Louay Safi, who wrote:

“The war against the apostates [Saperstein] is carried out not to force them to accept Islam, but to enforce the Islamic law and maintain order.” (Louay Safi, Religion and Politics pp.121)

Did Saperstein say or do anything when Safi was chosen by ISNA and approved by our government to lecture our troops at Ft. Hood after the Jew hating murderer of innocent Americans Nidal Malik Hassan committed the massacre? This would be like bringing a Nazi to speak to American Jews right after Auschwitz.

Then we have Keith Ellison, who told Anderson Cooper on CNN:

Dare Mr. Ellison deny that Barrack Obama’s Islamic envoy Rashad Hussein, who was appointed by the government, made comments to the Muslim Student Association in 2004 supporting the convicted terrorist fundraiser Sami al-Arian? Can he or anyone deny that the Muslim Brotherhood founded the Muslim Student Association and intends to destroy the U.S.?

The “proof” can be viewed in this English translation of an Arabic website.

Want more “proof”? What about the editor of Egypt’s al-Ahram Yahya Ghanem who, on May 20, 2010 asked Rashad Hussain in direct fashion if he is a mover and shaker for Islamist causes:

“Part of your work covers Iran since it is part of the Islamic world, have you made things happen on this level?”

Ghanem notes in the article that “Hussain refuses to talk”. Then Ghanem insists:

“Do you not think that a move on your part will have a positive impact on resolving the crisis?”

Hussein responds:

“I think so, but we will do so when the right opportunity comes.”

For “proof”, here is the full transcript.

At what level or qualifications does Rashad Hussein work to be an advisor for President Obama regarding Iran’s nuclear affairs Mr. McChamberlain?

Then we have Anderson Cooper stating:

“As per Abedin’s mother and brother, Bachmann never gives any evidence of their alleged links to the Muslim Brotherhood.”

Evidence? Try helping to answer the questions I posed to Rabbi Saperstein, Keith Ellison and Senator McChamberlain. And while he’s at it, perhaps he can air the entire, un-edited interview with me and CNN’s Drew Griffin without the typical CNN cutting and pasting to fit an agenda.

Perhaps the American people can see how poorly his staff did while they sat there and ignored that in Egypt’s Tahrir Square, two million Egyptians chanted:

Millions of Egyptians witnessed the event, a revolution hijacked by the Muslim Brotherhood, and the CNN team failed to report it even though I sent him the proof during his inquires to me. When will the American on the street realize, it’s not about proof? It’s about coming to grips with a reality that is about to hit us in the head like a 2x4.

The tactics of the smear merchants is easy to reveal: find something someone said which was false, then write them off on everything else they say that was true. This is how the masses are fooled. It’s the oldest trick in the book. Case in point: Cooper picked on Rep. Louie Gohmert (R-TX), stating:

“Sir, do you want to offer any evidence? I’m giving you an opportunity to offer to say what research and evidence you have. You’ve offered none, other than yelling.”

Did Cooper offer any evidence or sources when CNN claimed that they checked my prison records and supposedly found none? Did CNN provide any source from the Israeli government that states my story was “fraudulent” as they claimed? Where are the official sources? They do not exist and neither can CNN provide anything except claims to fool the masses that believe the typical character assassination.

One last thing to Mr. Cooper...

I was not interested in your story coming out of the closet; you getting “penetrated” is your business, but our nation getting penetrated is mine.

Rep. Michele Bachmann fights back against attacks from Islamopanderer Senator John McCain and his Muslim Brotherhood pals

Keith (sworn into Congress on a filthy quran) Ellison, Bachmann's fellow Representative from Minnesota, has called Bachmann's inquiry nonsense. Bachmann also responded to those such as John McCain who have criticized her for raising questions about the wife of disgraced Rep. Anthony Weiner, Huma Abedin. Abedin is a top aide to Hillary Clinton, but she has family ties to the Muslim Brotherhood.

The Blaze Michele Bachmann refuses to back down from her criticism of the Muslim Brotherhood and its tentacles within the United States. The congresswoman from Minnesota joined Glenn Beck on radio Thursday morning and continued to herald the warning about the Brotherhood. She also hit back at her critics, who have panned her for a letter she sent last Friday to the Inspectors General of the Office of the Director of National Intelligence.

“She is the chief aid for the -- to the Secretary of State, and we quoted from a document, and this has been well reported all across Arab media, that her father -- her late father who's now deceased was a part of the Muslim Brotherhood, Bachmann explained. She continued:

Her brother was a part of the Muslim Brotherhood, and her mother was a part of what's called the Muslim Sisterhood. It would be, we have requirements to get a high level security clearance. One thing that the government looks at are your associations, and in particular your family associations. And this applies to everyone. It would be the same that is true with me. If my family members were associated with Hamas, a terrorist organization, that alone could be sufficient to disqualify me from getting a security clearance. So all we did is ask, did the federal government look into her family associations before she got a high level security clearance.

Senator John McCain (R-AZ) defends the Islamic enemies of America with his despicable attack on Rep. Michele Bachmann (R-MN)

Sell-out John McCain takes to floor of the Senate to denigrate Rep. Michele Bachmann and 4 other Representatives for demanding an investigation of Hillary Clinton's Muslim Deputy Chief of Staff's familial ties to the Muslim Brotherhood.

“Over the past decade, I have had the pleasure of coming to know Huma during her long and dedicated service to Hillary Rodham Clinton, both in the United States Senate and now in the Department of State.

I know Huma to be an intelligent, upstanding, hard-working, and loyal servant of our country and our government, who has devoted countless days of her life to advancing the ideals of the nation she loves and looking after its most precious interests.

“Recently, it has been alleged that Huma, a Muslim American, is part of a nefarious conspiracy to harm the United States by unduly influencing U.S. foreign policy at the Department of State in favor of the Muslim Brotherhood and other Islamist causes.

On June 13, five members of Congress wrote to the Deputy Inspector General of the Department of State, demanding that he begin an investigation into the possibility that Huma and other American officials are using their influence to promote the cause of the Muslim Brotherhood within the U.S. government. The information offered to support these serious allegations is based on a report, 'The Muslim Brotherhood in America,' produced by the Center for Security Policy."

"These allegations about Huma, and the report from which they are drawn, are nothing less than an unwarranted and unfounded attack on an honorable citizen, a dedicated American, and a loyal public servant."

"The letter alleges that three members of Huma's family are 'connected to Muslim Brotherhood operatives and/or organizations.' The letter and the report offer not one instance of an action, a decision, or a public position that Huma has taken while at the State Department that would lend credence to the charge that she is promoting anti-American activities within our government. Nor does either document offer any evidence of a direct impact that Huma may have had on one of the U.S. policies with which the authors of the letter and the producers of the report find fault.

These sinister accusations rest solely on a few unspecified and unsubstantiated associations of members of Huma's family, none of which have been shown to harm or threaten the United States in any way. These attacks on Huma have no logic, no basis, and no merit. And they need to stop now." (Michele provided 16 pages of evidence here: muslim-congressman-and-hamas-supporter-keith-ellison-gets-dissed-by-an-infidel-congresswoman-michele-bachmann)

هو ما عابدين خلف هيلاري كلينتون وفي الصورة الأخرى الوزيرة مع والدتها الدكتورة مألحة عابدين (الوطن)

Secretary of State Clinton's Deputy Chief of Staff Huma Abedin's familial ties to the Muslim Brotherhood is evidenced in the close relationship between Huma's mother (left), herself a leader in the Muslim Sisterhood, and and Egypt's new first lady, wife of Mohamed Morsi, a leader of the Muslim Brotherhood “Ultimately, what is at stake in this matter is larger even than the reputation of one person. This is about who we are as a nation, and who we aspire to be. What makes America exceptional among the countries of the world is that we are bound together as citizens not by blood or class, not by sect or ethnicity, but by a set of enduring, universal, and equal rights that are the foundation of our constitution, our laws, our citizenry, and our identity. When anyone, not least a member of Congress, launches specious and degrading attacks against fellow Americans on the basis of nothing more than fear of who they are and ignorance of what they stand for, it defames the spirit of our nation, and we all grow poorer because of it.

“I have every confidence in Huma's loyalty to our country, and everyone else should as well. All Americans owe Huma a debt of gratitude for her many years of superior public service. I hope these ugly and unfortunate attacks on her can be immediately brought to an end and put behind us before any further damage is done to a woman, an American, of genuine patriotism and love of country.” (Go to Hell, Senator, it's time for you to take your final dirt nap)

MUSLIM congressman and Hamas supporter, Keith Ellison, gets dissed by an 'infidel' congresswoman, Michele Bachmann

Rep. Michele Bachmann (R-MN) fires off 16-page bombshell to Rep. Keith Ellison (D-MN) re: Ellison's attack on her over her questioning of the relationship between Secretary of State Hillary Clinton and her closest aid, Muslim Huma Abedin, whose mother, brother, and deceased father are members of the radical Islamist group Muslim Brotherhood, who founded al-Qaeda.

Walid Shoebat Rep. Keith Ellison (D-MN), a Muslim, has ratcheted things up with Rep. Michele Bachmann (R-MN) and four other Congressmen, to include Rep. Louie Gohmert (R-TX) and Trent Franks (R-AZ).

(Ellison is perhaps best known as being the first Muslim elected to congress who insisted upon being sworn in on a quran (the antithesis of the rights and liberties unique to the U.S. Constitution). More recently, Ellison made a pathetic spectacle of himself before Congress with his teary-eyed, drama queen performance at the Peter King Hearings on Radicalization in the American Muslim community, when he boo-hoed about one Muslim American who died on 9/11 (whom Ellison had never met or even known about prior to the hearings)

In response to letters penned by those five congressmen – which went to various Inspectors General – to include one addressed to the OIG at the State Department \(cc: Hillary Clinton\), Ellison demanded the evidence / sources behind the claims that Huma Abedin, Deputy Chief of Staff to Clinton, has familial ties to the Muslim Brotherhood.

On July 12th, Rep. Keith Ellison (D-Muslim-MN) sent a two-page letter to the five congressmen who sent five separate letters to five separate Inspectors General on June 13th. The June 13th letters raised serious concerns about Muslim Brotherhood infiltration inside the U.S. Government. Among the concerns raised with the OIG at the State Department are the familial connections of Hillary Clinton's closest aide – Huma Abedin – to the Muslim Brotherhood.

From Ellison's letter, via Think Progress:

In your letters, you allege that (one excerpt):

- The mother, brother and deceased father of Huma Abedin, Deputy Chief of Staff to Secretary of State Hillary Clinton, are connected to the Muslim Brotherhood, and that she, too, by extension, may be working on the organization's behalf

As reported here, the Muslim Sisterhood, a group to which Huma Abedin's mother belongs (Saleha Abedin is one of its 63 leaders), is also closely connected to Egypt's new president, Mursi. His wife, Najla Ali Mahmoud is also one of those 63 leaders and is a close colleague of Huma's mother, Saleha.

Predictably, James Zogby of the Arab American Institute, is likening Bachmann's claims to those of Joe McCarthy. He's obviously neglecting the contents of a Muslim Brotherhood document penned by Mohamed Akram in 1991 that was recovered by U.S. authorities and presented as evidence in the Holy Land Foundation trial.

That document referred to a "long-term plan...approved and adopted" and included this damning quote:

The Ikhwan (Muslim Brotherhood) must understand that their work in America is a kind of grand Jihad in eliminating and destroying the Western civilization from within and "sabotaging" its miserable house by their hands and the hands of the believers so that it is eliminated and God's religion is made victorious over all other religions.

Ellison attempted to pit Bachmann against Republicans like Herman Cain and Chris Christie by pointing out that her source in the June 13th letters seemed to be one person – Frank Gaffney. Gaffney has rightfully been very critical of said Republicans in the past for their comments and actions relative to Muslim Brotherhood front groups.

Moreover, Ellison seemed to allege in his July 12th letter that Gaffney was Bachmann's only source.

Here is how Ellison ended that letter:

Despite Mr. Gaffney's record of unsubstantiated allegations, you appear to have based your letters to the Inspectors General on his views.

I request that you provide my office a full accounting of the sources you used to make the serious allegations against the individuals and organizations in your letters. If there is not credible, substantial evidence for your allegations, I sincerely hope that you will publically (sic) clear their names.

Bachmann responded to Ellison by sending him a 16-page bombshell (via SC Times) that is strewn with 59 separate footnotes, proving unequivocally that Gaffney is hardly her only source. Says Bachmann:

I do note that the facts we presented in the Inspector General request letters are based on information presented by U.S. Government officials in court documents, court evidence, correspondence and briefings with Congress and public statements, in addition to known media reporting. These letters were far from sole-sourced as you maintain in your letter. While I can't speak on behalf of the other signatories of these letters, nor am I able to get into the private discussions and documentation received by the various House committees represented by the signatories on these matters that motivated these letters to the various Inspectors General, out of respect to you I am happy to respond to some of your concerns, provide the sources you ask for, as well as clarify a few points that may have been misunderstood or misrepresented.

Furthermore, Ellison's defense of groups that should be identified as enemies of the United States puts him in dangerous territory and Bachmann exploited it. In citing the Holy Land Foundation Trial – along with attempts by CAIR and ISNA to be removed from unindicted co-conspirator list – Bachmann quotes from the Judge's declination of that request:

Finally, CAIR, NAIT, and ISNA ask the Court to strike their names from any public document filed or issued by the government (Mot. at 6.) While it is clear from the Briggs line of cases that the Government should have originally filed the unindicted co-conspirators' names under seal, the Court declines to strike CAIR, ISNA and NAIT's names from those documents. The Government has produced ample evidence to establish the associations of CAIR, ISNA and NAIT with HLF, the Islamic Association for Palestine ("IAP"), and with Hamas. (Bachmann's letter cites the Judge's Memorandum Opinion Order)

Using U.S. taxpayer dollars, Keith Ellison meets with Islamic Relief organization in Gaza, which is listed by the US Treasury Department as a supporter of terrorist organization Hamas, which is the governing authority in Gaza

Ellison is dangerously close to outwardly defending groups tied to Hamas – a designated terrorist organization – and he's doing so on the Congressional record. Bachmann basically check-mates Ellison in the very next sentence:

It should be noted that Article 2 of the Hamas Covenant identifies Hamas as a Muslim Brotherhood entity while Article 7 calls for the global killing of all Jews (Bachmann cites – of all things – Yale Law School).

Ellison is attempting to smear Bachmann while defending Huma Abedin from much needed scrutiny. Bachmann merely wants to investigate Abedin's familial connections to the Muslim Brotherhood. It's already known that Huma's mother – Saleha Abedin – is one of the Muslim Sisterhood's 63 leaders. Is Ellison willing to overlook or deny this? That also puts him on very dangerous ground.

هو ما عابدين خلف هيلاري كلينتون وفي الصورة الأخرى الوزيرة مع والدتها الدكتورة مألحة عابدين (الوطن)

Secretary of State Clinton's Deputy Chief of Staff's familial ties to the Muslim Brotherhood is evidenced in the close relationship between Huma's mother and Egypt's new first lady, wife of Muslim Brotherhood's Mohamed Morsi

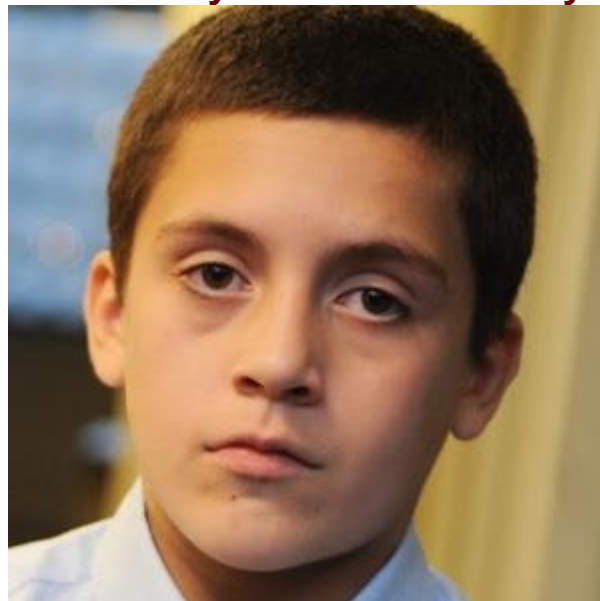

Ellison might want to re-think his position or he will be openly choosing the wrong side as more evidence is produced. On second thought, Congressman, just keep telling us how you really feel. In a bizarre way, it's kind of refreshing. (read more...)

'F' is for Allah. Lawsuit claims Muslim boy is flunked for his faith? There is something missing in this story about a public Brooklyn school that allegedly refused to promote a Muslim boy to the sixth grade because of his religion, says an incendiary lawsuit in Brooklyn federal court.

Abedin Kajoshaj, 11, Flunkie

NY POST Abedin Kajoshaj, 11, had the marks to move on to the sixth grade at PS 180, the SEEALL Academy in Borough Park, but was inexplicably held back at the end of the 2009-2010 year, the suit claims. "I don't know why they kept me back. I was one of the smarter kids in my class," Abedin said.

He pulled down a 3.04, or “B,” average, said his family’s lawyers, Steven Storch and Thomas Monohan.

During the school year, Abedin earned a 3 in reading and scored a 2 on the year-end reading exam, which “merits promotion,” Monohan said. But in September 2009, Abedin was ordered to repeat fifth grade.

The demotion was part of a pattern of discrimination against the boy and rooted in his faith, the suit says. In kindergarten, Abedin was suspended after presenting two notes from Muslim doctors that said he was allergic to eggs and that he could not be administered a vaccine, it says.

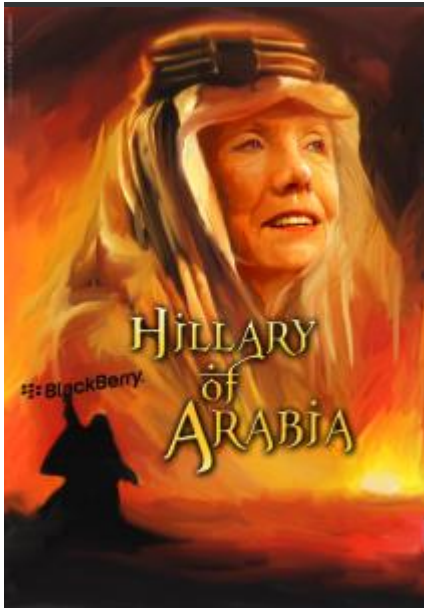

And two child-abuse claims made by the school to state officials were “founded in racism” and dismissed, court papers claim. Abedin’s dad, Halil Kajoshaj, 54, is now shelling out $5,000 to send his son to Al-Noor School in Sunset Park. Last year, Abedin passed a sixth-grade proficiency test. The suit demands a minimum of $600,000. City officials declined comment.

Hillary Clinton warns against even symbolically recognizing Jerusalem as the capital of Israel (Even though it always has been)

Secretary of State ‘Hijab’ Hillary Clinton, in a sharp departure from her stance when she was a senator, is warning that any American action, even symbolically, toward recognizing Jerusalem as the capital of Israel must be avoided for the reason that it would jeopardize all her ongoing efforts to appease Muslim terrorists.

So I guess this means America’s plan to move the U.S. Embassy from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem is off the table. Heh.

NY SUN (H/T MDYN7) Her warnings were issued in a brief she has just filed with the Supreme Court — in which she is arguing that a law she voted for when she was Senator is unconstitutional because it could require the U.S. government to give to an American citizen born at Jerusalem papers showing the birthplace as Israel.

The law requiring the government to issue such documents on request passed the Senate unanimously at a time when Mrs. Clinton was a member. Mrs. Clinton is being sued by an American youngster, Menachem Zivotofsky, who was born at Jerusalem in 2002 to American parents who want his birthplace to be listed on his passport as Israel.

Hillary's very close 'friendship' with Huma Abedin, Anthony Weiner's Muslim wife

In addition to citing the peace process as the excuse for not issuing the birth document the Congress wants issued, Mrs. Clinton's brief adds a new twist to the story of the White House photos first disclosed last month by the New York Sun. The story involved the discovery that even while the White House was fretting over the requirement to list Jerusalem, Israel, as Master Zivotofsky's birthplace, the White House's own website was featuring a series of pictures from Vice President Biden's 2010 trip to the Jewish state and identifying the pictures as showing him at "Jerusalem, Israel." The Sun queried whether the Zivotofsky case really rose to constitutional proportions, since the White House on its own website treated Jerusalem as being in Israel.

Five days later, the White House removed "Israel" from each of the Biden pictures, without announcing the deletion. The State Department also quietly deleted "Israel" from references to "Jerusalem, Israel" on numerous official documents on its own website, dating from the Bush administration.

Mrs. Clinton's brief alleges that any American action that "symbolically or concretely" signals it recognizes Jerusalem being in Israel would "critically compromise the ability of the United States to work with Israelis, Palestinians and others in the region to further the peace process." The brief contends that American policy is to remain neutral over all sovereignty issues, leaving them to negotiations, and that the U.S. thus "does not recognize Palestinian claims to current sovereignty" in the West Bank or Gaza either.

The Clintons with terrorist pal Yassir Arafat

It is that latter statement that requires further revision to the Biden photos on the White House website. Two of the photos from Biden's trip show him meeting with Palestinian officials in the "Palestinian Territories."

The proper reference is to "territories" – the word used in U.N. Resolution 242, the foundational document of the "peace process," which did not affix the adjective "Jordanian" or "Arab" or "Palestinian" to the territories, nor require that "all of the" territories be relinquished by Israel, but rather left an unspecified portion to be traded for a defensible peace. America has never assigned that land to the "Palestinians" and maintains that only negotiations can create Palestinian sovereignty there.

So far, Israel has made three offers of a Palestinian state, and the Palestinians rejected all three. They currently refuse to negotiate a fourth, unless Israel concedes the 1949 armistice lines as the basis of a Palestinian state before negotiations begin — while rejecting on their own part any recognition of a Jewish state, defensible borders, or an "end of claims" agreement. If an adjective is necessary, the term Israel uses is "disputed territories." Palestine was designated by the League of Nations in 1922 as the national home of the Jewish people. In response to Arab opposition, Britain's Peel

Hillary kissing Arafat's wife

Commission in 1937 proposed two states, which the Jews accepted and the Arabs rejected. In 1947, the Arabs rejected the UN two-state proposal, and Jordan illegally occupied a portion of Palestine in the ensuing war that the Arabs commenced. That occupation ended in 1967, when Jordan joined a new war against Israel and lost the land it unlawfully held. The UN thereafter adopted Resolution 242 as the basis for peace, under which any Israeli withdrawal, and the extent thereof, is subject to the establishment of "secure and recognized boundaries." Hence it is a contradiction of the neutrality principle asserted in the Clinton brief for the adjective "Palestinian" to be affixed to the territories prior to a negotiated agreement.

If the Obama administration believes in the neutrality principle it is asserting in the Supreme Court — and that the mere mention of "Jerusalem, Israel" on its website, or putting "Israel" on an individual's passport, would violate that principle – the question will arise as to whether it will also scrub also the references to the "Palestinian" territories.

If it does not treat both situations the same, the Supreme Court may legitimately question whether the Clinton brief is asserting the true reason for the administration's adamant opposition to the designation of "Israel" in the passport of Master Zivotofsky.

WeinerGate scandal point of al-Qaeda's sword?

Even Muslim terrorists are making Weiner jokes. In al-Qaeda's latest edition of its chilling e-magazine, 'Inspire,' the terror network's Arabian Peninsula syndicate settles a score with former Queens Rep. Anthony Weiner, gloating about the sexter's salacious downfall.

"This seems like this was a prank to make fun of my name! You know, when you're named Weiner, that happens a lot!"
[Rep. Anthony Weiner]

An angry Weiner head.

The New York Daily Times reported last October that Anthony Weiner said in reference to Shaykh Anwar's videos on YouTube, "There is no reason we should give killers like al-Awlaki access to one of the world's largest bully pulpits so they can inspire more violent acts within our borders, or anywhere else in the world."

Except it wasn't a prank. Weiner was ultimately forced to 'fess up to texting sexy pics to several women, including one nude shot apparently taken in the House gym. Amid the mushrooming scandal, Weiner resigned his House seat and set off for counseling in hopes of saving his one-year marriage to his pregnant wife, the stunning Muslim Huma Abedin, an aide to Secretary of State Clinton.

Weiner landed himself on Al Qaeda's radar screen last year when he joined the chorus calling on YouTube to remove more than 700 videos featuring radical American cleric Anwar al-Awlaki, still hiding out in Yemen.

Weiner told the Daily News that Awlaki "shouldn't have access to one of the world's largest bully pulpits" to incite terrorist violence. YouTube dropped the videos, but Awlaki's message lives on in PDF format. The magazine's suspected publisher, former Queens resident Samir Khan, 25, apparently didn't forget what Weiner said about his boss.

How deep in bed with terrorists does the President of the United States have to be before it can be considered treason?

The Obama Regime chose the eve of the holiday marking our Nation's birth to acknowledge publicly behavior in which it has long been stealthily engaged to the United States' extreme detriment: Its officials now admit that they are embracing the Muslim Brotherhood. That would be the same international Islamist organization that has the destruction of the United States, Israel and all other parts of the Free World as its explicit objective.

CENTER FOR SECURITY POLICY -To understand why the Obama administration's embrace of the Muslim Brotherhood is so ominous, consider three insights into the organization's nature and ambitions:

The Brotherhood was founded in 1928 by an Egyptian admirer of Adolf Hitler. It called for the creation of a new Islamic empire and spawned al-Qaeda and Hamas and other jihadist terror organizations.

Hassan al-Banna

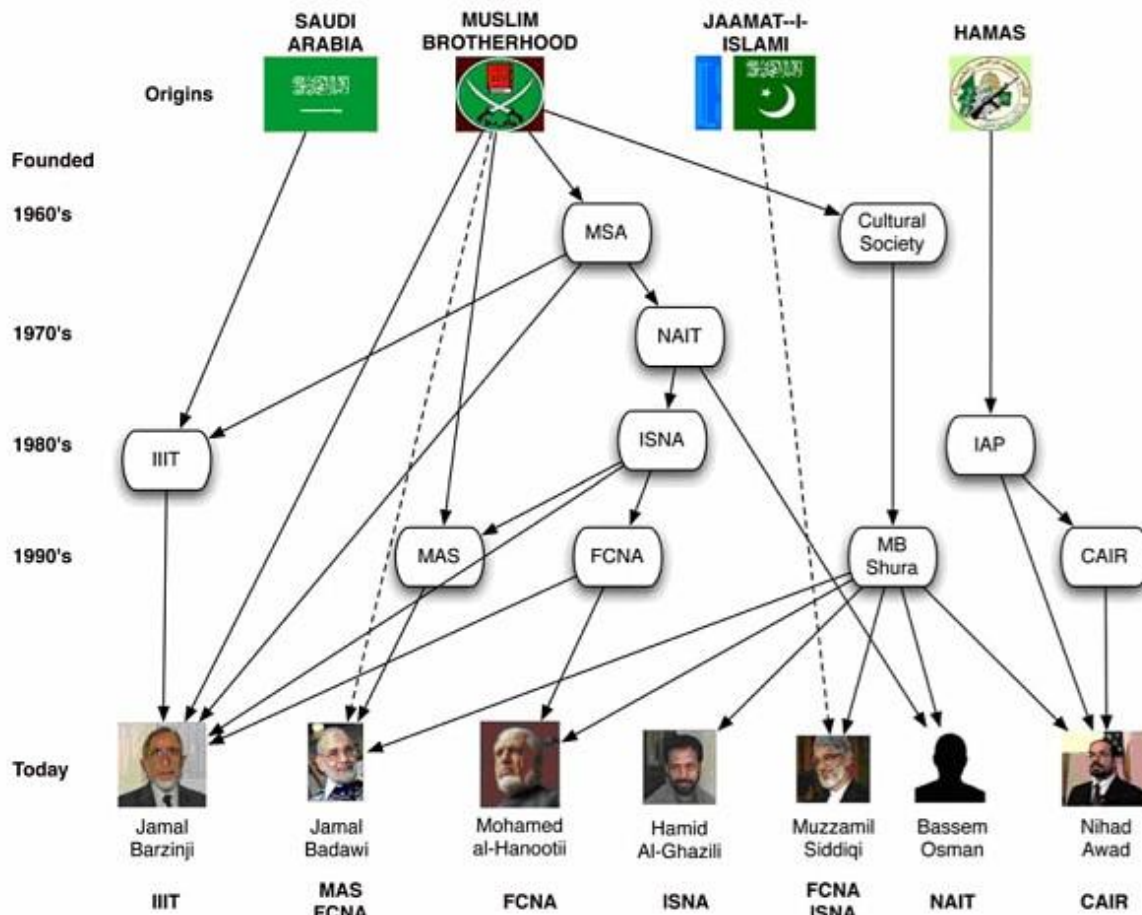

First, here's the MB's creed:

"Allah is our objective. The Prophet is our leader. The Qur'an is our law. Jihad is our way. Dying in the way of Allah is our highest hope." (Source: Husain Haqqani and Hillel Fradkin, "Islamist Parties: Going Back to the Origins.")

Second, here's the Muslim Brotherhood's mission in America:

"A kind of grand jihad in eliminating and destroying the Western civilization from within, sabotaging its miserable house with their [i.e., Americans'] hands and the hands of the believers so that it is eliminated and God's religion is made victorious over all other religions." (Source: Muslim Brotherhood's "Explanatory Memorandum on the General Strategic Goals of the Group," entered into evidence by the Department of Justice in the 2008 Holy Land Foundation terrorism-finance trial. Archived at the NEFA Foundation.)

Third, here are excerpts from the Muslim Brotherhood's "phased plan" for accomplishing that mission:

Phase One: Discreet and secret establishment of leadership.

Phase Two: Phase of gradual appearance on the public scene and exercising and utilizing various public activities. It greatly succeeded in implementing this stage. It also succeeded in achieving a great deal of its important goals, such as infiltrating various sectors of the Government.

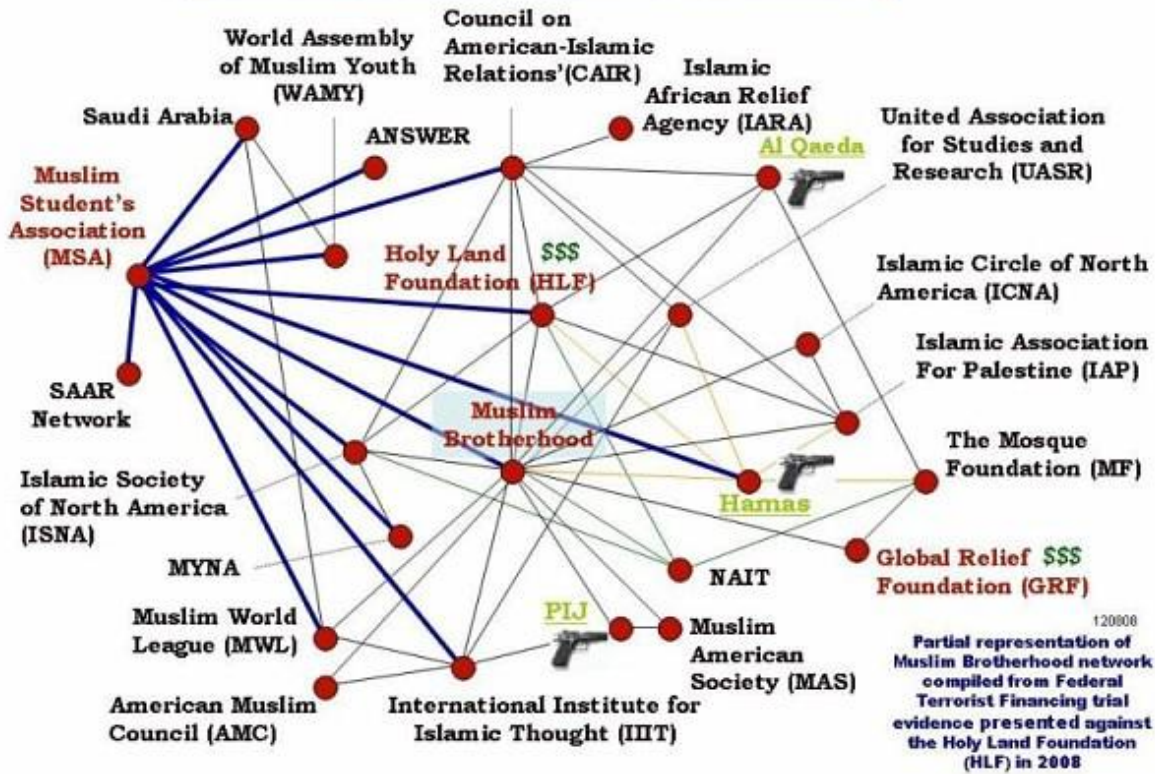

Phase Three: Escalation phase, prior to conflict and confrontation with the rulers, through utilizing mass media. Currently in progress.

Phase Four: Open public confrontation with the Government through exercising the political pressure approach. It is aggressively implementing the above-mentioned approach. Training on the use of weapons domestically and overseas in anticipation of zero-hour. It has noticeable activities in this regard. Phase Five: Seizing power to establish their Islamic Nation under which all parties and Islamic groups are united. (Source: Undated Muslim Brotherhood Paper entitled, "Phases of the World Underground Movement Plan." Archived at Shariah: The Threat to America.)

ARVE Error: no id set

In short, the Muslim Brotherhood is deadly serious about waging what it calls "civilization jihad" against the United States and other freedom-loving nations in order to secure their submission to the Islamic totalitarian political-military-legal doctrine called shariah. The MB's goal in this country is to replace our Constitution with theirs, namely the Koran. And they regard this task as one commanded by none other than Allah. (For more details on the nature, ambitions and modus operandi of the Ikhwan, see the Team B II Report, Shariah: The Threat to America). To this end, as Andy McCarthy notes in the aforementioned essay, the MB's senior official, Supreme Guide Muhammad Badi, has effectively declared war on the United States.

Muslim Brotherhood Islamist network in California: The Domestic Enemy

Were there any doubt that legitimacy is what the Brotherhood is taking away from this gambit, consider this assessment from an expert in Islamic groups, Ammar Ali Hassan, cited by Associated Press: "...The Brotherhood will likely try to float 'conditions' or 'reservations' on any dialogue to avoid a perception that it is allowing the U.S. to meddle in Egypt's internal affairs. But in the end, the talks will give a boost to the group, he said, by easing worries some in the Brotherhood and the public have of a backlash if the Brotherhood becomes the dominant player in Egypt. 'Now the Muslim Brotherhood will not have to worry [about] moving forward toward taking over power,' Hassan said."

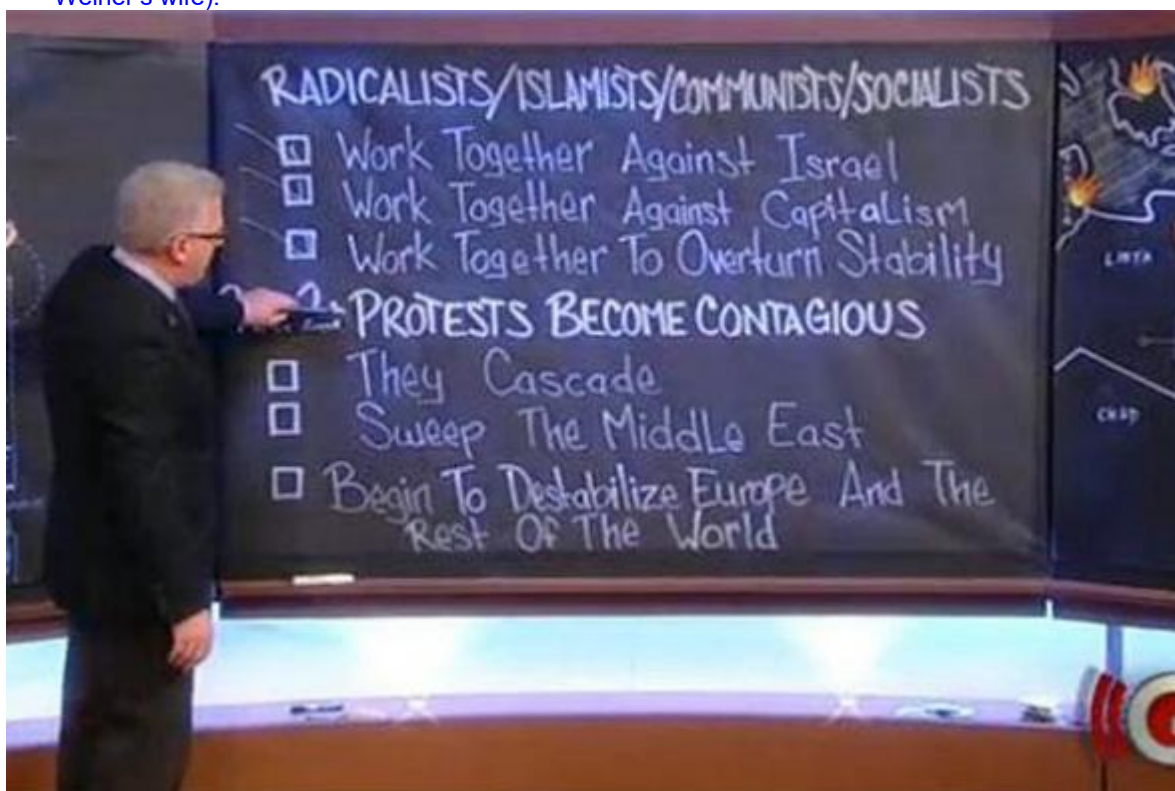

Unfortunately, the U.S. government's dangerous outreach to the Brotherhood is not confined to Egypt but is systematically practiced inside the United States, as well. For example:

- Muslim-American organizations identified in court by the U.S. government– and, in many cases, by the Muslim Brotherhood itself – as MB fronts are routinely cultivated by federal, state and local officials. Representatives of homeland security, Pentagon, intelligence and law enforcement agencies frequently meet with and attend functions sponsored by such groups.
- MB-associated individuals are sent as our country’s “goodwill ambassadors” to foreign Muslim nations and communities. MB-favored initiatives to insinuate shariah into the United States – notably, the Ground Zero Mosque and shariah-compliant finance, conscientious objector status for Muslim servicemen and stifling of free speech in accordance with shariah “blasphemy” laws – are endorsed and/or enabled by official institutions.

A blind eye is turned to the presence across the country of shariah-adherent mosques that incubate jihadism. A peer-reviewed study published last month in Middle East Quarterly determined that 81% of a random sample of 100 mosques exhibited such qualities – constituting an infrastructure for recruitment, indoctrination and training consistent with the Brotherhood’s phased plan.

- Under both Republican and Democratic administrations, individuals with family and other ties to the Muslim Brotherhood have actually given senior government positions. The most recent of these to come to light is Secretary of State Hillary Clinton’s Deputy Chief of Staff, Huma Abedin (who also happens to be former Rep. Anthony Weiner’s wife).

It seems a safe bet that, as Team Obama legitimates Muslim Brotherhood organizations and groups overseas, it will feel ever less constrained about further empowering their counterparts in the United States. If so, the MB will come to exercise even greater influence over what our government does and does not do about the threat posed by shariah, both abroad and here.

The absolutely predictable effect will be to undermine U.S. interests and allies in the Middle East and further catalyze the Brotherhood’s campaign to insinuate shariah in the United States and, ultimately, to supplant the Constitution with Islamic law. Consequently, the Obama administration’s efforts to “engage” the Muslim Brotherhood are not just reckless. They are wholly incompatible with the President’s oath to “preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States” and the similar commitment made by his subordinates.

Have all the left wing loons at Salon.com converted to Islam?

Apparently they have, or else they have become the ultimate Dhimmis – willing appeasers for their Muslim masters. Here they have penned an article called ‘Arabic for Right Wingers.’

SALON – In a now infamous column, the writer Eliana Benador argued this week that Anthony Weiner (who is a Jew) may have converted to Islam but was hiding it from the world in accordance with the practice of “taqiyya.” “It is also important, when looking at this situation, to remember that observant Muslims practice taqiyya, an element of sharia that states there is a legal right and duty to distort the truth to promote the cause of Islam,” Benador wrote. In invoking the Arabic term “taqiyya,” Benador exemplified a practice we’ve noticed in the past few years. It’s become common for right-wing writers and even politicians to matter-of-factly toss around Arabic terminology when warning of the Muslim threat to America.

So we thought it would be useful to hear explanations of terms like “taqiyya” from a notorious Muslim terrorist sympathizer. John Esposito, university professor at Georgetown and author of “What Everyone Needs to Know about Islam,” was kind enough to explain six of the more common Islamic terms we’ve been hearing. Esposito wrote the “What it actually means” items below, following my introductions.

(Be warned, the definitions as listed here by Esposito are from a man who hates Israel, hates America, and spends most of his time defending terrorist groups like the Muslim Brotherhood, Hamas, and Hezbollah, no doubt a paid shill for most of them.)

DHIMMI

How it’s used: As a pejorative for non-Muslims who fail to understand — and unwittingly aid, or even appease — the Islamic menace

Example: “These dhimmi effetes at the Times think their toe licking will save them. They will be the first ones with their heads on the chopping block.” — the blogger Pamela Geller

What Muslims want you to think it means: “Protected people.” The dhimmi were non-Muslims living under Muslim rule who paid a special tax and in return were permitted to practice their own religion, be led by their religious leaders and be guided by their own religious laws and customs. This treatment was very advanced at the time. No such tolerance existed in Christendom where Jews, Muslims and Christians who did not accept the authority of the pope were persecuted, forced to convert or expelled.

However progressive this policy may have been in the past, it would amount to second-class citizenship for non-Muslims today. Therefore, some insist that non-Muslims must be given full citizenship rights because of the Quran’s emphasis on the equality of all humanity. This need for reinterpretation can be seen in the increased incidents of discrimination and violence against non-Muslims in countries like Egypt, Iraq, Nigeria, Pakistan, Malaysia and Indonesia.

JIHAD

How it's used: As casual shorthand for Muslims' war against the West

Example: "Stealth jihadis use political, cultural, societal, religious, intellectual tools; violent jihadis use violence. But in fact they're both engaged in jihad and they're both seeking to impose the same end state which is to replace Western civilization with a radical imposition of Sharia." — Newt Gingrich

What Muslims want you to think it means: Literally, "struggle" or "exertion" in the path of God, following God's Will. It is a concept with multiple meanings, used and abused throughout Islamic history. The importance of jihad is rooted in the Quran's command to struggle in the path of God and in the example of the Prophet Muhammad and his early Companions. The two broad meanings of jihad, nonviolent and violent, are contrasted in a well-known Prophetic tradition. "Greater" jihad is the struggle within oneself to live a righteous life and submit oneself to God's will. "Lesser" jihad is the defense of Islam and the Muslim community.

Jihad as struggle pertains to the difficulty and complexity of living a good life: struggling against the evil in oneself — to be virtuous and moral, making a serious effort to do good works and help to reform society. Depending on the circumstances in which one lives, it also can mean fighting injustice and oppression, spreading and defending Islam, and creating a just society through preaching, teaching and, if necessary, armed struggle or holy war. A radicalized violent minority combines militancy with messianic visions to inspire and mobilize an army of God whose jihad they believe will liberate Muslims at home and abroad.

TAQIYYA

How it's used: As an explanation for why Muslims cannot be trusted — because their religion allows them to ethically practice deception

Example: "Thus it is reasonable to conclude that Keith Ellison's deceitful pronouncements at Thursday's Homeland Security Hearings, this past Thursday, and one day later on 'Real Time With Bill Maher,' are consistent with the Koranic doctrine of taqiyya, Islamic religious dissimulation." — writer on Andrew Breitbart's Big Peace site

TAQQIYA

THE ISLAMIC ART OF SOFTENING THE HEARTS OF THE UNBELIEVERS

What Muslims want you to think it means: Precautionary dissimulation of religious belief and practice in the face of persecution. Muslims recognize the personal duty of affirming right and forbidding wrong, but when confronted by an overwhelming injustice that threatens the well-being of an individual, this obligation can be fulfilled secretly in the heart rather than overtly. Among Shia Muslims, who from the death of the Prophet onward considered themselves subject to persistent religious persecution by the Sunni majority and the holders of political power, taqiyya permits not only passive or silent resistance, but also an active dissimulation of true beliefs when required to protect life, property and religion itself.

SHARIA

How it's used: To refer to a rigid set of Muslim laws that prescribe stoning for adulterous women, execution for homosexuals, etc.

Example: "We all know what sharia law does to women — women must wear burqas, women are subject to humiliation and into controlled marriages under Sharia law. We want to prevent it from ever happening in Texas." — Texas state Rep. Leo Berman

SHARIA LAW

WELCOME TO THE 9TH CENTURY

motifake.com

What Muslims want you to think it means: Historically, many Muslims and non-Muslims have come to confuse and use the terms “Sharia” and “Islamic law” interchangeably. Because the Quran is not a law book, early jurists used revelation as well as reason to create a body of laws to govern their societies. But, over time, these man-made laws came to be viewed as sacred and unchangeable. Muslims who want to see Shariah as a source of law in constitutions therefore have very different visions of how that would manifest. Though the definition of Shariah refers to the principles in the Quran and prophetic tradition, some expect full implementation of classical or medieval Islamic law; others want a more restricted approach, like prohibiting alcohol, requiring the head of state to be a Muslim, or creating Shariah courts to hear cases involving Muslim family law (marriage, divorce and inheritance). Still others simply want to ensure that no constitutional law violates the principles and values of Islam, as found in the Quran.

MADRASSA

How it’s used: To refer to a place where Muslim youth are indoctrinated into radicalism and, often, terror

Example: “I am very concerned that the school will be a madrassa, funded by taxpayer dollars. We will in effect be supporting the training of future terrorist cells.” — Opponent of a proposed Arabic-themed New York school

(Below photos are of Muslim boys being beaten up in a UK madrassa for not learning the quran fast enough)

What Muslims want you to think it means: A place where teaching, studying and learning take place. In early centuries, “madrassa” came to refer to a school of higher studies (college or university) where Islamic sciences were taught. Today, the term is also often used more broadly. Like the term “school” in American English, it can refer, for example, to a university, seminary, college as well as primary or secondary school. In recent years, the term has taken on a negative connotation, and for some simplistically equated with militant madrassas or schools in Pakistan and elsewhere. While they certainly exist and are dangerous training grounds, they represent a relatively small number of the institutions/schools that are referred to as madrassas.

ALLAH

How it’s used: As a negatively charged byword for a special Islamic deity

Example: “The animals of Allah for whom any day is a great day for a massacre are drooling over the positive response that they are getting from New York City officials over a proposal to build a 13 story monument to the 9/11 Muslims who hijacked those 4 airliners.” –Tea Party activist Mark Williams

What Muslims want you to think it means: Arabic for “God” (the term is used by Muslims and Arab Christians for God but is also used in Arabic-influenced languages and thus by Turkish and Malaysian Christians and others). Muslims believe Allah is the same deity worshiped by Jews and Christians. The first verses of the Quran present the basic Muslim view of God: “Praise be to Allah, the Lord of the Worlds, the Merciful, the Compassionate, the Sovereign of the Day of Judgment. Truly, it is You we worship and You whose aid we seek.” He is creator, sustainer, judge and ruler of the universe; all-powerful and all-merciful. Allah is described as the Merciful and Compassionate; every verse of the Quran begins with “In the name of God, the merciful, the compassionate.” Believed to have revealed himself to a long line of prophets (including the biblical prophets), to Moses, Jews (Torah) and Jesus (Gospels). As in Judaism and Christianity, God is also seen as the Just Judge who is to be obeyed and feared as well as loved.

Forget about Weiner's weiner, what about Weiner's Muslim wife's familial connections to the Muslim Brotherhood?

Was Huma Abedin, the wife of Anthony Weiner and the Deputy Chief of Staff to Hillary Clinton, unaware that her mother was reported as a member of the Muslim Brotherhood? Is it possible she does not know that her brother is tied to the Brotherhood's radical leadership? Did Western media miss what has been revealed in several Arab newspapers, which has remained secret in American government circles?

by Walid Shoebat and Ben Barrack Floyd Reports (H/T Rob E)

Al-Liwa Al-Arabi (translated here) claims to have leaked an extensive list of members of the Brotherhood's secret women's division, which is known alternately as the Muslim Sisterhood or the International Women's Organization (IWO). This detailed list was partially published by Al Jazeera and several other major Arab newspapers. And it included Huma's mother, Saleha Abedin.

Neither Huma nor any major Western media outlet even mention what is common knowledge in the Arab world. Yet, Arab sources have confirmed that Huma Abedin has a brother named Hassan Abedin who works at Oxford University. Oxford University, which has long been infiltrated by Islamists who founded the Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies (OCIS), lists Huma's brother as a fellow and partners with a number of Muslim Brotherhood members on the Board, including al-Qaeda associate Omar Naseef and the notorious Muslim Brotherhood leader Sheikh Youssef Qaradawi; both have been listed as OCIS Trustees. Naseef continues to serve as Board Chairman.

In 2009, Qaradawi's role within Oxford and the Muslim Brotherhood was championed by the notorious Sheikh Rached Ghannouchi of Al-Nahda – a Muslim Brotherhood affiliate now active in Tunisia. OCIS has even presented an award for great scholarly achievement to Brotherhood member Shaykh Abd Al-Fattah Abu Gudda, whose personal history goes back to the Brotherhood's founder, Hasan al-Banna.

Even the Sunday Times acknowledges that the cradle of Islamic Jihad – Al-Azhar University – actively attempts to establish links with OCIS, where Huma's brother serves.

Was Huma unaware of all this as she accompanied Hillary Clinton to the Dar El-Hekma women's college in Saudi Arabia? Huma's mother is the co-founder and a Vice Dean at the college and an active missionary on issues regarding Muslim women. The "Women's Division" can be found at the Muslim Brotherhood's official website; an excerpt from its goal, translated from Arabic, states:

The Womens Organization's goal in accordance with the Muslim Brotherhood rules, is to gain and acquire a unified global perception in every nation in the world regarding the position of women, and the necessity of advocacy work at all levels in accordance with the message of the Brotherhood as written in Women in Muslim Society, and the rearing of women throughout the different stages of life.

Huma's Mother

True to this cause, another member listed as belonging to the Sisterhood mentioned by Al Jazeera is Suheir Qureshi. She spoke alongside Huma's mother, Saleha Abedin as well as Secretary of State Hillary Clinton, who was brought in due to her connection with Huma. All three women spoke on issues of women in Muslim society. An Arabic news report of what happened during Hillary's visit stated:

*Suheir Qureshi spoke of how elated she was of Hillary's historic visit...Saleha Abedin spoke after Suheir Qureshi and beamed in the presence of Secretary Clinton. Saleha's speech preceded the former First Lady's. Then Hillary stood. She donned a broad smile as she approached the podium... Clinton started with a strong word and she spent a long time complimenting Dr. Saleha Abedin regarding her daughter. Hillary explained that Huma holds an important and sensitive position in her office. She ended her speech by speaking of Saleha Abedin's daughter (Huma), that a person must be happy if mentioned in a positive light but there is no happiness that equals the compliment given to children in front of a parent.

It is sacrilege in Islam for Huma's mother to accept the reality that her daughter is married to a Jew. Yet, neither Saleha nor Huma's brother Hassan have denounced her marriage to Weiner, although it is considered null and void by some of the highest authorities on Islamic Shari'arulings.

Huma's brother has been key in furthering the Islamic agenda and has worked with Saudi Prince Alwaleed bin Talal on a program of "spreading Islam to the West." A detailed report from 2007 shows that Naseef was identified as the likely force behind the Abedin family's departure from Kalamazoo, Michigan, to Jeddah, Saudi Arabia circa 1977 – the same year that the Muslim Sisterhood was established. Did Anthony Weiner, a Jew, convert to Islam to marry a Muslim?

Omar Abu-Namous is the imam of the Islamic Cultural Center in New York and he is encouraging Huma Abedin – a practicing Muslim – to stand by her husband, New York congressman Anthony Weiner. Why would this imam support Anthony Weiner, who was raised Jewish, in a marriage with a practicing Muslim woman?

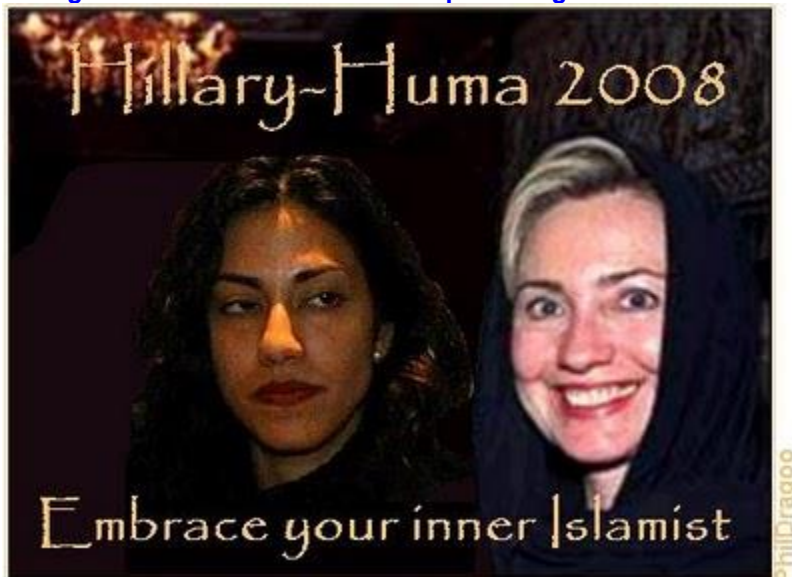

EVERY ISLAMIC SCHOLAR agrees that it is forbidden for a Muslim woman to marry a non-Muslim. Former Muslim Walid Shoebat has translated the Arabic declarations relative to the validity of the marriage between Weiner and Abedin last year. One such publication Shoebat translated was the Al-Marsid newspaper, which reported on the Weiner/Abedin marriage specifically:

Dr. Anwar Shoeb of the faculty of Islamic law in Kuwait declared that the marriage between Anthony Weiner and Huma Abedin is null and void, considering it adultery as confirmed in the Sharia position, prohibiting the marriage of a Muslim woman to a non-Muslim, regardless of whether he is a Jew or a Christian. In this case, he assured the invalidity of the marriage certificate between them.

Abu-Namous is in direct opposition to his Islamic superiors? Why? Huma Abedin was raised in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia. In 2007, the New York Observer wrote (in an article no longer available but cross-posted at FreeRepublic.com) that her mother is a professor in Saudi Arabia and that her father was an Islamic scholar before his death.

Weiner was raised Jewish but admitted to growing up in a non-religious household. If Abedin remains a practicing Muslim and her religion forbids her from marrying a non-Muslim, isn't she failing to practice Islam? Wouldn't that be the case unless Weiner converted to Islam? The New York Times reported that Weiner "sometimes fasts with her (Abedin) during Ramadan." This would indicate that the congressman is more amenable to practicing Islam than Abedin is to practicing Judaism.

It was widely rumored that Huma was Hillary's lesbian lover

Before people should start believing that Abu-Namous is of the more moderate persuasion, consider what he was quoted as saying in 2001:

A unified Muslim state would be the ideal instrument to convince the world that Islam is the last version of God's word. God meant his word to be obeyed.

Moreover, Abu-Namous spoke alongside the director of the Islamic Society of North America (ISNA) at the First National Summit of Imams and Rabbis. ISNA is a Muslim Brotherhood group. Abu-Namous is on record as having said there was no conclusive evidence that Muslim were responsible for the September 11th attacks. Ironically, former ground zero mosque imam Feisal Abdul Rauf is a permanent trustee with with the ICC. Abu-Namous's predecessor at the ICC blamed the Jews for 9/11.

Presiding over the wedding of Weiner and Abedin was none other than Bill Clinton. It took place at the Oheka Castle in Huntington, NY on Long Island – barely more than thirty miles from the ICC where Abu-Namous served as the imam.

If Huma stays with Weiner, it might be because in Islam, a man can have 4 wives and any number of mistresses

The Al-Marsid newspaper reported what Bill Clinton said. Shoebat translated: Clinton spoke, presiding at the wedding about how the two met and how Abedin rejected Weiner in the beginning but the persistence of the latter did not make him give up....

Did Abedin reject Weiner because he was not Muslim? Why is a New York imam with ties to the ISNA and Feisal Abdul Rauf defending a non-Muslim male with a Muslim female?

Perhaps there is a more important question that needs to be answered. Did a secular Jewish man convert to Islam or did his (still) practicing Muslim wife abandon her religion by marrying him?

[UPDATED] OMG! Barack Hussein Obama secretly backed rebel leaders behind Egypt's riots

The American Traitor-in-Chief secretly backed leading figures behind the Egyptian uprising who have been planning “regime change” for the past three years.

Barack Obama is Jimmy Carter all over again. Throwing a reliable ally under the bus which will usher in the Muslim Brotherhood and the Islamic fundamentalists just like the Mullahs of Iran. Never forget, the Muslim Brotherhood assassinated Anwar Sadat. Ignore the references here to a “democratic” government. There is nothing about democracy in Obama’s motives.

UK TELEGRPAH—The American Embassy in Cairo helped a young dissident attend a US-sponsored summit for activists in New York, while working to keep his identity secret from Egyptian state police.

On his return to Cairo in December 2008, the activist told US diplomats that an alliance of opposition groups had drawn up a plan to overthrow President Hosni Mubarak and install a ~~democratic~~ Islamic fundamentalist government in 2011.

The secret document in full

He has already been arrested by Egyptian security in connection with the demonstrations and his identity is being protected by The Daily Telegraph.

The crisis in Egypt follows the toppling of Tunisian president Zine al-Abidine Ben Ali, who fled the country after widespread protests forced him from office.

The disclosures, contained in previously secret US diplomatic dispatches released by the WikiLeaks website, show American officials pressed the Egyptian government to release other dissidents who had been detained by the police.

Mr Mubarak, facing the biggest challenge to his authority in his 31 years in power, ordered the army on to the streets of Cairo yesterday as rioting erupted across Egypt.

At least five people were killed in Cairo alone yesterday and 870 injured, several with bullet wounds. Mohamed ElBaradei, the pro-reform leader and Nobel Peace Prize winner, was placed under house arrest after returning to Egypt to join the dissidents. Riots also took place in Suez, Alexandria and other major cities across the country.

William Hague, the Foreign Secretary, urged the Egyptian government to heed the “legitimate demands of protesters”.

Hillary Clinton, the US Secretary of State, said she was “deeply concerned about the use of force” to quell the protests.

The US government has previously been a supporter of Mr Mubarak’s regime. But the leaked documents show the extent to which America was offering support to pro-democracy activists in Egypt while publicly praising Mr Mubarak as an important ally in the Middle East.

In a secret diplomatic dispatch, sent on December 30 2008, Margaret Scobey, the US Ambassador to Cairo, recorded that opposition groups had allegedly drawn up secret plans for “regime change” to take place before elections, scheduled for September this year.

The memo, which Ambassador Scobey sent to the US Secretary of State in Washington DC, was marked “confidential” and headed: “April 6 activist on his US visit and regime change in Egypt.”

It said the activist claimed “several opposition forces” had “agreed to support an unwritten plan for a transition to a parliamentary democracy, involving a weakened presidency and an empowered prime minister and parliament, before the scheduled 2011 presidential elections”. The embassy’s source said the plan was “so sensitive it cannot be written down”.

Ambassador Scobey questioned whether such an “unrealistic” plot could work, or even even existed. However, the documents showed that the activist had been approached by US diplomats and received extensive support for his pro-democracy campaign from officials in Washington. The embassy helped the campaigner attend a “summit” for youth activists in New York, which was organised by the US State Department.

The protests in Egypt are being driven by the April 6 youth movement, a group on Facebook that has attracted mainly young and educated members opposed to Mr Mubarak. The group has about 70,000 members and uses social networking sites to orchestrate protests and report on their activities.

The documents released by WikiLeaks reveal US Embassy officials were in regular contact with the activist throughout 2008 and 2009, considering him one of their most reliable sources for information about human rights abuses.

UPDATE!

Egypt blames U.S. State Department for fomenting uprising.

WND —The Egyptian government suspects elements of the current uprising there, particularly political aspects, are being coordinated with the U.S. State Department, WND has learned.

A senior Egyptian diplomat told WND today the regime of President Hosni Mubarak suspects the U.S. has been aiding protest planning by Mohamed ElBaradei, who is seen as one of the main opposition leaders in Cairo.

ElBaradei, former International Atomic Energy Agency chief, has reinvented himself as a campaigner for “reform” in Egypt. He is a candidate for this year’s scheduled presidential elections.

ElBaradei arrived in Cairo just after last week’s protests began and is reportedly being confined to his home by Egyptian security forces.

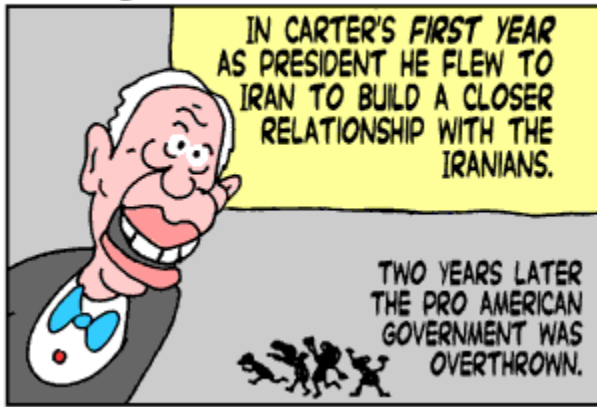

He is seen as an ally of the Muslim Brotherhood, the main opposition force in Egypt.

The Brotherhood seeks to spread Islam around the world, in large part using nonviolent means. Hamas and al-Qaida are violent Brotherhood offshoots.

Last week, ElBaradei gave an interview to Der Spiegel defending the Brotherhood.

“We should stop demonizing the Muslim Brotherhood. ... [They] have not committed any acts of violence in five decades. They too want change. If we want democracy and freedom, we have to include them instead of marginalizing them,” he said.

Huma Abedin

Here's a creepy quote from it, too:

"A lot of times, Hillary would snap her fingers and go, 'Gum.' And Huma would fetch it.' Abedin took her duties so seriously, the source recalled, that when she learned that Clinton had once carried her own bag up a flight of stairs in her aide's absence, Abedin nearly burst into tears."

<http://www.newsweek.com/2016/05/06/huma-abedin-hillary-clinton-anthony-weiner-453204.html>

"How often does Huma Abedin see her husband?"

Not very. She's usually travelling with HRC.

"Why is she always with HRC?"

She's like her servant.

"Who goes missing, and why? Sometimes people do not go missing at all. They simply show up in places they are not expected, and they remain where they are least likely to be."

Okay, so where would Huma Abedin be least likely to be? Probably anywhere HRC isn't. Where is that? With her husband?

Her husband is a pervert like Epstein and Bill. Maybe he's connected to human trafficking.

Back to Huma for now.

She wasn't at Weiner's sexting scandal conference. She was in Abu Dhabi with HRC.

<http://newyork.cbslocal.com/2011/06/09/pressure-builds-on-weiner-to-resign-as-new-photo-surfaces-on-internet/>
<http://www.nydailynews.com/news/politics/wife-blows-weiner-sext-conference-article-1.130558>

Abedin returned home on the 15th of June.

<http://newyork.cbslocal.com/2011/06/15/rep-anthony-weiners-wife-huma-abedin-returns-home-amid-husbands-sexting-scandal/>

What did FBI anon mean by people remain where they are least likely to be? Is it more likely that Huma shows up in Abu Dhabi and stays there amid her husband's scandal? Or is it more likely that she returns home to her husband instead of constantly travelling and working with HRC?

I guess a clue would be the way she reacted to Weiner's second sexting scandal in that documentary "Weiner." According to the same Newsweek article I pasted above, she didn't react much at all:

"Abedin comes off as supremely smooth, even a bit cynical. As the sexting scandal's second chapter exploded, she kept an eye on what she called 'the optics.' ('You will look happy,' she advises one Weiner aide as the woman breaks down in tears. 'I'm saying this for you.')

Pretty fucked up.

It looks to me like, any normal person would drop everything ASAP and go home to deal with this mess. But that's not what happened. This scandal broke several days before Huma had to leave, she could've called off the trip, but she didn't. First of all, this tells me that, for Huma, it's perfectly normal to stick with HRC instead of dealing with her imploding family situation, despite being pregnant. So, the odd thing, is that she spent so much time away from HRC when she came back. Second of all, I wonder who she and Hillary met with on that trip. Who was so important that she had to put an extremely sensitive, potentially nuclear (for her, personally, I mean) situation with her husband on hold in order to meet. Apparently a bunch of people in the UAE and parts of Africa.

Just found an article in the New York Post that shows Huma Abedin came back to New York on June 15th 2011, the day before Anthony Weiner quit his State Rep job, and then planned to take some time off from both Anthony Weiner - who would be in rehab - as well as her State Department job, while at an undisclosed location.

The article also said that Abedin's family would be watching her like a hawk.

Obviously, I need to figure out where she was and how long she was there for. Her family might be a clue. Where do they live?

Also, where was Anthony Weiner in rehab and for how long?

<http://nypost.com/2011/06/30/huma-abedin-taking-time-off-from-weiner-job/>

Another interesting point: according to the New York Times, Anthony Weiner announced his decision to step down as a representative on 16th of June, 2011. Huma Abedin returned home to Weiner on the 15th of that month, and, also according to the New York Times, Weiner made his decision to step down that same night. Abedin, however, didn't show up at the press conference the next day.

<http://www.nytimes.com/2011/06/17/nyregion/anthony-d-weiner-tells-friends-he-will-resign.html>

Abedin and Weiner's son, Jordan Zane Weiner, was born on Dec 21, 2011

<http://www.nytimes.com/2011/06/17/nyregion/anthony-d-weiner-tells-friends-he-will-resign.html>

According to this article in the New York Post: "The couple had been spotted in public several times since the scandal, including during an Parisian "babymoon" and on a walk through Forest Hills, Queens..."

<http://nypost.com/2011/12/22/weiners-wife-gives-birth-to-boy/>

That means Weiner would have been out of rehab sometime between June and December of 2011. But how long was Abedin away from Clinton?

An article in the Daily Mail points out that Huma was spotted on a CBS News broadcast in October, informing Secretary Clinton that Mummar Gaddafi had been killed on October 20th.

Also,

"Mr Weiner and Mrs Abedin moved out of their Forest Hills home in his former congressional district in Queens before relocating to an unidentified apartment in Manhattan."

"The best guess so far puts their apartment in the Gramercy Park or Flatiron neighborhood, and considering that they were spotted in the area around Eataly - which is on the Western edge of Madison Square Park- those predictions seem to be right."

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2104421/Pictured-Anthony-Weiner-wife-Huma-Abedin-seen-new-baby-boy-time-birth.html>

Basically, this means that She had finished her time off after Weiner's sex scandal between June and October 20th. Also, how is she able to constantly be around HRC, and be with her husband as she was in the subject of that article?

Interesting to note, also, is the fact that Gaddafi died a few days after Clinton went to meet with the leaders of Libya's National Transitional Council.

"The reporter asked if Qaddafi's death had anything to do with her surprise visit to show support for the Libyan people.

'No,' she replied, before rolling her eyes and saying 'I'm sure it did' with a chuckle."

<http://www.cbsnews.com/news/clinton-on-qaddafi-we-came-we-saw-he-died/>

Fuck, now I have to look into Libya's National Transitional Council, too.

I'll stick to Huma, though, for now.

Just found another article in the Daily Mail.

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2030538/Anthony-Weiner-takes-pregnant-wife-Huma-Abedin-babymoon-Italy.html>

On August 26th, 2011 "shamed former congressman Anthony Weiner has taken his pregnant wife on vacation to an exclusive Italian hotel favoured by celebrities as the couple continue to work on their marriage."

So, I guess that means Huma only took a break from Weiner between June and August then, right?

Wrong.

"It is the second vacation the pair have taken since the scandal. In July, they celebrated their first wedding anniversary in Miami, Florida."

Huma and Anthony were married July 10th, 2010

<http://www.nydailynews.com/new-york/rep-anthony-weiner-engaged-hillary-clinton-aide-huma-abedin-article-1.430890>

So, Huma came back to New York from Africa on June 15th, Anthony stepped down and announced that he was going to rehab on June 16th, and then the two of them are seen celebrating their anniversary in Miami on July 10th?

What kind of faggy, pussified rehab program lasts less than a month?

"Weiner headed to an 'intense' rehab program to help him treat his sexting addiction."

The amount of weight the word 'intense' is being forced to carry in that sentence is downright cruel.

"Sources close to the couple have reportedly claimed that Mrs Abedin's devout Muslim family was furious with Mr Weiner over the incidents."

Really? Their daughter only married a narcissistic, unfaithful, Democratic politician and New York Jew named Weiner. Sounds like a devout Muslim family's dream.

From another article:

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2036494/Anthony-Weiner-pregnant-wife-Huma-Abedin-tell-friends-baby-boy.html>

"Mrs Abedin seemed more keen on business rather than romance as they walked together in the Montmartre district of the city. In the pictures, her politician husband, 46, looked bored as he lagged behind with his hands in his pockets."

"Mr and Mrs Weiner travelled to Paris in late August after spending the previous week in Italy at the luxurious Le Sirenuse hotel in Positano on the Amalfi coast, which is favoured by celebrities including Reese Witherspoon."

Might be worth looking into Clinton's email archive, specifically emails to and from Huma, during this trip. Also, check out the hotel. Who owns it?

HMMMMMMMMMMMMMMMM (his wife was footing the bill (via embezzling the State Department))

"Weiner and wife Huma headed to Miami last weekend to celebrate their wedding anniversary."

"The couple sat in the private wine room with the curtains partially closed."

"The Post said they were affectionate at the table and laughing as they dined with another couple."

<http://www.denverpost.com/2011/07/11/people-weiner-and-wife-escape-to-miami-for-anniversary/>

What other couple?

Disgraced former pol Anthony Weiner, 'miserable' wife Huma Abedin spotted dining in Chelsea <http://www.nydailynews.com/new-york/weiner-huma-spotted-lunch-article-1.127537>

What? The article is dated June 25th, 2011.

"Disgraced former Rep. Anthony Weiner and his wife, Huma Abedin, were spotted dining at La Bottega in Chelsea's Maritime Hotel on Saturday - but she "looked miserable," according to a witness."

Apparently this happened on June 25th as well.

So, what? She gets back 10 days ago says she's going to an undisclosed location to take some time off, he says he's going to rehab 9 days ago, and then...they don't?

Okay, what the fuck.

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2005594/Anthony-Weiners-pregnant-wife-Huma-Abedin-feels-hopelessly-trapped.html>

"No sooner had he addressed crowds in the very place he launched his career 20 years ago, informing them of his resignation and issuing a humble apology for the 'damage' he caused, then Weiner had his weekend bag packed and was driving down the freeway for a relaxing getaway in the Hamptons."

He never fucking went to rehab.

This article also mentions something about Weiner's tax returns. Might be interesting in the context of how he paid for a fucking trip across Europe after losing his job.

"But an Ethics Committee investigation opened by the House into his conduct is expected to end as a result of his resignation, because the committee has jurisdiction only over members of Congress. And Mr. Weiner will retain control of more than $4 million in his campaign account."

<http://www.nytimes.com/2011/06/17/nyregion/anthony-d-weiner-tells-friends-he-will-resign.html>

Just looking through the WikiLeaks Clinton email archives, it doesn't look like Huma took any time off after her husband's sex scandal. Then I find this article talking about an investigation Huma for embezzlement at the State Department. She never filed any maternity leave or vacation forms, meaning that she was paid for time she spent in the Hamptons, Miami, Italy, and France.

Look up who Weiner and Huma saw in Europe, Miami, the Hamptons, as well as where they stayed. Who are those people? Who owns those places?

Next to impossible to say. There aren't many pictures of them on their trip.

--she didn't, she never formally began any time off, she never filed for leave--

"The Clinton aide admitted that she took a two-week vacation in Europe in 2011 ahead of the birth of her child, which she labeled a 'babymoon.'"

"You are 100 percent right on the babymoon," Abedin explained. "I don't recall. One hundred percent right. I don't recall filling out any paperwork saying I was taking leave. I'm not even going to blame it on my pregnancy brain."

So she admits she didn't file for leave. What happened to the money?

<http://freebeacon.com/politics/huma-abedin-investigated-for-embezzlement-for-accepting-more-than-10k-in-overpayments/>

"But sources close to Abedin, Clinton's former deputy chief of staff and current vice chairwoman for the campaign, argued that the news actually exonerates Abedin because the Justice Department's public integrity unit declined to pursue the matter. It's unclear exactly why Justice didn't take it up, but it's now being handled as an administrative claim in which State has asked Abedin to pay back about $10,000 the IG concluded she was over-compensated."

So, she paid it back?

"Abedin's lawyers have acknowledged the $10,000 overpayment issue weeks ago and said they're fighting it.

They maintain that she was actually working during the maternity leave and vacation time, though it doesn't appear she properly logged the information into the State Department system. But they've denied that the overpayment dispute, widely known, ever turned into a criminal investigation."

I guess not. Despite her saying that she should've filed for leave and forgot to, it wasn't actually a vacation, anyway. She was working.

Whoops not done yet

"Grassley also referenced a fuller state IG report and its findings on the overpayment issue, a report that has still not been made public. The Washington Times first reported on the State Department watchdog's investigation of Abedin. According to Grassley's description of the state IG's full report, the watchdog also found that Abedin billed the State Department for more than she was allowed while working as a "special government employee" and exceeded by more than 100 days the limit on the number of days such contractors are permitted to work for the government. Her legal team disputes that she worked that much, however."

The report they're talking about hasn't even been fully released. How is anyone even supposed to know what any disputes are based on? They can just keep making the guy trying to get her charged look ridiculous because no one knows what he's talking about.

"Sources close to Abedin said that's not true, pointing to an office of government ethics memo that says SGEs who exceed their estimated hours "still will be deemed an SGE for the remainder of that period."

I wonder when that took effect, and who signed off on it. Hmmm

"The IG also found that Cheryl Mills, Clinton's former chief of staff and longtime legal adviser, signed off on the timesheets. The watchdog's report, according to the Grassley letter, includes a copy of a February 2012 email, suggesting that Ms. Mills emailed a White House assistant counsel "to discuss the calculation of Ms. Abedin's leave balance."

In case anyone was wondering how or why she's able to get away with this.

"The watchdog also concluded that Abedin worked 244 days as a special employee, exceeding the 130 day limit imposed under federal law. Her lawyer said there was no way she worked that much, but didn't offer a number he thought was more accurate."

Guy's a hell of a lawyer. Doesn't even have to argue and his client walks. Dang.

Alright back to the babymoon.

They left around August 26th and came back around September 12th, 2011.

<http://www.mommyish.com/2011/09/12/fresh-from-babymoon-anthony-weiner-and-wife-are-expecting-a-baby-boy/>

Scratch that. According to this article they flew back on August 31st.

<http://pagesix.com/2011/08/31/eating-american/>

They stayed at the Le Sirenuse hotel in Positano in Italy.

"The oceanfront hideaway on the Amalfi coast, which is known for its privacy..."

"Mr and Mrs Weiner were spotted enjoying a meal with friends at the hotel's La Sponda restaurant.

'They started at the Champagne and oyster bar, where they met another couple. From there, two other couples joined them, and they went downstairs to the main room for dinner,' a source told the New York Post."

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2030538/Anthony-Weiner-takes-pregnant-wife-Huma-Abidin-babymoon-Italy.html>

Here's what they did in Paris

"The duo were spotted at Ralph Lauren's Paris restaurant, Ralph's, this week, according to a spy.

"They were having lunch at the same time as Diane Kruger," the source said. Lauren's resto is known for dishes like crab cakes, Southern fried chicken and burgers. Weiner and wife had also been seen at the Ritz Bar this week and were spotted strolling in the Montmartre district."

<https://history.state.gov/departmenthistory/travels/secretary/clinton-hillary-rodham>

Search news archives for Hillary Clinton between July 25th, and September 1st, 2011.

What was she doing while Huma was gone?

Also look up Hillary's July 25th, 15th and September 1st trips. Check to see if Huma went with her.

Look up the Clinton Foundation around the dates of the babymoon. Did anyone make a donation from either France or Italy or Miami? If not, who made a donation?

Check to see what the State Department was involved in before the sex scandal and after the babymoon.

Finally, look into the event Huma put on for Bill Clinton on September 20, 2012. Who made donations before and/or after? What happened before and/or after? Missing persons reports from the area? Where was Jeffery Epstein's plane at the time?

Look into Libyan president who visited Bill and Hillary two days after the Benghazi attacks. Why was Hillary pushing the narrative that the attacks were caused by an internet video? Maybe she's covering up involvement?

Huma Abedin HILLARY TRAITOR

How long before they get Hillary's aid Huma Abedin for being involved in this? CNN is saying that Huma is a ghost in the system and they cannot find any employment history on her. She is from Saudi Arabia. When she married Anthony Weiner there was a blurb about her. She was a student at a university inside DC proper but not the Catholic one and they said she went for an internship with Hillary and Hillary hired her. They made a big thing about the fact that she was Arab and that helped Hillary.

So, she's no spring chicken but I bet they could get her records from the university?
Two Michael Savage callers from Pentagon blow the lid off Hillary's email story!!!

Why don't you call Huma Abedin, and ask her about her role in the classified email scandal!!!

Last night, I talked to a former Air Force Lt. Colonel who has a secret clearance because he works as a civilian for the AF. I don't believe he has top secret clearance, but he could because he is involved with security issues vis-a-vis Mexico. He's familiar with the SCIF protocols. For instance, if a thumb drive is plugged into the SCIF hardware, he said an alarm go off! That might be the best example of how tightly everything is "tied down" or secured. It doesn't matter whether the documents were marked secret or not. If they weren't marked secret (or Top Secret) it would have been her responsibility to report the breaches. As SoS, Hillary had to be dealing with secret information probably daily. It is a felony for any of the secret stuff to leave the closed system either intentionally or by mistake. So what we have is Hillary getting documents practically daily that are OUTSIDE the closed system and each incident is a felony.

Anyone who sees a secret document or secret info that isn't suitably marked is REQUIRED to report it or they become part of the criminal activity. That would include noticing that Hillary's emails were ".com" instead of ".gov." IOW, the entire email process is tied down every which way with redundant security procedures. Hillary's behavior and actions were outside that closed system every day she was SoS. Bottom line? Hillary might be the first member of the felony a day club. Her staff were also members of that club. Anyone at the WH sending or receiving secret documents to or from Hillary would also be felons.
