

COACHES CODE OF CONDUCT – ALL LEVELS

Coaches are expected to discourage foul play and unsportsmanlike behaviour, prioritize player health and safety by adhering to medical advice, and emphasize honest effort over winning. They should maintain professional relationships, stay knowledgeable of game laws and coaching methods, tailor coaching to the competition level, and exhibit leadership and respect toward all participants involved in Rugby League, including players, officials, fans, parents, referees, and the media.

Code of Conduct – Coaches

- Actively discourage foul play and / or unsportsmanlike behaviour by players.
- Show concern and caution towards all sick and injured players. Follow the advice of a physician and/or sports trainer to the letter when determining when an injured player is ready to recommence training or playing.
- Teach players that an honest effort and competing to the best of their ability is as important as victory.
- Maintain appropriate, professional relationships with players at all times.
- Maintain a thorough knowledge of the Laws of the Game and keep abreast of current coaching methods; maintain or improve your current accreditation level.
- Always consider the health, safety and welfare of the players.
- Teach young players to realise that there is a big gap between their play and the professional game; do not coach them as if they are professionals.
- As coach, conduct yourself at all times in a manner, and in all situations, that shows leadership, respect for the game of Rugby League and respect for all those that are involved in the game – the players, officials, the fans, the parents, the referees and the media.
- PNRL are a no drinking player policy during the duration of national camp and tournaments
- Players are to refrain from social media posts that implicates the Philippine National Rugby League

When playing for the Philippine National Rugby League, remember you are Filipino through and through so treat yourself and other with the utmost respect.
