Good Luck Maria Angel!

Nationally, the American Legion Auxiliary (ALA) sponsors an annual Poppy Poster Contest for students in grades 2-12, including students with special needs. Students of various grade levels are divided into seven classes. Using the image and story of the Flanders Field Poppy, the contest helps to educate students about the sacrifices our military service members have made. The contest begins at local ALA units with winners continuing to the state competition, and ultimately the national competition.
