What Does an IT Management Consultant Do?

Assess Systems and Processes

Evaluates the current IT environment to identify strengths and weaknesses

Design IT Strategies

Develops technology plans that align with the organization's goals

Implement Solutions

Manages projects to deploy new systems or improve existing ones

Provide Expert Advice

Offers recommendations on IT best practices and emerging technologies