

Possible Witnesses

c) Pres. Ellis Ivory

Gordon's Stake President at time of ex-communication. I assume he can't talk about reasons for ex-communication, but he could comment on Gordon's almost complete lack of attendance at church, even when he had a calling as Sunday School Superintendent (he only came a couple of times), and bouncing tithing checks which he told me Gordon did when I met with him along with Thom Harrison. Pres. Ivory interviewed Gordon prior to our marriage for a temple recommend, thus he experienced Gordon lies to Pres. Ivory concerning his sexual behavior. He also said that Gordon made some comment about wanting to come back into the church three years ago and said he would meet with him, but to date Gordon just sends him interesting newsclips.

d) David Hamblin (Ask Russ Hettinger)

Gordon's therapist in New York City and SLC. Lost his license about 3-4 years ago. (Russ Hettinger represented David's wife, Rosie in divorce proceedings about 5 years ago) David (excommunicated from the LDS Church) now practices as an Indian medicine man and specializes in casting out evil spirits which he did with Gordon December 2002 - December 2003 approximately until their differences made them part ways. Unless David is now soured on Gordon, David would say what he told my sons about Gordon when he flew David and Kisi back to New York to stay in his $14,000/ mo. apartment—Gordon is a good man who just had a few full body massages, has been cured of his evil spirits causing him problems, is the prime example of the success of David's therapy, that Gordon was going to promote the therapy for David and Kisi through his advertising connections, (I don't know what happened to this), that David's therapy will eventually save the world). Gordon referred me to David years ago and I have also seen David and attended three of his Indian medicine healing sessions which may work against me, so I don't know if I want this brought up), until I realized what he was about.

e) Kisi Watkins

My friend for 30 years until December 2002 when Gordon began working with Kisi (who does cranio-sacral therapy) and David Hamblin (who does the psychotherapy and casts out evil spirits). She agrees that Gordon was specially healed by their therapy because he "threw up so many evil spirits." She says she knows Gordon lies, but she feels he is basically good. I didn't talk to her for three years, but have recently reconnected and she says I need to mediate with Gordon, with her and David preferably as the mediators because otherwise Gordon will take the children from me completely.

f) Kevin Kelly # 34,35 Testimonies, plus unofficial affidavit you don't have yet Worked with Gordon at Bonneville Communications and Ogilvy and Mather in New York. He would explain how Gordon's charm and cunning allowed him to have people removed at Bonneville as Gordon took their place, that Gordon had gross abuses with regard to his expense report, spread lies about employees, had threatened Dick Alsop, Gordon's boss. Kevin would explain how Gordon got him and others to follow him to New York to work for Ogilvy, Gordon's ability to convince anyone of anything and create ardent followers, "sexual" advances or attempts to set up sexual encounters, Gordon's predatory behavior, flattery and gifts to buy people off, Gordon's lies about Kevin's and other's salaries, Gordon's ability to deceive the very elect, ability to lie to ruin people's reputations like Brendan Ryan, Gordon's dishonest and homosexual activities scarring the name of the LDS Church in New York, being observed by Stake President Belnap who watched Gordon canvas the congregation for beautiful young men, Against Kevin's request, Gordon presenting a commercial on honesty Kevin had produced (and Gordon had never worked on) to land a job at McCann Erickson, telling Kevin he was using it for a fireside.

g) Khaliel Kelly #9 Testimonies

Wife of Kevin Kelly. She could tell about their experiences at Bonneville, being pulled into Gordon's beguiling through his lies and flattery, about their experiences in New York and Gordon's dishonest, deceptive and seductive behavior. Gordon shared a number of sexual stories with her and Kevin, was always referring to his penis. About how he loves to toy with people and gain control over them. Gordon said to her, "I've done something so bad, if you knew what it was, you'd never be my friend." About stories of gay men approaching him, about his home in Hartsdale being destroyed by boys who smeared feces on the walls. Also in 1995 trying to tell Pres. Stone (then Gordon's "bishop" -although Pres. Stone did not know him at all) that Gordon should not be given a temple recommend to marry me, about calling me to warn me about Gordon, about Gordon convincing my family and me that Khaliel was a jealous, angry woman, lying to try and keep him from the happiness of marrying me. Khaliel was on the phone when Gordon pushed his way through the door and grabbed Lily on September 22, 2003 and heard everything in that struggle and confrontation as I went after Gordon to get Lily and told him what I thought about him.

h) Peter Georgescu (# 5 testimonies)

Gordon's boss at Young and Rubicam. Very willing to put something in writing or testify but wants the request from an attorney. Fired Gordon for Gordon having been found (heard this indirectly) in homosexual orgy/bar type situations, being out of control, disappearing days at a time, padding his expense account $500,000, consulted with a psychologist who said Gordon's psychological profile would be hard to fix, saw Gordon as obsessed with my sons and Lily and Caleb.

i) President James E. Faust(Item 31—Letter from me to Pres. Faust, with references to our marriage, Gordon's dishonest, homosexual behavior)

Friend of Gordon's and my family, especially my father. He married us. Pres. Faust told me to research Gordon's lifestyle and have him confronted if it appeared there were problems, e.g. church court. He is aware of the situation, of Gordon's statement that he needs to contact Pres. Faust to tell him about casting out evil spirits to heal the homosexuals of the Church, of Gordon's excommunication. Pres. Faust would talk about their friendship and the work Gordon has done for the Church, I assume.

- j) Elder Russell M. Ballard (Item 39, Letter from me to Elder Ballard, apprising him of Gordon's plan to talk to him about the evil spirit therapy and quotes from his journal—also sent to Pres. Faust)

Friend of Gordon's. Gordon has helped his son and/or other relatives find jobs. Gordon took me to Elder Ballard January 1995 to get a blessing and an endorsement that Gordon was a righteous man and a good man to marry. Gordon has connected Elder Ballard with many high profile people in business and politics.

k. Jonathan Gassman → fired?

Gordon's "former" tax accountant for many years. My understanding is that Gordon's company has a new accountant, but Jonathan called my home recently looking for Gordon, and it sounded like he needed to talk to him soon because he was working on his taxes.

Jonathan has shared with me in the past how difficult it is to get Gordon to give him information, to sign his returns or do anything in a reasonable or timely manner. (Gordon owes $710,000 in taxes and penalties for 2002.)

l. Stan Stefanski

Gordon's CFO at McGarryBowen. He is supposedly one of the four partners and used to give me information about Gordon when I would call him. But Gordon once said that he thought they were going to get rid of Stan. Stan tried to help Gordon with his finances, tried to discourage Gordon when Gordon insisted in living in a $14,000/mo. apartment in New York and renting a $5000/mo apartment in Salt Lake City. Stan expressed his frustration with Gordon's financial maneuvering and his inconsideration in using all the $10,000 cafeteria fund medical insurance reimbursement on himself such that there was nothing for me or the children (except help for Collin's dental) in 2004. He told me about Gordon sleeping on the couch at work for months because he didn't have the money to rent an apartment.

Dennis
m. Michelle Aventario (#7 Testimonies)

Gordon's secretary at Ogilvy and Mather. She had strong feelings about Gordon's dishonest and manipulative abilities and examples of such. She would tell about the young teenage boys he always had staying at his apartment, and bums he'd take in off the street, about one 16 year old in particular whom she found waiting all day in the cafeteria who told her Gordon Bowen had promised him if he would come stay in his apartment, Gordon would pay to get his teeth fixed. Stories of Gordon working at the V.D. clinic, wanting to work with people who had sex problems, telling Michelle's boyfriend that he (Gordon) had left his key in the door hoping the boyfriend would come back and rape him, the check for $247,000 she had to take to Gordon's bishop right after Kevin Kelly found a letter from Gordon to Jeff Carrier full of spiritual and sexual innuendoes (making her wonder if LDS people paid for their sins), almost having to leave Kevin and Khaliel Kelly's children in Gordon's care for a night (while she was watching them) and having the children cry hysterically and plead with her not to leave them with Gordon, how she thought they would find the bones of dead boys buried beneath his house one day, about him being found tied to a bed and missing an important client meeting. Gordon would make promises, fail to keep them, lie continually, sell anyone down who didn't support him, require absolute devotion or annihilate anyone who didn't worship him. Gordon's ability to control people. Gordon's stories to her about his father being angry and violent. Gordon told her once, "If you ever knew who I really was, you wouldn't come near me." Gordon made Michelle make up thousands of dollars in bogus expense reports.

n. President Boyd K. Packer

When Gordon worked at Bonneville, he did a special project for Boyd K. Packer. When Gordon was struggling with evil spirits plaguing him at his home on 12th East, he had Boyd K. Packer give him a special blessing, after Gordon's Bishop, Gil Sanders, did an exorcism on the home.

K/K
o. Parry and Carolyn Merkely

Both have known Gordon for years personally and through business. Parry would tell about Gordon's dishonest, erratic behavior, "one of the scariest people I've ever met." How Gordon promised Parry and Adrian Pulfer that he would back them financially if they moved to New York and then abandoned them after the move. How infuriated Gordon would be that Parry would not room with him. How Gordon was able to deceive them and many others for years. How Gordon had a nervous break down when he was at Ogilvy. How Gordon is always the exception, above the rules because he's on a "special mission."

K/K
p. Adrian Pulfer (#6 Testimonies, plus unofficial affidavit you don't have yet)

As an art director, Adrian has known Gordon on a professional and personal basis for years and Adrian has helped Gordon on many major advertising projects. Adrian would tell about Gordon insisting Adrian share the same bed with him in his New York City apartment and then sexually abusing him in the night by fondling his genitals. He would say that Gordon preys upon people when they are vulnerable, as when Adrian's wife died, that Gordon is completely dishonest and untrustworthy, that Gordon tricked Adrian into working for months on a "secret" American Express campaign that Gordon said Ogilvy and Mather had commissioned, only to find out Ogilvy and Mather knew nothing about it and were not about to pay Adrian for it which almost cost Adrian his home or to have to close his studio. Promises to pay Adrian for work and then refusing, playing games about the amount he promised he would pay. Adrian could tell about staying in Gordon's apartment and Gordon insisting they share the same bed, also about reading Gordon's journal (left open for everyone), telling about how he was in love with this woman in SLC whose husband had cancer—me.

q. Ken Kenitzer (# 8 Testimonies, plus official affidavit)

He tells about Gordon's charismatic personality, impressive business success, ability to convince people about the ideals of family togetherness, love, beauty, etc. as representative of his life, but were really an illusion. About Gordon using principles of spirituality and his credibility through association with the Brethren of the Church to help

Ken through suicidal ideation, psychological struggles at having been repeatedly abused as a child, how Gordon promised Ken $10,000 for a tag line picked by AT&T then refused to pay and also claimed he (Gordon) had come up with the line, how Gordon would ask Ken to sleep in the same bed with him when there were guests, or would come visit with Ken and fall asleep on his bed, how Gordon took advantage of Ken's psychological vulnerability upon having been sexually taken advantage of by his girlfriend by coming in to counsel him, giving him a massage and then, as Ken was asleep, trying to fondle his genitals, with Collin and Eric also staying in the apartment, how Gordon knows no boundaries, takes advantage of people, victimizes and takes no responsibility, hasn't the ability to care for anyone else and hides behind the Church, and basically lies to, deceives and hurts those whom he claims to love. He would tell about Gordon asking him to bring my three sons and join us on our honeymoon.

r. Tom and Annie Pratt (#4,11,17 Testimonies)

Tom worked with Gordon at Bonneville and followed him, along with the others, to Ogilvy and Mather. Tom worked for Young and Rubicam, I believe when Gordon was there or just after and now has a position at Gordon's company, McGarryBowen, so he would probably not want to say much.

Tom said that he tries to keep a distance, but "just to check into a hotel and then was stuck with the bill. Tom knew about the "tied to a bed" story and thought it was referenced in Ad Week or Ad Age about 1993.

Annie wondered if Gordon molested their oldest son, age 3 or 4 at the time when he stayed weeks in their apartment. She remembers Gordon always having young children stay with him and wanting hers to stay with him, remembers a sickly, strange boy appearing at Gordon's house when she was visiting saying he was staying there and Annie having the feeling something wasn't right. She would say he's secretive and dishonest.

s. Michael McLean (#10, Testimonies)

Michael worked with Gordon at Bonneville. He would tell about Gordon setting him up to come to New York to have his company look at Michael's work, telling Michael to come to his home first and take a shower in a specific bathroom while Gordon claimed he would be in the city, waiting, only to have Gordon hop in the shower after Michael entered the shower, how Gordon would try to make people think how spiritual he was, praying opening so Michael could see him, telling Michael he was praying about the Coke account, how Gordon used Michael to hurt other people, always used people, how Gordon is a liar and a thief, but if you talk about him, it turns around on you, and you sound crazy.

t. Jim Gartner (#12 Testimonies)

Film director, has done free lance work for Gordon. He would say Gordon lives a lie, that he's had problems with him never getting paid, how possessive Gordon is with his money, how Gordon constantly lies so that it's impossible to know what is truth and what is false with him. He would say Gordon has beguiled countless people and that he's abused many people, but that he's very image conscious as far as the Church goes and that the rules never apply to him. Jim would tell about the time he took Gordon to the hospital for an emergency visit because Gordon had a twisted testicle which the doctor told Jim had to be from severe masturbation or homosexual activity.

u. Jim Bogner (#13 Testimonies)

Gordon told Jim about Gordon's father's friend sexually abusing him while Gordon watched. This contradicts Gordon's statement to me that he had waited 43 years to tell someone this and had finally confided in me and then he was disappointed in my response. Jim said Gordon promised a certain salary if Jim would move his family from California to Connecticut, but the salary was much less than promised. He told about Gordon insisting on staying in Jim's hotel room with one bed, showing up for film productions and just crunch up in a ball and sleep, telling Jim stories about ironing naked and the iron falling on his penis, Gordon asking Augustan Burrows (also gay) to come stay with him and read the scriptures together, about hearing about Gordon being found tied to the bed and that John Dooner, president of McCann was one of the people who found him, about telling constant lies, manipulating everyone, lying to President Stone for a temple recommend, being fired from Ogilvy when he'd lost the American Express account but lied that he decided to take another job, having his (Gordon's) home broken into by boys who destroyed things and smeared feces on the walls.

v. Brendan Ryan (#14 Testimonies)

Brendan Ryan worked with Gordon at Ogilvy and Mather as the account executive. He would explain how impossible it is for Gordon to work as a team, how seductive Gordon is, with an aversion to the truth, how he didn't do the work, but would always take the credit, how untrustworthy he is, that he's evil, and that when you don't believe in him anymore, he begins a maniacal mission to convince you that you are wrong, that he's a master of manipulation, can fool people in high places, that he's schizophrenic, that Gordon was a large part of the reason Brendan left Ogilvy and Mather, that Gordon did nothing at McCann but spent the first year redesigning his office, didn't save the Coke account, was found tied to a bed when he was supposed to be at an important meeting, that John Dooner, who was Gordon's boss knew about him being found tied to a bed and may have found him.

w. Diana Walker

She is a professional singer who met Gordon while touring with Phantom of the Opera. She would say Gordon was out of touch with reality, rarely present emotionally, that he tried to deceive her into thinking he was heterosexual, but that she found explicit homosexual magazines in his apartment. She would tell about grave acts of dishonesty and bizarre, suicidal behavior making her think he had jumped out of a seven story building window, that he could never be counted on, lied continually, said things just for the affect, told her I (Barbara) was the only woman he had ever loved, told her and everyone that he had purchased a $10,000 wedding ring for her but that it was stolen right after he bought it, so her never asked her to marry him. She would say how uncomfortable she felt in the way Gordon looked at other men, especially my sons!!!

x. Richard (Dick) Alsop

Dick was Gordon's boss at Bonneville and the one who fired Gordon. He told me he didn't want to say anything unless he was deposed but that he would then be more than willing to talk about what Gordon did to Bonneville and why they had to fire him. Apparently Gordon threatened Dick when Dick fired Gordon from Bonneville.

y. Ken Yagoda (#21 Testimonies)

Executive producer at Young and Rubicam, worked with Gordon there. He would say Gordon is a charlatan, a magical presenter, a master manipulator, totally unreliable, untrustworthy, legendary money abuses, has a bad reputation in New York, a master salesman, can weave a magical web, a pathological liar, manipulates people with presents and sweet notes, heard about him being found tied to a bed, heard about he would hire young boys to be production assistants on shoots which he wondered if Gordon did to abuse them. He would tell how Gordon told him a client wanted a 90 second spot which Ken labored on only to find out after presenting it that the client didn't ever want this and how it made him look stupid. He would tell how Gordon borrowed a lot of money for our wedding from Y & R (about $48,000) and never paid it back, and that Y&R wouldn't let him have a credit card because of his financial abuses.

z. Lynn Dangel (#22 Testimonies)

Lynn followed Gordon from J. Walter Thompson in Chicago, to Bonneville, to Ogilvy and Mather, working with him at all three and also having a personal relationship as his girlfriend. She would say that she had been a loyal devotee to Gordon and trusted him completely, protested with others that he shouldn't have been fired from Bonneville, but eventually learned that he was untrustworthy. She would say there were at least two Gordons, that he made everything a huge drama, that he'd be hours late for a dinner and have an elaborate excuse, that nothing bad ever sticks to him—he is the Bill Clinton of the Mormons, that he lied all the time, that what he does in the name of goodness is really in the name of power, that he likes running people's lives, that he wears his goodness on the outside and used to pray in his office with the door open so Lynn could see him. Every project she worked on him with ended in chaos and she had to fight to get paid from him, even hiring a lawyer with the last project when Gordon refused to pay. Gordon used to show him provocative modeling photos of my sons, but nothing of me. Helayne Spivak told Lynn that Gordon seemed more married to Collin than to me, that Gordon told her (Helayne) that our family gets in bed naked every Sunday, including the grown boys. Janene James told Lynn that Gordon said he walked into the shower when Collin was showering. Lynn got two rooms for Gordon to take Collin to the Academy Awards and Gordon was livid because he wanted only one room with one bed. Gordon told her about a shoot he was supposed to be on but instead he took Collin driving a rented Jaguar, 100 miles an hour, up and down the coast, Highway One, missing work. She would tell about having been strangled in her apartment by a predator who broke in, left for dead and that when Gordon called to see if he could help, 3 days later and she asked if he would take her back to her apartment from the hotel she had gone to, he told her he was taking people to a Broadway show and couldn't help. She would say he jeopardized her career and took two years out of her life when she was dating him.

KK (X) aa. Scott Swofford (#15 Testimonies)

Scott was an underling at Bonneville when Gordon came in as a production assistant. (He just finished filming "The Work and the Glory." Scott says Gordon used him to find out about others in the organization. Then Gordon would magnify the weakness of those above him and have them fired, like Ross Richins who was the creative director, but Gordon then took his place. Gordon also managed to get both Heber Wolsey, director of public communications for the Church and John Kinnear (sp) assistant director fired. He convinced the Brethren of the Church that these men were not competent and were filtering his ideas before they could review them. Scott said that Gordon would invite him to come stay with him at his home on 12th East, insisting that he sleep in the same bed because he said evil spirits were plaguing his home. Scott said Gordon kept invading his personal space all night. He said Gordon would continually invite him to expensive dinners and then have him spend the night. Scott said Gordon insisted on going to Chicago for the filming of "The Last Leaf," insisted on staying with Scott in his room to save money, and then would be found missing throughout the shoot. He said Gordon would make appointments and then never show up. He knew about Jim Garner taking him to the ER because of a twisted testicle and about significant expense account abuse and billing fraud by Gordon at Bonneville. He said, "Anyone with less than an intense relationship with Gordon just can't see it, can't really see how devious he is."

* h bb. Rob Brazell (#24 Testimonies) Von Whitby ?

Rob hired Gordon for his company, Idea Exchange. He said he would be glad to talk under subpoena as would his partners, Von Whitby and Brad Baklwin who did most of the research on Gordon after they hired him and then determined that he was a fraud and that they needed to fire him. Rob said Gordon lived two lives, had a pathological problem with not telling the truth, said bad things about Rob behind his back, always makes others look bad to take the heat off himself. They contacted Bonneville, American Express, and Ogilvy and Mather to find out about Gordon and establish his dishonest and fraudulent behavior. They finally threatened a law suit and demanded he restore the bonus money they'd given him (approximately $70,000 which Gordon refused to pay and so my father, Alma Boyce paid it so it wouldn't evolve into a larger law suit of $350,000 which they threatened.) Rob said call Marilyn Lawry who said, "Everyone knows Gordon has a dark side and another life."

B cc. Ross Richins (#28 Testimonies)

Ross hired Gordon at Bonneville and was fired when Gordon got the people at Bonneville to question his work, to do away with his job and create a new job, creative director which was filled by Gordon. Ross said that Gordon is a brilliant strategist who can pull, construe and manipulate things for his own interest. He said Gordon was always end running, going to a high authority like Arch Madsen, saying he was working on specific projects he wanted to work on rather than work on what he was given. He said Gordon even tried to get the Church's work away from the missionary department and come directly to Bonneville. Gordon was never accountable, would do whatever he wanted, like just not showing up for work one day and Ross finding out he'd gone to Chicago for the shoot of "The Last Leaf." He said he said or did something that questioned Oscar Underwood's integrity and Oscar went to Dick Allsop and said that if he didn't get that corrected, Oscar was going to sue Bonneville.

dd. Paul Capelli (#23 Testimonies)

Paul was a creative director at McCann Erickson and now runs his own advertising agency, The Ad Store. Paul said that Gordon came to McCann and tried to get Paul fired as the creative director on the Coke account so that he (Gordon) could get his ideas through. He said that Bill Grogan, formerly at McCann, but now at AOL could help and told about Gordon demanding to go on a shoot on the west coast, then not showing up for the shoot and Bill seeing him on channel 4 at the Republican convention in Dallas. Paul said Gordon was a total fake, claiming the Bonneville Homefront Commercials, but the truth being that he hadn't done any of the work., John Dooner hiring him because of his successful campaign with "Portraits," but that it was easy hiring Annie Lebowitz as the photographer and Rick Lewine as the director. Paul said he knew about Gordon taking homeless men to his apartment, Gordon claiming it was to feed them. Gordon tried to take the Jet Blue account away from Paul's company because Gordon knows Dave Neeleman. (Dave owns half of the property Gordon and I own on Haven Lane.) Paul said he knew about the "tied to the bed," incident and would help find the secretary who found him and that Mary Ellen Cloid, another secretary could help. Paul said that Gordon tries to appear to be righteous and would scold Paul for using any swear words, but that Gordon is fraudulent and Satan incarnate.

ee. Stan Ferguson (#26 Testimonies)

Stan worked with Gordon at Bonneville. Stan said that as soon as Gordon came on board he began to manipulate, winning by intimidation, getting Ross Richins fired and taking over his job. He said Gordon was able to pull people in and then exclude you. Gordon would invite Stan into his office and then just sit there and stare at him. Stan came to understand this a manipulative techniques used by people who want to have power over you. He said he went through hell with him because he could see through him, the lie, the masquerade. Stan said that from the first moment of knowing Gordon he felt there was something evil there. He said that when Gordon first bought the house on 12th East, he would call many of the guys from Bonneville to come spend the night with him because of the evil spirits that haunted the house. Stan spoke with the medical doctor who had examined Gordon when Gordon had a twisted testicle. The doctor said it had to have happened through really rough sex, perhaps homosexual sex. Stan thought he had kept the article about Gordon having been found tied to the bed in Ad Age, but when he looked for it, he couldn't find it. Stan said that Gordon almost single-handedly destroyed the relationship between Bonneville and the Church. When the people at Bonneville talked about Gordon, they wondered if he was one of the anti-Christ. He felt like the Scott Peck book, "People of the Lie," was written about Gordon.

ff. Janene James (#27 Testimonies)

Janene is a designer in New York who has done a number of projects for Gordon. She has her own firm and Gordon lined up an internship with Janene for summer 2003 when he and Collin lived in Gordon's $14,000/mo apartment. (I was trying to help Eric get ready and leave for a mission that summer)

Janene said that one morning in Salt Lake City, she picked up Gordon at his home and Gordon got in the car and said, "Well, I just got a wake up call. I didn't think anybody was up. I don't usually use the shower, but when I opened the shower door to get in, there was Collin stark naked and it reminded me that I have teenage boys." (I later asked Collin and he said he didn't remember any such incident.) She said she tried to get Gordon into therapy to face his demons and his shadow side. She said Gordon knows he's two people. He disappears and has a lot of deep emotional stuff, but he going to two healers (David Hamblin and Mel Fish, I assume) that have helped him. She said Gordon told her, "Barb tried everything. She was always nurturing and compassionate and trying to reach out to me, but I didn't respond." Janene told Gordon once, "I don't know how Barbara stays married to you, all your crazy behavior, mission all those airplane flights, home only every other weekend with so many two weeks in a row without seeing your family." Janene said that Gordon is tricky. He's good at making you think you've misperceived something he's said or done.

gg. Brigham Wilcox (#25 Testimonies)

Brigham worked on a yard crew at Gordon's house, along with others, summer 1993. He said that Gordon was weird and spent too much time talking to the crew and watching them, especially when it was hot and they would take their shirts off. Brigham said that Gordon would have them stand, with their shirts off, in certain spots to help him visualize where the trees should go. He said that Gordon didn't seem to have appropriate boundaries and one day, when they were eating lunch by the pool he started pushing people in the pool with their work clothes and boots on and he'd say, "Swim."

hh. Stephanie Pace

Stephanie was Gordon's English professor at the U of U and then later a girlfriend. Gordon told his friend, Brad Nygren, that he had had the best sex of his life with Stephanie, but Stephanie later became lesbian and has had a partner for many years. Stephanie still stays in touch with Gordon to my knowledge.

ii. Augustan Burrows

Worked for Gordon at Ogilvy. I haven't located Augustan, but Jim Bogner said that Augustan called Jim to say he was concerned because Gordon kept inviting Gordon over to his house to read the scriptures and Augustan, although gay, felt it was a ploy to get him to be intimate with Gordon and didn't want to become involved with Gordon. Augustan felt it was too strange and felt like Gordon was trying to manipulate him using the Church and spiritual things.

jj. Jeff Carrier

I haven't located Jeff Carrier. He worked as a secretary at Ogilvy and Mather, was homosexual, and Gordon wrote him a letter with spiritual and sexual innuendoes. Kevin Kelly confronted him about it and that was the day Gordon wrote the check for $247,000 to the bishop and made sure his secretary, Michelle Avantario, saw the amount.

kk. Hermann Peine (See Items 15, 16a, 16b)
