Class Description:

Nature's Forecast Friends is a 12-week, play-based class designed to introduce preschool children to the wonders of weather and the changing seasons through hands-on, sensory-rich experiences. Through weekly exploration of wind, rain, sun, snow, and more, children will observe, touch, move, and create while learning to notice the world around them.

This class is ideal for young learners ages 3–5 and emphasizes minimal setup while maximizing sensory engagement, movement, and simple nature-based materials. The curriculum encourages connection to nature, early scientific thinking, and self-expression through play and storytelling.
