Correct the Sequence

Below are the events that have to happen for someone to become a saint through the Church.
Label each event in the correct order. The first one has been done for you.

		If another miracle happens, then this is also investigated and sent to the Pope.
		The church leaders then investigate to make sure that the miracles are real.
		After much prayer, the Pope may declare the person a saint.
		Once they agree that one miracle is real, they send the information to the Pope. At that point, the person is called Blessed.
1		When the person has died, if there are miracles that have happened due to their help, then these are told to the church leaders.
