May Travel Tips

- It's still Jelly Season, from November to the end of May. So swim only inside nets & listen to lifeguard recommendations.
- It's crock season so maybe you'll get lucky & spot one but don't swim outside nets or in river outlets.
- Bring an umbrella & sunscreen
- Snorkeling on the reef, get on your latex to avoid the jellies sting.

May Weather Forecast

A GLANCE AT THE WEATHER FOR THE MONTH AHEAD.

As autumn settles in, May in Cairns offers the perfect mix of warm, sunny days and milder temperatures, making it an ideal time for outdoor adventures and exploring the region's stunning landscapes. Here's what to expect:

Temperature:

May brings pleasantly warm weather, with average temperatures around 24°C (75°F). Daytime highs reach 27°C (81°F), while evenings cool to a comfortable 20°C (68°F)—perfect for alfresco dining or a stroll along the Esplanade.

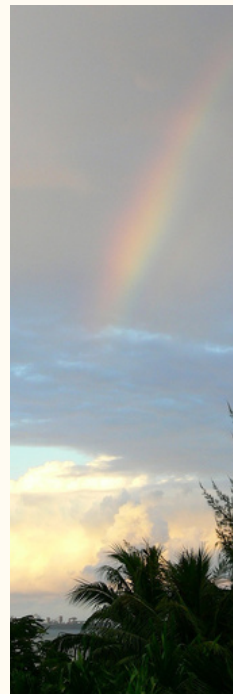

Rainfall:

The wet season fades, with rainfall dropping to an average of 90 mm (3.5 inches) over 7 days. Showers become less frequent, allowing for longer days of uninterrupted sunshine—perfect for exploring the Great Barrier Reef or Daintree Rainforest.

Humidity and Winds:

Humidity levels ease to around 70%, making outdoor activities more comfortable. Gentle sea breezes keep things refreshing, especially in the afternoons.

With clearer skies, lower humidity, and warm waters, May is one of the best months to experience Cairns—whether you're heading to the reef, hiking in the hinterland, or enjoying the region's exciting lineup of events!

Other Weather Forecasts

Cyclones: May is still part of Queensland's cyclone season, though severe cyclones become less likely. While storms can develop, major events are rare. Authorities monitor weather patterns closely, ensuring timely updates and safety measures.
