

Engage With SheGeekSpeak: Tami Booth as Your Corporate Host

Transform your next corporate event with Tami Booth, the dynamic force behind SheGeekSpeak. Offering expertly crafted sessions on team building, diversity, and leadership engagement, Tami brings award-winning communication strategies to organizations seeking meaningful growth. This document outlines the various ways you can partner with SheGeekSpeak to create impactful experiences for your team.

 by Tami Booth

About Tami Booth & SheGeekSpeak

Tami Booth stands as an award-winning communications expert and strategist whose influence extends across multiple industries. Through her platform SheGeekSpeak, she has established herself as a recognized leader in transformational team building, diversity initiatives, and leadership development. Companies seeking a combination of expertise, charisma, and actionable insights consistently turn to Tami for their most important engagements.

With years of experience as a presenter for major brands, non-profit organizations, and executive leadership teams, Tami brings a wealth of real-world knowledge to every session she leads. Her approach blends cutting-edge research with practical applications, ensuring participants don't just listen—they learn, engage, and implement meaningful changes in their professional environments.

What sets Tami apart is her unique ability to connect with diverse audiences, from technical teams to executive boards, creating an atmosphere of trust and openness that facilitates genuine transformation. Her background in both corporate leadership and communications gives her the versatility to address complex organizational challenges while keeping content accessible and immediately applicable.

Tami's sessions consistently receive outstanding feedback for their balance of substantive content and engaging delivery. Participants frequently cite her ability to make complex concepts approachable and her talent for creating safe spaces where authentic conversations can flourish. Beyond her dynamic presence, Tami provides customized resources that extend the impact of her sessions long after the event concludes.

Signature Team Building Sessions

SheGeekSpeak's team building programs go far beyond conventional icebreakers and trust falls. Tami Booth has developed a suite of interactive workshops designed to address the real challenges teams face in today's complex work environments. Each session is carefully crafted to strengthen connections while simultaneously building crucial professional skills that translate directly to improved performance.

Interactive Problem-Solving Workshops

Teams tackle carefully designed challenges that mirror workplace scenarios, developing collaborative approaches to overcome obstacles. These workshops create a laboratory for developing communication strategies that can be immediately applied to real-world situations. Participants report not just improved team dynamics but also practical tools for navigating complex workplace interactions.

Gamified Team Challenges

Tami's specially designed gamified experiences are tailored to suit both technical and non-technical teams, providing engaging platforms for collaboration across different skill sets. These activities reveal individual strengths while building mutual appreciation among team members with diverse backgrounds and expertise. Sessions can be customized for specific industry contexts and team compositions.

Real-World Trust Exercises

Moving beyond superficial team activities, these structured experiences create meaningful opportunities for vulnerability and connection. By establishing psychological safety, teams develop the foundation for honest communication and authentic collaboration. Participants consistently report stronger interpersonal bonds and increased willingness to share innovative ideas after these sessions.

All team building programs can be delivered in half-day, full-day, or multi-session formats, with options for both in-person and virtual delivery. Each experience concludes with a structured debrief that helps participants translate insights into concrete workplace applications.

Diversity in Teams: Unlocking Innovation

Tami Booth brings unparalleled expertise to the critical intersection of diversity and innovation. Her programs in this area move beyond superficial discussions to explore how genuinely inclusive environments drive breakthrough thinking and sustainable competitive advantage. Drawing on current research and practical experience, these sessions deliver both inspiration and actionable frameworks.

The Business Impact of Diverse Teams

This compelling keynote presentation makes the data-driven case for diversity as a business imperative rather than simply a compliance issue. Tami presents cutting-edge research on how diverse teams outperform homogeneous ones across key metrics including innovation, problem-solving, and financial performance. The presentation includes industry-specific examples and addresses the neuroscience behind diverse thinking styles.

Inclusion Action Labs

These hands-on workshops provide practical tools for building inclusion into daily team interactions. Participants identify specific opportunities within their current workflows where inclusive practices can be strengthened. The session includes role-playing exercises, communication frameworks, and customizable templates that teams can immediately implement. Follow-up resources ensure sustained impact beyond the initial session.

Addressing Unconscious Bias

These focused spotlight talks confront the hidden biases that undermine team effectiveness. Rather than inducing guilt or defensiveness, Tami's approach creates awareness through interactive exercises that reveal how bias operates in everyday decisions. Participants leave with specific techniques for recognizing and counteracting bias in hiring, project assignment, idea evaluation, and other critical team functions.

Each diversity program includes comprehensive resources for participants and optional follow-up modules to strengthen implementation. Tami is particularly skilled at creating environments where sensitive topics can be discussed productively and without defensiveness, making these sessions accessible to teams at any stage of their diversity journey.

Engagement as a Manager of People

Leading with both compassion and effectiveness is perhaps the greatest challenge managers face today. Tami Booth's leadership programs target this specific tension, providing managers with concrete tools to build engaged teams while delivering exceptional results. These highly interactive sessions combine theory, practice, and personalized feedback.

SheGeekSpeak's management development offerings recognize that leadership happens in moments—specific interactions where managers either build or erode engagement. Tami's approach focuses on mastering these critical conversations through structured practice in a supportive environment. Participants consistently report greater confidence in addressing difficult situations and improved team dynamics following these programs.

Each leadership program can be delivered as a standalone session or as part of a comprehensive development series. Organizations typically see the greatest impact when combining initial training with follow-up coaching and implementation support. All materials are customized to reflect the specific challenges and vocabulary of your organization.

Mastering Difficult Conversations

These role-play intensive sessions equip managers with frameworks for delivering effective feedback, addressing performance issues, and navigating interpersonal conflicts. Participants practice real-world scenarios with professional coaching and peer feedback.

Building High-Performance Teams

Managers learn research-backed techniques for cultivating engagement, fostering psychological safety, and promoting productive collaboration. The program includes assessment tools for diagnosing team dynamics and targeted interventions.

Compassionate Leadership Case Studies

Through analyzing real-world examples, participants identify the specific practices that allow leaders to combine empathy with accountability. The session explores how to adapt these approaches to different team contexts.

Fresh Engagement Formats for Companies

SheGeekSpeak recognizes that effective learning and development requires formats that match your organization's unique culture and constraints. Tami Booth offers flexible delivery options that can be tailored to your team's schedule, attention span, and learning preferences. All formats can be delivered virtually or in-person, with hybrid options available for distributed teams.

Lunch-and-Learns & Fireside Chats

These 45-90 minute sessions deliver focused content in an accessible format. Lunch-and-learns typically include interactive elements and takeaway resources, while fireside chats pair Tami with an internal leader for a guided conversation on targeted topics. Both formats work well for introducing new concepts or reinforcing organizational priorities.

Expert Panels & Executive Roundtables

Tami excels as both a moderator and panelist, bringing structure and insight to multi-voice conversations. Executive roundtables provide intimate settings for leadership teams to explore specific challenges with expert facilitation. These formats are particularly effective for addressing complex topics that benefit from diverse perspectives.

Hands-On Clinics & Virtual Events

For skills that require practice, hands-on clinics provide structured opportunities to apply new techniques with expert guidance. Virtual events use specialized platforms and methodologies to create engaging remote experiences that maintain the interactive quality of in-person sessions while accommodating distributed teams.

SheGeekSpeak can also design custom formats to meet specific organizational needs, including multi-session learning journeys, blended approaches combining live and asynchronous elements, and scalable programs that can be cascaded through different organizational levels.

Customizable Packages & Bespoke Topics

SheGeekSpeak offers fully tailored programs that address the specific challenges and opportunities facing your organization. Tami Booth works closely with clients to understand their unique context and develop content that resonates with their particular audience. This customization ensures that participants experience relevant, immediately applicable learning rather than generic concepts.

Team-Specific Packages

Programs designed for the distinct needs of different organizational contexts:

- Startup Acceleration: Fast-paced sessions for growing teams navigating rapid change and limited resources
- Enterprise Integration: Programs that address the challenges of collaboration across departments and hierarchies
- Remote-First Teams: Specialized approaches for building connection and clarity in distributed environments

Specialized Topic Modules

Focused content addressing specific workplace dynamics:

- Communication for Introverts: Strategies for quieter team members to contribute effectively without changing their nature
- Supporting Neurodiversity: Practical approaches for creating environments where different cognitive styles thrive
- Cross-Generational Collaboration: Techniques for bridging communication gaps between different age cohorts

SheGeekSpeak also offers valuable enhancement options to extend the impact of your program:

- Custom Workbook Creation: Professionally designed materials that capture key concepts and provide structured implementation tools
- Follow-Up Coaching: Individual or small group sessions to support application of concepts and address specific challenges
- Digital Resource Libraries: Curated collections of articles, videos, and exercises that reinforce learning over time
- Internal Champion Development: Training for selected team members who will sustain initiatives after formal programming ends

All customized programs begin with a thorough needs assessment to ensure alignment with organizational goals and cultural context. This collaborative design process typically takes 2-4 weeks depending on program complexity.

How to Book or Explore Ideas

Initial Consultation

Schedule a complimentary 30-minute discovery call to discuss your organization's needs and explore how Tami Booth can create the most impact for your team. This conversation will help shape potential topics and formats that align with your specific objectives and audience. Come prepared to share your team's current challenges and what success would look like from your engagement.

Tami Booth can serve in multiple capacities for your event:

Lead Host & Facilitator

Tami delivers complete programs with her signature blend of expertise, engagement, and actionable takeaways. Her facilitation style creates safe spaces for authentic participation while maintaining focus on key objectives.

Co-Presenter & Collaborator

Partner Tami with your internal leaders for powerful combinations of external expertise and organizational context. This approach is particularly effective for change initiatives requiring visible internal championship.

Panel Moderator & Subject Expert

Leverage Tami's facilitation skills to guide meaningful panel discussions or incorporate her as a thought leader within your existing event structure. Her versatility allows her to add value in multiple formats.

Program Design

Following your initial conversation, you'll receive a customized proposal outlining recommended program options, including content focus areas, delivery formats, and enhancement opportunities. This proposal will also include investment details and available dates for your event. Tami's team will work closely with you to refine this proposal until it perfectly matches your vision.

Seamless Delivery

Once your program is confirmed, Tami will conduct additional research to customize content for your specific industry and organizational context. Her team will coordinate all logistics, materials, and technical requirements to ensure a smooth experience. After delivery, you'll receive a comprehensive impact report with key insights and recommendations for sustaining momentum.

Ready to explore how SheGeekSpeak can elevate your next corporate event? Visit shegeekspeak.com to connect with Tami Booth and discover how her expertise can address your team's specific challenges. Programs are typically booked 4-12 weeks in advance, with limited availability for shorter-notice engagements.