Natural* and Certified Organic Poultry

The Empire® Kosher Difference

Today's consumers are choosing Empire® Kosher Natural* and Organic poultry more than ever before, as they seek the best-tasting poultry brand delivering the values important to them. Beginning with our stringent compliance to kosher law, our millions of loyal consumers of all ages and backgrounds know our commitment to premium quality extends beyond Jewish dietary laws to our own consistent standards for taste, wholesomeness, and humanity.

GLATT

Starting with our family farmers who raise our poultry from our own hatchery without antibiotics ever, exclusively with a custom blend of fortified vegetarian feed (that never contains animal by-products) from our own mill, Empire® Kosher products taste Certifiably Delicious. We never administer growth hormones or steroids and humanely raise our poultry with room to roam, and fresh food and water on demand so that they never know hunger. Raising our poultry in a stress-free environment helps Empire® to taste great but that's only the beginning.

Empire® Kosher is based in the beautiful hills of Central Pennsylvania, some of the best agricultural land in the country, so that we can deliver our poultry to all customers at the peak of quality. Our family farmers start locally and have expanded to meet rising product demand, under our complete supervision to ensure compliance to our standards.

Our History

Our present is as important as our history, because our commitment to our heritage is what makes it easy to choose Empire® Kosher poultry today. Since 1938, we have produced kosher chicken to the strictest standards for kashruth, as envisioned by Joseph N. Katz, an immigrant of humble beginnings.

Later a resident of Liberty, New York, Joseph started Empire® Kosher in his home. He had the goal of supplying the finest poultry to kosher consumers across the United States who might lack local availability.

Named for New York, the Empire State, Empire® Kosher recruited the most diligent Rabbis from Europe and what is now Israel as it grew, and our Rabbis, our 'Shochtim' and 'Masgichim' honor that old-world tradition today to ensure stringent compliance to kosher law. Our facilities and families have been in Mifflintown, PA since the 1960s.

Today's Rabbis may be challenged to adhere to kosher standards while adapting to modern agricultural changes but Empire® adheres to tradition.

Why is Kosher for Everyone?

In the long history of kosher products, kosher standards and requirements were rooted in core values including caring for human and animal health, quality, cleanliness, and caring for the environment long before sustainability became part of our daily language. These values are inherent in the Empire® Kosher brand today. Empire® Kosher has not adapted to modern agricultural practices inconsistent with our standards, although many have been accepted by other kosher poultry brands such as the use of antibiotics or using animal by-products in feed.

How is Empire® Kosher so Certifiably Delicious?

The Kosher process combined with our proprietary methods is what gives our products their great taste.

Salting and Rinsing

The koshering process actually ‘brines’ the poultry through a required salting and rinsing process that actually tenderizes and enhances the taste of our meat, while also reducing bacteria and other impurities. There is no need to brine Empire® poultry before it is cooked, making it a favorite with chefs and professional cooks.

Less shrinkage: Empire® Kosher poultry retains significantly more weight after cooking due to the salting and rinsing process which helps maintain moisture during the cooking process. This makes Empire® Kosher an even better value. The amount of retained water will be stated on every product as needed.

Cold Water Processing

Only cold water is allowed to be used to process kosher poultry, and we only use cold spring water from our own wells. This minimizes bacteria and cross-contamination, and helps give our poultry its fresh look and taste, while rinsing away blood. Warm water processing used by non-kosher brands can affect taste differently.

Purity

Throughout the process, constant attention is given to cleanliness and purity. Rigorous tests and temperature inspections throughout the process ensure product safety by our highly trained quality control specialists under our BRC Global Standard for Food Safety Certification, a leading Global Food Safety Initiative (GFSI) partner. Our highly experienced rabbinic inspectors also check every single chicken, turkey and duck for any abnormalities – such as broken bones or injuries -- that might render it unacceptable. They reject 3x the amount of product compared to government inspectors. They also oversee the cleansing and packaging of the poultry.

Humane Processing

In addition to humanely raising our flocks, we transport and handle our flocks with care throughout the entire process. Our harvesting process is swiftly and painlessly performed by hand in accordance with Jewish dietary laws that command humane treatment of animals. Our highly-experienced Rabbis are trained in this centuries-old tradition.

It Takes Time

Our family farmers raise our chickens without administering antibiotics, growth hormones or steroids to accelerate growth, so they take the full nine weeks to grow. In addition, the Empire® Kosher process takes four hours for processing each chicken at minimum – in comparison to others taking just 45 minutes.

Passover

All Empire® raw and deli products are kosher for Passover all-year-round unless otherwise indicated. See our Passover price list for details.
