GABILA'S HISTORY

Gabila's has a proud tradition, with its roots embedded in the streets of New York City.

The knish (mashed potatoes wrapped in dough then baked or fried) was eaten as a snack, appetizer or side dish. It became famous in the early 1900's.

Gabila's Knishes began in 1921, when Elia and Bella Gabay created "Brooklyn's Original Coney Island Square Knish." Using Bella's original recipe, they created a lightly seasoned mashed potato pie wrapped in the ultimate crispy crust.

Gabila's Knishes started in the Gabay kitchen in the lower east side of New York City. Bella did the cooking while her husband, Elia, sold their delicious knishes on a push cart. Before they knew it, all the delis across New York City were asking for the Gabila Knish. In 1928, the Gabays moved their operation to a larger facility in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn, New York.

In no time, the Gabila Knish became a staple item on every push cart in New York City.

As business grew, the Gabays invented a veritable production miracle, an automated knish machine. This invention was critical to meet the overwhelming demands of their customers, from the famous Nathan's restaurants in Coney Island, to sports fans at the various New York City area stadiums.

Today, this fourth generation, family owned and operated business, is still the "King of Potato Pies" producing over fifteen-million knishes per year with pride and tradition. Still using Bella's original recipe, each Gabila Knish has its own unique look.

In 2006, Gabila relocated its factory from Brooklyn, New York to a new, state-of-the art facility, on the south shore of Long Island, New York.

Over the years, Gabila's added 99% fat free knishes and gourmet knishes to their line, both items featured in various flavors and sizes.

Recently, Gabila's further expanded its product line, adding additional gourmet items such as handmade cheese blintzes and delicious pancakes. Both items are available in various flavors. Gabila also offers pickles, peppers and low-fat souffles in many varieties. Gabila's famous holiday favorites include sweet noodle, apple, and potato pudding, as well as egg barley mushroom, kasha varnishka, and matzoh balls.

Once only available on the streets of New York City, Gabila's Food Products, with over 100 items to choose from, are now available for all to enjoy. Gabila's line of fine products is available in major supermarkets, warehouse clubs, stadiums and delis throughout the nation.
