CORPORATE SERVICES AUGUST UPDATE

SAFETY MOMENT

Safety starts with each of us. Take a moment today to identify potential hazards, follow safe work practices, and speak up if something doesn't look right. Small actions can prevent serious incidents and help ensure everyone goes home safely. Let's stay alert, engaged, and committed to making safety part of everything we do

HR UPDATE

Submissions are still open for Atwell Around the World! Heading out on a summer adventure? Snap a photo with the Atwell logo visible somewhere in the picture and submit it for a chance to earn AwardCo points. Whether you're exploring a new destination or enjoying a local getaway, show us where your travels take you while representing Atwell along the way. We can't wait to see your photos!

LEADERSHIP SPOTLIGHT

Courtney Schmidt, Vice President: The safest organizations aren't built by policies alone; they're built by people who care enough to act. Every good catch, every question asked, and every conversation about safety strengthens our culture. Thank you for making safety a personal commitment every day."

GOOD CATCH WINNER

While Kirt Edmonston from the Baton Rouge crew was performing a routine survey check on an excavation project, he noticed that a measurement was unexpectedly off by 0.10 feet. Instead of assuming it was an instrument error or continuing with the work, Kirt took the time to investigate. He discovered that the stem of the prism had remained attached to the survey rod from a previous setup, resulting in an inaccurate elevation reading. By recognizing that something wasn't right and taking a few extra moments to verify the equipment, Kirt prevented incorrect measurements from impacting the project. His attention to detail helped catch the issue early and serves as a reminder that taking a moment to verify something that doesn't seem right can make all the difference.
