

Luck

Written by Nate Jones

I'm so tired my mind keeps racing
And I must be blind but can't keep pace
And time after time my life don't seem to be mine
Clock turns five I'm already late again
I can't tell if I'm up or I'm down or when
All of this running around's gonna get me in line
If I could you know I just might
Try to find a little love in a world full of right
I'm lying like hell with a smile saying "everything's fine"

It goes bang bang bang
And I turn around and then
One more thing that I haven't found
A minute in the middle of the best days of my life
Bang bang bang cause life has another plan
I guess I'll change my mind here we go again
Just when I thought I had a little luck on my side

Day after day it all seems the same
Try to make a little money just to give it away
I'm walking the line between right
And everything ....else
Who's to say what it is or it ain't
If I started all over would you still call it fate
Even if I didn't it would only seem a little in...sane

It goes bang bang bang
And I turn around and then
One more thing that I haven't found
A minute in the middle of the best days of my life
Bang bang bang cause life has another plan
I guess I'll change my mind here we go again
Just when I thought I had a little luck on my side

Just when I thought I had a little luck on my side (4x)

It goes bang bang bang
And I turn around and then
One more thing that I haven't found

A minute in the middle of the best days of my life
Bang bang bang cause life has another plan
I guess I'll change my mind here we go again
Just when I thought I had a little luck on my side