September 2026

The dawn of a new day. Opening your eyes in the morning and taking a moment to realize you have been given another day on this earth. For me, nothing satisfies me more than opening my eyes and saying, "Good morning!" to the Lord. Then taking a moment of thanksgiving and saying words of prayer for the day ahead. As each day is different, I will sometimes have someone on my mind first thing in the morning, so I will take that moment to pray for them too. Then it's off to get my day started as I get ready to head into work. Most weekdays coffee or tea doesn't even touch my lips until I get to work. That has to be my second favorite part to my day. Nothing beats a great cup of coffee in the morning, unless it's a great cup of tea! I like them both. And truth be told, it can't just be black coffee for me. It has to be "fancy coffee" with at least a little bit of sweet flavoring and cream. I'll even drink it cold. Yum!

I truly enjoy the weekends, though. Since I have most mornings to myself, I get to take more time with the Lord and linger in prayer and scripture. I'll say my "good morning," give thanks, and pray, and then it's time to get up and get a cup of coffee or tea. After that, I get to continue my time with the Lord and the Bible, leisurely enjoying my coffee or tea as I read and pray again.

On weekdays, my time for reading the Bible and meditating is usually saved for the evenings after dinner. But as I go about my day, there are several moments when I stop to have a quick prayer or conversation with the Lord. But it's not the same as just sitting with Him and spending that important time. In the evenings, there's no coffee or tea to enjoy either, or I won't sleep! So, for me, there is nothing better than those quiet mornings where I get to linger with Him. I'm reminded of that joke about Jesus making coffee: "How does Jesus make his coffee? Hebrews it!" I know Jesus has never made coffee, but sometimes I do imagine him sitting there with me sharing in a cup. Just enjoying His peace, His comfort, His grace, His wisdom, and His Love. And in that moment, there's no place I'd rather be!

So then, just as you received Christ Jesus as Lord, continue to live your lives in him, rooted and built up in him, strengthened in the faith as you were taught, and overflowing with thankfulness. Colossians 2:6-7
