- Definition of disability

1. Own Occupation: benefits are paid if you're unable to work in your own occupation due to a sickness or injury, even if you choose to work in another occupation. This is the strongest definition of disability in the industry and such protection is especially important to physicians.
2. Own Occupation and Not Working: benefits are paid if you're unable to work in your occupation due to a sickness or injury and if you're not working in another occupation.

Both definitions include built-in specialty language for physicians. This means if you have limited your duties to the performance of the usual and customary functions of a specific, professionally recognized medical specialty, we will consider that specialty your occupation. You're considered disabled if you can't perform the duties of your medical specialty, provided you are working in that specialty immediately prior to disability.

- Riders* can further enhance your protection. There are seven riders to choose from including:

- Residual Disability: not all disabilities are total. Sometimes you can return to work on a limited or partial basis, either working fewer hours or performing limited duties. Choose from Enhanced and Basic residual options to help supplement your earnings during a partial disability.

We've included a Recovery benefit under our Enhanced Residual rider which is payable, if you recover and return to your occupation on a full-time basis but continue to experience a loss of income (and the loss is directly related to your previous disability).

- Future Increase Option: over time when your salary increases, so will your need to protect your income with additional disability coverage. This rider helps you to plan for your future income protection needs.

- Cost of Living Adjustment: increases your total monthly benefit after one full year of disability to help offset the effects of inflation. 6% Compound and 3% Simple options available.
- Student Loan Repayment: reimburses student loan payments during a total or residual disability.

- Industry-exclusive features* at no additional cost.

- Nondisabling Injury Benefit: if you suffer an injury that does not disable you but requires medical or dental treatment, this feature reimburses the cost of that treatment, up to one-half of your base monthly benefit, not to exceed $3,000 per injury.
- Good Health Benefit: waives two days from the elimination period for each consecutive year you don't receive monthly disability benefits under your policy. However, your elimination period will not be reduced to less than 30 days.
- COBRA Premium Benefit: if you lose your employment due to your disability, this feature will reimburse the cost of COBRA premiums (individual or family) up to $1,000 per month for a maximum of 18 months, so you can continue your medical insurance.
