

Oxford Numerology University®

PROSPECTUS

Institutional Introduction

Oxford Numerology University® is a private academic institution founded in 2023 in Oxford, United Kingdom, under the authority of Oxford Numerology Society. The university was established to provide the highest standard of professional education in numerology and to lead the global development of this emerging scientific and holistic discipline. Rooted in over two decades of research and practice, the university embodies a structured academic response to the approval of the European Occupational Standard COR 516102 for the profession of numerologist.

Academic Vision & Educational Philosophy

Oxford Numerology University® is committed to delivering comprehensive numerology education through a fully online, flexible and internationally accessible learning model. Our vision integrates rigorous scientific understanding, deep metaphysical insight, and a strong focus on professional application. We believe that numerology, as a language of universal intelligence, can be taught and practiced with the same precision and accountability as any other professional field.

The educational philosophy of the university is based on:

- Alignment with international occupational standards
 - Competency-based progression
 - Integrative learning formats combining theory, practice, mentorship, and independent research
 - The ethical commitment of the modern numerologist
-

Oxford Numerology University®

Programme Structure

The full programme of study spans six academic years, each comprising 1,500 hours of structured learning, resulting in a total of 9,000 academic hours (equivalent to 360 ECTS credits). Each year awards a diploma corresponding to a professional level:

1. Certified Numerologist
 2. Counsellor Numerologist
 3. Trainer Numerologist
 4. Coach Numerologist (available from 2026)
 5. Professor Numerologist (available from 2027)
 6. Master Numerologist (available from 2028)
-

Curriculum Highlights

Each academic level includes:

- Personal and professional numerology charts
 - Historical and comparative systems
 - Symbolic logic, numeric psychology, and applied casework
 - Advanced counselling and client support methodologies
 - Didactic and coaching techniques
 - International numerological traditions and interdisciplinary research
-

Oxford Numerology University®

Methodology & Assessment

All programmes are delivered through Open and Distance Learning (ODL), including:

- Live video sessions
- Asynchronous modules and reading materials
- Guided practical exercises
- Supervised client work

Each year includes two formal assessments (intermediate and final), with continuous feedback and self-paced milestones. Learners interact with certified trainers, mentors, and assessors throughout the process.

Certification & Professional Relevance

Oxford Numerology University® grants a diploma after each academic year. All certifications are aligned with the European Occupational Standard for Numerologists (COR 516102), which defines the competencies and scope of practice at each professional level. Graduates may work independently or in multidisciplinary teams, and are encouraged to contribute to research and publication initiatives supported by the university.

Languages of Instruction & International Outlook

Courses are currently offered in English and Romanian, with Spanish (2026), French (2027), and Italian (2028) to be added progressively. The university is actively expanding its international recognition and is currently undergoing accreditation processes with AAOU (Asia), IPHM (UK), IICT (Australia), and AADP (USA).

Oxford Numerology University® welcomes students from all cultural, linguistic and professional backgrounds who resonate with the transformative power of numbers.