

Association is led by local official

BENTON - The Southeast Missouri Association of County Commissioners recently elected Martin Priggel, presiding commissioner of Scott County, as the organization's president for 2005. Serving with Priggel will be Terry Nichols, presiding commissioner of Iron County, as vice president and Gary Nelson, associate commissioner of Ste. Genevieve County, as secretary/treasurer.

Priggel

The Southeast Missouri Association of County Commissioners is an organization whose membership consists of the 60 county commissioners in Southeast Missouri. This association meets once a month and through its efforts helps to educate and get information to local commissioners so they will make more knowledgeable decisions for their county.