Chapter One – Enjoy wearing panties

In Britain we call them knickers, or even pants (not trousers). In the US they call them panties, which I think is much sexier, so panties it is from here on in.

The point of wearing frilly panties is to be happy. It may also be because you want to escape the macho male world you live in and be more feminine, walk on the wild side. So, start with some panties and slip them up your legs. They will feel silky and wonderful as you tuck your little fella into their nylon and silk pocket. I guarantee the panties will make you stiff. A few rubs and you will explode into your silky panties; it is only natural that this excitement will lead to an explosion of cum. Let it happen.

Chapter Two – Overcoming guilt

You may experience some guilt after you have exploded in a pair of pink satin panties. Don't feel guilty, you are doing no harm.

You are not alone, although most men won't admit it, lots of men have worn or want to wear their partners pretty panties because pretty panties excite them. Perhaps when you were a teenager you enjoyed catching a glimpse of your mum's white lacy panties up her skirt. She probably didn't even realise she had flashed you as she was in a hurry to put on her heels and get out the door for work. You had to have a wank over that upskirt view of her panties, slip and stockings. Did she really wear stockings to work?

Perhaps you bumped into your sister as she rushed out of the bathroom dressed in her lingerie as she got ready for a date. Not only was she wearing a pretty, matching set of black panties and bra, trimmed with white lace but she was also wearing stockings and suspenders. Who was the lucky man who would undress sis later that evening? Another wank.

Perhaps this sowed a seed. You didn't do anything about it at the time but subconsciously you knew that the sight of pretty nylon panties made you stiff and excited. What would it be like to actually wear those nylon panties? Maybe the guilt pushed such thoughts away, until now. Time to let go of that guilt and discover for yourself the pleasure of wearing silky nylon panties.

Chapter Three – Styles of Panties

Time to look at the different styles of panties. Let's start small and work our way up.

We start with the thong, also known as a G string. Here we see a tiny lacy purple thong with a matching lacy purple suspender belt. It is quite see-through and if you have a big dick that gets stiff that might be a problem for you.

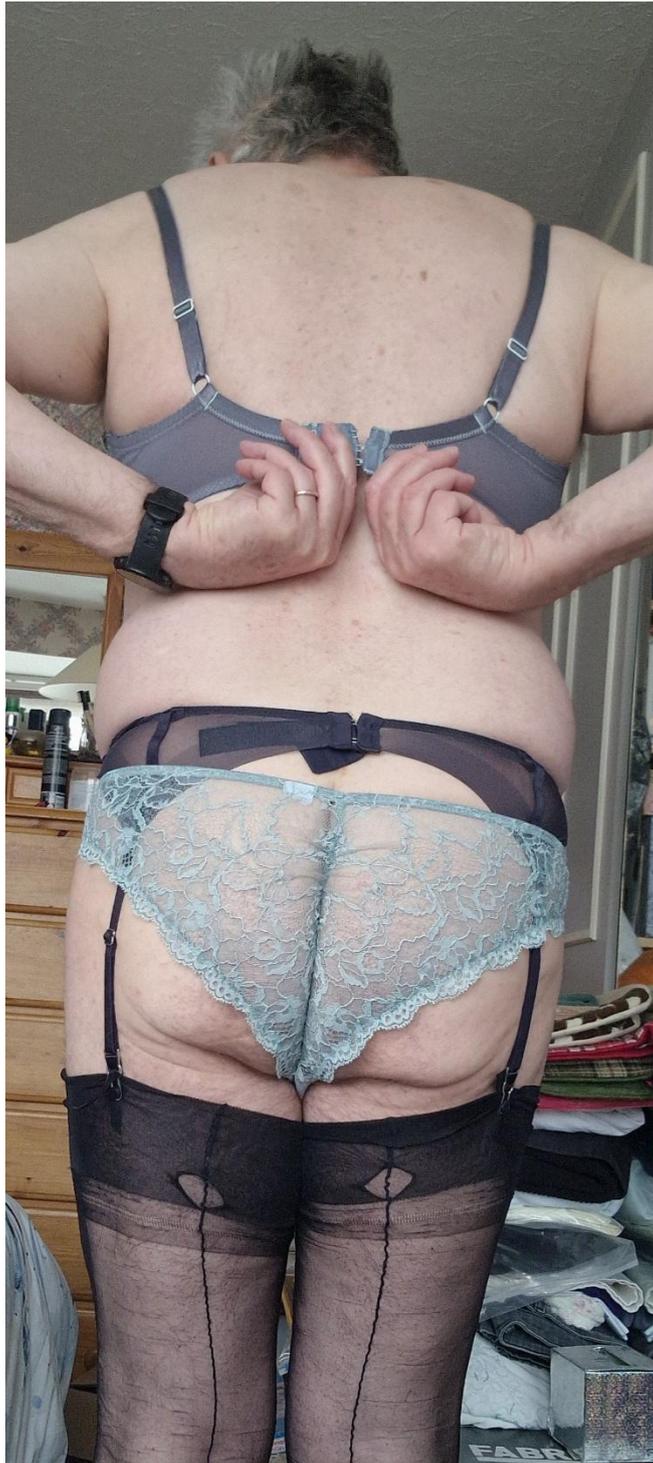

This black thong is slightly bigger but still see through. It does look good with a lacy suspender belt and stockings.

The issue with some thongs is that it is just a tiny bit of string at the back that rides up your bum crack. If you don't like that you may want to move up to bigger panties that give full bum coverage.

Another alternative with a thong is to wear them under tights. Tights will hold you in more firmly not matter how big and stiff you get.

Our next style is the bikini (or sometimes called Brazilian or hipsters). These give a much fuller back, either lacy or satin. Although they can be worn under tights they do look much sexier when worn with a suspender belt and stockings, as shown here. Some newer panties use a mesh material on the back, which does not, to my mind, look or feel as nice.

The front of the panties is usually satin but perhaps with a little lace. These will make a nice satin tent when you get excited, which you will if dressed like this.

High rise panties with lace on the front do look sexy with stockings and a lacy suspender belt.

You may want to wear your panties under tights, like real women, but only lacy full back panties look good under sheer tights when seen from behind.

Some bikini panties are lacy on both the front and back, these look so femme and pretty. They look very sexy under a sheer slip, as shown here.

These larger panties give full bum coverage.

Here is another pair of fuller panties, these give slightly more coverage but still leave your lacy suspender belt on show.

With these bigger panties you can pull them up tight to show how excited you are.

Now we cum onto French knickers. These are a larger style, loose legs with frilly lace on the legs. There is no elastic in the leg to keep you tucked in. They look really pretty and so femme when worn with stockings and suspenders like the image of the pink satin French knickers shown above. Only the straps of a suspender belt that attach to the stocking tops are on show, unless of course you are stiff and your clitty falls out of the leg like this.

Some French knickers are completely sheer so these will show your lacy suspender belt and your stiff clitty of course.

They do give lots of coverage over the bum. The name French knickers (tap pants or boy shorts in USA) may have come from the long-legged pantaloons worn by can-can dancers in Paris. The French don't call them French knickers but prefer culotte.

Some French Knickers may be completely lacy rather than satin or sheer smooth nylon.

Some French knickers may be plain, and slightly sheer at the back but still look sexy.

If you prefer to wear tights to stockings with French knickers, they must be worn over the tights rather than under, as they would bunch up under the tights.

You could wear a little pair of panties under the tights, for hygiene reasons, and the French knickers over the tights to give a sexy look. In this image the model is wearing a pair of little lacy panties under the tights, over the top is a lacy suspender belt, white lace topped stockings and sheer white French knickers over the top. Layers of nylon feel and look wonderful together.

Some longer leg French knickers could be considered bloomers or even Directoire Knickers, a very old-fashioned term. These may cover up your stockings tops and suspenders so may look like you are wearing tights rather than stockings. They are lovely to wear, no fear of popping out here unless you are a complete stud or built like a stallion. Most TV's fall into the sissy with a small dick category so it is not a problem.

Be aware that some slightly looser panties may make a big tent when you get stiff and excited. Although not very lady like it does make a good photo, as seen here with the brown nylon panties sticking out several inches.

And again in these cute little pink panties.

Next up in our panty fashion parade are camiknickers, also known as an all in one or even a teddy.

These cover the torso with straps at the top, like a camisole or full slip. Now these do look good with tights. Some have poppers under the crutch. Be careful to buy a bigger size than normal as your torso may be longer than women's sizes.

Of course you can still wear them with panties, bra, stockings and suspenders

The last panty style we will look at in this Dummies Guide to Panties for Men is sissy panties. These are a much bigger style with lots of frilly lace, and often made from silky satin. They are specifically made for men who like to wear panties. I can't see any woman wearing these frilly panties.

Some are inspired by panties that women tennis players wore in the sixties with rows and rows of lace. Often, they have lots of ribbons folded into bows.

Some of these panties are quite sheer and may show your excitement. It is also worth looking for a matching sissy bra, as shown here.

This pair of sissy panties shows lashings of lace across the front and around the leg openings. There are also lots of pretty pink bows. What a delight to wear.

You may find some specialist panties for men on sites like eBay. They have a big pouch on the front to hold you when you get stiff but they do not look like pretty feminine panties to me.

Chapter Four – Where to buy

Buying panties in Britain as a man can be tricky. Some big stores, like Marks and Spencer or even Tesco's have self-scanning tills, which is less embarrassing. Go and have a look to see what they have.

HOW TO MEASURE ?

WAIST

Measure around your natural waistline. This is the area where your waist naturally goes in slightly. Our garments are very stretchy so if you are in between sizes then please order the size down. i.e. if you are a 14/16 then order size SM.

Waist Height - Full/High or Midi. Full/High sit above the belly button and Midi just below

Size chart Briefs AMAZON UK » Chaffræ

Make sure you have done some research on what size panties fit you best as you can't try them on in the shop for hygiene reasons. Buy one pair in the middle of the UK sizes chart. For example, I am Large with a waist of 35". So, I could try 16 / 18 / 20. I would go for size 18 panties. Size 20 would be OK as well but 16 might be a bit too snug, unless that is what you like when you get stiff.

Temu on line has lots of options and is fairly cheap as most of their products are made in China. You may be able to choose delivery to a local shop rather than your home address. This way you can avoid any awkward questions. Make sure you choose a big size on Temu as I find their sizes can come up small.

Chapter Five – Taking photos

So, you have taken the plunge and bought some panties. Have you tried them on yet? Did they make you hard? Did you feel your stiff clitty through the silky nylon whilst reading this book? Most importantly of all, did this combination make you cum? Silly question, if you are still here of course it did.

Your next step might be to take some photos and post them on Flickr. This is an excellent place to see what other sissy's or TV's do. Search for panties, slips and stockings. You may find a few women showing off in their lingerie but most models wearing pretty lingerie will be men. Lots of men.

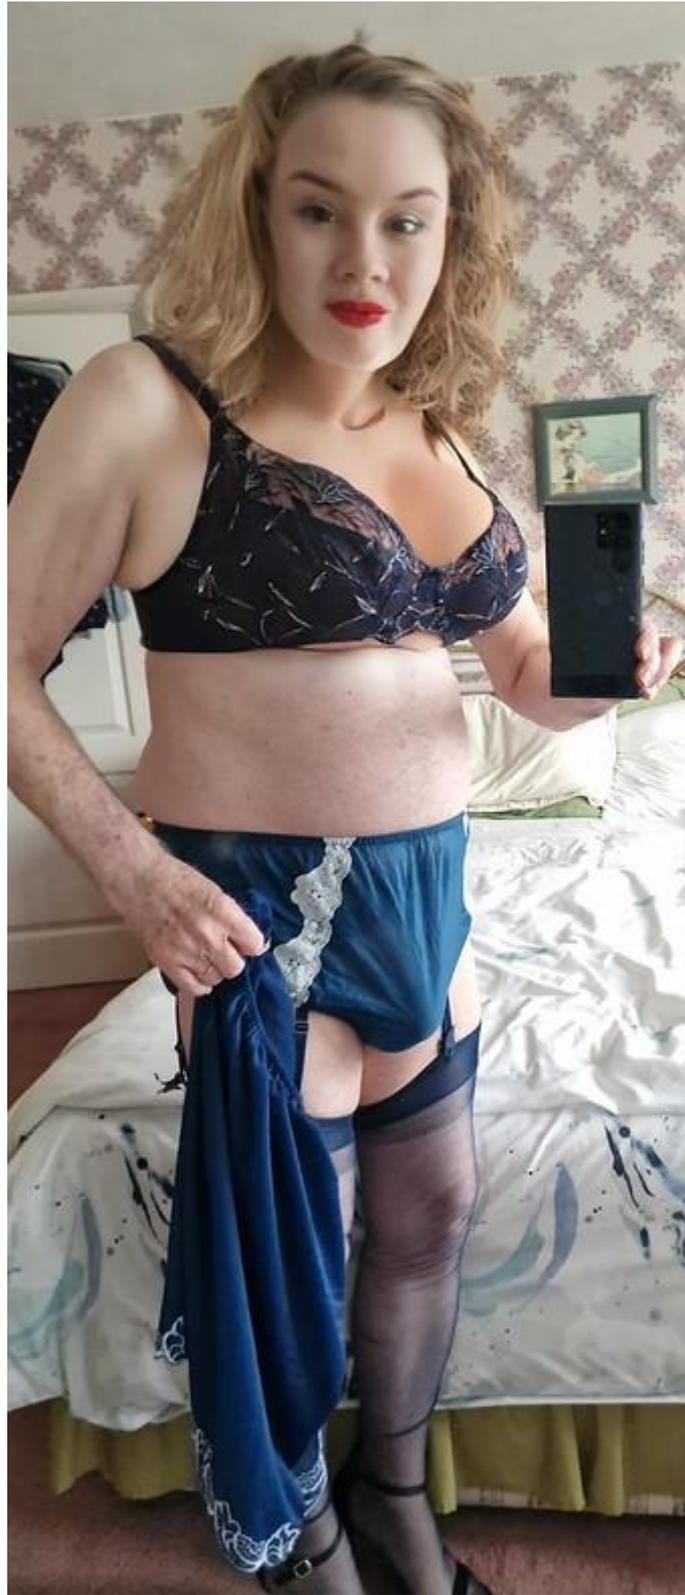

You may be surprised how some transform themselves into pretty and sexy women in their lingerie. Some will do their own makeup but in the example above the model has used an app called FaceApp. This uses AI to swap the face of the model using the gender swap tool. There is a free version that leaves a watermark and a paid version. It works best when the face of the model is upright, a slight lean to the left or right is ok as this pulls the hair away from cleavage or a lacy bra. It will work in daylight or at night provided the face can be seen clearly. There are other apps in the app stores that do far more than just swap faces but I find that FaceApp does just the simple things well.

There has to be a face clearly visible in the photo. Shots from behind, like this one of the model wearing lacy matching panties and bra won't work in FaceApp.

You can either use a good mobile phone camera or a digital camera. You may need to prop the camera up and turn on a 10 second delay on either the front camera or the rear camera if using a mobile phone in daylight. If shooting at night turn on the flash on the rear camera only. Flash on the front camera is very poor compared to the proper flash on the back. Don't use a main light but put on a bedside light that is beside or in front of the camera is fine, as shown above. The camera balances the light correctly. A bedside light behind the model tends to overexpose the photo.

You can use bedroom mirrors for good pictures but only in daylight, a flash in a mirror will ruin a picture. If the whole wardrobe door is a mirror try angling the door to see if you get a better angle and some extra reflected light.

You may want to use a plain background, like a blank wall. However, a bedroom can add context and interest to a picture. Do look at the background, some can look cluttered, which some viewers may find distracting.

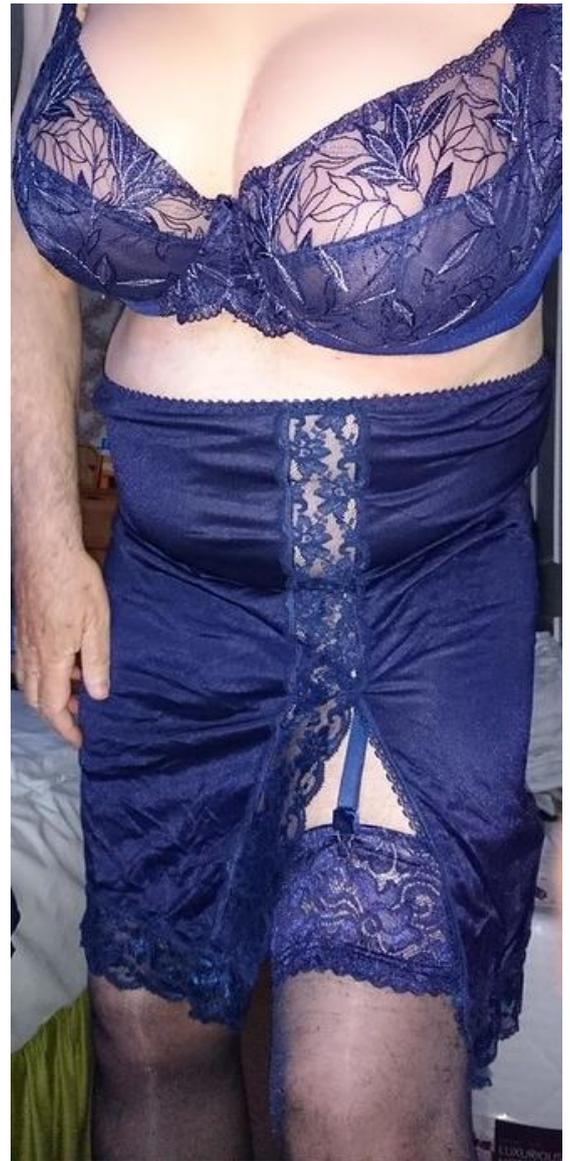

Upskirt pictures of panties work best if you use the rear flash and put the camera on a small box pointing up with a 10 second delay.

You can also do an upskirt with the camera on the carpet, propped up and the model crouches with legs apart to give a nice clear view of her silky panties. It is worth turning on the back flash even if in daylight for these up skirt photos

If your camera has a portrait option, try using it so that the model in the fore front is in sharp focus and the background is blurred.

If a photo looks blurry on your face or your lingerie delete it and take it again. Almost all photos benefit from cropping, so learn how that works in the photo editing software that comes with your camera. In the left-hand photo above the left hand is blurred but with some cropping the bra, cleavage, slip and stocking tops look fine. If you are too close to the camera that may also blur a photo. Check the image, if it is blurred delete it, shoot again.

Black lingerie can be difficult to photograph. Details of lace on panties, bra and suspenders can be lost in poor light, use the rear flash on your camera.

White and pale colours show up best, as shown here with these delightful lacy white panties from M&S.

Chapter 6 – Going beyond just panties

So now you have got into panties what is next? You will have noticed that throughout this guide the various models wearing other lingerie. If you like what you see maybe your next step could be to add some big tits and a big lacy bra to match your lacy panties. Large breast plates look best, as shown above. Try GorgeousU-silicone-store | eBay UK Stores. Cost is about £70 at the time of writing. Smaller pads are about £15 <https://www.ebay.co.uk/str/eubpxeunhhy>

Adding stockings and suspenders are a natural progression. A taught lacy suspender belt that frames your lacy panties and stocking tops looks so sexy.

You may also like to try a half-slip like this gorgeous red one. You can still get nice slips from eBay and Nylon Nostalgia. Half-slips look good with a lacy bra.

Full length slips can look really cute under a dress.

We could go on with sexy heels, like these pink stilettos that match the lacy pink slip.

But we are going to finish with some high heeled boots, stocking tops and a lacy slip peeping out from under a velvet flock dress. How far will you go?

No models were harmed in the production of this book. All the models were, in fact, the author of this fictional book.
