

The Boss

A photo story by Andrea Slip

What do the Boss, the employee and the client wear to the office at Software04 for a meeting? Let's find out when some unexpected items appear on the agenda.

When you are the Boss of the firm you can set your own dress code and wear what the heck you like to the office. So, today, the Boss has decided to wear cream lingerie; silky bra, pretty French knickers, suspender belt and sheer brown stockings. The Boss is wearing lovely brown heels that go nicely with the stockings and nylon lingerie.

Look more closely at the French knickers. Isn't that lacy split just darling? So lovely to wear and to look at. The boss is already getting a little excited at wearing such pretty knickers to the office.

Of course a lovely nylon slip is essential for the office. The Boss steps into a lovely waist slip with a deep band of lace on the hem.

Must make sure the suspender straps are taught. The Boss lifts the silky nylon slip up to check both suspenders at the front are done up to stop any loose stockings. We don't want any fashion faux pas in the office, do we?

Office decorum means that even the Boss should wear a skirt and top or possibly a dress. So the Boss slips into a lovely long brown skirt, Boden I think, and a thin green blouse by George at Asda. A quick check that the slip is pulled down under the skirt is always necessary.

The Boss likes things to be neat and tidy in the bedroom so she makes sure the bed sheets are turned back. I hope you are not looking up her skirt to look at the lacy hem of her pretty slip and the brown welt of her stocking tops? Well are you? I hope so. Perhaps you may also have noticed a slight ladder in the right stocking, how annoying. One has to be so careful about wearing sheer, thin nylon hosiery.

Perhaps you like the front up skirt view? Well the Boss is willing to give you another one, so here it is from the front. The lacy slip is clearly in view and there is even a glimpse of cream panties as the Boss parts her legs in a very un-lady like way. If we did not know already we can also clearly see that the Boss is wearing stockings not tights.

One final check in the mirror. The Boss is happy with the look, so femme, so like a woman. How exciting. Ready for work in the office.

So, what about the employee? What will she wear to the office? Well, as you can see, the employee is wearing a lovely matching set of lingerie today. Light gold nylon with black lace over the top bra, bikini panties, suspender belt and lace top, sheer, black stockings. Do you think the lingerie looks sexy, I do? Of course in a small firm the boss and the employee are one and the same. So let's now follow the employee as she prepares for a meeting in the office.

Will the employee wear a slip? Silly question, of course. Everyone at Software04 wears a slip, either a waist slip or a full length slip. Oh my, I think I can see the lacy suspender belt and the bikini knickers through the back of the thin nylon slip, yes, yes I can. And, I don't believe it, the lovely black stockings have a seam running up the back. Oh, how sexy. The slip has a delicious wide band of hem of lace on the hem and some delightful applique on the front.

The employee steps into a skirt very carefully, making sure she doesn't catch her black, high heels. Perhaps she would be well advised to put her heels on after the skirt, but no, this feels much more femme for the employee.

The skirt is a short grey corduroy skirt with a button front. The employee is wearing a ruffled grey silk blouse over the top.

Better check for slip flash. The employee likes just like the boss, a little bit of slip peeping out from under the hem of the slip.

A quick check on the front suspenders is always necessary. So the employee lifts her skirt and slip to give a lovely flash of panties, suspenders and stocking tops.

Then a final check in the mirror and time for a quick selfie. Oh yes, so femme with that short skirt riding up when sitting down to reveal those gorgeous nylon clad legs and fuck me pumps.

The advantage of working in a home office is that the journey to work is a piece of cake. It is a short walk down the stairs for both the boss and the employee.

The employee settles down in the office chair ready for the work day.

The employee works on her laptop, perhaps she notices a little slip peeping out from under the grey skirt? It could become a distraction as the employee gets very excited when dressed en-femme.

That skirt is so short that it is very easy to get a flash of the employee's panties, slip and stocking tops.

The doorbell rings. Is the employee expecting a visitor?

“Hello, I’m Melissa, pleased to meet you,” says the visitor.

“Hi Melissa, pleased to meet you too, I am Andrea,” said Andrea, the employee (and Boss), “Do come in.”

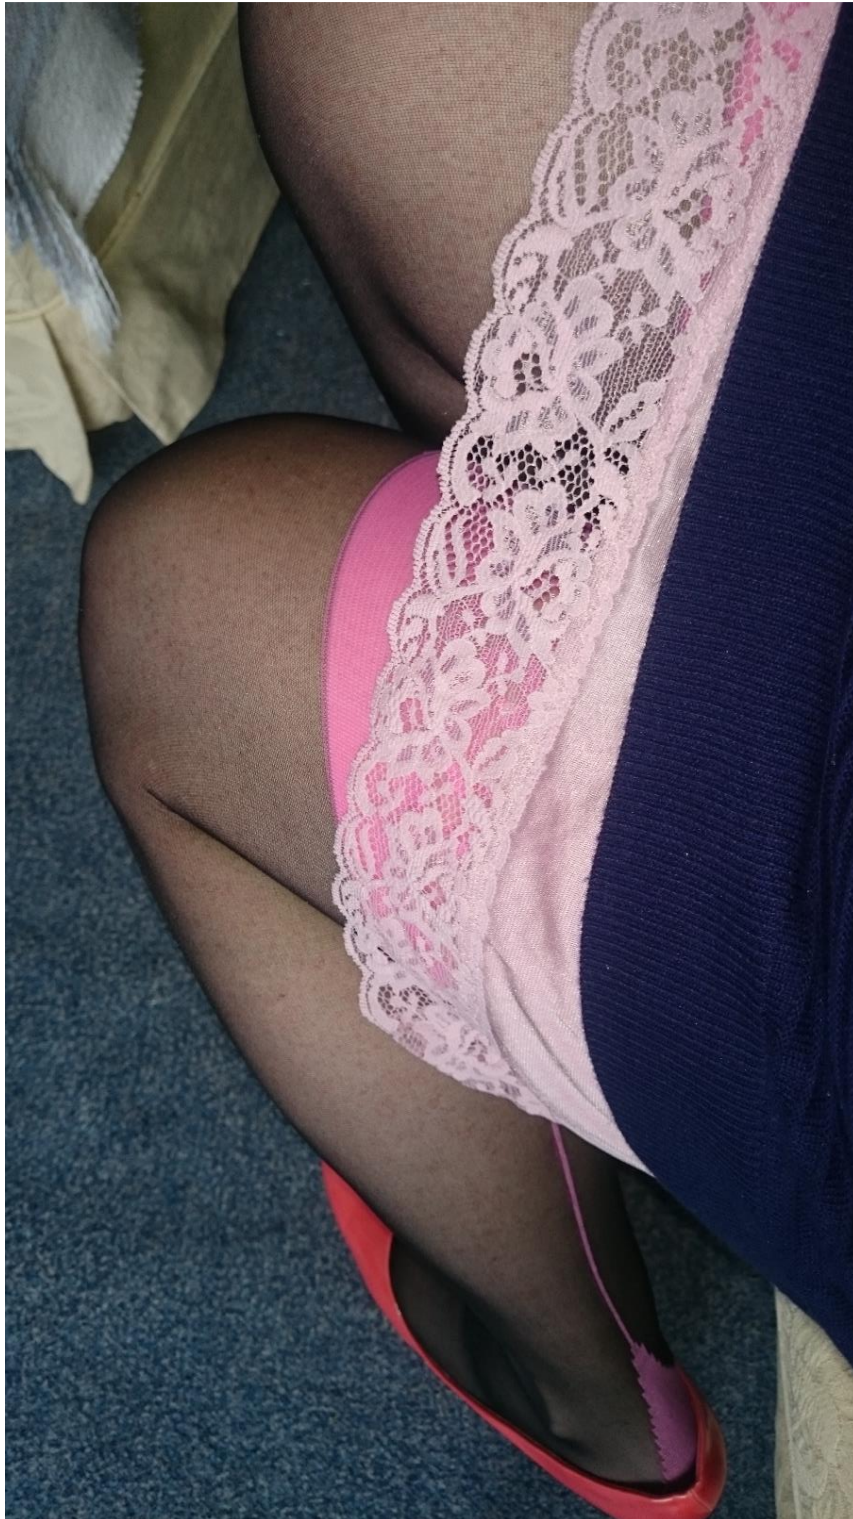

It is the client, come to visit Software04 to discuss a new project. She is dressed in a blue dress, black tights (probably tights, we can’t be sure yet) and pink heels. Is that a little bit of lacy slip showing under the hem of the lovely tight blue dress? Yes, I think it must be. Well that would fit with the office dress code of Software04.

The client bends down to put her car keys in her handbag. The employee cannot but help look at the lovely view before her. The client is wearing sheer black hosiery with a delicious pink seam up the back and bright pink lace tops to the stockings. If the employee was expecting the client to be wearing tights under her lovely blue dress (as perhaps could be normally be expected for female business wear) there was no doubt now that it is stockings not tights. And to add to the pretty picture the employee can also see a flash of lacy pink slip. The employee can feel the sap rising and lets out a little gasp. The client glances back to see what affect her little flash of undies has had.

“Do sit down, tea or coffee before we start,” asks the employee. The client puts her bag on the floor and sits down on the sofa.

“Coffee would be lovely, white no sugar please.” The client’s skirt has ridden up slightly exposing some more silky slip over the top of those delightful sheer black stockings. Even a little bit of bright pink stocking top shows under the lacy hem of the pink slip. She makes no attempt to tug her dress hem back down.

The employee reaches down to remove an old coffee mug next to the sofa and takes it back into the kitchen to make a fresh pot. The flash of slip, panties and lacy stocking tops does not go unnoticed, or unappreciated, by the client.

A few moments later the employee returns with two fresh mugs of coffee. As the employee hands the coffee to the client she cannot help but look up the skirt of the employee, who's legs have slightly parted. The front view is just as delightful as the first up skirt view earlier, except that this time the employee can see right under the pink slip to see some shiny pink panties.

The client smiled at the employee, "Thank you," as she took the mug of coffee," that's perfect."

“Yes, it is perfect, a perfect view, if you don’t mind me saying,” says the employee. “You look lovely and I love your choice of lingerie and hosiery.”

“No, I don’t mind,” says the client. She puts her mug of coffee on the floor and stands up. Slowly she lifts the hem of her blue dress. “I just love wearing stockings and slips. These stockings are new, do you like the pink lace,” she asks as she lifts her pink slip?

“Oh yes, oh yes,” the employee just manages to squeak out.

“Let me show you my lingerie properly.”

The client unzips her blue dress and drops it on the sofa.

“Do you like it?”

“Oh yes, very much,” says the employee.

The client is wearing a lovely pale pink bra with little pink flowers. The waist slip has a split over the client’s left knee exposing the lacy stocking top and even a suspender strap.

The employee shows how much she appreciates the lovely lingerie in front of her by lifting her skirt and slip. She slides her hand inside her gold coloured nylon panties and starts masturbating. Is this how an employee should behave in front of a client? Of course not, but all pretence of a business meeting has gone out of the window as it has become obvious both the employee and client share the same tastes in wearing beautiful vintage nylon lingerie under their dress and skirt.

“I see you like wearing silky slips and stockings as well Andrea,” says the client. “Would like to see my French knickers?”

The employee nods as her hand works her cockette in her own panties.

The client moves the split in her slip round to the front and lifts the corners of the split in her slip to reveal some delicious pink French knickers. They are so silky and with such pretty lace.

The client drops her slip and reaches inside her French knickers to start masturbating as well.

“Would you like me to suck you,” asks the client looking at the bulge in the employee’s panties?

“Oh yes,” says the employee,” that would be super.”

The client dips down in front of the employee, pulls her panties down and reaches for the stiff cockette. The employee waves the cockette in the face of the client, she keels and takes the protuberance in her mouth. A few licks of tongue and some strange sucking noises is as much as the employee can take after the exciting display of lingerie. After only a few moments of oral sex the employee is pumping cum into the mouth of the client. She swallows.

“Now my turn,” says the client. “Take off your skirt and blouse, I want to see your lingerie as you have seen all of mine.”

The employee takes off her skirt and blouse to reveal her slip and bra to the client.

“Pretty slip, looks gorgeous on you, I love the applique on the front. Now kneel down and suck me too. I love been sucked off by another nylon clad tranny.”

The client pulls her French knickers down and lifts her slip up to reveal her little cockette framed by a pretty pale pink suspender belt. The belt matches her pretty bra. This time the employee kneels in front of the client and replicates the sucking of earlier. As she does so the employee runs her hands all over the client's pink slip and sheer black stockings. The client loves the feeling of her slip and stockings being caressed. She lifts her split slip and drops it over the head of the employee, who is now lost in a nylon world. This lasts a surprising long time as both workers love the nylon sensation. But then suddenly the client cums in the mouth of the employee. Not surprisingly the employee comes for a second time in her own panties.

“Well, that wasn’t quite what I was expecting that on the agenda, but nice doing business with you Andrea. I shall cum again.”

The End
