

Stockings Review

A photo story by Andrea Slip

Andrea reviews some new stockings by Gabriella and shows how they should be worn. (with apologies to Legslavish on You Tube for the idea)

Today I am going to review some stockings called Calze, Elite by Gabriella (a Polish stocking manufacturer). I bought these on Ebay, so this is an independent review. Eyes on the stockings packet please, not my creamy satin night shirt or my lacy nylon slip.

The stockings are 20 denier, not as thin as some sheer stockings I wear. The colour is Nero (black) and the size ¾ (large). What is not obvious from the packet is that these are hold ups. The cost was about £6 from Aurelliecom on Ebay, with free 1st class delivery, excellent deal, as I saw them at a higher price on Amazon.

So let's take the stockings out of the lovely packet. I should keep packets like this as the images are so lovely.

As with most modern stockings there is a large lycra content so the stockings look quite short and very opaque straight out of the packet.

I am going to try the stockings on but will need to change out of the brown BHS lace top stockings I am already wearing. They don't show this on Legslavish on You Tube so I hope you are not peeping at my pink French knickers as I raise my silky slip!

You can just see the two bands of silicone at the top of the stockings, but not three, as with some British stockings. I hope that they stay up, having smooth shaven legs does help as the silicone can slip on hairs and a suspender belt might be needed. I must admit I do love wearing a lacy suspender belt with stockings, sometimes even with hold ups, especially with little bikini style panties, as you can see from the picture on the right.

I often wear hold ups with French knickers and a full slip if I haven't got much time to dress, they are quicker to put on. Anyway, enough of my ramble around what silky lingerie I like to wear and when. Back to the review as I slide these back nylon stockings up my legs. Don't you just love that feeling of pulling on new nylons? I sure do. These Gabriella stockings go on very easily and feel delicious, not scratchy at all.

So here they are, in close up, so you can see the lacy tops clearly. The reason I chose these particular stockings, Calze Elite, is that they have a very pretty black lacy pattern but with some hints of pink showing through that will go nicely with pink panties and slip. I do like my lingerie to be colour coordinated.

Let me lift up my lacy slip so you can see how they do go with my pink slip and French knickers. Isn't the lacy pink and black pattern on the stocking tops just gorgeous? They are quite long and the 20 denier is quite flattering in black as it covers up hairy legs quite well. They will look even better, and feel divine with shaved legs, as I do.

Let me slip my “fuck me” stiletto heels on. I love the difference that heels make to stocking clad legs, it makes them look so femme, although fortunately I don’t ever wear my heels for very long. The lacy stocking tops are dark enough to show through a thin slip to let the viewer know the gurl is wearing stockings and not tights. It just adds a little to the sexual chemistry.

So we have to consider what dress to wear. I quite the idea of a short dress, to show off the gorgeous lacy stocking tops rather than a longer skirt and blouse. Sadly it means a change of slip, so this pretty pink, long, half-slip is going to have to come off.

So now you can see my French knickers properly, as I know you have been peeping, and you can see how the stockings compliment the choice of panties. What am going to do with this half-slip, oh you want to wear it? It will still be warm, so slide it up over your stockings and panties. Doesn't it feel so nice sliding a silky slip over your stocking clad legs. If you don't normally wear a slip I recommend you try wearing one, Ebay is your best source as they are regarded a little old fashioned by most women today, sadly, to be found in many shops. Even many younger cross-dressers don't wear a grannies petticoat. They don't know what they are missing.

As I have taken off my slip I will do a twirl so you can see the stocking from the rear view. There is a join on the lace at the top of the hold ups, as with almost all lace top stockings, which you try to get face backwards when you put them on, not sure I quite managed that with the right stocking.

So now I have changed into a full slip, suitable for a short dress.

Let me pick up my dress, I hope my slip isn't riding up at the back to show my panties. Oh dear I must shave the backs of my thighs as well, so difficult to reach.

So, I am wearing a silk print dress, perhaps for an evening party. It is very short and the stocking tops do just show from the front. However, some tights look this now so it hard to tell that they are stockings until....

... you sit down and the dress rides up to reveal your pretty lacy stocking tops, no tights here, maybe there is even a hint of a lacy slip.

As you dress and slip rides up a little you get to see the pretty lacy pink and black stocking tops. I think they are too pretty to hide under a long skirt.

From behind the stocking tops are visible under the short dress, any why not?

I defy any man not to be hard when confronted with the old, “must adjust my stocking tops – oh no don’t look” routine.

Relaxing with your feet up does show the slip and stocking tops off nicely. And finally.....

.... If you haven't already creamed your panties here's the full flash to see what the lady is wearing under her colourful silk dress; lace top hold up stockings (no suspender tabs or straps), pink panties with antique lace and a silky pink slip with a lacy hem. Does that tip you over the edge after your wank? It did me. So that concludes my review of Calze Elite stockings by Gabriella, I just love them. To be honest, you can wear them any time and still have the same creamed result.

The End
